(d) the taxpayer's share of any consideration, expense, cost or expenditure referred to in any of paragraphs a to c given or incurred, as the case may be, by a partnership.

1975, c. 22, s. 90; 1982, c. 5, s. 97; 1998, c. 16, s. 153; 2004, c. 8, s. 76; 2020, c. 16, s. 189.

410. Where a taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive after 25 May 1976 assistance in respect of or related to his Canadian development expenses, the expenses contemplated in paragraphs a to e of section 408 shall not be reduced by the amount of such assistance.

1977, c. 26, s. 42; 1988, c. 18, s. 36.

411. In this chapter, "cumulative Canadian development expenses" of a taxpayer, at any time in a taxation year, means the amount by which the aggregate described in section 412 is exceeded by the aggregate of

(a) the Canadian development expenses incurred by the taxpayer before that time;

(a.1*)* all amounts determined under paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the taxpayer for a taxation year ending before that time;

(b) all amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income under paragraph e of section 330 for a taxation year ending before that time;

(c) all amounts described in paragraph b or c of section 412 that, according to the evidence submitted by him, has become a bad debt before that time; and

(d) such part of an amount described in paragraph h of section 412 as has been repaid by him before that time pursuant to a legal obligation to repay all or any part of that amount.

412. The amounts required to be deducted in computing the cumulative Canadian development expenses of a taxpayer at the time referred to in section 411 are the aggregate of:

(a) all amounts deducted in computing his income for a taxation year ending before that time in respect of such expenses;

(b) all amounts each of which is, in respect of the disposition by the taxpayer before that time of a property described in any of paragraphs b, d.1 and e of section 370, of a property disposed of after 21 March 2011 which was described in any of those paragraphs and the cost of which when acquired by the taxpayer was included in the Canadian development expense of the taxpayer, or of any right in or to such a property, other than such a right that the taxpayer has by reason of being a beneficiary under a trust or a member of a partnership, equal to the amount by which

i. the amount by which the proceeds of disposition in respect of the property that became receivable by the taxpayer before that time but after 6 May 1974 in the case of an oil business or after 31 March 1975 in the case of a mining business, exceed the aggregate of the outlays or expenses that the taxpayer made or incurred before that time but after 6 May 1974 in the case of an oil business or after 31 March 1975 in the case of a mining business for the purpose of making the disposition and that were not otherwise deductible for the purposes of this Part, exceeds

ii. the amount by which the amount determined under the first paragraph of section 412.1 exceeds the amount determined under the second paragraph of that section;

iii. (subparagraph repealed);

(c) all amounts that become receivable by him before that time that are required to be deducted in computing such expenses under this paragraph by virtue of section 387 or 392;

(d) all amounts included by him under paragraph a of section 408 for a previous taxation year that have become Canadian exploration expenses of the taxpayer by virtue of paragraph b of section 395;

(d.1*)* all amounts that became, before that time, Canadian exploration expenses of the taxpayer by virtue of section 399.3;

(e) all amounts paid to him after 6 May 1974 in the case of an oil business, or after 31 March 1975 in the case of a mining business, and before 25 May 1976 as a subsidy, a grant or assistance received under an Act, in respect of Canadian development expenses, to the extent provided by the regulations;

(f) all amounts received by the taxpayer before that time in respect of a debt referred to in paragraph c of section 411;

(g) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts determined under section 418.12 in respect of a taxation year of the taxpayer ending at or before that time, in this paragraph referred to as the "relevant time", exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the least of

i. the amount that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.19, at a time, in this paragraph referred to as the "particular time", that is the end of the latest taxation year of the taxpayer ending at or before the relevant time, in respect of the taxpayer as a corporation referred to in that section 418.19 in respect of a disposition, in this paragraph referred to as the "original disposition", of Canadian resource property by a person who is an original owner of the property because of the original disposition, if

(1) where the taxpayer has disposed of all or part of the property in circumstances in which section 418.19 applied, that section continued to apply to the taxpayer in respect of the original disposition as if each of the subsequent corporations contemplated in that section 418.19 were the same person as the taxpayer, and

(2) each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable before the particular time were made before the particular time;

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which became receivable at or before the particular time and before 1 January 1993 by the taxpayer and is included in computing the amount determined under subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.21 in respect of the original disposition exceeds the amount by which

(1) where the taxpayer disposed of all or part of the property before the particular time in circumstances in which section 418.21 applied, the amount that would be determined at the particular time under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.21 in respect of the original disposition if that subparagraph continued to apply to the taxpayer in respect of the original disposition as if each of the subsequent corporations contemplated in that section 418.21 were the same person as the taxpayer or, in any other case, the amount determined at the particular time under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.21 in respect of the original disposition, exceeds

(2) the amount that would be determined at the particular time under subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.21 in respect of the original disposition if that subparagraph were read without reference to the words "or by the corporation" or "or the corporation", wherever they appear therein, and if amounts that became receivable after 31 December 1992 were not taken into account; and

iii. nil, where

(1) after the original disposition and at or before the particular time, the taxpayer disposed of all or part of the property in circumstances in which section 418.19 applied, otherwise than by way of an amalgamation or merger or solely because of the application of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 418.26, and

(2) the winding-up of the taxpayer began at or before the relevant time or the taxpayer's disposition referred to in subparagraph 1, other than a disposition under an agreement in writing entered into before 22 December 1992, occurred after 21 December 1992;

(h) all amounts of assistance that he has received or is entitled to receive in respect of any Canadian development expense, including any amount that has become a Canadian exploration expense of the taxpayer by virtue of section 399.3, incurred after 31 December 1980 or that can reasonably be related to Canadian development activities after that date;

(h.1) all amounts by which his cumulative Canadian development expense is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before that time;

(i) all amounts required to be deducted before that time under section 392.3 in computing his cumulative Canadian development expenses;

(j) any amount that is required to be deducted before that time under paragraph c of section 418.31 in computing his cumulative Canadian development expense.

1975, c. 22, s. 90; 1977, c. 26, s. 44; 1980, c. 13, s. 42; 1982, c. 5, s. 99; 1984, c. 15, s. 90; 1985, c. 25, s. 77; 1986, c. 19, s. 84; 1987, c. 67, s. 93; 1988, c. 18, s. 37; 1989, c. 77, s. 44; 1995, c. 49, s. 105; 1996, c. 39, s. 112; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 78; 2009, c. 5, s. 131; 2012, c. 8, s. 55; 2020, c. 16, s. 66.

412.1. The first amount referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 412 is the aggregate of all amounts each of which would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.19, immediately before the time, in this section referred to as the "relevant time", when such proceeds of disposition became receivable, in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.19 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

(a) amounts that became receivable at or after the relevant time were not taken into account;

(b) each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable before the relevant time were made before the relevant time; and

(c) no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account.

The second amount referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 412 is the total of

(a) all amounts that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.19 at the relevant time in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.19 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

i. amounts that became receivable after the relevant time and amounts described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 that became receivable at the relevant time were not taken into account,

ii. each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable at or before the relevant time were made before the relevant time, and

iii. no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account; and

(b) such portion of the amount otherwise determined under subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 412 as was otherwise applied to reduce the amount otherwise determined under that paragraph.

412.2. In this chapter, an accelerated Canadian development expense of a taxpayer means any cost or expense incurred by the taxpayer in a taxation year, if

(a) the cost or expense qualifies as a Canadian development expense at the time it is incurred, other than

i. an expense in respect of which the taxpayer is a corporation referred to in section 418.19, and

ii. a cost in respect of a Canadian resource property acquired by the taxpayer, or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member, from a person or partnership with whom or which the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length;

(b) the cost or expense is incurred after 20 November 2018 and before 1 January 2028, other than expenses deemed to have been incurred on 31 December 2027 because of the application of section 359.8; and

(c) where the Canadian development expense is deemed to be a Canadian development expense incurred by the taxpayer because of the application of paragraph a of section 359.5, the cost or expense is an amount renounced under an agreement entered into after 20 November 2018.

2021, c. 18, s. 38.

413. A development corporation carrying on an oil business may deduct, in computing its income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding the aggregate of its cumulative Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec at the end of the year and the amount by which the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the corporation for the year in relation to its cumulative Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under paragraph e of section 330 in relation to such expenses if the aggregate last referred to in that paragraph e were not taken into account, and an amount not exceeding the aggregate of

(a) the lesser of

i. the aggregate of its other cumulative Canadian development expenses at the end of the year and the amount by which the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the corporation for the year in relation to its other cumulative Canadian development expenses exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under paragraph e of section 330 in relation to such expenses if the aggregate last referred to in that paragraph e were not taken into account, and

ii. the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 418.7 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph i of that subparagraph a;

(b) the lesser of

i. the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph a exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii of that subparagraph a, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing its income for the year by reason of the disposition, in the year, of a property included in its inventory under section 419, and acquired by the corporation under circumstances described in paragraph e of section 395 or 408, or an amount included, in computing its income, under paragraph e of section 87 to the extent that such amount relates to that property, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted as a reserve in computing its income for the year under section 153 to the extent that the reserve relates to such property;

(c) 30% of the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph b exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii of that subparagraph b; and

(d) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

Any other taxpayer may deduct, in computing income for a taxation year in respect of an oil business, an amount not exceeding the aggregate of the amounts that would be determined in respect of the taxpayer under subparagraphs a to d of the first paragraph, if no reference were made to “other” in subparagraph i of that subparagraph a and to ", other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec," in subparagraph b of the third paragraph and subparagraphs a to c of the fourth paragraph.

In the formula in subparagraph d of the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. where the taxation year ends before 1 January 2024, 15%,

ii. where the taxation year begins before 1 January 2024 and ends after 31 December 2023, the amount determined by the formula

iii. where the taxation year begins after 31 December 2023, 7.5%;

(b) B is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian development expenses, other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec, incurred by the corporation in the taxation year; and

(c) C is the amount determined by the formula

(G − H) − (I − J − K).

In the formulas in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph and in subparagraph c of that paragraph,

(a) D is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian development expenses, other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec, incurred by the corporation before 1 January 2024 and in the taxation year;

(b) E is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian development expenses, other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec, incurred by the corporation in the taxation year;

(c) F is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian development expenses, other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec, incurred by the corporation after 31 December 2023 and in the taxation year;

(d) G is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to j of section 412 at the end of the taxation year;

(e) H is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to j of section 412 at the beginning of the taxation year;

(f) I is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to d of section 411 at the end of the taxation year;

(g) J is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to d of section 411 at the end of the preceding taxation year; and

(h) K is the amount described in subparagraph b of the third paragraph.

414. A development corporation carrying on a mining business may deduct, in computing its income for a taxation year, the aggregate of its cumulative Canadian development expenses at the end of the year and the amount by which the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the corporation for the year exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under paragraph e of section 330 if the aggregate last referred to in the said paragraph e were not taken into account.

Any other taxpayer may deduct in respect of a mining business, in computing income for a taxation year, the aggregate of the taxpayer's cumulative Canadian development expenses at the end of the year and the amount by which the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the taxpayer for the year exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the taxpayer for the year under paragraph e of section 330 if the aggregate last referred to in that paragraph e were not taken into account, without exceeding the greater of

(a) the aggregate of the amounts that would be determined in respect of the taxpayer under subparagraphs a to d of the first paragraph of section 413, if no reference were made to "other" in subparagraph i of that subparagraph a and to ", other than Canadian development expenses incurred in Québec," in subparagraph b of the third paragraph of that section and subparagraphs a to c of the fourth paragraph of that section; and

(b) the amount by which the total of the aggregate of all amounts deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under section 357 in respect of a Canadian resource property or under section 358, as those sections apply in respect of a disposition made before 13 November 1981, and the aggregate of all amounts deducted for the year under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-3), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), sections 418.16 to 418.19 and section 418.21, that can reasonably be attributed to the amounts referred to in subparagraphs i to iii for the year, is exceeded by the total, before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act or any of sections 359 to 419.6, of

i. his income for the year that may reasonably be attributed to the production of ore, other than iron or tar sands, from a resource property, processed to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent, the production of iron ore from a resource property, processed to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent, and to any rental or royalty from a resource property, computed by reference to the amount or value of the production of ore;

ii. the aggregate of the amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under any of paragraphs b, d and e of section 330, other than any of the amounts referred to in subparagraph iii, but to the extent that paragraph b of that section refers to section 357, only the amounts deducted in computing the taxpayer's income under that section 357 for the preceding taxation year in respect of a Canadian resource property may be taken into consideration, and

iii. the aggregate of all amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under paragraph e of section 330 that can reasonably be attributed to the disposition by the corporation, in the year or in a preceding taxation year, of any interest or right in a Canadian resource property, to the extent that the proceeds of disposition have not been included in computing an amount for a preceding taxation year under this subparagraph, subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of sections 418.16 and 418.18, subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, section 418.28, or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause A of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules.

418.1. Where, pursuant to the terms of an arrangement in writing entered into before 12 December 1979, a taxpayer acquired a property described in paragraph a of section 418.2, for the purposes of this Act, the cost of acquisition of the property shall be deemed to be a Canadian development expense incurred at the time he acquired the property.

DIVISION IV.0.1

FOREIGN RESOURCE EXPENSE

2004, c. 8, s. 79.

418.1.1. In this chapter, the foreign resource expense of a taxpayer, in relation to a country other than Canada, means

(a) any exploration or drilling expense, including any general geological or geophysical expense, incurred by the taxpayer on or in respect of exploring or drilling for petroleum or natural gas in that country;

(b) any expense incurred by the taxpayer for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource in that country, including any expense incurred in the course of prospecting, carrying out geological, geophysical or geochemical surveys, drilling, trenching, digging test pits or preliminary sampling;

(c) the cost to the taxpayer of any of the taxpayer's foreign resource properties in relation to that country;

(d) any annual payment made by the taxpayer for the preservation of a foreign resource property in relation to that country; and

(e) subject to section 418.37, the taxpayer's share of an expense, cost or payment described in any of paragraphs a to d that is incurred or made by a partnership in a fiscal period of the partnership that begins after 31 December 2000, where the taxpayer was a member of the partnership at the end of that fiscal period.

418.1.2. A taxpayer's foreign resource expense, in relation to a country other than Canada, does not however include

(a) an expenditure that is the cost, or any part of the cost, to the taxpayer of any depreciable property of a prescribed class;

(b) an expenditure incurred at any time after the commencement of production from a foreign resource property of the taxpayer in order to evaluate the feasibility of a method of recovery of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons from the portion of a natural reservoir to which the foreign resource property relates;

(c) an expenditure, other than a drilling expense, incurred at any time after the commencement of production from a foreign resource property of the taxpayer in order to assist in the recovery of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons from the portion of a natural reservoir to which the foreign resource property relates;

(d) an expenditure incurred in relation to the injection of any substance to assist in the recovery of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons from a natural reservoir;

(e) an expenditure incurred by the taxpayer, unless the expenditure was made

i. for the purpose of enabling the taxpayer to acquire foreign resource property,

ii. for the purpose of enhancing the value of foreign resource property that the taxpayer owned at the time the expenditure was incurred or that the taxpayer had a reasonable expectation of owning after that time, or

iii. for the purpose of assisting the taxpayer in evaluating whether a foreign resource property is to be acquired by the taxpayer;

(f) the taxpayer's share of any expenditure or cost described in any of paragraphs a to e that is incurred by a partnership; or

(g) an expenditure incurred by the taxpayer in a taxation year of the taxpayer that begins before 1 January 2001.

418.1.3. In this chapter, the cumulative foreign resource expense of a taxpayer at a particular time, in relation to a country other than Canada, in this section and sections 418.1.4 and 418.1.5 referred to as the "foreign country", means the amount by which the aggregate of the following expenses and other amounts exceeds the aggregate determined under section 418.1.4:

(a) the foreign resource expenses, in relation to the foreign country, incurred by the taxpayer

i. before the particular time, and

ii. at a time, in this section and section 418.1.4 referred to as a "resident time", at which the taxpayer was resident in Canada and, where the taxpayer became resident in Canada before the particular time, that is after the last time before the particular time, that the taxpayer became resident in Canada;

*(a.1)* the foreign resource expenses, in relation to the foreign country, attributable to the cost to the taxpayer of any foreign resource property in relation to that country that is deemed to have been acquired by the taxpayer under paragraph c of section 785.1 at the last time before the particular time that the taxpayer became resident in Canada;

(b) each amount included in computing the taxpayer's income under paragraph e.1 of section 330, in relation to the foreign country, for a taxation year ending before the particular time and at a resident time;

(c) each amount referred to in paragraph b or c of section 418.1.4 that, in accordance with the evidence submitted by the taxpayer, has become a bad debt before the particular time and at a resident time; and

(d) each particular amount determined under section 418.32.2, in respect of the taxpayer and the foreign country, for a taxation year ending before the particular time and at a resident time.

2004, c. 8, s. 79; 2015, c. 24, s. 71.

418.1.4. The aggregate which, for the purposes of section 418.1.3, must be determined under this section, is the aggregate of

(a) each amount deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year ending before the particular time and at a resident time, in respect of the taxpayer's cumulative foreign resource expense in relation to the foreign country;

(b) each amount in respect of a foreign resource property, in relation to the foreign country, in section 418.1.5 referred to as the "particular property", disposed of by the taxpayer equal to the amount by which the amount designated under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 330 by the taxpayer in respect of the portion of the proceeds of that disposition that became receivable before the particular time and at a resident time exceeds the excess amount determined under section 418.1.5;

(c) each amount in respect of the foreign country that is included in the amount determined under this paragraph by reason of section 390.1 that became receivable by the taxpayer before the particular time and at a resident time;

(d) each amount received by the taxpayer before the particular time and at a resident time in respect of a debt referred to in paragraph c of section 418.1.3;

(e) each amount by which the cumulative foreign resource expense of the taxpayer, in relation to the foreign country, is required, by reason of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before the particular time and at a resident time; and

(f) each amount that is required to be deducted, before the particular time and at a resident time, under paragraph a of section 418.32.1 in computing the taxpayer's cumulative foreign resource expense, in relation to the foreign country.

418.1.5. The excess amount which, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 418.1.4, must be determined under this section, is the amount by which the amount determined under the second paragraph exceeds the amount determined under the third paragraph.

The first amount referred to in the first paragraph is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.17.3, immediately before the time, in this section referred to as the "relevant time", when such proceeds of disposition became receivable, in respect of the taxpayer, the foreign country and an original owner of the particular property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the particular property in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

(a) amounts that became receivable at or after the relevant time were not taken into account;

(b) the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 were read without reference to "30% of"; and

(c) no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account.

The second amount referred to in the first paragraph is the total of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 at the relevant time in respect of the taxpayer, the foreign country and an original owner of the particular property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the particular property in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

i. amounts that became receivable after the relevant time were not taken into account, ii. the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 were read without reference to "30% of", and

iii. no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account; and

(b) the portion of the amount otherwise determined under this section that was applied to reduce the amount otherwise determined under paragraph b of section 418.1.4.

418.1.6. In this chapter, the adjusted cumulative foreign resource expense of a taxpayer at the end of a taxation year, in relation to a country, means the aggregate of the cumulative foreign resource expense of the taxpayer, in relation to that country, at the end of the year, and the amount by which the aggregate determined for the year under paragraph a of section 418.32.2 in respect of the taxpayer and that country exceeds the amount that would, but for subparagraph ii of paragraph e.1 of section 330, be determined for the year under that paragraph e.1 in respect of the taxpayer and that country.

418.1.7. In this division, the foreign resource income of a taxpayer for a taxation year, in relation to a country other than Canada, means the total of

(a) that part of the taxpayer's income for the year, determined without reference to sections 371 and 418.1.10, that can reasonably be attributed to the production of petroleum or natural gas from a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas in that country or from oil or gas wells in that country, or to the production of minerals from mines in that country;

(b) the taxpayer's income for the year from royalties in respect of a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas in that country, an oil or gas well in that country or a mine in that country, determined without reference to sections 371 and 418.1.10; and

(c) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount, in respect of a foreign resource property in relation to that country that has been disposed of by the taxpayer, equal to the amount by which the amount included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year by reason of paragraph a of section 330 in respect of that disposition exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is that portion of an amount deducted under section 418.17 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the foreign resource property, but cannot reasonably be considered to have reduced the amount otherwise determined under paragraph a or b in respect of the taxpayer for the year.

418.1.8. In this division, the foreign resource loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year in relation to a country other than Canada means the amount of that loss computed, with the necessary modifications, in accordance with section 418.1.7.

2004, c. 8, s. 79.

418.1.9. In this division, the global foreign resource limit of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount that is the lesser of

(a) the amount by which the amount determined under paragraph b of section 374 in respect of the taxpayer for the year exceeds the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that the taxpayer would be permitted to deduct, in relation to a country, under section 418.1.10 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year if, in its application to the year, that section were read without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. the amount deducted under section 371 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year; and

(b) the amount by which 30% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, at the end of the year, the taxpayer's adjusted cumulative foreign resource expense in relation to a country exceeds the aggregate described in subparagraph i of paragraph a.

2004, c. 8, s. 79.

418.1.10. In computing a taxpayer's income for a taxation year throughout which the taxpayer is resident in Canada, the taxpayer may deduct an amount claimed by the taxpayer, in respect of a country other than Canada, not exceeding the total of

(a) the greater of

i. 10% of an amount, in this section referred to as a "particular amount", equal to the taxpayer's adjusted cumulative foreign resource expense in relation to that country at the end of the year, and

ii. the least of

(1) if the taxpayer ceases to be resident in Canada immediately after the end of the year, the particular amount,

(2) if subparagraph 1 does not apply, 30% of the particular amount,

(3) the amount by which the taxpayer's foreign resource income for the year in relation to that country exceeds the portion of the amount, deducted under section 371 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, that is attributable to a source in that country, and

(4) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's foreign resource income for the year in relation to a country exceeds the total of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's foreign resource loss for the year in relation to a country and the amount deducted under section 371 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year; and

(b) the lesser of

i. the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the amount determined for the year under paragraph a in respect of the taxpayer, and

ii. that portion of the taxpayer's global foreign resource limit for the year that is designated for the year by the taxpayer, in relation to that country and no other country, in prescribed form filed with the Minister with the taxpayer's fiscal return filed under this Part for the year.

418.1.11. Where at any time in a taxation year an individual becomes or ceases to be resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) section 418.1.10 applies to the individual as if the taxation year were the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada; and

(b) for the purposes of this chapter, section 393.1 does not apply to the individual for the year.

2004, c. 8, s. 79.

DIVISION IV.1

CANADIAN OIL AND GAS PROPERTY EXPENSE

1982, c. 5, s. 103.

418.2. In sections 362 to 394, Divisions III and IV and this division, "Canadian oil and gas property expense of a taxpayer" means any cost or expense incurred after 11 December 1979, to the extent that the cost or expense is

(a) despite section 144, the cost to the taxpayer of property described in any of paragraphs a, c and d of section 370 or in paragraph f of that section in respect of property described in any of paragraphs a, c and d of that section, including any payment for the preservation of a taxpayer's rights in respect of such a property or an amount paid or, except for the application of this paragraph to a taxation year that begins after 31 December 2007, payable to Her Majesty in right of the Province of Saskatchewan as a net royalty payment pursuant to a net royalty petroleum and natural gas lease that was in effect on 31 March 1977 to the extent that such amount can reasonably be considered to be a cost of acquiring the lease, but excluding, except for the application of this paragraph to a taxation year that begins after 31 December 2007,

i. any payment made to a person referred to in section 90 for the preservation of a taxpayer's rights in respect of a Canadian resource property, and

ii. any payment, other than a net royalty payment referred to in this paragraph, to which subsection 1 of section 144 applies by reason of paragraph b of that subsection;

(b) subject to section 418.37, his share of any expense described in paragraph a incurred by a partnership in a fiscal period of the partnership of which he was a member at the end of that fiscal period, unless the taxpayer elects in respect of the share in prescribed form and manner on or before the day that is six months after the taxpayer's taxation year in which that period ends; or

(c) any cost or expense described in paragraph a incurred by the taxpayer pursuant to an agreement in writing with a corporation entered into before 1 January 1987, under which the taxpayer incurred the cost or expense solely as consideration for a share, except a prescribed share, of the capital stock of the corporation issued to him or any right in or to such a share.

418.3. Canadian oil and gas property expense does not include, however, any consideration given by the taxpayer for any share or any right in or to a share, except as provided by paragraph c of section 418.2, or any expense referred to in that paragraph and incurred by any other taxpayer to the extent that the expense is for the latter a Canadian oil and gas property expense under that paragraph, a Canadian exploration expense under paragraph e of section 395 or a Canadian development expense under paragraph e of section 408.

418.4. Where a taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive any amount of assistance in respect of or related to his Canadian oil and gas property expense, the expenses contemplated in paragraphs a to c of section 418.2 shall not be reduced by the amount of such assistance.

418.5. In this chapter, cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of a taxpayer at any time in a taxation year means the amount by which the aggregate

(a) of the Canadian oil and gas property expense incurred by the taxpayer before that time,

(a.1) of the aggregate of all amounts determined under paragraph c of section 418.31.1 in respect of the taxpayer for a taxation year ending before that time,

(b) of all amounts determined under section 418.12 in respect of the taxpayer for any taxation year ending before that time,

(c) of all amounts contemplated in paragraph b or c of section 418.6 that, in accordance with the evidence submitted by the taxpayer, have become a bad debt before that time, and

(d) of such part of an amount contemplated in paragraph e of section 418.6 as has been repaid by him before that time pursuant to a legal obligation to repay all or any part of that amount exceeds the aggregate described in section 418.6.

418.6. The amounts to be deducted in computing cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of a taxpayer at any time contemplated in section 418.5 are the aggregate

(a) of any amount deducted in computing his income for any taxation year ending before that time in respect of such expense;

(b) of any amount which in respect of the disposition by the taxpayer before that time of property referred to in paragraph a, c or d of section 370 or in paragraph f of section 370 in respect of property referred to in paragraph a, c or d of that section is equal to the amount by which

i. the amount by which the proceeds of disposition in respect of the property that became receivable by the taxpayer before that time exceed the aggregate of any outlays or expenses that the taxpayer made or incurred before that time for the purpose of making the disposition and that were not otherwise deductible for the purposes of this Part, exceeds

ii. the total of the amount determined under section 418.6.1 and the amount determined under section 418.6.2,

iii. (subparagraph repealed);

(c) of any amount that, before that time, becomes receivable by him and must be included in the amount contemplated in this paragraph by virtue of section 392.1;

(d) of any amount received by the taxpayer before that time in respect of a debt contemplated in paragraph c of section 418.5;

(e) of any amount of assistance that he has received or is entitled to receive in respect of any Canadian oil and gas property expense incurred after 31 December 1980 or that can reasonably be related to any such expense incurred after that date;

*(e.1)* of any amount by which his cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before that time; and

(f) any amount that is required to be deducted before that time under paragraph d of section 418.31 in computing his cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense.

418.6.1. The first amount referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 418.6 is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.21, immediately before the time, in this section and in section 418.6.2 referred to as the "relevant time", when such proceeds of disposition became receivable, in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.21 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, exceeds the amount described in the second paragraph, if

(a) amounts that became receivable at or after the relevant time were not taken into account;

(b) each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable before the relevant time were made before the relevant time;

(c) the second paragraph of section 418.21 were read without reference to "10% of"; and

(d) no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph as being described in the second paragraph is the aggregate of

(a) all amounts that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.21 at the relevant time in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.21 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

i. amounts that became receivable after the relevant time were not taken into account,

ii. each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable at or before the relevant time were made before the relevant time,

iii. the second paragraph of section 418.21 were read without reference to "10% of", and

iv. no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account; and

(b) such portion of the amount determined under this section as was otherwise applied to reduce the amount otherwise determined under paragraph b of section 418.6.

418.6.2. The second amount referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 418.6 is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.19, immediately before the relevant time, in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.19 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, exceeds the amount described in the second paragraph, if

(a) amounts that became receivable at or after the relevant time were not taken into account;

(b) each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable before the relevant time were made before the relevant time; and

(c) no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph as being described in the second paragraph is the aggregate of

(a) all amounts that would be determined under the second paragraph of section 418.19 at the relevant time in respect of the taxpayer and an original owner of the property, or of any other property acquired by the taxpayer with the property in circumstances in which section 418.21 applied and in respect of which the proceeds of disposition became receivable by the taxpayer at the relevant time, if

i. amounts that became receivable after the relevant time and amounts described in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 that became receivable at the relevant time were not taken into account,

ii. each designation made under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of an amount that became receivable at or before the relevant time were made before the relevant time, and

iii. no reduction under section 485.8 at or after the relevant time were taken into account; and

(b) such portion of the amount otherwise determined under this section as was otherwise applied to reduce the amount otherwise determined under paragraph b of section 418.6.

418.6.3. In this chapter, an accelerated Canadian oil and gas property expense of a taxpayer means any cost or expense incurred by the taxpayer in a taxation year, if

(a) the cost or expense qualifies as a Canadian oil and gas property expense at the time it is incurred, other than

i. an expense in respect of which the taxpayer is a corporation referred to in section 418.21, and

ii. a cost in respect of a Canadian resource property acquired by the taxpayer, or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member, from a person or partnership with whom or which the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length; and

(b) the cost or expense is incurred after 20 November 2018 and before 1 January 2028.

2021, c. 18, s. 42.

418.7. A taxpayer may deduct, in computing income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding the aggregate of

(a) the lesser of

i. the aggregate of the taxpayer's cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense at the end of the year and the amount by which the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 418.31.1 in respect of the taxpayer for the year exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the taxpayer for the year under section 418.12 if the aggregate last referred to in that section 418.12 were not taken into account, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year by reason of the disposition, in the year, of a property included in the taxpayer's inventory under section 419, and acquired by the taxpayer under circumstances described in paragraph c of section 418.2, or an amount included, in computing the taxpayer's income, under paragraph e of section 87 to the extent that such amount relates to that property, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted as a reserve in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under section 153 to the extent that the reserve relates to such property;

(b) 10% of the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph a exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii of that subparagraph a; and

(c) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula in subparagraph c of the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. where the taxation year ends before 1 January 2024, 5%,

ii. where the taxation year begins before 1 January 2024 and ends after 31 December 2023, the amount determined by the formula

iii. where the taxation year begins after 31 December 2023, 2.5%;

(b) B is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by the taxpayer in the taxation year; and

(c) C is the amount determined by the formula

$$(G - H) - (I - J - K).$$

In the formulas in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the second paragraph and in subparagraph c of that paragraph,

(a) D is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by the taxpayer before 1 January 2024 and in the taxation year;

(b) E is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by the taxpayer in the taxation year;

(c) F is the aggregate of all accelerated Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by the taxpayer after 31 December 2023 and in the taxation year;

(d) G is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to f of section 418.6 at the end of the taxation year;

(e) H is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to f of section 418.6 at the beginning of the taxation year;

(f) I is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to d of section 418.5 at the end of the taxation year;

(g) J is the aggregate of the amounts referred to in paragraphs a to d of section 418.5 at the end of the preceding taxation year; and

(h) K is the amount described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph.

DIVISION IV.2

SUCCESSOR CORPORATIONS

1989, c. 77, s. 49; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

418.15. In this chapter, the expression

(a) "reserve amount" of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of an original owner or predecessor owner of a Canadian resource property means the amount by which

i. the aggregate of all amounts that are required to be included, under paragraph b of section 330, in computing its income for the year, and required to be included under section 545 or section 564 where it refers to the said section 545, in respect of a reserve deducted under section 357 or 358, as it applies in respect of a disposition made before 13 November 1981, in computing the income of the original owner or predecessor owner exceeds

ii. the aggregate of all amounts deducted under section 357 or 358, as it applies in respect of a disposition made before 13 November 1981, in computing its income for the year in respect of the disposition of property by the original owner or the predecessor owner, as the case may be;

(b) "predecessor owner" of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property means a corporation

i. that acquired the property in circumstances in which any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), applies, or would apply if the corporation had continued to own the property, to the corporation in respect of the property,

ii. that disposed of the property to another corporation that acquired it in circumstances in which any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, applies, or would apply if the other corporation had continued to own the property, to the other corporation in respect of the property, and

iii. that would, but for section 418.33, 418.34, 418.34.1 or 418.36, as the case may be, be entitled in computing its income for a taxation year ending after it disposed of the property to a deduction under any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, in respect of expenses incurred by an original owner of the property;

(c) "original owner" of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property means a person

i. who owned the property and disposed of it to a corporation that acquired it in circumstances in which any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, applies, or would apply if the corporation had continued to own the property, to the corporation in respect of the property, and

ii. who would, but for section 418.31, 418.32, 418.32.1 or 418.36, as the case may be, be entitled in respect of expenses described in section 88.5 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that section 88.4 of that Act refers to expenses described in subparagraph i or ii of paragraph c of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, Canadian exploration and development expenses, foreign resource pool expenses, Canadian exploration expenses, Canadian development expenses or Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by the person before the person disposed of the property to a deduction, in computing the person's income for a taxation year ending after the person disposed of the property, under that section 88.4, to the extent that it refers to section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, or under any of sections 367, 368, 371, 400, 401, 413, 414, 418.1.10 and 418.7.

For the purposes of this chapter, except for the purposes of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 414 and subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, "production" from a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property means

(a) petroleum, natural gas and related hydrocarbons produced from the property,

(b) heavy crude oil produced from the property processed to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(c) ore, other than iron ore or tar sands, produced from the property processed to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(d) iron ore produced from the property processed to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent,

(e) tar sands produced from the property processed to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent, and

(f) any rental or royalty from the property computed by reference to the amount or value of the production of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons or ore.

418.16. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.23, where after 31 December 1971 a corporation acquired, in any manner whatsoever, a particular Canadian resource property referred to in this section as "particular property", it may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amount referred to in the second paragraph and the amount referred to in the third paragraph determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount of the Canadian exploration and development expenses incurred by the original owner before he disposed of the particular property, to the extent that those expenses

(a) were not otherwise deducted in computing the income of the corporation for the year or deducted in computing the income of the corporation for a preceding taxation year or in computing the income of a predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year; and

(b) were not deductible under section 362 or deducted under section 367 or 368 in computing the income of the original owner for any taxation year.

The last amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to

i. the amount included in computing its income for the year under paragraph e of section 330 that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition by the corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year of any right in or to the particular property to the extent that the proceeds of the disposition have not been included in computing an amount for any preceding taxation year under this subparagraph, subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.18, subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, section 418.28 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause A of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)),

ii. its reserve amount for the year in respect of the original owner and each predecessor owner of the particular property, or

iii. production from the particular property; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. any other amount deducted for the year under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, this section and any of sections 418.18, 418.19 and 418.21, that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income for the year described in subparagraph a in respect of the particular property, and

ii. any other amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph a.

418.17. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.24, where after 31 December 1971 a corporation acquires, in any manner whatsoever, a particular foreign resource property, referred to in this section as "particular property", it may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the lesser of the amount referred to in the second paragraph and the amount referred to in the third paragraph determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the amount of foreign exploration and development expenses incurred by the original owner before the disposition of the particular property by the original owner, to the extent that those expenses were incurred when the original owner was resident in Canada, were not otherwise deducted in computing the income of the corporation for the year, were not deducted in computing the income of the corporation for any preceding taxation year or in computing the income of any predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year and were not deductible in computing the income of the original owner for any taxation year, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts by which the amount determined under this paragraph is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before the end of the year.

The last amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of

i. the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under any of sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to

(1) the amount included in computing its income for the year under paragraph a of section 330, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition by the corporation of any right in or to the particular property, or

(2) production from the particular property, and

ii. the lesser of

that may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to the production, after 31 December 1988, from the Canadian resource property, and

(2) the amount by which 10% of the amount described in the second paragraph for the year in respect of the original owner exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which would, but for this subparagraph ii, subparagraph ii of paragraph b and subparagraph ii of subparagraph f of the first paragraph of section 418.26, be determined under this paragraph for the year in respect of the particular property or other foreign resource property owned by the original owner immediately before being acquired with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. any other amount deducted for the year under this section and section 418.19 as a result of the application of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20 that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income for the year described in subparagraph i of subparagraph a in respect of the particular property,

ii. any other amount deducted for the year under this section that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a for the year in respect of which an amount is designated by the corporation under the said subparagraph 1, and

iii. any other amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph a.

Income in respect of which an amount is designated under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph is deemed, for the purposes of subparagraph iii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of sections 418.16 and 418.18, subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.19, subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.21, paragraph a of section 418.28 of this Act and section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause B of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), not to be attributable to production from a Canadian resource property.

418.17.1. The portion of an amount deducted under section 418.17 in computing a taxpayer's income for a taxation year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of specified foreign exploration and development expenses of the taxpayer in relation to a country is considered as being attributable to a source in that country.

2004, c. 8, s. 84.

418.17.2. For the purposes of section 418.17.1, where a taxpayer has incurred specified foreign exploration and development expenses in relation to two or more countries, an allocation to each of those countries for a taxation year shall be determined in a manner that is

(a) reasonable having regard to all the circumstances, including the level and timing of

i. the taxpayer's specified foreign exploration and development expenses in relation to that country, and

ii. the profits or gains to which those expenses relate; and

(b) not inconsistent with the allocation made under section 418.17.1 for the preceding taxation year.

418.17.3. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.24, where a corporation acquires, in any manner whatever, a particular foreign resource property, in this section referred to as the "particular property", in relation to a particular country, there may be deducted by the corporation in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the lesser of the amount described in the second paragraph and the amount described in the third paragraph determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to 30% of the amount by which the cumulative foreign resource expense, in relation to the particular country, of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner to the extent that it has not been otherwise deducted in computing the corporation's income for the year, has not been deducted in computing the corporation's income for any preceding taxation year and has not been deducted in computing the income of the original owner or any predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year, exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a particular amount, reduced by the portion of that amount provided for in the fifth paragraph, that became receivable by a predecessor owner of the particular property, or by the corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year, and that i. was included by the predecessor owner or the corporation in computing an amount determined, without reference to section 418.1.5, under paragraph b of section 418.1.4 at the end of the year, and

ii. can reasonably be attributed to the disposition of a property, in the fifth paragraph referred to as the "particular resource property", that is the particular property or another foreign resource property, in relation to the particular country, that was acquired from the original owner with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount by which the amount determined under this paragraph is required by reason of section 485.8 to be reduced at or before the end of the year.

The last amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which the amount determined under the fourth paragraph is exceeded by the aggregate of

(a) the lesser of

i. the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that can reasonably be attributed to the production from the particular property, and

ii. where the corporation acquires the particular property from the original owner at any time in the year, otherwise than as a result of an amalgamation or merger or solely by reason of the application of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 418.26 and did not deal with the original owner at arm's length at that time, nil; and

(b) unless the amount determined under subparagraph a is nil by reason of subparagraph ii of that subparagraph, the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount designated by the corporation for the year in respect of a Canadian resource property owned by the original owner immediately before being acquired with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property, not exceeding the amount included in computing the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that can reasonably be attributed to the production from the Canadian resource property, and

ii. the amount by which 10% of the amount described in the second paragraph for the year, in respect of the original owner, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which would, but for this subparagraph, subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 418.17 and subparagraph ii of subparagraph f of the first paragraph of section 418.26, be determined under this paragraph for the year in respect of the particular property or other foreign resource property, in relation to the particular country, owned by the original owner immediately before being acquired with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property.

The amount that, for the purposes of the third paragraph, is required to be determined under this paragraph is the aggregate of

(a) any other amount deducted for the year under this section, section 418.17 or section 418.19 as a consequence of the application of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, that can reasonably be attributed to the part of the corporation's income for the year, described in subparagraph a of the third paragraph, in relation to the particular property;

(b) any other amount deducted for the year under this section or section 418.17, that can reasonably be attributed to a part of the corporation's income for the year, described in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the third paragraph, in respect of which an amount is designated by the corporation under that subparagraph; and

(c) any amount added, by reason of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph a of the third paragraph.

The particular amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph shall be reduced by the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to result in a reduction of the amount otherwise determined under that paragraph in relation to another original owner of a particular resource property who is not a predecessor owner of a particular resource property or who became such a predecessor owner before the original owner became a predecessor owner of a particular resource property.

The income in respect of which an amount is designated under subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the third paragraph is deemed, for the purposes of the following provisions, not to be attributable to the production from a Canadian resource property:

(a) subparagraph iii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of sections 418.16 and 418.18;

(b) subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.19;

(c) subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20;

(d) subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.21;

(e) paragraph a of section 418.28; and

(f) section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause B of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)).

418.18. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.23, where a corporation acquired after 6 May 1974 in the case of an oil business, after 31 March 1975 in the case of a mining business or after 5 December 1996 in all other cases, in any manner whatsoever, a particular Canadian resource property (referred to in this section as "particular property"), it may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amount referred to in the second paragraph and the amount referred to in the third paragraph determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner, and all amounts required to be added under paragraph c of section 418.25 to the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner in respect of a predecessor owner of the particular property, or in respect of the corporation, as the case may be, at any time after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner and before the end of the year, to the extent that an amount in respect of that aggregate was not

i. otherwise deducted in computing the corporation's income for the year or deducted in computing the corporation's income for a preceding taxation year or in computing the income of a predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year, and

ii. deducted or required to be deducted under section 400 or 401 in computing the income of the original owner for any taxation year, or designated by the original owner for any taxation year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) pursuant to subsection 14.1 of section 66 of that Act; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts by which the amount determined under this paragraph is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before the end of the year.

The last amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to

i. the amount included in computing its income for the year under paragraph e of section 330 that may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to the disposition by the corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year of any right in or to the particular property to the extent that the proceeds of the disposition have not been included in computing an amount for any preceding taxation year under this subparagraph, subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.16, subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, section 418.28 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause A of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)),

ii. its reserve amount for the year in respect of the original owner and each predecessor owner of the particular property, or

iii. production from the particular property; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. any other amount deducted under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, this section and sections 418.16, 418.19 and 418.21 for the year that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income for the year described in subparagraph a in respect of the particular property, and

ii. any other amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph a.

418.19. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.23, where a corporation acquired after 6 May 1974 in the case of an oil business, or after 31 March 1975 in the case of a mining business, in any manner whatsoever, a particular Canadian resource property, referred to in this section and in section 418.20 as "particular property", it may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the lesser of the amount referred to in the second paragraph and the amount referred to in the third paragraph and, as the case may be, the amount referred to in section 418.20, determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the amount by which

i. the cumulative Canadian development expenses of the original owner, determined immediately after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner, to the extent that the expenses were not otherwise deducted in computing the corporation's income for the year, were not deducted in computing the corporation's income for any preceding taxation year or in computing the income of the original owner or any predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year, and were not designated by the original owner for any taxation year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) pursuant to subsection 14.2 of section 66 of the said Act, exceeds

ii. all amounts required to be deducted under paragraph b of section 418.25, at any time after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner and before the end of the year, from the cumulative Canadian development expenses of the original owner in respect of a predecessor owner of the particular property or in respect of the corporation, as the case may be, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. all amounts each of which is a particular amount, reduced by the portion thereof described in the fourth paragraph, that became receivable by a predecessor owner of the particular property or the corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year and that

(1) was included by the predecessor owner or the corporation in computing an amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 412 at the end of the year, and

(2) can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition of a property, in the fourth paragraph referred to as a "relevant mining property", that is the particular property or another Canadian resource property that was acquired from the original owner with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property,

ii. all amounts each of which is a particular amount, reduced by the portion thereof described in the fifth paragraph, that became receivable by a predecessor owner of the particular property or the corporation after 31 December 1992 and in the year or a preceding taxation year and that

(1) is designated in respect of the original owner by the predecessor owner or the corporation, as the case may be, on the prescribed form filed with the Minister within six months after the end of the taxation year in which the particular amount became receivable,

(2) was included by the predecessor owner or the corporation in computing an amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.6 at the end of the year, and

(3) can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition of a property, in the fifth paragraph referred to as a "relevant oil and gas property", that is the particular property or another Canadian resource property that was acquired from the original owner with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property, and

iii. any amount by which the amount determined under this paragraph is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before the end of the year.

The second amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the lesser of

i. the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to

(1) its reserve amount for the year in respect of the original owner and each predecessor owner of the particular property, or

(2) production from the particular property, and

ii. where the corporation acquired the particular property from the original owner at any time in the year, otherwise than by way of an amalgamation or merger or by reason only of the application of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 418.26, and did not deal at arm's length with the original owner at that time, nil, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. any other amount deducted under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), this section and sections 418.16, 418.18 and 418.21 for the year that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income for the year described in subparagraph a in respect of the particular property, and

ii. any other amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph a.

The particular amount mentioned in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph shall be reduced by the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to result in a reduction of the amount otherwise determined under that paragraph in respect of another original owner of a relevant mining property who is not a predecessor owner of a relevant mining property or who became a predecessor owner of a relevant mining property before the original owner became a predecessor owner of a relevant mining property.

The particular amount mentioned in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph shall be reduced by the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to result in a reduction of the amount otherwise determined under the second paragraph of section 418.21 in respect of the original owner or under the second paragraph, or the second paragraph of section 418.21, in respect of another original owner of a relevant oil and gas property who is not a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property or who became a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property before the original owner became a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property.

418.20. The last amount to which the first paragraph of section 418.19 refers is equal,

(a) where the corporation referred to in section 418.19 is a development corporation carrying on an oil business, to the aggregate of

i. 30% of the amount by which the expenses referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19 that were not incurred in Québec within the meaning of section 416 exceed the aggregate referred to in subparagraph b of the said second paragraph, and

ii. the amount by which the expenses referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19 that were incurred in Québec within the meaning of section 416 exceed the amount by which the aggregate referred to in subparagraph b of the said second paragraph exceeds the expenses referred to in that subparagraph a which were not incurred in Québec within the meaning of section 416;

(b) where the corporation referred to in section 418.19 is not a development corporation and carries on an oil business, to 30% of the excess amount referred to in the second paragraph of that section;

(c) where the corporation referred to in section 418.19 is not a development corporation and carries on a mining business, to the higher of either 30% of the excess amount referred to in the second paragraph of the said section, or the amount by which the total, before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or sections 359 to 419.6, of the following amounts exceeds the amount described in the second paragraph:

i. its income for the year that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the production of ore, other than iron ore or tar sands, from a resource property that is property described in the third paragraph, processed to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent, to the production of iron ore from such property, processed to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent, and to any rental or royalty from such property, computed by reference to the amount or value of ore production,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts included in computing its income for the year under paragraph b, d or e of section 330, other than an amount referred to in subparagraph iii, in respect of property described in the third paragraph, but to the extent that paragraph b of section 330 refers to section 357, only the amounts deducted in computing its income, under the last mentioned section, for the preceding taxation year in respect of the disposition of a Canadian resource property may be taken into consideration, and

iii. the aggregate of all amounts included in computing its income for the year under paragraph e of section 330, that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition by the corporation, in the year or in a preceding taxation year, of any right in or to a property described in the third paragraph, to the extent that the proceeds of the disposition were not included in computing any amount for a preceding taxation year under this subparagraph, subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.16 or 418.18, section 418.28 and section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause A of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)).

The amount to which subparagraph c of the first paragraph refers is the total of the following amounts:

(a) the aggregate of all amounts deducted in computing its income for the year under section 357 in respect of a Canadian resource property that is property described in the third paragraph or under section 358 in respect of property described in that paragraph, as those sections apply in respect of a disposition made before 13 November 1981;

(b) the aggregate of the other amounts deducted for the year under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, any of sections 418.16 to 418.19 and section 418.21 that can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the amounts referred to in subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph for the year;

(c) any other amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the total amount determined under subparagraph c of the first paragraph.

Any property to which subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph and subparagraph a of the second paragraph refer is property owned immediately before the acquisition referred to in section 418.19 by the person from which the property was acquired pursuant to that section.

418.21. Subject to sections 418.22 and 418.23, where after 11 December 1979 a corporation acquired, in any manner whatsoever, a particular Canadian resource property, referred to in this section as "particular property", it may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the lesser of the amount referred to in the second paragraph and the amount referred to in the third paragraph, determined in respect of an original owner of the particular property.

The first amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to 10% of the excess amount, over the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount by which the amount determined under this paragraph is required, because of section 485.8, to be reduced at or before the end of the year, of the amount by which

(a) the cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition of the particular property by the original owner to the extent that it has not been otherwise deducted in computing the corporation's income for the year and has not been deducted in computing the corporation's income for any preceding taxation year or in computing the income of the original owner or any predecessor owner of the particular property for any taxation year, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a particular amount, reduced by the portion thereof described in the fourth paragraph, that became receivable by a predecessor owner of the particular property or the corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year and that i. was included by the predecessor owner or the corporation in computing an amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 418.6 at the end of the year, and

ii. can reasonably be regarded as attributable to the disposition of a property, in the fourth paragraph referred to as a "relevant oil and gas property", that is the particular property or another Canadian resource property that was acquired from the original owner with the particular property by the corporation or a predecessor owner of the particular property.

The last amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to the amount by which

(a) the lesser of

i. the part of the corporation's income for the year, determined before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) or any of sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to

(1) its reserve amount for the year in respect of the original owner and each predecessor owner of the particular property, or

(2) production from the particular property, and

ii. where the corporation acquired the particular property from the original owner at any time in the year, otherwise than by way of an amalgamation or merger or by reason only of the application of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 418.26, and did not deal at arm's length with the original owner at that time, nil, exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. any other amount deducted under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), this section and section 418.16, 418.18 or 418.19 for the year that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to the part of its income for the year described in subparagraph a in respect of the particular property, and

ii. any amount added, because of section 485.13, in computing the amount determined under subparagraph a.

The particular amount mentioned in subparagraph b of the second paragraph shall be reduced by the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to result in a reduction of the amount otherwise determined under the second paragraph, or the second paragraph of section 418.19, in respect of another original owner of a relevant oil and gas property who is not a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property or who became a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property before the original owner became a predecessor owner of a relevant oil and gas property.

418.22. Section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement), and sections 418.16 to 418.19 and 418.21 do not apply

(a) in respect of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property acquired by way of an amalgamation to which subsection 4 of section 544 applies or a winding-up to which section 565.1 applies; or

(b) to permit, in respect of the acquisition by a corporation before 18 February 1987 of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property, a deduction by the corporation of an amount that the corporation would not have been entitled to deduct under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, Divisions I, I.1 or III to IV.1, sections 362 to 394, 419 to 419.4 or section 419.6 if those sections and divisions, as they read in their application to taxation years ending before 18 February 1987, applied to taxation years ending after 17 February 1987.

418.23. Section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement), and sections 418.16, 418.18, 418.19 and 418.21 apply only to a corporation that has acquired a particular Canadian resource property, in this section referred to as "particular property",

(a) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year commencing before 1 January 1985 and, at the time it acquired the particular property, the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the property used by the person from whom it acquired the particular property in carrying on in Canada a business described in paragraphs a to g of section 363;

(b) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year commencing after 31 December 1984 and, at the time it acquired the particular property, the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the Canadian resource properties of the person from whom it acquired the particular property;

(c) where it acquired the particular property after 5 June 1987 by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it has filed an election in prescribed form with the Minister on or before the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which it acquired the particular property;

(d) where it acquired the particular property after 16 November 1978 and in a taxation year ending before 18 February 1987 by any means other than by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it and the person from whom it acquired the particular property have filed with the Minister a joint election under and in accordance with sections 376 to 379, 402 to 405, 415 to 415.3 and 418.8 to 418.11 and section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules as all those sections read in their application to that year; and

(e) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year ending after 17 February 1987 by any means other than by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it and the person from whom it acquired the particular property have filed a joint election in prescribed form with the Minister on or before the earliest of their filing-due dates for the taxation year in which the corporation acquired the particular property.

418.24. Sections 418.17 and 418.17.3 apply only to a corporation that has acquired a particular foreign resource property referred to in this section as "particular property",

(a) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year commencing before 1 January 1985 and, at the time it acquired the particular property, the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the property used by the person from whom it acquired the particular property in carrying on outside Canada a business described in paragraphs a to g of section 363;

(b) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year commencing after 31 December 1984 and, at the time it acquired the particular property, the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the foreign resource properties of the person from whom it acquired the particular property;

(c) where it acquired the particular property after 5 June 1987 by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it has filed an election in prescribed form with the Minister on or before the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which it acquired the particular property;

(d) where it acquired the particular property after 16 November 1978 and in a taxation year ending before 18 February 1987 by any means other than by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it and the person from whom it acquired the particular property have filed with the Minister a joint election under and in accordance with section 380, as that section read in its application to that year; and

(e) where it acquired the particular property in a taxation year ending after 17 February 1987 by any means other than by way of an amalgamation or winding-up and it and the person from whom it acquired the particular property have filed a joint election in prescribed form with the Minister on or before the earliest of their filing-due dates for the taxation year in which the corporation acquired the particular property.

418.25. Where a corporation acquires a Canadian resource property, where section 418.19 applies in respect of the acquisition, and where the cumulative Canadian development expense of an original owner of the property determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of the corporation includes a Canadian development expense incurred by the original owner in respect of an oil or gas well that would, but for this section, be deemed by section 399.3 to be a Canadian exploration expense incurred in respect of the well by the original owner at any particular time after the acquisition by the corporation and before it disposed of the property, the following rules apply:

(a) section 399.3 does not apply in respect of the Canadian development expense incurred in respect of the well by the original owner;

(b) an amount equal to the lesser of

i. the amount that would be deemed by section 399.3 to be a Canadian exploration expense incurred in respect of the well by the original owner at the particular time if that section applied in respect of the expense, and

ii. the cumulative Canadian development expense of the original owner as determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19 in respect of the corporation immediately before the particular time shall be deducted at the particular time from the cumulative Canadian development expense of the original owner in respect of the corporation for the purposes of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19;

(c) the amount required to be deducted by paragraph b shall be added at the particular time to the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner in respect of the corporation for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.18.

418.26. Where, at any time after 12 November 1981, control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons, or a corporation ceases on or before 26 April 1995 to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income, for the purposes of the provisions of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) and of this Part, other than sections 359.2, 359.2.1, 359.2.2, 359.4 and 359.13, relating to deductions in respect of drilling and exploration expenses, prospecting, exploration and development expenses, Canadian exploration and development expenses, foreign resource pool expenses, Canadian exploration expenses, Canadian development expenses or Canadian oil and gas property expenses, in this section referred to as "resource expenses", incurred by the corporation before that time, the following rules apply:

(a) the corporation is deemed after that time to be a corporation that had, at that time, acquired all the properties owned by the corporation immediately before that time from an original owner thereof;

(a.1) where the corporation did not own a foreign resource property immediately before that time, the corporation is deemed to have owned a foreign resource property immediately before that time;

(b) a joint election is deemed to have been filed in accordance with sections 418.23 and 418.24 in respect of the acquisition;

(c) the resource expenses incurred by the corporation before that time are deemed to have been incurred by an original owner of the properties and not by the corporation;

(c.1) the original owner is deemed to have been resident in Canada before that time while the corporation was resident in Canada;

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) where the corporation (in this subparagraph and the second paragraph referred to as the "transferee") was, immediately before and at that time, a particular person, within the meaning of subsection 5 of section 544, or a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, within the meaning of that subsection, of another corporation (in this subparagraph and the second paragraph and in section 418.28 referred to as the "transferor"), the amount corresponding, subject to the second paragraph, to the total of the amount that the transferor designates after 19 December 2006 in accordance with paragraph g of subsection 10 of section 66.7 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in favour of the transferee for a taxation year of the transferor ending after that time and throughout which the transferee was such a particular person or such a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the transferor, and—if the total of the amounts designated by the transferor in accordance with that paragraph g in favour of any taxpayer for that year corresponds to the maximum total of the amounts that the transferor may then designate in accordance with that paragraph g in favour of any taxpayer for that year—of the portion on which the transferor and transferee agree and that the transferor specifies in its fiscal return under this Part for that year in respect of the transferee and not in respect of another taxpayer, of the amount by which the particular amount described in section 418.28 exceeds the maximum total of the amounts that the transferor may then designate in accordance with that paragraph g in favour of any taxpayer for that year,

i. applies for the purpose of making a deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), or this division in respect of resource expenses incurred by the transferee before that time while the transferee was such a particular person or such a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the transferor, and

ii. is deemed, for the purpose of computing an amount under the third paragraph of any of sections 418.16, 418.18 and 418.19, subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, as that subparagraph would read if "to the higher of either 30% of the excess amount referred to in the second paragraph of the said section, or the amount by which" was replaced by "to the amount by which", the third paragraph of section 418.21 and section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, to be income of the transferee from the sources described in paragraph a or b of section 418.28 for its taxation year in which that taxation year of the transferor ends, and not to be income of the transferor from those sources for that year;

(f) where the corporation (in this subparagraph and the second paragraph referred to as the "transferee") was, immediately before and at that time, a particular person, within the meaning of subsection 5 of section 544, or a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, within the meaning of that subsection, of another corporation (in this subparagraph and the second paragraph and in section 418.29 referred to as the "transferor"), the amount corresponding, subject to the second paragraph, to the total of the amount that the transferor designates after 19 December 2006 in accordance with paragraph h of subsection 10 of section 66.7 of the Income Tax Act in favour of the transferee for a taxation year of the transferor ending after that time and throughout which the transferee was such a particular person or such a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the transferor, and—if the total of the amounts designated by the transferor in accordance with that paragraph h in favour of any taxpayer for that year corresponds to the maximum total of the amounts that the transferor may then designate in accordance with that paragraph h in favour of any taxpayer for that year—of the portion on which the transferor and transferee agree and that the transferor specifies in its fiscal return under this Part for that year in respect of the transferee and not in respect of another taxpayer, of the amount by which the particular amount described in section 418.29 exceeds the maximum total of the amounts that the transferor may then designate in accordance with that paragraph h in favour of any taxpayer for that year, is deemed,

i. for the purpose of computing an amount under the third paragraph of section 418.17 or 418.17.3 or subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, as that subparagraph would read if "to the higher of either 30% of the excess amount referred to in the second paragraph of the said section, or the amount by which" was replaced by "to the amount by which", to be income of the transferee from the sources described in paragraph a or b of section 418.29 for its taxation year in which that taxation year of the transferor ends, and

ii. for the purpose of computing an amount under the third paragraph of section 418.17 or 418.17.3 or subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20, as that subparagraph would read if "to the higher of either 30% of the excess amount referred to in the second paragraph of the said section, or the amount by which" was replaced by "to the amount by which", not to be the income of the transferor from those sources for that year;

(g) where, immediately before and at that time, the corporation (in this subparagraph referred to as the "transferee") and another corporation (in this subparagraph referred to as the "transferor") were both subsidiary wholly-owned corporations, within the meaning of subsection 5 of section 544, of the same particular person, within the meaning of that subsection, and if the transferee and the transferor agree after 19 December 2006 in accordance with paragraph i of subsection 10 of section 66.7 of the Income Tax Act to have that paragraph i apply to them for a taxation year of the transferor ending after that time, subparagraph e or f or both, as the agreement provides, apply for that year to the transferee and to the transferor as though one were, in relation to the other, the particular person, within the meaning of subsection 5 of section 544; and

(h) where that time is after 15 January 1987 and at that time the corporation was a member of a partnership that owned a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property at that time, for the purposes of subparagraph a, the corporation is deemed to have owned immediately before that time that portion of the property owned by the partnership at that time that is equal to its percentage share of the aggregate of amounts that would be paid to all members of the partnership if it were wound up at that time, and, for the purposes of subparagraph iii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.16, subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.17, subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.17.3, subparagraph iii of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.18, subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.19, subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.20 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 418.21 and of section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, to the extent that that section refers to clause B of subparagraph i of paragraph d of subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, for a taxation year ending after that time, the lesser of the following amounts is deemed to be the income of the corporation for the year that can reasonably be attributed to production from the property:

i. its share of the part of the income of the partnership for the fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year that may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to the production from the property, and

ii. an amount that would be determined under subparagraph i for the year if its share of the income of the partnership for the fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year were determined on the basis of the percentage share referred to in this subparagraph h.

However, when the aggregate of the amounts determined for a taxation year of the transferor under subparagraph e or f of the first paragraph in relation to the transferee would, but for this paragraph, exceed the particular amount described in section 418.28 or 418.29, the amount otherwise determined for the year under that subparagraph in respect of the transferee or another taxpayer must be reduced, if applicable, to the amount specified by the transferor in its fiscal return under this Part for the year or, if the transferor fails to specify such an amount, to the amount specified by the Minister, so that the aggregate is equal to the particular amount.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation or agreement made under any of paragraphs g, h and i of subsection 10 of section 66.7 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to a designation or agreement made under this section before 20 December 2006.

418.28. The particular amount referred to in subparagraph e of the first paragraph and the second paragraph of section 418.26 is the amount equal to the portion of the income of the transferor for the year referred to in that subparagraph, before any deduction under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) and sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable

(a) to the production from a Canadian resource property owned by the transferor immediately before the time referred to in the first paragraph of section 418.26; and

(b) to the disposition, in the year referred to in subparagraph e of the first paragraph of section 418.26, of a Canadian resource property owned by the transferor immediately before the time referred to in that paragraph.

418.29. The particular amount referred to in subparagraph f of the first paragraph and the second paragraph of section 418.26 is the amount equal to the portion of the income of the transferor for the year referred to in that subparagraph, before any deduction under sections 359 to 419.6, that may reasonably be regarded as attributable

(a) to the production from a foreign resource property owned by the transferor immediately before the time referred to in the first paragraph of section 418.26; and

(b) to the disposition of a foreign resource property owned by the transferor immediately before the time referred to in the first paragraph of section 418.26.

418.29.1. If there has been an amalgamation within the meaning of section 544, other than an amalgamation to which subsection 4 of that section applies, of two or more corporations (each of which is referred to in this section as a "predecessor corporation") to form a new corporation and immediately before the time of the amalgamation a predecessor corporation was a member of a partnership that owned a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property at that time, for the purposes of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 418.15 and sections 418.16 to 418.21, the following rules apply:

(a) the predecessor corporation is deemed to have owned, immediately before the time of the amalgamation, that portion of each Canadian resource property and of each foreign resource property owned by the partnership at the time of the amalgamation that is equal to the predecessor corporation's percentage share of the aggregate of the amounts that would be paid to all members of the partnership if the partnership were wound up and to have disposed of those portions to the new corporation at the time of the amalgamation;

(b) the new corporation is deemed to have, as a consequence of the amalgamation, acquired the portions of property referred to in paragraph a at the time of the amalgamation; and

(c) the income of the new corporation for a taxation year that ends after the time of the amalgamation that can reasonably be attributable to production from the properties referred to in paragraph a is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

i. the new corporation's share of the part of the income of the partnership for fiscal periods of the partnership that end in the year that can reasonably be regarded as being attributable to production from those properties, and

ii. the amount that would be determined in accordance with subparagraph i for the year if the new corporation's share of the income of the partnership for each of the fiscal periods of the partnership that end in the year were determined on the basis of the percentage share referred to in paragraph a.

418.30. If, at any time, control of a taxpayer that is a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons, or a taxpayer has disposed of all or substantially all of the taxpayer's Canadian resource properties or foreign resource properties, and, before that time, the taxpayer or a partnership of which the taxpayer was a member acquired a property that is a Canadian resource property, a foreign resource property or an interest in a partnership and it may reasonably be considered that one of the main purposes of the acquisition was to avoid any limitation provided for in any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (R.S.C. 1985, c. 2 (5th Suppl.)), on the deduction in respect of any expenses incurred by the taxpayer or a corporation referred to as a "transferee" in subparagraph e or f of the first paragraph of section 418.26, the taxpayer or the partnership is, for the purpose of applying sections 418.16 to 418.21 and section 88.4 of that Act, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of those rules, to or in respect of the taxpayer, deemed not to have acquired the property.

418.31. Where in a taxation year an original owner of Canadian resource properties disposes of all or substantially all of the original owner's Canadian resource properties to a particular corporation in circumstances in which section 418.16, 418.18, 418.19 or 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement), applies, the following rules apply:

(a) the Canadian exploration and development expenses incurred by the original owner before he so disposed of the properties are, for the purposes of this Title, deemed after the disposition not to have been incurred by him except for the purposes of making a deduction under section 362 or 367 for the year and of determining the amount that may be deducted under section 418.16 by the particular corporation or by any other corporation that subsequently acquires any of the properties;

(b) in determining the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner at any time after the first time referred to in the second paragraph of section 418.18, there shall be deducted the amount thereof determined immediately after the disposition;

(b.1) for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.18, the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition that was deducted under section 400 or 401 in computing the original owner's income for the year is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

i. the amount deducted in respect of the disposition under paragraph b, and

ii. the amount by which

(1) the amount determined under paragraph a of section 418.31.1 in respect of the original owner for the year exceeds

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under this paragraph in respect of any disposition made by the original owner in the year and before the disposition first referred to in this paragraph;

(b.2) any amount, other than the amount determined under paragraph b.1, that was deducted under section 400 or 401 by the original owner for the year or a subsequent taxation year is deemed, for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.18, not to be in respect of the cumulative Canadian exploration expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition;

(c) in determining the cumulative Canadian development expense of the original owner at any time after the time referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.19, there shall be deducted the amount thereof determined immediately after the disposition;

(c.1) for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.19, the cumulative Canadian development expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition that was deducted under section 413 or 414 in computing the original owner's income for the year is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

i. the amount deducted in respect of the disposition under paragraph c, and

ii. the amount by which

(1) the amount determined under paragraph b of section 418.31.1 in respect of the original owner for the year exceeds

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under this paragraph in respect of any disposition made by the original owner in the year and before the disposition first referred to in this paragraph;

(c.2) any amount, other than the amount determined under paragraph c.1, that was deducted under section 413 or 414 by the original owner for the year or a subsequent taxation year is deemed, for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.19, not to be in respect of the cumulative Canadian development expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition;

(d) in determining the cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of the original owner at any time after the time referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 418.21, there shall be deducted the amount thereof determined immediately after the disposition;

(d.1) for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.21, the cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition that was deducted under section 418.7 in computing the original owner's income for the year is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

i. the amount deducted in respect of the disposition under paragraph d, and

ii. the amount by which

(1) the amount determined under paragraph c of section 418.31.1 in respect of the original owner for the year exceeds

(d.2) any amount, other than the amount determined under paragraph d.1, that was deducted under section 418.7 by the original owner for the year or a subsequent taxation year is deemed, for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.21, not to be in respect of the cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense of the original owner determined immediately after the disposition;

(e) the drilling and exploration expenses, including all general geological and geophysical expenses, incurred by the original owner before 1 January 1972 on or in respect of exploring or drilling for petroleum or natural gas in Canada and the prospecting, exploration and development expenses incurred by the original owner before 1 January 1972 in searching for minerals in Canada are, for the purposes of section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act, deemed after the disposition not to have been incurred by the original owner except for the purpose of making a deduction under section 88.4 of that Act for the year and of determining the amount that may be deducted under that section 88.4, to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, by the particular corporation or any other corporation that subsequently acquires any of the properties.

418.31.1. Where in a taxation year an original owner of Canadian resource properties disposes of all or substantially all of his Canadian resource properties in circumstances in which section 418.18, 418.19 or 418.21 applies, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount determined in respect of the original owner for the year for the purposes of paragraph b.1 of section 398 and subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph b.1 of section 418.31 is equal to the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which

(1) the amount deducted under paragraph b of section 418.31 in respect of a disposition in the year by the original owner, exceeds

(2) the amount designated by the original owner in prescribed form filed with the Minister within six months after the end of the year in respect of an amount determined under subparagraph l, and

ii. the aggregate of

(1) the amount deducted by the original owner for the year under section 400 or 401, and

(2) the amount that would be determined in respect of the original owner for the year under paragraph d of section 330 if the aggregate last referred to therein were not taken into account;

(b) the amount determined in respect of the original owner for the year for the purposes of paragraph a.1 of section 411 and subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph c.1 of section 418.31 is equal to the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which

(1) the amount deducted under paragraph c of section 418.31 in respect of a disposition in the year by the original owner, exceeds

(2) the amount designated by the original owner in prescribed form filed with the Minister within six months after the end of the year in respect of an amount determined under subparagraph 1, and

ii. the aggregate of

(1) the amount deducted by the original owner for the year under section 413 or 414, and

(2) the amount that would be determined in respect of the original owner for the year under paragraph e of section 330 if the aggregate last referred to therein were not taken into account;

(c) the amount determined in respect of the original owner for the year for the purposes of paragraph a.1 of section 418.5 and subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph d.1 of section 418.31 is equal to the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which

(1) the amount deducted under paragraph d of section 418.31 in respect of a disposition in the year by the original owner, exceeds

(2) the amount designated by the original owner in prescribed form filed with the Minister within six months after the end of the year in respect of an amount determined under subparagraph 1, and

ii. the aggregate of

(1) the amount deducted by the original owner for the year under section 418.7, and

(2) the amount that would be determined in respect of the original owner for the year under section 418.12 if the aggregate last referred to therein were not taken into account.

1993, c. 16, s. 173.

418.32. Where after 5 June 1987 an original owner of foreign resource properties disposes of all or substantially all of his foreign resource properties to a particular corporation in circumstances in which section 418.17 applies, the foreign exploration and development expenses incurred by the original owner before he so disposed of the properties are deemed after the disposition not to have been incurred by him except for the purposes of determining the amounts that may be deducted under section 418.17 by the particular corporation or any other corporation that subsequently acquires any of the properties.

418.32.1. Where in a taxation year an original owner of foreign resource properties in relation to a country disposes of all or substantially all of the original owner's foreign resource properties in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applies, the following rules apply:

(a) in determining the cumulative foreign resource expense of the original owner in relation to that country at any time after the time referred to in the portion of the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 before subparagraph a, there shall be deducted the amount of that cumulative foreign resource expense determined immediately after the disposition; and

(b) for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.17.3, the cumulative foreign resource expense of the original owner in relation to that country determined immediately after the disposition that was deducted under section 418.1.10 in computing the original owner's income for the year is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

i. the amount deducted under paragraph a in respect of the disposition, and

ii. the amount by which the particular amount determined for the year under section 418.32.2 in respect of the original owner and that country exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under this paragraph in respect of a previous disposition of foreign resource property, in relation to that country, made by the original owner in the year.

418.32.2. Where in a taxation year an original owner of foreign resource properties in relation to a country disposes of all or substantially all of the original owner's foreign resource properties in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applies, the particular amount for the year in respect of the original owner and that country for the purposes of paragraph d of section 418.1.3 and subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 418.32.1 is the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which an amount deducted under paragraph a of section 418.32.1 in respect of a disposition in the year by the original owner of foreign resource property in relation to that country, exceeds the amount designated by the original owner in the prescribed form filed with the Minister within six months after the end of the year in respect of the amount deducted under paragraph a of section 418.32.1; and

(b) the aggregate of

i. the amount deducted under section 418.1.10 for the year by the original owner in relation to that country, and

ii. the amount that would, but for subparagraph ii of paragraph e.1 of section 330, be determined for the year under that paragraph e.1 in respect of the original owner and that country.

418.33. Where in a taxation year a predecessor owner of Canadian resource properties disposes of Canadian resource properties to a corporation in circumstances in which any of sections 418.16, 418.18, 418.19 and 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Act Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement) applies,

(a) for the purpose of applying any of those sections to the predecessor owner in respect of its acquisition of any Canadian resource property owned by it immediately before the disposition, it is deemed, after the disposition, never to have acquired any such properties except for the purpose of determining the following amounts:

i. an amount deductible under section 418.16 or 418.18 for the year,

ii. where the predecessor owner and the corporation dealt with each other at arm's length at the time of the disposition or the disposition was by way of an amalgamation or merger, an amount deductible under section 418.19 or 418.21 for the year; and

iii. the amount under paragraph b of section 412, subparagraph i or ii of paragraph g of that section or paragraph b of section 418.6; and

(b) where the corporation or another corporation acquires any of the properties on or after the disposition in circumstances in which section 418.19 or 418.21 applies, amounts that become receivable by the predecessor owner after the disposition in respect of Canadian resource properties retained by it at the time of the disposition are deemed, for the purpose of applying section 418.19 or 418.21 to the corporation or the other corporation in respect of the acquisition, not to have become receivable by the predecessor owner.

418.34. Where after 5 June 1987 a predecessor owner of foreign resource properties disposes of all or substantially all of its foreign resource properties to a corporation in circumstances in which section 418.17 applies, for the purpose of applying that section to the predecessor owner in respect of its acquisition of any of those properties, or other foreign resource properties retained by it at the time of the disposition which were acquired by it in circumstances in which that section 418.17 applied, it is deemed, after the disposition, never to have acquired the properties.

418.34.1. Where in a taxation year a predecessor owner of foreign resource properties disposes of foreign resource properties to a corporation in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applies, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of applying section 418.17.3 to the predecessor owner in respect of its acquisition of any foreign resource properties owned by it immediately before the disposition, it is deemed, after the disposition, never to have acquired any such properties except for the purpose of determining,

i. where the predecessor owner and the corporation dealt with each other at arm's length at the time of the disposition or the disposition occurred after an amalgamation or merger, an amount deductible under section 418.17.3 for the year, and

ii. an amount determined under paragraph b of section 418.1.4; and

(b) where the corporation or another corporation acquires any of the properties on or after the disposition in circumstances to which section 418.17.3 applies, amounts that become receivable by the predecessor owner after the disposition in respect of foreign resource properties retained by it at the time of the disposition are, for the purpose of applying section 418.17.3 to the corporation or the other corporation in respect of the acquisition, deemed not to have become receivable by the predecessor owner.

418.35. Where at any time a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property is acquired by a person in circumstances in which none of sections 418.16 to 418.21 or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement) apply, every person who was an original owner or predecessor owner of the property by reason of having disposed of the property before that time is, for the purpose of applying those sections to or in respect of the person or any other person who after that time acquires the property, deemed after that time not to be an original owner or predecessor owner of the property by reason of having disposed of the property before that time.

418.36. Where in a particular taxation year and before 6 June 1987 a person disposed of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property in circumstances in which any of sections 418.16 to 418.21 of this Act or section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement) applies, no deduction in respect of an expense incurred before the property was disposed of may be made under this division, Divisions I, I.1 or III to IV.1 or sections 362 to 394, 419 to 419.4 or 419.6 by the person in computing his income for a taxation year subsequent to the particular taxation year.

DIVISION IV.3

AT-RISK AMOUNT

1990, c. 59, s. 166.

418.37. Where a taxpayer is a limited partner of a partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership, the excess amount described in the second paragraph shall reduce, first, the taxpayer's share of the Canadian oil and gas property expenses, then, the taxpayer's share of Canadian development expenses, then, the taxpayer's share of Canadian exploration expenses, then, the taxpayer's share of foreign resource expenses in relation to a country, and then, the taxpayer's share of foreign exploration and development expenses, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period.

The excess amount referred to in the first paragraph is the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's share of each class of expenses described in the first paragraph incurred by the partnership in the fiscal period referred to therein, computed without reference to this section, exceeds

(b) the amount by which the at-risk amount of the taxpayer in respect of his partnership interest at the end of the fiscal period exceeds the aggregate of the following amounts:

i. that portion of the amount determined in respect of the partnership that is required by subsection 8 of section 127 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) to be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer in respect of the fiscal period, within the meaning assigned to that expression by the said Act for the purposes of the said subsection;

ii. the taxpayer's share of any losses of the partnership for the fiscal period from a farming business.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a taxpayer's share of foreign resource expenses in relation to a country, shall be reduced in the order specified by the taxpayer in a written document filed with the Minister on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership ends or, where no such order is specified, in the order determined by the Minister.

For the purposes of this chapter, subparagraph ii of paragraph l of section 257, sections 600.1, 600.2 and 613.1 and Title VII of Book IV, but not for the purposes of this section, the taxpayer's share of each class of expenses described in the first paragraph incurred by the partnership in the fiscal period referred to therein is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the taxpayer's share of that class of expenses exceeds that portion of the excess amount determined in the second paragraph that, under the first paragraph, reduced that class of expenses.

418.38. For the purposes of the second paragraph of section 418.37, the amount by which the taxpayer's share of a class of expenses incurred by a partnership is reduced under the first paragraph of the said section in respect of a fiscal period of the partnership shall be added to the taxpayer's share, otherwise determined, of that class of expenses incurred by the partnership in the following fiscal period of the partnership.

418.39. In this division,

(a) the expression "at-risk amount" of a taxpayer in respect of the taxpayer's partnership interest has the meaning that would be assigned by section 613.2 if paragraph a of section 613.3 were read as follows:

"(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount owing at the particular time to the partnership, or to a person or partnership not dealing at arm's length with the partnership, by the taxpayer or by a person or partnership not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer, other than an amount that is

i. any amount deducted under subparagraph i.3 of paragraph l of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base, or under Title VIII of Book VI in computing the cost, to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's partnership interest at that time, or

ii. any amount owing by the taxpayer to a person in respect of which the taxpayer is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation or where the taxpayer is a trust, to a person that is the sole beneficiary of the taxpayer; and";

*(a.1)* the expression "limited partner" of a partnership has the meaning assigned by section 613.6;

(b) a reference to a taxpayer who is a member of a particular partnership shall include a reference to another partnership that is a member of the particular partnership;

(c) a taxpayer's share of Canadian development expenses or Canadian oil and gas property expenses incurred by a partnership in a fiscal period in respect of which the taxpayer has elected in respect of the share under paragraph d of section 408 or paragraph b of section 418.2, as the case may be, is deemed to be nil.

For the purposes of the definition of "limited partner" of a partnership in subparagraph a.1 of the first paragraph, the definition of "exempt interest" in sections 613.7 and 613.8 is to be read as if "25 February 1986", "26 February 1986", "1 January 1987", "12 June 1986" and "final prospectus, preliminary prospectus, registration statement" wherever they appear in that definition were replaced by "17 June 1987", "18 June 1987", "1 January 1988", "18 June 1987" and "final prospectus, preliminary prospectus, registration statement, offering memorandum or notice that is required to be filed before any distribution of securities may commence", respectively.

DIVISION V

SPECIAL PROVISIONS

1977, c. 26, s. 48.

419. Any share of the capital stock of a corporation, or any right in or to such a share, acquired by a taxpayer under circumstances described in paragraph e of section 395 or 408, or in paragraph c of section 418.2 is deemed,

(a) if it was acquired before 13 November 1981, not to be a capital property of the taxpayer but, subject to section 851.22.25, to be inventory of the taxpayer acquired at a cost to him of nil; and

(b) if it was acquired after 12 November 1981, to have been acquired by the taxpayer at a cost to him of nil.

419.0.1. Any flow-through share of a corporation acquired by a person who was a party to the agreement pursuant to which it was issued is deemed to have been acquired by the person at a cost to him of nil.

419.1. Sections 419.2 to 419.4 apply where a taxpayer has made a payment or a loan mentioned in subsection 3 of section 383, as it read in respect of that payment or loan, after 19 April 1983, to a joint exploration corporation in respect of which the corporation has at any time renounced, in favour of the taxpayer, under section 406, 417 or 418.13, as they read in respect of that renunciation, any Canadian exploration expenses, Canadian development expenses or Canadian oil and gas property expenses, in sections 419.2 to 419.4 referred to as "resource expenses".

419.2. Where the taxpayer contemplated in section 419.1 receives as consideration for the payment or loan property that is capital property to him, the following rules apply:

(a) he shall deduct in computing the adjusted cost base to him of the property at any time the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in his favour in respect of the payment or loan at or before that time;

(b) he shall deduct in computing the adjusted cost base to him at any time of any property for which the property, or any property substituted therefor, was exchanged the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in his favour in respect of the payment or loan at or before that time except to the extent that such amount has been deducted under paragraph a; and

(c) the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in favour of the taxpayer in respect of the payment or loan at any time, except to the extent that the renunciation of such expenses results in a deduction under paragraph a or b, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a capital gain of the taxpayer from the disposition by him of property at that time.

419.3. Where the taxpayer contemplated in section 419.1 receives as consideration for the payment or loan property that is not capital property to him, the following rules apply:

(a) he shall deduct in computing the cost to him of the property at any time the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in his favour in respect of the payment or loan at or before that time; and

(b) he shall include in computing the amount referred to in paragraph f of section 330 for a taxation year the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in his favour in respect of the payment or loan at any time in the year, except to the extent that such amount has been deducted by him under paragraph a.

419.4. Where the taxpayer contemplated in section 419.1 does not receive any property as consideration for the payment, he shall include in computing the amount referred to in paragraph g of section 330 for a taxation year the amount of any resource expenses renounced by the corporation in his favour in respect of the payment in the year, except to the extent that such amount has been deducted by him from the adjusted cost base to him of shares of the corporation under paragraph h of section 257 in respect of the payment.

419.5. A corporation that does not designate an amount for a taxation year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) under subsection 14.1 or 14.2 of section 66 of the said Act may deduct in computing its income for the year an amount equal to the amount deducted by it under section 66.5 of the said Act in computing its income for the year for the purposes of the said Act.

419.6. A taxpayer may deduct in computing his income under this Part for a taxation year, an amount equal to the amount he may deduct for the year under subsection 14.6 of section 66 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement).

1988, c. 18, s. 46.

419.7. Where a corporation acquires in any manner whatever all or substantially all of the Canadian resource properties or foreign resource properties of a person whose taxable income is exempt from tax under this Part, section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), to the extent that that section refers to subsection 25 of section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 2, 5th Supplement), and sections 418.16 to 418.21 do not apply to the corporation in respect of the acquisition of the properties.

TITLE VII

RULES RELATING TO COMPUTATION OF INCOME

1972, c. 23.

CHAPTER I

GENERAL RULES

1972, c. 23.

420. An amount the deduction of which is authorized by this Part in respect of an outlay or expense shall be deducted only to the extent that such outlay or expense was reasonable in the circumstances.

421. If an amount received or receivable from a person can reasonably be regarded as being in part the consideration for the disposition of a particular property of a taxpayer, for the provision of particular services by a taxpayer or for a restrictive covenant, within the meaning assigned by section 333.4, granted by a taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) the part of the amount that can reasonably be regarded as being the consideration for the disposition is deemed to be proceeds of disposition of the particular property, irrespective of the form or legal effect of the contract or agreement, and the person to whom the property was disposed of is deemed to have acquired it at a cost equal to that part;

(b) the part of the amount that can reasonably be regarded as being consideration for the provision of particular services is deemed to be an amount received or receivable by the taxpayer in respect of those services, irrespective of the form or legal effect of the contract or agreement, and that part is deemed to be an amount paid or payable to the taxpayer by the person to whom the services were rendered in respect of those services;

(c) the part of the amount that can reasonably be regarded as being the consideration for a restrictive covenant is deemed to be an amount received or receivable by the taxpayer in respect of the restrictive covenant, irrespective of the form or legal effect of the contract or agreement, and that part is deemed to be an amount paid or payable to the taxpayer by the person to whom the restrictive covenant was granted.

CHAPTER I.1

DEDUCTION OF CERTAIN EXPENSES

1990, c. 59, s. 168.

DIVISION I

EXPENSES FOR FOOD, BEVERAGES AND ENTERTAINMENT

1990, c. 59, s. 168.

421.1. Subject to section 421.1.1, for the purposes of this Part, except sections 348 to 350 and 752.0.11 to 752.0.13.3 and Divisions II.6 to II.6.0.0.5, II.11.1, II.12, II.12.1 and II.13 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, an amount paid or payable in respect of food, beverages or entertainment consumed or enjoyed by a person is deemed to be equal to 50% of the lesser of

(a) the amount paid or payable in respect thereof; and

(b) an amount in respect thereof that would be reasonable in the circumstances.

1990, c. 59, s. 168; 1993, c. 64, s. 33; 1995, c. 1, s. 40; 1997, c. 14, s. 290; 2001, c. 53, s. 66; 2005, c. 1, s. 99; 2009, c. 15, s. 83.

421.1.1. An amount paid or payable in respect of the consumption of food or beverages by a long-haul truck driver during an eligible travel period of the driver is deemed to be equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the specified percentage in respect of the amount so paid or payable by the lesser of

(a) the amount so paid or payable; and

(b) a reasonable amount in the circumstances.

In this section,

"eligible travel period" in respect of a long-haul truck driver is a period of at least 24 continuous hours during which the driver is away from the municipality or metropolitan area where the specified place in respect of the driver is located for the purpose of driving a long-haul truck that transports goods to, or from, a location that is beyond a radius of 160 km from the specified place;

"long-haul truck" means a truck or a tractor that is designed for hauling freight and that has a gross vehicle weight rating, within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Motor Vehicle Safety Regulations (C.R.C., c. 1038) made under the Motor Vehicle Safety Act (S.C. 1993, c. 16), that exceeds 11,788 kg;

"long-haul truck driver" means an individual whose principal business or principal duty of employment is driving a long-haul truck that transports goods;

"specified percentage" in respect of an amount paid or payable is

(a) 60%, if the amount is paid or becomes payable after 18 March 2007 and before 1 January 2008;

(b) 65%, if the amount is paid or becomes payable in the year 2008;

(c) 70%, if the amount is paid or becomes payable in the year 2009;

(d) 75%, if the amount is paid or becomes payable in the year 2010; and

(e) 80%, if the amount is paid or becomes payable after 31 December 2010;

"specified place" means, in the case of an employee, the employer's establishment to which the employee ordinarily reports for work and, in the case of an individual whose principal business is to drive a long-haul truck to transport goods, the place where the individual resides.

421.2. Section 421.1 does not apply to an amount paid or payable by a person in respect of the consumption of food or beverages or in respect of entertainment enjoyed by a person, where the amount

(a) is paid or payable for food, beverages or entertainment provided for, or in the expectation of, compensation in the ordinary course of a business carried on by that person of providing the food, beverages or entertainment for compensation;

(b) relates to a fund-raising event the primary purpose of which is to benefit a registered charity;

(c) is an amount for which the person is compensated and the amount of the compensation is reasonable and specifically identified in writing to the person paying the compensation;

(d) is an amount that is required to be included in computing any individual's income because of the application of Chapters I and II of Title II in respect of food or beverages consumed or entertainment enjoyed by the individual or a person with whom the individual does not deal at arm's length, or would be so required but for section 37.1.5 or subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 42;

(d.1) is an amount that

i. is not paid or payable in respect of a conference, convention, seminar or similar event,

ii. would, but for subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 42, be required to be included in computing any individual's income for a taxation year because of the application of Chapters I and II of Title II in respect of food or beverages consumed or entertainment enjoyed by the individual or a person with whom the individual does not deal at arm's length, and

iii. is paid or payable in respect of the individual's duties performed at a work site in Canada that is

(1) outside any population centre, as defined by the last Census Dictionary published by Statistics Canada before the year, that has a population of at least 40,000 individuals as determined in the last census published by Statistics Canada before the year, and

(2) at least 30 km from the nearest point on the boundary of the nearest such population centre referred to in subparagraph 1;

(d.2) is an amount that

i. is not paid or payable in respect of entertainment or of a conference, convention, seminar or similar event,

ii. would, but for subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 42, be required to be included in computing an individual's income for a taxation year because of the application of Chapters I and II of Title II in respect of food or beverages consumed by the individual or by a person with whom the individual does not deal at arm's length,

iii. is paid or payable in respect of the individual's duties performed at a site in Canada at which the person carries on a construction activity or at a construction work camp referred to in subparagraph iv in respect of the site, and

iv. is paid or payable for food or beverages provided at a construction work camp, at which the individual is lodged, that was constructed or installed at or near the site to provide board and lodging to employees while they are engaged in construction services at the site;

(e) is in respect of one of six or fewer special events held in a calendar year at which the food, beverages or entertainment is generally available to all individuals employed by the person at a particular place of business of the person and then consumed or enjoyed by those individuals at that time;

(f) is an amount that is the cost of a subscription to cultural events that are

i. concerts of a symphony orchestra or a classical music or jazz ensemble,

ii. operas, ii.1. vocal performances, other than such performances held in venues normally used for sports events, ii.2. performing arts variety shows,

ii.3. museum exhibits,

iii. dance performances, or

iv. theatre performances,

v. (subparagraph repealed);

(g) is an amount that is the cost of all or substantially all the tickets for a performance in an event referred to in any of subparagraphs i to iv of subparagraph f.

For the purpose of determining whether the conditions set out in any of subparagraphs d to d.2 of the first paragraph are met in respect of an amount referred to in section 42, paragraph g of section 39 shall not be taken into account.

For the purposes of subparagraph f of the first paragraph and this paragraph,

"cultural events presenter" means

(a) a person or an organization whose mission is to present the arts, history or science and that is responsible for programming professional performances or museum exhibits generating box office or subscription income;

(b) a person or an organization acting on behalf of a person or organization described in paragraph a; or

(c) a manager or lessee of a venue for cultural events;

"subscription" means an agreement between a cultural events presenter and a client under which the client acquires a package put together by the cultural events presenter and consisting of a determined number of tickets for a minimum of three different presentations of events referred to in subparagraphs i to iv of that subparagraph f that are held in Québec.

For the purposes of subparagraphs f and g of the first paragraph, the cost of a subscription or ticket, as the case may be, does not include an amount paid or payable in respect of meals or beverages consumed by a person.

421.3. For the purposes of sections 421.1 and 421.2, where a fee paid or payable for a conference, convention, seminar or similar event entitles the participant to food, beverages or entertainment, other than incidental beverages and refreshments made available during the course of meetings or receptions at the event, and a reasonable part of the fee, determined on the basis of the cost of providing the food, beverages or entertainment, is not identified in the account for the fee as compensation for the food, beverages or entertainment, an amount of $50 or such other amount as may be prescribed is deemed to be the amount paid or payable in respect of food, beverages or entertainment for each day of the event on which food, beverages or entertainment is provided.

For the purposes of this Part, the fee for the event is deemed to be equal to the expenses incurred minus the amount deemed under the first paragraph to be the amount paid or payable for the food, beverages or entertainment.

421.4. For the purposes of this division,

(a) no amount paid or payable for travel on an airplane, a train or a bus shall be considered to be an amount paid or payable in respect of food, beverages or entertainment consumed or enjoyed by a person while travelling thereon;

(b) the expression "entertainment" includes amusement and recreation.

1990, c. 59, s. 168.

421.4.1. For the purposes of this division, if a person who is a producer pays or is required to pay in a taxation year an allowance for meal expenses to a person who is an artist in relation to services rendered in the course of a business carried on by the artist, the artist is deemed to be an employee for the purpose of determining the amount that the producer may deduct, in respect of the allowance, in computing the producer's income for the year from a business carried on by the producer, if

(a) the allowance for meal expenses is paid or payable under a collective or individual agreement that is binding on the artist and the producer; and

(b) the agreement referred to in subparagraph a is entered into in accordance with the Act respecting the professional status of artists in the visual arts, film, the recording arts, literature, arts and crafts and the performing arts (chapter S-32.1).

In this section, "artist" and "producer" have the meaning assigned by the Act respecting the professional status of artists in the visual arts, film, the recording arts, literature, arts and crafts and the performing arts.

2009, c. 15, s. 85; 2022, c. 20, s. 36.

DIVISION II

EXPENSES RELATED TO PASSENGER VEHICLES

1990, c. 59, s. 168.

421.5. For the purposes of this Part, any interest paid or payable for a period by a person on borrowed money used to acquire a passenger vehicle or a zero-emission passenger vehicle or on an amount paid or payable for such an acquisition is deemed, in computing the income of the person for a taxation year, to be the lesser of the amount paid or payable and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A / 30) \times B.$$

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is $250 or such other amount as may be prescribed;

(b) B is the number of days in the period in respect of which the interest is paid or payable, as the case may be.

421.6. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where in a taxation year all or part of the lease charges in respect of a passenger vehicle are paid or payable, directly or indirectly, by a taxpayer and an amount may be deducted in respect of such charges in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, for the purposes of determining the amount that may be so deducted, the aggregate of such charges are deemed not to exceed the lesser of the amounts determined by the following formulas:

(a) [(A × B) / 30] − C − D − E;

(b) [(F × G) / 0.85H] − I − J.

For the purposes of the formulas set forth in the first paragraph,

(a) A is $600 or such other amount as may be prescribed;

(b) B is the number of days in the period commencing at the beginning of the term of the lease of the vehicle and ending at the earlier of the end of the year and the end of the lease;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the preceding taxation years in respect of the lease charges in respect of the vehicle;

(d) D is the amount of interest that would be earned on that part of the total of all refundable amounts in respect of the lease that exceeds $1,000 if interest were

i. payable on the refundable amounts at the prescribed rate;

ii. computed for the period preceding the end of the year during which the refundable amounts were outstanding;

(e) E is the aggregate of all reimbursements that became receivable before the end of the year by the taxpayer in respect of the lease;

(f) F is the aggregate of the lease charges in respect of the lease incurred in respect of the year or the aggregate of the lease charges in respect of the lease paid in the year, depending on the method regularly followed by the taxpayer in computing his income;

(g) G is $20,000 or such other amount as may be prescribed;

(h) H is the greater of

i. $23,529 or such other amount as may be prescribed;

ii. the manufacturer's suggested retail price for the vehicle;

(i) I is the amount of interest that would be earned on that part of the total of all refundable amounts in respect of the lease that exceeds $1,000 if interest were

i. payable on the refundable amounts at the prescribed rate;

ii. computed for the period in the year during which the refundable amounts are outstanding;

(j) J is the aggregate of all reimbursements that became receivable during the year by the taxpayer in respect of the lease.

421.7. Where a person owns or leases a motor vehicle jointly with one or more other persons, the reference in paragraphs d.3 and d.4 of section 99 to the amount of $20,000, in section 421.5 to the amount of $250 and in section 421.6 to the amounts of $600, $20,000 and $23,529 is to be read as a reference to that proportion of each of those amounts or such other amounts as may be prescribed for the purposes of those provisions that the fair market value of the first-mentioned person's right in the vehicle is of the fair market value of the rights in the vehicle of all those persons.

421.7.1. Where a person owns a zero-emission passenger vehicle jointly with one or more other persons, any reference in paragraph d.5 of section 99 to the prescribed amount and in section 421.5 to the amount of $250 or such other amount as may be prescribed for the purposes of section 421.5 is to be read as a reference to that proportion of each of those amounts that the fair market value of the first-mentioned person's right in the vehicle is of the fair market value of the rights in the vehicle of all those persons.

2021, c. 18, s. 45.

DIVISION III

ILLEGAL PAYMENTS

1993, c. 16, s. 178.

421.8. In computing income, no amount may be deducted in respect of an outlay made or expense incurred for the purpose of doing anything that is an offence or an indictable offence under section 3 of the Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act (Statutes of Canada, 1998, chapter 34) or under any of sections 119 to 121, 123 to 125, 393 and 426 of the Criminal Code (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter C-46) or an offence or indictable offence under section 465 of the Criminal Code as it relates to an offence or indictable offence described in any of those sections.

Notwithstanding section 1010, the Minister may make such assessments, reassessments and additional assessments of tax, interest and penalties and such determinations and redeterminations as are necessary to give effect to the first paragraph for any taxation year.

1993, c. 16, s. 178; 2004, c. 8, s. 91.

DIVISION IV

FINES AND PENALTIES

2005, c. 38, s. 79.

421.9. In computing income, no amount may be deducted in respect of a fine or penalty, other than a prescribed fine or penalty, or of an amount of interest relating to that fine or penalty, imposed under the laws of a country or of a state, province, territory or other political subdivision of such a country by a person or public body authorized to impose the fine or penalty.

2005, c. 38, s. 79.

DIVISION V

INTEREST

2007, c. 12, s. 54.

421.10. In computing income, no amount may be deducted in respect of an amount of interest payable under a fiscal law.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a fiscal law includes a law of a country or of a state, province, territory or other political subdivision of a country that provides for the collection of income tax, duties or tax.

2007, c. 12, s. 54.

CHAPTER II

INADEQUATE CONSIDERATIONS AND ATTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY

1972, c. 23.

422. Except as otherwise provided in this Part, the disposition or acquisition of a property by a taxpayer is deemed to be made at the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition or acquisition, as the case may be, where

(a) the taxpayer acquires it by gift, succession or will, or because of a disposition that does not result in a change in the beneficial ownership of the property;

(b) the taxpayer acquires it from a person with whom he is not dealing at arm's length, for an amount greater than such value; or

(c) the taxpayer disposes of it

i. to a person with whom the taxpayer is not dealing at arm's length, gratuitously or for consideration that is less than that fair market value,

ii. to any person by gift or

iii. to a trust because of a disposition that does not result in a change in the beneficial ownership of the property.

1972, c. 23, s. 357; 2001, c. 53, s. 68; 2003, c. 2, s. 115; 2017, c. 29, s. 63.

422.1. Where, at any time, a taxpayer disposed of property for proceeds of disposition, determined without reference to this section, equal to or greater than the fair market value at that time of the property, and there existed at that time an agreement under which a person with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length agreed to pay as rent, royalty or other payment for the use of or the right to use the property an amount less than the amount that would have been reasonable in the circumstances if the taxpayer and the person had been dealing at arm's length at the time the agreement was entered into, the proceeds of disposition of the property are deemed to be the greater of

(a) such proceeds determined without reference to this section, and

(b) the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition, determined without reference to the existence of the agreement.

1994, c. 22, s. 157.

423. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 358; 1986, c. 19, s. 92; 1993, c. 16, s. 179; 1997, c. 14, s. 75; 2001, c. 7, s. 44.

424. If, at any time, a property of a corporation is appropriated in any manner whatever to or for the benefit of a shareholder of the corporation gratuitously or for consideration that is less than the property's fair market value and a sale of the property at its fair market value would have contributed to increase the corporation's income or to reduce a loss of the corporation, the corporation is deemed, at that time, to have disposed of the property and to have received proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time.

If, in a taxation year of a corporation, a property is appropriated in any manner whatever to or for the benefit of a shareholder upon the winding-up of the corporation, the following rules apply:

(a) the corporation is deemed, for the purpose of computing its income for the year, to have disposed of the property immediately before the winding-up for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time;

(b) the shareholder is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to its fair market value immediately before the winding-up;

(c) sections 302 and 304 do not apply in computing the cost of the property to the shareholder; and

(d) sections 93.3.1, 175.9, 238.1 and 238.3 do not apply in respect of a property disposed of on the winding-up.

1972, c. 23, s. 359; 1975, c. 22, s. 91; 1980, c. 13, s. 45; 1984, c. 15, s. 93; 1993, c. 16, s. 180; 1995, c. 49, s. 117; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 99; 2003, c. 2, s. 116; 2009, c. 5, s. 140; 2019, c. 14, s. 123.

425. The disposition or acquisition by a taxpayer, at any time in a taxation year that begins before 1 January 2007, of property that is petroleum, natural gas or other related hydrocarbons, or metal or minerals produced in the operation by the taxpayer of a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas, an oil or gas well or a mineral resource, situated in Canada, is deemed to be made at the fair market value of that property at that time, where

(a) the disposition is to a person referred to in section 90 gratuitously or for a consideration less than that fair market value; or

(b) the acquisition is from a person referred to in section 90 for an amount greater than that fair market value.

1975, c. 22, s. 92; 1979, c. 18, s. 28; 1987, c. 67, s. 99; 1995, c. 49, s. 236; 2005, c. 1, s. 100.

426. For the purposes of section 425, the fair market value of property referred to in that section is

(a) in the case of a disposition by the taxpayer to a person referred to in section 90, deemed to be equal, at the time of disposition, for each unit of any particular quantity of such property, to the amount by which the average proceeds of disposition of a like unit that become receivable by that person in the month that includes the time of the disposition from a person other than a person referred to in section 90, exceeds the aggregate of

i. the average aggregate of reasonable and necessary expenses, including depreciation, but not the cost of acquisition, incurred by that person referred to in section 90 in respect of such a unit for that month, that may reasonably be attributed to the transporting, marketing or processing of that unit, and

ii. in respect of the unit disposed of by the taxpayer, the amount that may reasonably be considered to be an amount that became receivable by Her Majesty in right of Canada for the use and benefit of a band as defined in the Indian Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter I-5); and

(b) in the case of an acquisition by the taxpayer from a person referred to in section 90, computed without taking into account any law or contract requiring the taxpayer to acquire that property, and deemed to be equal, at the time of acquisition, for each unit of any particular quantity of such property, to the aggregate of

i. the amount paid or payable to the taxpayer by that person in respect of that unit, and

ii. the amount in respect of that unit paid or payable to Her Majesty in right of Canada by that person for the use and benefit of a band as defined in the Indian Act.

427. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 426, where a person referred to in section 90 disposes of a unit referred to in the said paragraph to another such person, those two persons are deemed to be the same person.

427.1. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 94; 1985, c. 25, s. 86.

427.2. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 94; 1985, c. 25, s. 86.

427.3. (Repealed).

427.4. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where, at any particular time as part of a series of transactions or events, a taxpayer disposes of property for proceeds of disposition that are less than its fair market value, the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of the property at that time for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time, if

(a) it may reasonably be considered that one of the main purposes of the series of transactions or events is to obtain the benefit of

i. any deduction described in the second paragraph or any balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts available to a person, other than a person that would be affiliated with the taxpayer immediately before the series of transactions or events, but for the definition of "controlled" in section 21.0.1, in respect of a subsequent disposition of the property or property substituted for the property, or

ii. an exemption available to any person from tax payable under this Part on any income arising on a subsequent disposition of the property or property substituted for the property; and

(b) the subsequent disposition referred to in paragraph a occurs, or arrangements for the subsequent disposition are made, before the day that is three years after the particular time.

The deduction to which subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers is a deduction, other than a deduction under section 726.7.1 in respect of a capital gain from a disposition of a share acquired by the taxpayer in an acquisition to which sections 530 to 533 or 620 to 625 applied, in computing income, taxable income, taxable income earned in Canada or tax payable under this Part.

427.4.1. Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, the Minister may make any assessments or reassessments of the tax, interest and penalties payable by the taxpayer referred to in section 427.4 that are necessary to give effect to that section 427.4

(a) within three years after the subsequent disposition referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 427.4; and

(b) within four years after the subsequent disposition referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 427.4 if, at the end of the taxation year that includes the particular time referred to in that first paragraph, the taxpayer is a mutual fund trust or a corporation other than a Canadian-controlled private corporation.

427.4.2. For the purposes of section 427.4, where a taxpayer is incorporated or otherwise comes into existence at a particular time during a series of transactions or events, the taxpayer is deemed

(a) to have existed at the time that was immediately before the series of transactions or events began; and

(b) to have been affiliated, at the time that was immediately before the series of transactions or events began, with every person with whom the taxpayer is affiliated, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, at the particular time.

427.5. Where there has been an amalgamation or merger of a corporation with one or more other corporations to form one corporate entity, in this section referred to as the "new corporation", each property of the corporation that became property of the new corporation as a result of the amalgamation or merger is deemed, for the purpose of determining whether section 427.4 is applicable in respect of the amalgamation or merger, to have been disposed of by the corporation immediately before the amalgamation or merger for proceeds of disposition equal to

(a) in the case of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property, nil;

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(c) in the case of any other property, the cost amount to the corporation of the property immediately before the amalgamation or merger.

CHAPTER III

DEATH OF A TAXPAYER

1972, c. 23.

DIVISION I

PERIODIC AMOUNTS AND AMOUNTS RECEIVABLE

1972, c. 23.

428. In computing the income of an individual for the taxation year in which he died, an amount of interest, rent, royalty, annuity, remuneration from an office or employment, or other amount payable periodically, except an amount with respect to an interest in an annuity contract to which paragraph b of section 967 applies, that was not paid before his death, is deemed to have accrued up to that time in equal daily amounts in the period for which such amount was payable and shall be included in computing his income.

Furthermore, for the purposes of the same computation, the reference in paragraph u of section 87 to "in respect of a property acquired or an expenditure made in a preceding taxation year in computing the taxpayer's tax payable for" shall read as a reference to "in computing the tax payable for the year or".

429. The rights and property that an individual owned when the individual died, if they are not property referred to in section 428, or capital property, and if the proceeds thereof when realized or disposed of would have been included in computing the individual's income, must be included at their value in computing the individual's income for the year of the individual's death.

However, the legal representative of an individual may elect, not later than the day that is one year after the date of death or the day that is 90 days after the sending of a notice of assessment, whichever is the later, in respect of the individual's tax for the year of the individual's death, not to include such value in computing the individual's income for the year of the individual's death; in that case, the individual shall file a separate fiscal return for the year under this Part and pay the tax for the year under this Part as if

(a) the individual were another person;

(b) that other person's only income for the year were the value of the rights and property; and

(c) subject to sections 693.1, 752.0.26 and 776.1.5.0.19, that other person were entitled to the deductions to which the individual was entitled under sections 725 to 725.5, 752.0.0.1 to 752.0.13.3, 752.0.14 to 752.0.18.15, 776.1.5.0.17 and 776.1.5.0.18 in computing the individual's taxable income or the individual's tax payable under this Part, as the case may be, for the year.

Within the time limit provided for in the second paragraph, the legal representative may revoke the election made under that paragraph by means of a notice filed with the Minister.

1972, c. 23, s. 361; 1985, c. 25, s. 87; 1986, c. 19, s. 94; 1987, c. 67, s. 100; 1989, c. 5, s. 67; 1993, c. 64, s. 34; 1994, c. 22, s. 159; 1997, c. 14, s. 76; 1999, c. 83, s. 273; 2001, c. 53, s. 69; 2004, c. 4, s. 4; 2005, c. 1, s. 101; 2006, c. 36, s. 41; 2007, c. 12, s. 56; 2011, c. 6, s. 131; 2019, c. 14, s. 124.

430. Where, before the time allowed under the second paragraph of section 429 has expired, a right or property referred to in the said section, except any compensation or amount referred to in subparagraph ii, iii or iv of subparagraph f of the first paragraph of section 93, has been transferred or distributed to a person who is a beneficiary of the succession or to any other person who is beneficially interested in the succession, the said section 429 does not apply in respect of such right or property and the person shall include in computing his income the amount received by him upon the realization or disposition of such right or property for the year in which such amount is received.

431. If a taxpayer has acquired a property that is a right or property referred to in section 430, the following rules apply:

(a) paragraph a of section 422 does not apply to that property; and

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to the aggregate of

i. the portion of the cost to the deceased individual that was not deducted by the deceased individual in computing income for any taxation year, and

ii. the expenditures made or incurred by the taxpayer to acquire it.

1975, c. 22, s. 94; 1993, c. 16, s. 181; 1998, c. 16, s. 251; 2009, c. 5, s. 142.

432. For the purposes of this division, a right or property does not include land included in the inventory of a business, a Canadian resource property, a foreign resource property or an interest in a life insurance policy, other than an annuity contract of a taxpayer where the payment made by the taxpayer for its acquisition was deductible in computing the taxpayer's income because of paragraph f of section 339, or was made in circumstances in which subsection 21 of section 146 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) applied.

DIVISION II

RESOURCE PROPERTIES AND LAND IN INVENTORIES

1975, c. 22, s. 95.

433. An individual who dies is deemed to have, immediately before the individual's death, disposed of each Canadian resource property and foreign resource property of the individual and received proceeds of disposition for that property equal to its fair market value immediately before the death and the person who as a consequence of the individual's death acquires such property is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to the fair market value of the property immediately before the death.

434. An individual who dies is deemed to have, immediately before the individual's death, disposed of each property that was land included in the inventory of a business of the individual and received proceeds of disposition for that property equal to its fair market value immediately before the death and the person who as a consequence of the individual's death acquires such property is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to the fair market value of the property immediately before the death.

435. Notwithstanding sections 433 and 434, where any property referred to therein was owned by an individual who was resident in Canada immediately before his death and, on or after and as a consequence of the death, that property is transferred or distributed to the spouse of the individual or to a trust described in section 440, if it can be shown within the period ending 36 months after the death of the individual or, where written application therefor has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable, that the property vested indefeasibly in the spouse or trust,

(a) in the case of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property to which section 433 applies, the following rules apply:

i. the individual is deemed to have, immediately before the individual's death, disposed of the property and received proceeds of disposition therefor equal to such amount as is specified by the individual's legal representative in the individual's fiscal return filed under paragraph c of subsection 2 of section 1000, to the extent that the amount does not exceed the fair market value of the property immediately before the death, and

ii. the spouse or trust is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of death at a cost equal to the amount determined in respect of the disposition under subparagraph i; and

(b) in the case of a property to which section 434 applies, the individual is deemed to have, immediately before his death, disposed of the property and received proceeds of disposition therefor equal to its cost amount to the individual immediately before the death, and the spouse or the trust is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to those proceeds.

1975, c. 22, s. 95; 1977, c. 26, s. 50; 1982, c. 5, s. 106; 1986, c. 19, s. 97; 1994, c. 22, s. 161; 1995, c. 49, s. 120; 2003, c. 2, s. 118; 2009, c. 5, s. 143.

DIVISION III

CAPITAL PROPERTY, DEPRECIABLE PROPERTY AND OTHER PROPERTY

1972, c. 23; 1994, c. 22, s. 162.

436. An individual who dies is deemed to have, immediately before his death, disposed of each capital property of the individual and received proceeds of disposition therefor equal to the fair market value of the property immediately before the death, and any person who acquires the property as a consequence of the death is deemed to have acquired it at the time of the death at a cost equal to its fair market value immediately before the death.

437. Despite section 440, where property included in Class 14.1 of Schedule B to the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1) of a taxpayer in respect of a business carried on by the taxpayer immediately before the taxpayer's death that is a property to which sections 436, 439 and 439.1 would otherwise apply is, as a consequence of the death, transferred or distributed (otherwise than by way of a distribution of property by a trust that claimed a deduction under paragraph a of section 130 or paragraph b of that section, as it read immediately before 1 January 2017, in respect of the property or in circumstances to which section 189 applies) to any person (in this section referred to as the "beneficiary"), the following rules apply:

(a) section 436 does not apply in respect of the property;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have, immediately before the taxpayer's death, disposed of the property and received proceeds of disposition equal to the lesser of the capital cost and the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property immediately before the death;

(c) the beneficiary is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to those proceeds; and

(d) section 439 applies as if the portion of that section before paragraph a were read as follows:

"439. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, where depreciable property of a prescribed class of a deceased individual is deemed under paragraph c of section 437 to be acquired by a person, except where the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under paragraph b of section 437 are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, and the capital cost to the individual of the property exceeds the amount determined under paragraph c of section 437 to be the cost to the person of the property, the following rules apply: "

437.1. Where an individual who dies has at the time of death a net income stabilization account, all amounts held for or on behalf of the individual in his NISA Fund No. 2 are deemed to have been paid out of that fund to the individual immediately before his death.

1994, c. 22, s. 165.

437.2. Where an individual who dies has at the time of death a farm income stabilization account, the balance of the account at that time is deemed to have been paid to the individual immediately before the individual's death.

2004, c. 21, s. 77.

439. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, where depreciable property of a prescribed class of a deceased individual is deemed under section 436 to be acquired by a person, except where the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property under section 436 are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, and the capital cost to the individual of the property exceeds the amount determined under section 436 to be the cost to the person of the property, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost to the person of the property is deemed to be equal to the capital cost to the individual of the property; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the person as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition.

439.1. Notwithstanding section 436, where property of a deceased individual is deemed under section 436 to be acquired by a person and the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property under section 436 are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, where the property was depreciable property of a prescribed class and the amount that was the capital cost to the individual of the property exceeds the amount so redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3,

i. the capital cost to the person of the property is deemed to be equal to the capital cost to the individual of the property, and

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the person as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition; and

(b) where the property is land, other than land to which paragraph a applies, the cost to the person of the property is deemed to be equal to the amount that was the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property as redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3.

440. Notwithstanding section 436, where property referred to therein is, as a consequence of the death of an individual who was resident in Canada immediately before his death, transferred or distributed to his spouse who was resident in Canada immediately before the individual's death or to a trust created by the individual's will, which was resident in Canada immediately after the time when the property was indefeasibly vested in the trust, if it can be shown, within the period ending 36 months after the death of the individual or, where written application therefor has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable, that the property has become vested indefeasibly in the spouse or trust,

(a) subject to subparagraph a.1, the individual is deemed to have, immediately before his death, disposed of the property and received proceeds of disposition therefor equal to the following amount, and the spouse or the trust is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to those proceeds:

i. where the property was depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the capital cost and the cost amount to the individual of the property immediately before his death, and

ii. in any other case, the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual immediately before his death;

(a.1*)* where the property is an interest in a partnership, other than an interest to which section 636 applies,

i. the individual is deemed, except for the purposes of section 632, not to have disposed of the property as a consequence of his death,

ii. the spouse or the trust is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the death at a cost equal to its cost to the individual, and

iii. each amount added or deducted under section 255 or 257, as the case may be, in computing the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property is deemed to be required by that section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the spouse or the trust of the property; and

(b) section 439 applies to depreciable property of a prescribed class as if the reference therein to section 436 were a reference to subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 440;

(c) (subparagraph repealed).

The first paragraph applies only where the will creating the trust entitles the spouse to receive all of the income of the trust that arises before the spouse's death, and no person except the spouse may receive or otherwise obtain enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust.

1972, c. 23, s. 366; 1973, c. 17, s. 47; 1975, c. 22, s. 97; 1984, c. 15, s. 97; 1986, c. 19, s. 98; 1993, c. 16, s. 183; 1994, c. 22, s. 169; 1995, c. 49, s. 126; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2009, c. 5, s. 145.

441. (Repealed).

441.1. Where a property that is a net income stabilization account of an individual is, on or after the individual's death and as a consequence thereof, transferred or distributed to the individual's spouse, or to a trust described in the second paragraph, sections 437.1 and 462.0.1 do not apply in respect of the individual's NISA Fund No. 2 if it can be shown, within the period ending 36 months after the death of the individual or, where written application therefor has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable, that the property has become vested indefeasibly in the spouse or trust.

The trust referred to in the first paragraph is a trust created by the individual's will, under which the individual's spouse is entitled to receive all of the income of the trust that arises before the spouse's death, and no person except the spouse may receive or otherwise obtain enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust.

441.2. Where a property that is a farm income stabilization account of an individual is, on or after the individual's death and as a consequence thereof, transferred or distributed to the individual's spouse, or to a trust described in the second paragraph, sections 437.2 and 462.0.2 do not apply in respect of the property if it can be shown, within the period ending 36 months after the death of the individual or, where written application therefor has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable, that the property has become vested indefeasibly in the spouse or trust.

The trust referred to in the first paragraph is a trust created by the individual's will, under which the individual's spouse is entitled to receive all of the income of the trust that arises before the spouse's death, and no person except the spouse may receive or otherwise obtain enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust.

442. Sections 437 and 440 to 441.2 do not apply to any property of a deceased individual in respect of which the individual's legal representative makes a valid election under subsection 6.2 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

Where, in respect of the property and by virtue of subsection 3.2 of section 220 of the Income Tax Act, the time for making the election referred to in the first paragraph is extended or a previous such election is rescinded, the legal representative of the individual

(a) shall notify the Minister in writing and attach to the notice a copy of the document to that effect sent by the legal representative to the Minister of Revenue of Canada; and

(b) incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the individual's filing-due date for the year of the individual's death and ending on the day on which the notice referred to in subparagraph a is sent to the Minister, up to $5,000.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to take into account the election or the rescinded election referred to in the second paragraph.

444. The rules set out in the second paragraph apply to an individual and to a child of the individual in respect of a property to which section 436 would, if this Act were read without reference to this section, apply if

(a) the property was, immediately before the individual's death,

i. a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, or

ii. land or a depreciable property of a prescribed class situated in Canada that was, before the death, used principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada in which the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis or, in the case of a property used in the operation of a woodlot, was engaged to the extent required by a prescribed forest management plan in respect of that woodlot;

(b) the child of the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the day on which the individual died; and

(c) because of the individual's death, the property is transferred to and becomes vested indefeasibly in the child within the period ending 36 months after the individual's death or, if application has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within any longer period that the Minister considers reasonable.

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are the following:

(a) if the individual's legal representative does not make a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 9.01 or 9.21 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in the individual's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the individual died, to have that paragraph b apply to the individual and the child in respect of the property,

i. sections 422 and 436 do not apply to the individual and the child in respect of the property,

ii. the individual is deemed, immediately before the individual's death, to have disposed of the property and received, at the time and in respect of the disposition of the property, proceeds of disposition equal to the following amount, and the child is deemed, immediately after the time and in respect of the disposition of the property, to have acquired the property at a cost equal to those proceeds:

(1) if the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the capital cost of the property to the individual and the amount, determined immediately before the time of the disposition of the property, that is equal to that proportion of the undepreciated capital cost of property of that class to the individual that the capital cost of the property to the individual is of the capital cost to the individual of all property of that class that had not, at or before that time, been disposed of, and

(2) if the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph 1 applies, or a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual, the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual immediately before the time of the disposition of the property,

iii. if the property is, immediately before the individual's death, an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, other than an interest to which section 636 applies, the following rules apply:

(1) the individual is deemed, except for the purposes of section 632, not to have disposed of the property because of the individual's death,

(2) the child is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the individual's death at a cost equal to the cost of the interest to the individual immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the individual's death, and

(3) each amount required by section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual, immediately before the individual's death, is deemed to be an amount required by that section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing, at any time at or after the individual's death, the adjusted cost base of the property to the child,

iv. for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, if a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the individual is deemed under subparagraph ii to be acquired by the child because of the individual's death, except where the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph ii are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, and the capital cost of the property to the individual exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii to be the cost of the property to the child, the following rules apply:

(1) the capital cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the capital cost of the property to the individual, and

(2) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the child as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition, and

v. despite subparagraph ii, if a property of the individual is deemed under subparagraph ii to be acquired by the child because of the individual's death, and the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph ii are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, the following rules apply:

(1) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, if the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the individual and the capital cost of the property to the individual exceeds the amount so redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, the capital cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the capital cost of the property to the individual, and the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the child as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition, and

(2) if the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph 1 applies, the cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property as redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3; and

(b) if the individual's legal representative makes a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 9.01 or 9.21 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act in the individual's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the individual died, to have that paragraph b apply to the individual and the child in respect of the property,

i. subparagraph a applies without reference to its subparagraphs ii and iii and as if the references to that subparagraph ii in subparagraphs iv and v of that subparagraph a were read as references to subparagraph ii of this subparagraph b,

ii. subject to subparagraph iii, the individual is deemed, immediately before the individual's death, to have disposed of the property and received, at the time and in respect of the disposition, proceeds of disposition equal to

(1) subject to the third paragraph and unless otherwise specified by the individual's legal representative, the amount established in accordance with section 450.5 that is designated in respect of the property by the individual's legal representative in the individual's fiscal return filed in accordance with section 1000 for the year in which the individual died, if the individual, immediately before the individual's death, and the child, at the end of the child's taxation year in which the death occurred, were resident in Québec and the proportion determined under the second paragraph of section 22, in respect of each of those two latter persons to whom that second paragraph applies for the year in which the individual died, was not less than 9/10 for that year, or

(2) the amount that is determined in respect of the property under paragraph b of that subsection 9.01 or 9.21, if subparagraph 1 does not apply in respect of the property,

iii. subparagraph iii of subparagraph a applies in respect of a property described in that subparagraph iii, if the individual's legal representative makes another valid election under subparagraph iii of paragraph b of subsection 9.21 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act in the individual's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the individual died, to have that subparagraph iii of paragraph b apply to the individual in respect of the property, and

iv. the child is deemed to have acquired the property

(1) immediately after the time of the disposition of the property and at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition established in respect of the property under subparagraph ii, or

(2) if subparagraph iii applies, at the time of the individual's death and at a cost equal to the cost of the interest to the individual immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the individual's death.

However, subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph does not apply in respect of the property unless all or substantially all of the difference between the amount that would, but for that subparagraph 1, be referred to in respect of the property in subparagraph 2 of that subparagraph ii and the amount designated in its respect in that subparagraph 1, is justified by a difference between the cost amount of the property to the individual, immediately before the individual's death, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act and the cost amount, at that time, for the purposes of this Part, or by another reason considered by the Minister to be acceptable in the circumstances.

On application by the legal representative of the deceased individual, the Minister may allow subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph to be deemed not to have applied in respect of the property, or may allow the legal representative, after the individual's filing-due date for the year in which the individual died, to designate pursuant to that subparagraph i an amount or a new amount in respect of the property; in the latter case, the new amount designated is deemed to be the only amount designated by the legal representative under that subparagraph in respect of the property.

Where an application made under the fourth paragraph is granted by the Minister, the legal representative of the deceased individual incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the individual's filing-due date for the year in which the individual died and ending on the day on which the application referred to in that paragraph is sent to the Minister; in such case, this paragraph is deemed not to apply in respect of any other such application made previously by the legal representative in respect of the transfer of the property.

Where, in respect of the property and by virtue of subsection 3.2 of section 220 of the Income Tax Act, the time for making the election under paragraph b of subsection 9.01 or 9.21 of section 70 of that Act is extended or such an election made previously is amended or rescinded, the legal representative of the deceased individual

(a) shall notify the Minister in writing and attach to the notice a copy of the document to that effect sent by the legal representative to the Minister of Revenue of Canada; and

(b) incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the individual's filing-due date for the year of the individual's death and ending on the day on which the notice referred to in subparagraph a is sent to the Minister.

However, the total amount of the penalties that the legal representative of the deceased individual incurs under this section in respect of the property may not exceed the greater of the penalties that the legal representative would otherwise incur in respect of the property, under the fifth paragraph or subparagraph b of the sixth paragraph nor $5,000.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to take into account the granting by the Minister of an application made under the fourth paragraph, or the election or the amended or rescinded election referred to in the sixth paragraph.

445. Where a trust created by the will of an individual would be a trust referred to in any of sections 440 to 441.2 but for the payment of the debts owing by the individual when he died or for provision for their payment, the following rules apply:

(a) the time limit to file the fiscal return contemplated in paragraph c of subsection 2 of section 1000 is extended to 18 months after the individual's death; and

(b) where the legal representative makes a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 7 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), and lists, in the individual's fiscal return referred to for that purpose in that paragraph, one or more properties, other than a net income stabilization account or a farm income stabilization account, that were, on or after the individual's death and as a consequence thereof, transferred or distributed to the trust, the fair market value of which properties immediately after the individual's death was not less than the debts of the individual, minus the amounts described in section 449, section 440 does not apply to the properties so listed and, notwithstanding the payment of, or provision for payment of, any outstanding debts of the individual at the time of the death, the trust is deemed to be a trust referred to in section 440.

446. Where the fair market value, immediately after the individual's death, of the properties referred to in paragraph b of section 445 exceeds the debts of the individual, minus the amounts described in section 449, and the legal representative designates one property, in the return referred to in that paragraph b, that is capital property other than depreciable property or money,

(a) the capital gain or capital loss, as the case may be, from the disposition that such individual is deemed to have made of that capital property under section 436 is the portion of that gain or loss represented by the proportion between the amount by which the fair market value of that capital property immediately after his death exceeds that excess, and that fair market value at the same time; and

(b) the cost of that capital property to the trust is, where the individual has a capital gain contemplated in paragraph a, the aggregate of the adjusted cost base of that capital property to him immediately before his death and the capital gain so determined or, where the individual has a capital loss contemplated in the said paragraph, the amount by which the adjusted cost base to him immediately before his death exceeds the capital loss so determined.

447. For the purposes of sections 445 and 446, there shall be deducted from the fair market value of property contemplated therein the amount remaining due on any debt secured by a hypothec or mortgage on that property.

448. The debts contemplated in sections 445 and 446, for an individual, mean any amount unpaid immediately before his death in respect of a debt or other obligation to pay and any amount payable by reason of his death, except an amount payable to a person as a beneficiary of the succession; they include tax payable by the individual or for him for any taxation year and all duties payable by reason of his death.

1973, c. 17, s. 49; 1998, c. 16, s. 251.

449. The amounts that must be deducted from the debts of the individual under paragraph b of section 445 and section 446 are the duties payable, by reason of the individual's death, in respect of any property of the trust or any right in such a property, and any debt secured by a hypothec or mortgage on property owned by the individual immediately before the individual's death.

450. The rules set out in the second paragraph apply to a trust and a child of the settlor of the trust in respect of a property to which sections 653 to 656.1 would, if this Act were read without reference to this section, apply to the trust because of the death of the beneficiary under the trust who was the settlor's spouse if

(a) the property, or a property for which the property was substituted, was transferred to the trust by the settlor;

(b) section 440, section 454, as that section applied in respect of a transfer that occurred before 1 January 2000, or subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 454.1 applied to the settlor and the trust in respect of the transfer referred to in subparagraph a;

(c) the property is, immediately before the beneficiary's death,

i. land or a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust that was used in a farming or fishing business carried on in Canada,

ii. a share of the capital stock of a Canadian corporation that would, immediately before the beneficiary's death, be a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the settlor, if the settlor owned the share at that time and subparagraph i of subparagraph a.2 of the first paragraph of section 451 were read without reference to "in which the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis (or, in the case of property used in the operation of a woodlot, was engaged to the extent required by a prescribed forest management plan in respect of that woodlot)", or

iii. (subparagraph repealed);

iv. an interest in a partnership that carried on in Canada a farming or fishing business in which it used all or substantially all of the property;

(d) in the case of a property referred to in subparagraph ii or iv of subparagraph c, the property, or a property for which the property was substituted, transferred to the trust by the settlor was, immediately before the transfer, a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the settlor or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the settlor;

(e) the child of the settlor was resident in Canada immediately before the day on which the beneficiary died; and

(f) because of the beneficiary's death, the property is transferred to and becomes vested indefeasibly in the settlor's child within the period ending 36 months after the beneficiary's death or, if application has been made to the Minister by the beneficiary's legal representative before the expiry of that period, within any longer period that the Minister considers reasonable.

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are the following:

(a) if the trust does not make a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 9.11 or 9.31 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in the trust's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the beneficiary died, to have that paragraph b apply to the trust in respect of the property,

i. sections 422 and 653 to 656.1 do not apply to the trust and the child in respect of the property,

ii. the trust is deemed, immediately before the beneficiary's death, to have disposed of the property and received, at the time and in respect of the disposition of the property, proceeds of disposition equal to the following amount, and the child is deemed, immediately after the time and in respect of the disposition of the property, to have acquired the property at a cost equal to those proceeds:

(1) if the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the capital cost of the property to the trust and the amount, determined immediately before the time of the disposition of the property, that is equal to that proportion of the undepreciated capital cost of property of that class to the trust that the capital cost of the property to the trust is of the capital cost to the trust of all property of that class that had not, at or before that time, been disposed of, and

(2) if the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph 1 applies, or, immediately before the beneficiary's death, a share referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, the adjusted cost base of the property to the trust immediately before the time of the disposition of the property,

iii. if the property is, immediately before the beneficiary's death, an interest in a partnership described in subparagraph iv of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, other than an interest to which section 636 applies, the following rules apply:

(1) the trust is deemed, except for the purposes of section 632, not to have disposed of the property because of the beneficiary's death,

(2) the child is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the beneficiary's death at a cost equal to the cost of the interest to the trust immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the beneficiary's death, and

(3) each amount required by section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of the property to the trust, immediately before the beneficiary's death, is deemed to be an amount required by that section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing, at any time at or after the beneficiary's death, the adjusted cost base of the property to the child,

iv. for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, if a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust is deemed under subparagraph ii to be acquired by the child because of the death of the beneficiary under the trust, except where the trust's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph ii are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, and the capital cost of the property to the trust exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii to be the cost of the property to the child, the following rules apply:

(1) the capital cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the capital cost of the property to the trust, and

(2) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the child as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition, and

v. despite subparagraph ii, if a property of the trust is deemed under subparagraph ii to be acquired by the child because of the death of the beneficiary under the trust, and the trust's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph ii are redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, the following rules apply:

(1) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, if the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class and the capital cost of the property to the trust exceeds the amount so redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3, the capital cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the capital cost of the property to the trust, and the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the child as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the acquisition, and

(2) if the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph 1 applies, the cost of the property to the child is deemed to be equal to the trust's proceeds of disposition of the property as redetermined under sections 93.1 to 93.3; and

(b) if the trust makes a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 9.11 or 9.31 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act in the trust's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the beneficiary died, to have that paragraph b apply to the trust in respect of the property,

i. subparagraph a applies without reference to its subparagraphs i, ii and iii and as if the references to that subparagraph ii in subparagraphs iv and v of that subparagraph a were read as references to subparagraph iv of this subparagraph b, ii. if the property is described in subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, sections 653 to 656.1 do not apply to the trust in respect of the property,

iii. if the property is described in subparagraph ii or iv of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, section 422 does not apply to the trust and the child in respect of the transfer of the property and section 653 does not apply to the trust in respect of the property,

iv. subject to subparagraph v, the trust is deemed, immediately before the beneficiary's death, to have disposed of the property and received, at the time and in respect of the disposition, proceeds of disposition equal to

(1) subject to the third paragraph and unless otherwise specified by the trust, the amount established in accordance with section 450.5 that is designated in respect of the property by the trust in the trust's fiscal return filed in accordance with section 1000 for the year in which the beneficiary under the trust died, if the trust and the child, at the end of their respective taxation year in which the death occurred, were resident in Québec and the proportion determined under the second paragraph of section 22, in respect of each of those two latter persons to whom that second paragraph applies for the year in which the beneficiary under the trust died, was not less than 9/10 for that year, or

(2) the amount that is determined in respect of the property under paragraph b of that subsection 9.11 or 9.31, if subparagraph 1 does not apply in respect of the property,

v. subparagraph iii of subparagraph a applies in respect of a property described in that subparagraph iii, if the trust makes another valid election under subparagraph iii of paragraph b of subsection 9.31 of section 70 of the Income Tax Act in the trust's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the year in which the beneficiary died, to have that subparagraph iii of paragraph b apply to the trust in respect of the property, and

vi. the child is deemed to have acquired the property

(1) immediately after the time of the disposition of the property and at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition established in respect of the property under subparagraph iv, or

(2) if subparagraph v applies, at the time of the beneficiary's death and at a cost equal to the cost of the interest to the trust immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the beneficiary's death.

However, subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph b of the second paragraph does not apply in respect of the property unless all or substantially all of the difference between the amount that would, but for that subparagraph 1, be referred to in respect of the property in subparagraph 2 of that subparagraph iv and the amount designated in its respect in that subparagraph 1, is justified by a difference between the cost amount of the property to the trust, immediately before the beneficiary's death, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act and the cost amount, at that time, for the purposes of this Part, or by another reason considered by the Minister to be acceptable in the circumstances.

On application by the trust, the Minister may allow subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph b of the second paragraph to be deemed not to have applied in respect of the property, or may allow the trust, after the trust's filing-due date for the year in which the spouse died, to designate pursuant to that subparagraph i an amount or a new amount in respect of the property; in the latter case, the new amount designated is deemed to be the only amount designated by the trust under that subparagraph in respect of the property.

Where an application made under the fourth paragraph is granted by the Minister, the trust incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the trust's filing-due date for the year in which the spouse died and ending on the day on which the application referred to in that paragraph is sent to the Minister; in such case, this paragraph is deemed not to apply in respect of any other such application made previously by the trust in respect of the transfer of the property.

Where, in respect of the property and by virtue of subsection 3.2 of section 220 of the Income Tax Act, the time for making the election under paragraph b of subsection 9.11 or 9.31 of section 70 of that Act is extended or such an election made previously is amended or rescinded, the trust

(a) shall notify the Minister in writing and attach to the notice a copy of the document to that effect sent by the trust to the Minister of Revenue of Canada; and

(b) incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the trust's filing-due date for the year in which the spouse died and ending on the day on which the notice referred to in subparagraph a is sent to the Minister.

However, the total amount of the penalties that the trust incurs under this section in respect of the property may not exceed the greater of the penalties that the trust would otherwise incur in respect of the property, under the fifth paragraph or subparagraph b of the sixth paragraph nor $5,000.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to take into account the granting by the Minister of an application made under the fourth paragraph, or the election or the amended or rescinded election referred to in the sixth paragraph.

(a) the contract is, in respect of a leveraged insured annuity policy, a contract referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph b of the definition of "leveraged insured annuity policy" in section 1; and

(a) the fair market value of the property immediately before the time of its disposition; and

(b) where

i. the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the capital cost of the property to the individual or to the trust and the amount, determined immediately before the time of the disposition of the property, that is equal to that proportion of the undepreciated capital cost of the property of that class to the individual or to the trust that the capital cost of the property to the individual or to the trust is of the capital cost to the individual or to the trust of all the property of that class that had not, at or before that time, been disposed of,

ii. in the case of the individual referred to in section 444, the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph i applies, a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership, the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual immediately before the time of the disposition of the property, or

iii. in the case of the trust referred to in section 450, the property is land, other than land to which subparagraph i applies, a share referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of that section, or an interest in a partnership described in subparagraph iv of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of that section, the adjusted cost base of the property to the trust immediately before the time of the disposition of the property.

If the amount designated in respect of a property is less than the lesser of the amounts determined in respect of the property under subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph, it is deemed, for the purposes of subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 444 and subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 450, to be equal to the lesser of those amounts, and if it is greater than the greater of those amounts, it is deemed, for the purposes of those subparagraphs 1, to be equal to the greater of the amounts determined under those subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph in respect of the property.

450.6. Section 444 applies in respect of the transfer of a property as if "to a child" and "in the child" were replaced by "to the father or mother" and "in the father or mother", respectively, and as if "the child" were replaced by "the father or mother", if

(a) the property was acquired by an individual in circumstances where any of sections 444, 450 and 460 to 462 applied in respect of the acquisition;

(b) the property is transferred to the father or mother of the individual because of the individual's death; and

(c) the individual's legal representative makes a valid election in the fiscal return filed under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) for the taxation year in which the individual died, to have subsection 9.6 of section 70 of that Act apply in respect of the transfer.

450.8. (Repealed).

1986, c. 15, s. 83; 1987, c. 67, s. 106.

450.9. For the purposes of sections 444 and 459 and subparagraph iv of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6, a property of an individual is, at a particular time, deemed to be used by the individual in a farming or fishing business carried on in Canada if, at that particular time, the property is being used, principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada, by

(a) a corporation, a share of the capital stock of which is a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual; or

(b) a partnership, a partnership interest in which is an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual.

450.10. For the purposes of Divisions I to III and, where a provision of either of those divisions, other than this section, applies, for the purposes of sections 93 to 104 and Chapter III of Title III, but not for the purposes of any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, the capital cost to an individual, or to a trust to which section 450 applies, of depreciable property of a prescribed class disposed of immediately before the death of the individual or, as the case may be, of the spouse referred to in that section 450, shall, in respect of property that was not disposed of by the individual or the trust before that time, be the amount that it would be, if

(a) paragraph b of section 99 were read without reference to "the lesser of the following amounts" in the portion before subparagraph i thereof and without reference to subparagraph ii thereof;

(b) subparagraph i of paragraph d of section 99 were read as follows:

"i. where the proportion of the use made of the property to gain income has increased at a particular time, the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired at that time depreciable property of that class at a capital cost equal to the proportion of the fair market value of the property at that time that the amount of the increase in the use regularly made by the taxpayer of the property to gain income is of the whole of the use regularly made of the property;" and

(c) section 99 were read without reference to paragraph d.1 thereof.

1995, c. 49, s. 130; 1998, c. 16, s. 166.

450.11. Where two or more depreciable properties of a prescribed class are disposed of at the same time as a consequence of an individual's death, Divisions I to III and paragraph a of the definition of "cost amount" in section 1 apply as if each property so disposed of were separately disposed of in the order designated by the individual's legal representative or, in the case of a trust referred to in section 450, by the trust and, where the taxpayer's legal representative or the trust, as the case may be, does not designate an order, in the order designated by the Minister.

451. In this division and sections 234 to 236, 236.2, 237, 240, 241, 261, 264, 271 to 273, 274.1, 278 to 280.4, 288, 293, 428 to 430, 432 to 435, 454 to 455.1 and 459 to 462:

(a) (subparagraph repealed);

(a.2*)* "share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation", of an individual at any time, means a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by the individual at that time if, at that time, all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property owned by the corporation was attributable to

i. property that has been used principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada in which the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis (or, in the case of property used in the operation of a woodlot, was engaged to the extent required by a prescribed forest management plan in respect of that woodlot), by

(1) the corporation or any other corporation, a share of the capital stock of which was a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

(2) a corporation controlled by a corporation described in subparagraph 1,

(3) the individual,

(4) the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual, or

(5) a partnership, a partnership interest in which was an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

ii. shares of the capital stock or indebtedness of one or more corporations of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv,

iii. partnership interests in or indebtedness of one or more partnerships of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv, or

iv. property described in any of subparagraphs i to iii;

(b) (subparagraph repealed);

(c) (subparagraph repealed);

(d) "child" of a taxpayer includes

i. a grandchild or a great grandchild of the taxpayer,

ii. a person who was a child of the taxpayer immediately before the death of the person's spouse, and

iii. a person who, at any time before attaining the age of 19 years, was wholly dependent on the taxpayer for support and of whom the taxpayer had, at that time, in law or in fact, the custody and control;

(e) (subparagraph repealed);

(f) (subparagraph repealed);

(g) (subparagraph repealed);

(h) "interest in a family farm or fishing partnership", of an individual at any time, means a partnership interest owned by the individual at that time if, at that time, all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property of the partnership was attributable to

i. property that has been used principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada in which the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis (or, in the case of property used in the operation of a woodlot, was engaged to the extent required by a prescribed forest management plan in respect of that woodlot), by the partnership or by

(1) the individual,

(2) the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

(3) a corporation, a share of the capital stock of which was a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual, or

(4) a partnership, a partnership interest in which was an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

ii. shares of the capital stock or indebtedness of one or more corporations of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv,

iii. partnership interests in or indebtedness of one or more partnerships of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv, or

iv. property described in any of subparagraphs i to iii.

For the purposes of subparagraph a.2 of the first paragraph, the fair market value of a net income stabilization account or of a farm income stabilization account is deemed to be nil.

DIVISION IV

COMPUTATION OF INCOME

1972, c. 23.

452. Subject to section 453, in computing the income of a taxpayer for the taxation year in which the taxpayer died, sections 153 and 208, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234, paragraph b of section 234.0.1, the amount that the taxpayer may deduct under subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279 and sections 357 and 358, as they read in respect of a disposition of property, may not be taken into account.

DIVISION V

ELECTION BY SPOUSE OR TRUST

1972, c. 23.

453. If a right to receive an amount is transferred or distributed as a consequence of the death of a taxpayer to a beneficiary who is the taxpayer's spouse resident in Canada immediately before the death or a trust referred to in section 440, and the beneficiary and the legal representative of the taxpayer make a valid election under subsection 2 of section 72 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of that right, the following rules apply if the taxpayer was resident in Canada immediately before dying:

(a) sections 153 and 208 and sections 357 and 358, as they read in respect of the disposition of property, apply in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year of the taxpayer's death, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 applies in computing the taxpayer's gain for that year and section 452 does not apply for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's gain referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279 for that year, and the beneficiary must include in computing the beneficiary's income or gain for the beneficiary's first taxation year ending after the death the amounts deducted in respect of the taxpayer under sections 153 and 208, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234, subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279 or sections 357 and 358;

(b) the amounts provided for in subparagraph a are deemed to have been included in computing the income or earnings of the beneficiary for a previous year, from a similar source;

(c) despite paragraphs a and b, if the taxpayer had disposed of a property, the beneficiary is deemed, for the purpose of computing any reserve the beneficiary may deduct, in respect of the disposition of property, under section 153, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234, subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279 or either of sections 357 and 358, as they read in respect of that disposition, in computing the beneficiary's income for a taxation year ending after the death of the taxpayer, to be the taxpayer who had disposed of the property and to have disposed of it at the time it was disposed of by the taxpayer.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2 of section 72 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1972, c. 23, s. 369; 1973, c. 17, s. 50; 1975, c. 22, s. 102; 1984, c. 15, s. 101; 1987, c. 67, s. 109; 1990, c. 59, s. 172; 1993, c. 16, s. 188; 1994, c. 22, s. 180; 1997, c. 14, s. 77; 2009, c. 5, s. 153; 2010, c. 5, s. 45.

CHAPTER IV

INTER VIVOS TRANSFERS

1972, c. 23; 1973, c. 17, s. 51.

454. Where at any time a capital property of an individual, other than a trust, is transferred in any of the circumstances to which section 454.1 applies and both the individual and the transferee are resident in Canada at that time, the capital property is deemed to be disposed of at that time by the individual and acquired by the transferee for an amount equal to the adjusted cost base of the capital property immediately before that time or, where the capital property is depreciable property, to the proportion of the undepreciated capital cost of all the property of the same class that the fair market value before that time of the capital property is of the fair market value before that time of the aggregate of all of the property of the same class.

This section does not apply to such a transfer where the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 1 of section 73 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) to have the provisions of that subsection not apply to the transfer.

454.1. Subject to section 454.2, the circumstances to which section 454 refers are the following:

(a) the capital property is transferred to the individual's spouse;

(b) the capital property is transferred to a former spouse of the individual in settlement of rights arising out of their marriage; and

(c) the capital property is transferred to a trust created by the individual if the terms of the deed creating it

i. entitled the individual's spouse to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the spouse's death and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust,

ii. entitled the individual to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the individual's death and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust, or

iii. entitled the individual and the individual's spouse to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before their deaths and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust.

2003, c. 2, s. 123.

454.2. Section 454.1 applies to a transfer of capital property by an individual to a trust of which the terms of the deed creating it meet the conditions in subparagraph ii or iii of paragraph c of that section only where

(a) the trust was created after 31 December 1999;

(b) either

i. the individual attained 65 years of age at the time the trust was created, or

ii. the transfer does not result in a change in beneficial ownership of the capital property and there is immediately after the transfer no absolute or contingent right of a person, other than the individual, or partnership as a beneficiary, determined with reference to section 646.1, under the trust; and

(c) in the case of a trust of which the terms of the deed creating it meet the conditions in subparagraph ii of paragraph c of section 454.1, the trust does not make an election under subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 653.

455. Where section 454 applies and the capital cost to the taxpayer of a depreciable property of a prescribed class exceeds the amount determined under that section, the following rules apply for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1:

(a) the capital cost of such capital property to the transferee is deemed to be the capital cost of such capital property to the taxpayer; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the transferee in respect of such capital property under the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 in computing his income for the previous taxation years.

455.0.1. Where, in respect of the property referred to in section 454 and by virtue of subsection 3.2 of section 220 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), the time for making the election referred to in the second paragraph of section 454 is extended or such an election made previously is rescinded, the taxpayer

(a) shall notify the Minister in writing and attach to the notice a copy of the document to that effect sent by the taxpayer to the Minister of Revenue of Canada; and

(b) incurs a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month from the taxpayer's filing-due date for the year in which the transfer is made and ending on the day on which the notice referred to in subparagraph a is sent to the Minister, up to $5,000.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to take into account the election or the rescinded election referred to in the first paragraph.

456.1. For the purposes of this chapter, where a property becomes the property of an individual following the declaratory effect of a partition following the dissolution of the matrimonial regime to which that individual was subject and where that individual was not the deemed owner of the property under section 2.1

immediately before that dissolution, that property is deemed to have been transferred to that individual by his spouse immediately before that dissolution.

459. Sections 460 to 462 apply to an individual and to a child of the individual in respect of a property transferred, at any time, by the individual to the child, if the child was resident in Canada immediately before the transfer and if

(a) the property was, before the transfer, land situated in Canada or a depreciable property of a prescribed class situated in Canada and was used principally in the business of farming or fishing in which the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis or, in the case of a property used in the operation of a woodlot, was engaged to the extent required by a prescribed forest management plan in respect of that woodlot; or

(b) the property was, immediately before the transfer, a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual.

1973, c. 17, s. 52; 1979, c. 18, s. 36; 1986, c. 19, s. 107; 1994, c. 22, s. 182; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 96; 2005, c. 1, s. 107; 2007, c. 12, s. 63; 2015, c. 21, s. 172; 2017, c. 29, s. 69; 2019, c. 14, s. 129.

460. If, because of section 459, this section applies to an individual in respect of a property transferred by the individual to the child of the individual, the following rules apply:

(a) in cases where paragraph b and section 461 do not apply, the individual is deemed to have disposed of the property, at the time of the transfer, for proceeds equal to proceeds of disposition otherwise determined;

(b) subject to paragraph c, if the proceeds of disposition of the property otherwise determined exceed the greater of the following amounts, the individual is deemed to have disposed of the property at the time of the transfer for the greater of those amounts:

i. the fair market value of the property immediately before the time of the transfer, and

ii. if, immediately before the transfer, the property was

(1) a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the capital cost of the property and the amount, determined immediately before the time of the disposition of the property, that is equal to that proportion of the undepreciated capital cost of the property of that class to the individual that the capital cost of the property to the individual is of the capital cost to the individual of all the property of that class that had not, at or before that time, been disposed of,

(2) land, a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual immediately before the time of the transfer, or

(3) (subparagraph repealed);

(c) if, immediately before the transfer, the property was an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual and the individual receives no consideration in respect of the transfer of the property and makes a valid election under paragraph c of subsection 4.1 of section 73 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), in the individual's fiscal return filed under Part I of that Act for the taxation year that includes the time of the transfer, to have that paragraph c apply in respect of the transfer of the property, the individual is deemed, except for the purposes of section 632, not to have disposed of the property at the time of the transfer; and

(d) section 422 does not apply to the individual in respect of the property.

461. If the proceeds of disposition, otherwise determined, of a property referred to in subparagraph 1 or 2 of subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 460 are less than the lesser of the amount referred to in subparagraph i of that paragraph b and the amount determined under subparagraph 1 or 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b that is applicable in respect of the property, they are deemed to be equal to the lesser of those amounts.

462. If, because of section 459, this section applies to a child of an individual in respect of a property transferred by the individual to the child, the following rules apply:

(a) section 422 does not apply to the child in respect of the property;

(b) subject to subparagraph e, if the property is a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the individual, land, a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, the child is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property, as determined under paragraphs a and b of section 460 and section 461;

(c) if the property was a depreciable property of a prescribed class of the individual and the capital cost of the property to the individual exceeds the capital cost of the property to the child, for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and regulations under section 130 or 130.1, the capital cost of the property to the child is deemed to be the amount that was the capital cost of the property to the individual immediately before the transfer and the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the child in respect of the property as depreciation in computing income for the taxation years that ended before the child acquired the property;

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) if the property was, immediately before the transfer, an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, other than an interest to which section 636 applies, and the individual receives no consideration in respect of the transfer of the property and makes the election referred to in paragraph c of section 460 in respect of the transfer of the property, the following rules apply:

i. the child is deemed to have acquired the property at the time of the transfer at a cost equal to the cost of the interest to the individual immediately before the time of the transfer, and

ii. each amount required by section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of the property to the individual, immediately before the transfer, is deemed to be an amount required by that section 255 or 257 to be added or deducted in computing at any time at or after the time of the transfer, the adjusted cost base of the property to the child.

462.0.1. Where at any time a taxpayer disposes of an interest in the taxpayer's NISA Fund No. 2, an amount equal to the balance in the fund so disposed of is deemed to have been paid out of the fund at that time to the taxpayer except that,

(a) where the interest is disposed of to the taxpayer's spouse, former spouse or an individual referred to in subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 454, as it applies in respect of transfers of property that occurred before 1 January 1993, in settlement of rights arising out of their marriage, on or after the breakdown of the marriage, that amount is not deemed to have been paid to the taxpayer if

i. the disposition is made under a decree, order or judgment of a competent tribunal or, in the case of a spouse or former spouse, under a written separation agreement, and

ii. the taxpayer elects in the taxpayer's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year in which the property was disposed of to have this paragraph apply to the disposition;

(b) where the interest is disposed of to a taxable Canadian corporation in a transaction in respect of which section 518 applies, an amount equal to the proceeds of disposition in respect of that interest is deemed to be paid, at that time, to the taxpayer out of the taxpayer's NISA Fund No. 2.

462.0.2. Where at any time a taxpayer disposes of an interest in the taxpayer's farm income stabilization account, an amount equal to the balance of the account so disposed of is deemed, subject to the second and third paragraphs, to have been paid out of that account at that time to the taxpayer.

The rule set out in the first paragraph does not apply where the interest in the taxpayer's farm income stabilization account is disposed of by the taxpayer to the taxpayer's spouse or former spouse, in settlement of rights arising out of their marriage, on or after the breakdown of the marriage, if

(a) the disposition is made under an order or judgment of a competent tribunal or under a written separation agreement; and

(b) the taxpayer elects in the taxpayer's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year in which the interest was disposed of to have this paragraph apply to the disposition.

Where at any time a taxpayer who is an individual disposes of an interest in the taxpayer's farm income stabilization account to a taxable Canadian corporation in a transaction in respect of which section 518 applies, an amount equal to the proceeds of disposition in respect of that interest is deemed to be paid, at that time, to the taxpayer out of that account.

462.1. Where an individual has transferred or loaned property, otherwise than by partition of a retirement pension pursuant to sections 158.3 to 158.8 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan (chapter R-9) or any comparable provision of a similar plan, within the meaning of that Act, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to or for the benefit of a person who is, or who has since become, the spouse of the individual, any income or loss of that person for a taxation year from the property or from property substituted for it, that relates to the period in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada and is the person's spouse, is deemed to be income or a loss of the individual for the year and not of that person.

462.2. If an individual has transferred or loaned a property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to or for the benefit of a person who was under 18 years of age and who is not dealing with the individual at arm's length or is the niece or nephew of the individual, other than an amount received in respect of that person because of the application of subsection 1 of section 122.61 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), section 4 of the Universal Child Care Benefit Act, enacted by section 168 of the Budget Implementation Act, 2006 (Statutes of Canada, 2006, chapter 4), or section 1029.8.61.18, any income or loss of that person for a taxation year from the property or from any property substituted for that property, that relates to the period in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, is deemed to be income or a loss of the individual for the year and not of that person unless that person has reached 18 years of age before the end of the year.

462.3. For the purposes of sections 462.1 and 462.2, where, at any time, an individual has loaned or transferred property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to or for the benefit of a person, and the loaned or transferred property or property substituted therefor is used to repay, in whole or in part, borrowed money with which other property was acquired, or to reduce an amount payable for other property, there shall be included in computing the income from the loaned or transferred property, or from any property substituted therefor, that is so used, the amount determined under section 462.4.

However, nothing in this section shall affect the application of sections 462.1 and 462.2 to any income or loss derived from the other property or from any property substituted therefor.

462.4. The amount referred to in section 462.3 is equal to that proportion of the income or loss, as the case may be, derived after that time from the other property or from any property substituted therefor that the fair market value at that time of the loaned or transferred property, or property substituted therefor, that is so used is of the cost to that person of the other property at the time of its acquisition.

462.5. Where an individual has loaned or transferred property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to or for the benefit of a person hereinafter referred to as the "recipient" who is his spouse or who has since become his spouse, the following rules apply for the purposes of computing the income of the individual and the recipient for a taxation year:

(a) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the recipient's taxable capital gains for the year from dispositions of property, other than precious property, that is property so loaned or transferred or property substituted therefor occurring in the period throughout which the individual is resident in Canada and the recipient is his spouse exceeds the aggregate of the recipient's allowable capital losses for the year from dispositions of such property occurring in such period, or the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of such losses exceeds, for the year, the aggregate of such gains, is deemed to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss, as the case may be, of the individual for the year from the disposition of property other than precious property;

(b) the amount, if any, by which the amount that the aggregate of the recipient's gains for the year from dispositions occurring in the period described in paragraph a of precious property that is property so loaned or transferred or property substituted therefor would be if the recipient had at no time owned other precious property exceeds the amount that the aggregate of the recipient's losses for the year from dispositions of such property would be during that period if the recipient had at no time owned other precious property or the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of such losses so determined exceeds, for the year, the aggregate of such gains so determined is deemed to be a gain or a loss, as the case may be, of the individual for the year from the disposition of precious property;

(c) any taxable capital gain or allowable capital loss or any gain or loss taken into account in computing an amount described in paragraph a or b is, except for the purposes of those paragraphs and to the extent that the amount so described is deemed by virtue of this section to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss or a gain or loss of the individual, deemed not to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss or a gain or loss, as the case may be, of the recipient.

462.6. Where an individual is deemed to have a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss for a taxation year under any of sections 457 and 458, as they read before their repeal for that year, 462.5, 463 and 467, such portion of the gain or loss as may reasonably be considered to relate to the disposition of a property by another person in the year is deemed, for the purposes of sections 28 and 727 to 737, as they apply for the purposes of Title VI.5 of Book IV, to arise from the disposition of that property by the individual in the year, and that property is deemed, for the purposes of that Title, to have been disposed of by the individual on the day on which it was disposed of by the other person.

462.6.1. Section 462.5 does not apply to a disposition of property made under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 785.2 at a particular time by a taxpayer who is a recipient referred to in section 462.5, unless the recipient and the individual referred to in section 462.5 make a valid election under subsection 3 of section 74.2 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to the disposition.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 3 of section 74.2 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

462.6.2. For the purposes of section 462.6.1 and notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, any assessment of tax payable under this Part by the recipient or the individual referred to in section 462.5 shall be made by the Minister as is necessary to give effect to an election referred to in the first paragraph of section 462.6.1, except that no such assessment shall affect the computation of

(a) interest payable under this Part to or by a taxpayer in respect of any period that is before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxation year that includes the first time, after the particular time referred to in the first paragraph of section 462.6.1, at which the recipient disposes of the property referred to in that paragraph; or

(b) any penalty payable under this Part.

462.7. For the purposes of sections 462.8 to 462.24, "designated person", in respect of an individual, means a person

(a) who is the individual's spouse; or

(b) who is under 18 years of age and who does not deal with the individual at arm's length, or is the niece or nephew of the individual.

1987, c. 67, s. 112.

462.8. The rules provided in sections 462.9 and 462.10 apply where an individual has loaned or transferred property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to a trust in which another individual who is at any time a designated person in respect of the individual is beneficially interested at any time.

462.9. The income of the designated person referred to in section 462.8 for a taxation year from the property so loaned or transferred is deemed, for the purposes of sections 462.1 to 462.4, to be an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount in respect of the trust that was included by virtue of paragraph n of section 87 in computing the income for the year of the designated person, and

(b) that proportion of the amount that would be the income of the trust for the year from the property or from any property substituted therefor if no deduction were made under paragraph a or b of section 657 or section 657.1 that

i. the amount determined under paragraph a in respect of the designated person for the year, is of

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph a for the year in respect of the designated person or any other person who is throughout the year a designated person in respect of the individual.

462.10. The designated person referred to in section 462.8 is deemed, for the purposes of sections 462.5 and 462.6, to have derived a taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of property other than precious property that is property so loaned or transferred for an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount that was designated under section 668 in respect of the designated person in the trust's fiscal return for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of all taxable capital gains for the year exceeds the aggregate of all allowable capital losses for the year from the disposition by the trust of property that is so loaned or transferred or any property substituted therefor.

462.11. For the purposes of this section and of sections 462.12 to 462.14,

(a) "excluded consideration", at any time, means consideration received by an individual that is

i. indebtedness,

ii. a share of the capital stock of a corporation, or

iii. a right to receive indebtedness or a share of the capital stock of a corporation;

(b) "outstanding amount" of a transferred property or loan at a particular time means

i. in the case of a transfer of property to a corporation, the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the property at the time of the transfer exceeds the aggregate of the fair market value, at the time of the transfer, of the consideration, other than consideration that is excluded consideration at the particular time, received by the transferor for the property, and the fair market value, at the time of receipt, of any consideration, other than consideration that is excluded consideration at the particular time, received by the transferor at or before the particular time from the corporation or from a person with whom the transferor deals at arm's length, in exchange for excluded consideration previously received by the transferor as consideration for the property or for excluded consideration substituted for such consideration;

ii. in the case of a loan of money or property to a corporation, the amount, if any, by which the principal amount of the loan of money at the time the loan was made, or the fair market value of the property loaned at the time the loan was made, as the case may be, exceeds the fair market value, at the time the repayment is received by the lender, of any repayment of the loan, other than a repayment that is excluded consideration at the particular time.

462.12. Where an individual has transferred or loaned property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to a corporation and one of the main purposes of the transfer or loan may reasonably be considered to be to reduce the income of the individual and to benefit, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, a person who is a designated person in respect of the individual, the individual is deemed in computing his income for any taxation year to have received as interest in the year, an amount equal to the amount determined under section 462.13, where the taxation year includes a period after the loan or transfer throughout which

(a) the individual was resident in Canada;

(b) the corporation was not a small business corporation; and

(c) the person is a designated person in respect of the individual and would have been a specified shareholder of the corporation, within the meaning of section 21.17 if the reference therein to "any other corporation that is related to the corporation" were read as a reference to "any other corporation, other than a small business corporation, that is related to the corporation" and if section 21.18 were read without reference to paragraphs a and d thereof.

462.12.1. For the purposes of section 462.12, one of the main purposes of a transfer or loan by an individual to a corporation is not considered to be to benefit, either directly or indirectly, a designated person in respect of the individual, where

(a) the only interest that the designated person has in the corporation is a beneficial interest in shares of the corporation held by a trust;

(b) by the terms of the trust, the designated person may not receive or otherwise obtain the use of any of the income or capital of the trust while he is a designated person in respect of the individual; and

(c) the designated person has not received or otherwise obtained the use of any of the income or capital of the trust, and no deduction has been made by the trust in computing its income under paragraphs a and b of section 657 or section 657.1 in respect of amounts paid or payable to, or included in the income of, that person while he was a designated person in respect of the individual.

462.13. The amount referred to in section 462.12 is equal to the amount, if any, by which the amount that would be interest on the outstanding amount of the loan or transferred property for such periods in the year as are contemplated in section 462.12 exceeds the amount determined under section 462.14 if the interest were computed thereon at the prescribed rate for such periods.

462.14. The amount to which section 462.13 refers is equal to the aggregate of the following amounts:

(a) any interest received in the year by the individual in respect of the transfer or loan other than amounts deemed to have been received as interest under section 462.12;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts included in computing the individual's income for the year under sections 497 and 577 in relation to the taxable dividends received by the individual in the year, other than dividends deemed under Chapter III of Title IX to have been received on shares that were received from the corporation as consideration for the transfer or as repayment for the loan that were excluded consideration at the time the dividends were received, or on shares substituted therefor that were excluded consideration at that time;

(c) where the designated person is a specified individual in relation to the year, the amount required to be included in computing the designated person's income for the year in respect of all taxable dividends received by the designated person that can reasonably be considered to be part of the benefit sought to be conferred on the designated person under section 462.12 and are included in computing the designated person's split income for any taxation year.

462.15. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, sections 462.1, 462.2, 462.5 and 462.6 do not apply to any income, gain or loss derived in a particular taxation year from transferred or loaned property, as the case may be, or from property substituted therefor if

(a) at the time of the transfer the fair market value of the transferred property did not exceed the fair market value of the property received by the transferor as consideration for the transferred property;

(b) where the consideration received by the transferor included indebtedness or in the case of a loan,

i. interest was charged on the indebtedness or loan, as the case may be, at a rate equal to or greater than the lesser of the prescribed rate that was in effect at the time the indebtedness was incurred or the loan was made, and the rate that would, having regard to all the circumstances, have been agreed upon, at the time the indebtedness was incurred or the loan was made, between parties dealing with each other at arm's length;

ii. the amount of interest that was payable in respect of the particular year in respect of the indebtedness or loan was paid not later than 30 days after the end of the particular year;

iii. the amount of interest that was payable in respect of each taxation year preceding the particular year in respect of the indebtedness or loan was paid not later than 30 days after the end of each such taxation year;

(c) where the property was transferred to or for the benefit of the transferor's spouse, the second paragraph of section 454 applies to the transfer.

462.16. Section 462.1 does not apply in respect of any income or loss from a property that is attributable to the period throughout which the persons referred to in that section lived separate and apart from each other because of a breakdown of their marriage, and sections 462.5 and 462.6 do not apply in respect of a disposition of property that occurs at any time while the persons referred to in those sections are living separate and apart from each other because of a breakdown of their marriage if the individual and the individual's spouse make a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 3 of section 74.5 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to the disposition.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph b of subsection 3 of section 74.5 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

462.17. No amount shall be included in computing the income of an individual under sections 462.12 to 462.14 in respect of a designated person in respect of the individual who is the spouse of the individual for any period throughout which the individual is living separate and apart from the designated person by reason of a breakdown of their marriage.

462.18. For the purposes of sections 462.19 and 462.20, "specified person", with respect to an individual, means

(a) a designated person in respect of the individual; or

(b) a corporation, other than a small business corporation, of which a designated person in respect of the individual would have been a specified shareholder, within the meaning of section 21.17, if section 21.18 were read without reference to paragraphs a and d thereof.

462.19. Where an individual has loaned or transferred property to another person and that property, or property substituted therefor, is loaned or transferred by a third person directly or indirectly to or for the benefit of a specified person with respect to the individual, or to another person on condition that the property be loaned or transferred by a third person directly or indirectly to or for the benefit of a specified person with respect to the individual, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of sections 462.1 to 462.14, the property loaned or transferred by the third person is deemed to have been loaned or transferred, as the case may be, by the individual to or for the benefit of the specified person;

(b) for the purposes of section 462.15, the consideration received by the third person for the transfer of the property is deemed to have been received by the individual.

462.20. Where an individual is obligated, either absolutely or contingently, to effect any undertaking including any guarantee, covenant or agreement given to ensure the repayment, in whole or in part, of a loan made by a third person directly or indirectly to or for the benefit of a specified person with respect to the individual or the payment, in whole or in part, of any interest payable in respect of the loan, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of sections 462.1 to 462.14, the property loaned by the third person is deemed to have been loaned by the individual to or for the benefit of the specified person;

(b) for the purposes of subparagraphs ii and iii of paragraph b of section 462.15, the amount of interest that is paid in respect of the loan is deemed not to include any amount paid by the individual to the third person as interest on the loan.

462.21. Where a taxpayer has loaned or transferred property, either directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or otherwise, to a trust in which another taxpayer is beneficially interested, the taxpayer is, for the purposes of sections 462.1 to 462.24, deemed to have loaned or transferred the property, as the case may be, to or for the benefit of the other taxpayer.

1987, c. 67, s. 112; 1994, c. 22, s. 188; 1996, c. 39, s. 273.

1987, c. 67, s. 112; 1994, c. 22, s. 189.

462.23. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, sections 462.1 to 462.14 do not apply to a transfer or loan of property where it may reasonably be concluded that one of the main reasons for the transfer or loan, as the case may be, was to reduce the amount of tax that would, but for those sections, be payable under this Part on the income and gains derived from the property or from property substituted therefor.

462.24. Sections 462.1 to 462.10 do not apply in respect of a transfer by an individual of property

(a) as a payment of a premium under a registered retirement savings plan under which the individual's spouse is, immediately after the transfer, the annuitant, within the meaning of section 905.1, to the extent that the premium is deductible in computing the income of the individual for a taxation year;

(a.2) as a payment of a contribution under a registered disability savings plan;

(b) as a payment to another individual who is his spouse or a person who was under 18 years of age in a taxation year and with whom the individual does not deal at arm's length or who is the nephew or niece of the individual of an amount that is deductible by the individual in computing his income for the year and is required to be included in computing the income of the other individual;

(c) to the individual's spouse, while the property, or a property substituted for it, is held under a tax-free savings account of which the spouse is the holder, to the extent that the spouse does not, at the time of the contribution of the property under that account, have an excess TFSA amount, as defined in subsection 1 of section 207.01 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.));

(d) as a payment of a contribution under a first home savings account.

462.24.1. Sections 456 to 458, 462.1, 462.2, 462.8 to 462.10 and 467 do not apply to any amount that is included in computing a specified individual's split income for a taxation year.

2001, c. 53, s. 71.

462.25. For the purposes of sections 316.1, 462.1 to 462.4 and 462.8 to 462.10, where an individual has transferred or loaned property, directly or indirectly, by means of a trust or by any other means, to a person and the property or property substituted therefor is an interest in a partnership, the person's share of the amount of any income or loss of the partnership for a fiscal period in which the person was a specified member of the partnership is deemed to be income or loss, as the case may be, from the property or substituted property.

463. Where section 459 applies in respect of the transfer of property by a taxpayer to one of his children for an amount less than the fair market value of the property immediately before the transfer and where, in a taxation year during which he has not reached 18 years of age, the transferee disposes of the property, the following rules apply during the lifetime of the transferor while he is resident in Canada:

(a) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the transferee's taxable capital gains for the year from dispositions of property so transferred exceeds the aggregate of the transferee's allowable capital losses from such dispositions or the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of such losses exceeds, in the year, the aggregate of such gains is deemed to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss, as the case may be, of the transferor for the year from dispositions of property;

(b) any taxable capital gain or allowable capital loss taken into account in computing an amount described in paragraph a is, except for the purposes of that paragraph, to the extent that the amount so described is deemed by virtue of this section to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss of the transferor, deemed not to be a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss, as the case may be, of the transferee.

467. The income, loss, taxable capital gain or allowable capital loss attributable to property held by a trust created since 1934 that is resident in Canada is deemed, if the property or property for which it was substituted has been directly or indirectly received from a person (in this section referred to as the "transferor"), to be that of the transferor throughout the existence of the transferor as long as the transferor is resident in Canada and if either property meets any of the following conditions:

(a) it may revert to the transferor;

(b) it may pass to persons to be determined by the transferor at a time subsequent to the creation of the trust; and

(c) it may not be disposed of during the existence of the transferor without the transferor's consent.

467.1. Section 467 does not apply to property held in a taxation year

(a) by a trust governed by a retirement compensation arrangement, a registered retirement income fund, a deferred profit sharing plan, a registered pension plan, a pooled registered pension plan, an employee benefit plan, a profit sharing plan, a registered education savings plan, a registered disability savings plan, a registered retirement savings plan, a registered supplementary unemployment benefit plan, a tax-free savings account or a first home savings account;

(b) by an employee trust, an employee life and health trust, a segregated fund trust within the meaning of subparagraph k of the first paragraph of section 835, a trust described in subparagraph a.1 of the third paragraph of section 647, a trust described in paragraph m of section 998 or a private foundation that is a registered charity;

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(c.1*)* by an environmental trust; or

(d) by a trust that acquired the property, or other property for which the property is a substitute, from a particular individual, if

i. the particular individual acquired the property or the other property, as the case may be, in respect of another individual because of the application of subsection 1 of section 122.61 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), section 4 of the Universal Child Care Benefit Act, enacted by section 168 of the Budget Implementation Act, 2006 (S.C. 2006, c. 4), or section 1029.8.61.18, and

ii. the trust has no beneficiaries, within the meaning of the second paragraph of section 646, who may for any reason receive directly from the trust all or part of the income or capital of the trust other than individuals in respect of whom the particular individual acquired property because of the application of a provision described in subparagraph i.

467.2. If an amount paid to acquire a qualifying trust annuity with respect to a taxpayer is deductible under paragraph f of section 339 in computing the taxpayer's income, the following rules apply:

(a) any amount that is paid out of or under the annuity at a particular time after 31 December 2005 and before the death of the taxpayer is deemed to have been received out of or under the annuity at the particular time by the taxpayer, and not to have been received by another taxpayer; and

(b) if the taxpayer dies after 31 December 2005,

i. the taxpayer is deemed to have received, immediately before the taxpayer's death, an amount out of or under the annuity equal to the fair market value of the annuity at the time of the taxpayer's death, and

ii. for the purposes of section 436, the annuity is to be disregarded in determining the fair market value (immediately before the taxpayer's death) of the taxpayer's interest in the trust that is the annuitant under the annuity.

CHAPTER V

CONSIDERATION FOR EXPROPRIATED PROPERTY

1973, c. 17, s. 53.

DIVISION I

GENERAL RULES

469. The rules provided in this chapter apply where a taxpayer acquires any bond, debenture, hypothecary claim, mortgage, bill or similar obligation hereinafter called "indemnity" issued by the government of a foreign country or by a person resident in a foreign country and guaranteed by the government of such country:

(a) as compensation for shares that the taxpayer owned in a foreign affiliate that carried on business in that country or for all or substantially all the property used by the taxpayer in carrying on business in that country if such shares or property, hereinafter called "foreign property", were taken from such taxpayer after 18 June 1971 under the authority of a law of that country; or

(b) as consideration for the sale of such foreign property after that date under the authority of such a law or after notice or other manifestation of an intention to take possession of such a property.

470. In the case provided for in section 469, if the acquisition is made by a taxpayer resident in Canada and the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 1 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of all indemnities acquired by the taxpayer, an amount, in respect of each indemnity, equal to its principal amount or, if, in accordance with paragraph d of that subsection 1, the taxpayer has designated in the election an amount in respect of the indemnity that is less than the principal amount, equal to that lesser amount, is deemed to be the cost to the taxpayer of the indemnity and, for the purpose of computing the proceeds of disposition of the foreign property, the amount received by the taxpayer because of the acquisition of the indemnity.

However, if the amount designated by the taxpayer in the election referred to in the first paragraph in respect of an indemnity is less than the principal amount of the indemnity and, but for this paragraph, the proceeds of disposition of the foreign property, computed with reference to the first paragraph, would be less than the cost amount to the taxpayer of the foreign property immediately before it was taken or sold, that cost amount is, for the purposes of the first paragraph, to be increased by the taxpayer on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxation year in which the taxpayer acquired the indemnity or, if the taxpayer does not do so, by the Minister, so that the proceeds of disposition of the foreign property, computed with reference to the first paragraph, are equal to the cost amount to the taxpayer of the foreign property immediately before it was taken or sold.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 1 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

471. If a taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 2 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of all amounts received or to be received by the taxpayer as interest on the indemnities the taxpayer acquires, the following rules apply in respect of each indemnity:

(a) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the indemnity, in respect of each interest amount that the taxpayer receives in the year, the taxpayer may deduct the lesser of that amount and the aggregate of the amount to be added under subparagraph b in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity and the greater, immediately before the interest amount was received, of the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity and its adjusted principal amount to the taxpayer, and the taxpayer shall include, in respect of each amount the taxpayer receives in the year as the principal amount of the indemnity or as proceeds of disposition of the indemnity, the amount by which the amount the taxpayer so receives exceeds the greater, immediately before receiving that amount, of the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity and its adjusted principal amount to the taxpayer;

(b) in computing, at a particular time, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity, in respect of each interest amount received by the taxpayer before that time, the taxpayer shall add an amount equal to the lesser of the income or profit tax paid by the taxpayer in that respect to the government of a foreign country and the proportion of that tax that the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity, immediately before the taxpayer received the amount, is of the amount by which the amount exceeds that tax, and shall deduct each interest amount the taxpayer received before that time in respect of that indemnity and each amount the taxpayer received before that time as the principal amount of that indemnity;

(c) the amount received by the taxpayer as the principal amount of the indemnity is deemed not to be the proceeds of a partial disposition of the indemnity; and

(d) for the purposes of sections 772.2 to 772.13, despite the definition assigned to "non-business-income tax" in section 772.2, the non-business-income tax paid by the taxpayer does not include the amount that is required under subparagraph b to be added in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the indemnity.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

472. In this chapter, the adjusted principal amount for a taxpayer of an indemnity at any particular time is the excess of the aggregate of its principal amount and, with respect to each interest amount received by him before that time, the lesser of the tax referred to in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 471 and the proportion of that tax determined in that subparagraph, over the aggregate of each amount received by the taxpayer before that time as interest on the indemnity and as principal amount of this indemnity.

473. For the purposes of the first paragraph of section 471, if an interest amount and a capital amount on an indemnity are received by a taxpayer at the same time, the interest amount is deemed to have been received immediately before the other amount.

474. In this chapter, the adjusted principal amount of an indemnity or of a property deemed to be an indemnity must be computed in the currency in which the principal amount is payable, under the terms thereof, except that, for the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 471, the adjusted principal amount must be computed in Canadian currency.

475. For the purposes of Title IV and the first paragraph of section 471, and in applying sections 472 and 474 for those purposes, if two or more indemnities described in section 469 have been issued at the same time in respect of the same foreign property and acquired by a taxpayer who makes a valid election under subsection 9 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of all such indemnities, the latter are deemed to constitute a single indemnity so issued and acquired.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 9 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1973, c. 17, s. 53; 2009, c. 5, s. 163.

DIVISION II

SPECIAL RULES FOR FOREIGN AFFILIATES

1973, c. 17, s. 53.

476. This division applies where the foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada would be authorized to make an election referred to in the first paragraph of section 470 with respect to properties acquired by it that would on that assumption be indemnities for it if the foreign affiliate were resident in Canada and its only foreign affiliates were foreign affiliates of the taxpayer and if all or part of such properties are subsequently acquired by the taxpayer from the affiliate.

477. If the property described in section 476 is acquired as a dividend payable in kind or as a benefit that the taxpayer should include in computing the taxpayer's income under section 111, and the taxpayer makes, after 19 December 2006, a valid election under the portion of subsection 4 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) before paragraph a in respect of all such property, the following rules apply in respect of each such property:

(a) an amount equal to the principal amount of the property or, if, in accordance with subparagraph ii of paragraph a of subsection 4 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act, the taxpayer has designated in the election an amount in respect of the property that is less than the principal amount, equal to that lesser amount, is deemed to be, despite section 304, the cost to the taxpayer of the property and the amount of the dividend or benefit received by the taxpayer because of the acquisition of the property;

(b) if the property is so acquired as such a benefit and, in accordance with paragraph b of subsection 4 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act, the taxpayer has designated in that election a class of shares of the capital stock of the taxpayer's affiliate in respect of the property, the amount of the benefit is deemed to have been received by the taxpayer as a dividend from the taxpayer's affiliate on that class and not as an amount the taxpayer is required to include in computing the taxpayer's income under section 111;

(c) in computing his taxable income for the taxation year in which he acquired the property, the taxpayer may deduct the excess of the amount received by him as a dividend by reason of such acquisition over the aggregate of the amounts deductible for the year in respect of such dividend under sections 580 to 584 and 746 to 749 in computing his income or taxable income, as the case may be;

(d) in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of each share of the class of shares of the capital stock of his foreign affiliate in respect of which an amount was received by him as a dividend by the acquisition of the property, the taxpayer shall deduct an amount equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the amount deducted by him under subparagraph c in respect of such dividend, by the number of shares of that class owned by the taxpayer immediately before that amount was received by him;

(e) a capital loss of the taxpayer pursuant to the disposition, after the time the property was acquired by the taxpayer, of a share of the capital stock of his foreign affiliate is deemed nil; and

(f) if the taxpayer makes a valid election under paragraph f of subsection 4 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act after 19 December 2006 in respect of the property, the first paragraph of section 471 applies as if the property were an indemnity acquired by the taxpayer for foreign property taken by a government or person referred to in section 469.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 4 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

478. If the property described in section 476 is acquired as consideration for the settlement or extinction of a debt that is payable to the taxpayer by the taxpayer's foreign affiliate and that is represented by a capital property, or for the settlement or extinction of any other obligation, so represented, of the affiliate to pay an amount to the taxpayer, and the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 5 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of all such property, the following rules apply in respect of each such property:

(a) subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 477 applies by replacing "the amount of the dividend or benefit received by the taxpayer" by "the proceeds of disposition, for the taxpayer, of the debt or the settled or extinct obligation";

(b) if, in accordance with paragraph b of subsection 5 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act, the taxpayer has designated in that election a class of shares of the capital stock of the taxpayer's foreign affiliate in respect of the property, the amount by which the cost to the taxpayer of the property, computed with reference to subparagraph a, exceeds the amount of the debt or obligation settled or extinct because of the acquisition of the property is deemed to have been received by the taxpayer as a dividend from the taxpayer's affiliate in respect of that class of shares and the capital gain realized by the taxpayer from the disposition of the debt or of the obligation is deemed to be nil;

(c) a capital loss of the taxpayer from the disposition of the debt or of the obligation is deemed to be nil; and

(d) subparagraphs c to f of the first paragraph of section 477 apply to the property.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 5 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

479. If the property described in section 476 is acquired as a consequence of the winding-up, discontinuance or reorganization of the business of the foreign affiliate or as consideration for the redemption, cancellation or acquisition by the affiliate of shares of its capital stock, and the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 6 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of all property so acquired, section 470 applies in respect of each such property as if such property were an indemnity acquired by the taxpayer as consideration for the sale of the foreign property that consisted of shares of the capital stock of the taxpayer's foreign affiliate immediately before the acquisition and that was sold to a government or person referred to in section 469.

Similarly, if the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 6 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act after 19 December 2006 in respect of all amounts received or to be received by the taxpayer as interest on all property so acquired from the taxpayer's affiliate, section 471 applies in respect of each such amount as if the property were such an indemnity.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 6 of section 80.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under the first or second paragraph before 20 December 2006.

1973, c. 17, s. 53; 2009, c. 5, s. 166.

CHAPTER VI

SPECIAL RULES

1972, c. 23; 1996, c. 39, s. 134.

DIVISION I

OUTSTANDING DEBTS

1996, c. 39, s. 135.

480. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 380; 1996, c. 39, s. 136.

481. (1) The following rules apply where a debt in respect of a deductible expense of a taxpayer to a person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length when the debt was incurred and at the end of the second taxation year following that in which the debt was incurred, is unpaid in whole or in part at the end of such second taxation year:

(a) the unpaid amount must be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the third taxation year following that in which the debt was incurred; or

(b) where the taxpayer and that person file an agreement in prescribed form on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for that third year,

i. the unpaid amount is deemed to have been paid by the taxpayer and received by that person on the first day of that third taxation year and section 1015 is applicable to the extent that it would apply if such amount were actually paid; and

ii. that person is deemed to have made a loan to the taxpayer on the first day of that third taxation year, equal to the unpaid amount minus the amount deducted or withheld therefrom by the taxpayer on account of the tax payable by that person for that third taxation year.

(2) However, where the taxpayer is a corporation, the amount is unpaid upon the winding-up of such corporation and the latter is wound up before the end of the second taxation year following the year in which the debt was incurred, the amount so unpaid must be included in computing the corporation's income for the taxation year in which it is wound up.

482. Where an amount in respect of a taxpayer's expense that is a pension benefit, a retiring allowance, salary, wages or other remuneration in respect of an office or employment is unpaid on the day that is 180 days after the end of the taxation year in which the expense was incurred, for the purposes of this Part other than this section, the amount is deemed not to have been incurred as an expense in the year and is deemed to be incurred as an expense in the taxation year in which the amount is paid.

However, the first paragraph does not apply in respect of

(a) reasonable vacation or holiday pay;

(b) a deferred amount under a salary deferral arrangement; or

(c) a salary, wages or other remuneration in respect of an office or employment where that expense of the taxpayer is taken into account for the purpose of determining, for a taxation year, the amount that the taxpayer may deduct in computing tax payable under Title III.4 or III.5 of Book V or that the taxpayer is deemed to have paid to the Minister on account of tax payable under Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX.

483. For the purposes of section 481 where the agreement contemplated in paragraph b of subsection 1 of the said section is filed after the time limit fixed therein, paragraphs a and b of subsection 1 of the said section both apply in respect of the unpaid amount except that only 25% of the amount unpaid must be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the purposes of paragraph a of subsection 1 of the said section.

483.1. Subsection 1 of section 481 does not apply to any case to which section 482 applies.

1988, c. 18, s. 47.

DIVISION I.1

TRANSFER OF ASSUMPTION OF AN OBLIGATION IN RELATION TO A BUSINESS CARRIED ON IN CANADA

2004, c. 8, s. 98.

483.2. Where, at any time, an obligation of a taxpayer not resident in Canada that is denominated in a foreign currency, other than an obligation in respect of which the taxpayer ceased to be indebted at that time, ceases to be an obligation of the taxpayer in respect of a business or part of a business carried on by the taxpayer in Canada immediately before that time, for the purpose of determining the amount of any income, loss, capital gain or capital loss due to the fluctuation in the value of the foreign currency relative to Canadian currency, the taxpayer is deemed to have settled the obligation immediately before that time at the amount outstanding on account of its principal amount.

483.3. Where, at any time, an obligation of a taxpayer not resident in Canada that is denominated in a foreign currency, other than an obligation in respect of which the taxpayer became indebted at that time, becomes an obligation of the taxpayer in respect of a business or part of a business that the taxpayer carries on in Canada immediately after that time, the amount of any income, loss, capital gain or capital loss in respect of the obligation due to the fluctuation in the value of the foreign currency relative to Canadian currency shall be determined based on the amount of the obligation in Canadian currency at that time.

2004, c. 8, s. 98.

DIVISION II

SURRENDER OF PROPERTY

1996, c. 39, s. 137.

§ 1. — Interpretation

1996, c. 39, s. 137.

484. In this division,

"creditor" of a particular person includes a person to whom the particular person is obligated to pay an amount under a hypothecary claim, mortgage or similar obligation and, where property was sold to the particular person under a conditional sales agreement, the seller of the property, or any assignee of the obligation with respect to the agreement;

"debt" includes an obligation to pay an amount under a hypothecary claim, mortgage or similar obligation or under a conditional sales agreement;

"person" includes a partnership;

"property" does not include any sum of money, or debt owed by or guaranteed by the government of a country, or a province, state, or other political subdivision of that country;

"specified amount" at any time of a debt owed or assumed by a person means the unpaid principal amount of the debt at that time and unpaid interest accrued to that time on the debt.

§ 2. — Rules applicable to debtors

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

484.1. For the purposes of this subdivision, a property is surrendered at any time by a person to another person where the beneficial ownership of the property is acquired or reacquired at that time from the person by the other person and the acquisition or reacquisition of the property was in consequence of the person's failure to pay all or part of one or more specified amounts of a debt owed by the person to the other person immediately before that time.

484.2. Where a particular property is surrendered at any time by a person, in this section referred to as the "debtor", to a creditor of the debtor, the debtor's proceeds of disposition of the particular property is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

(A + B + C + D + E − F) × G / H.

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all specified amounts of debts of the debtor that are in respect of properties surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor and that are owing immediately before that time to the creditor;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a specified amount of a debt that is owed by the debtor immediately before that time to a person, other than the creditor, to the extent that the amount ceases to be owing by the debtor as a consequence of properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a specified amount of a particular debt that is owed by the debtor immediately before that time to a person, other than a specified amount included in the amount determined under subparagraph a or b as a consequence of properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor, where

i. any property surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor was security for

(1) the particular debt, and

(2) another debt that is owed by the debtor immediately before that time to the creditor, and

ii. the other debt is subordinate to the particular debt in respect of the property referred to in subparagraph i;

(d) D is

i. where a specified amount of a debt owed by the debtor immediately before that time to a person, other than the creditor, ceases, as a consequence of the surrender at that time of properties by the debtor to the creditor, to be secured by all properties owned by the debtor immediately before that time, the lesser of

(1) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is such a specified amount exceeds the portion of that aggregate included in any amount determined under subparagraph b or c as a consequence of properties being surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor, and

(2) the amount by which the total cost amount to the debtor of all properties surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor exceeds the amount that would, but for this subparagraph and subparagraph f, be determined under this section as a consequence of the surrender, and

ii. in any other case, nil;

(e) E is

i. where the property is surrendered at that time by the debtor in circumstances in which paragraph c of section 422 would, but for this section, apply and the fair market value of all properties surrendered at that time by the debtor to the creditor exceeds the amount that would, but for this subparagraph and subparagraph f, be determined under this section as a consequence of the surrender, that excess, and

ii. in any other case, nil;

(f) F is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the lesser of

i. the portion of a particular specified amount of a particular debt included in the amount determined under any of subparagraphs a to d in computing the debtor's proceeds of disposition of the particular property, and

ii. the aggregate of

(1) all amounts included under section 37 or 111 in computing the income of any person because the particular debt was settled, or deemed by section 485.25 to have been settled, at or before the end of the taxation year that includes that time,

(2) all amounts renounced under section 381, 406, 417 or 418.13, as it read in respect of the renunciation, by the debtor in respect of the particular debt,

(3) all amounts each of which is a forgiven amount, within the meaning assigned by section 485, in respect of the debt at a previous time that the particular debt was deemed by section 485.25 to have been settled,

(4) where the particular debt is an excluded obligation, within the meaning assigned by section 485, the particular specified amount, and

(5) the amount described in the third paragraph;

(g) G is the fair market value at that time of the particular property; and

(h) H is the fair market value at that time of all properties surrendered by the debtor to the creditor at that time.

The amount to which subparagraph 5 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph f of the second paragraph refers is the lesser of

(a) the unpaid interest accrued to that time on the particular debt; and

(b) the aggregate of

i. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts included because of sections 487.1 to 487.5.4 in computing the debtor's income for the taxation year that includes that time or for a preceding taxation year in respect of interest on the particular debt exceeds the aggregate of all amounts paid before that time on account of interest on the particular debt, and

ii. such portion of that unpaid interest as would, if it were paid, be included in the amount determined under subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 194 in respect of the debtor.

484.3. An amount paid at any time by a person as, on account or in lieu of payment of, or in satisfaction of, a specified amount of a debt that can reasonably be considered to have been included in the amount determined under subparagraph a, c or d of the second paragraph of section 484.2 in respect of a property surrendered before that time by the person is deemed to be a repayment of assistance, at that time in respect of the property, to which

(a) section 264.7 applies, where the property was capital property, other than depreciable property, of the person immediately before its surrender;

(b) paragraph o.1 of section 157 applies, where the cost of the property to the person was an incorporeal capital amount, within the meaning of section 106, as it read before being repealed, at the time the property was acquired;

(c) paragraph e of section 398 or paragraph d of section 411 or 418.5, as the case may be, applies, where the cost of the property to the person was a Canadian exploration expense, a Canadian development expense or a Canadian oil and gas property expense; or

(d) paragraph o of section 157 applies, in any other case.

484.4. Any amount included under section 37 or 111 in computing a person's income for a taxation year that can reasonably be considered to have been included in the amount determined under subparagraph a, c or d of the second paragraph of section 484.2 as a consequence of a property being surrendered before the year by the person is deemed to be a repayment by the person, immediately before the end of the year, of assistance to which section 484.3 applies.

484.5. Where a specified amount of a debt is included in the amount determined at any time under any of subparagraphs a to d of the second paragraph of section 484.2 in respect of a property surrendered at that time by a person to a creditor of the person, for the purpose of computing the person's income, no amount shall be considered to have been paid or repaid by the person as a consequence of the acquisition or reacquisition of the surrendered property by the creditor.

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

484.6. Where a debt is denominated in a foreign currency, any amount determined under any of subparagraphs a to d of the second paragraph of section 484.2 in respect of the debt shall be determined with reference to the relative value of that currency and Canadian currency at the time the debt was issued.

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

§ 3. — Rules applicable to creditors

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

484.7. For the purposes of this subdivision, "specified cost" to a person of a debt owing to the person means

(a) where the debt is capital property of the person, the adjusted cost base to the person of the capital property; and

(b) in any other case, the amount by which the cost amount to the person of the debt exceeds such portion of that cost amount as would be deductible in computing the person's income, otherwise than in respect of the principal amount of the debt, if the debt were established by the person to have become a bad debt.

484.8. For the purposes of this subdivision and subject to section 484.8.1, a property is seized at any time by a person in respect of a debt where the beneficial ownership of the property is acquired or reacquired at that time by the person and the acquisition or reacquisition of the property was in consequence of another person's failure to pay to the person all or part of the specified amount of the debt.

484.8.1. For the purposes of this subdivision, foreign resource property of an individual, a corporation or a partnership is deemed not to be seized at any time, where the individual, the corporation or at least one of the members of the partnership, as the case may be, is not resident in Canada at that time.

2004, c. 8, s. 100.

484.9. Where a property is seized at any time in a particular taxation year by a creditor in respect of a debt, for the purpose of computing the income of the creditor for the particular year,

(a) the amount deducted by the creditor on account of a reserve under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 or under subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279 for the preceding taxation year in respect of a disposition of the property before the particular year is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount so deducted exceeds the aggregate of all amounts determined under subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph of section 484.11 in respect of the seizure; and

(b) the amount deducted under section 153 in computing the income of the creditor for the preceding taxation year in respect of any disposition of the property before the particular year is deemed to be the amount by which the amount so deducted exceeds the aggregate of all amounts determined under subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph of section 484.11 in respect of the seizure.

484.10. Where a property is seized at any time in a taxation year by a creditor in respect of one or more debts and the property was capital property of the creditor that was disposed of by the creditor at a previous time in the year, the proceeds of disposition of the property to the creditor at the previous time are deemed to be the lesser of the amount of the proceeds, determined without reference to this section, and the amount that is the greater of

(a) the amount by which the amount of such proceeds, determined without reference to this section, exceeds such portion of the proceeds as is represented by the specified amounts of those debts immediately before that time; and

(b) the cost amount to the creditor of the property immediately before the previous time.

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

484.11. Where a particular property is seized at any time in a taxation year by a creditor in respect of one or more debts, the cost to the creditor of the particular property is deemed to be the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the amount described in the second paragraph:

(a) that proportion of the total specified costs immediately before that time to the creditor of those debts that the fair market value of the particular property immediately before that time is of the fair market value of all properties immediately before that time that were seized by the creditor at that time in respect of those debts; and

(b) all amounts each of which is an outlay or expense made or incurred, or a specified amount at that time of a debt that is assumed, by the creditor at or before that time to protect the creditor's interest in the particular property, except to the extent the outlay, expense or specified amount, as the case may be,

i. was included in the cost to the creditor of property other than the particular property,

ii. was included before that time in computing, for the purposes of this Part, any balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts of the creditor, or

iii. was deductible in computing the creditor's income for the year or a preceding taxation year.

The amount to which the first paragraph refers is the amount deducted or claimed as a deduction under section 153, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 or subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 279, as the case may be, in respect of the particular property in computing the creditor's income or capital gain for the preceding taxation year or the amount by which the proceeds of disposition of the creditor of the particular property are reduced because of section 484.10 in respect of a disposition of the particular property by the creditor occurring before that time and in the year.

484.12. Where a property is seized at any time in a taxation year by a creditor in respect of a particular debt,

(a) the creditor is deemed to have disposed of the particular debt at that time;

(b) the amount received as consideration for the particular debt as a consequence of the seizure is deemed to be received at that time and to be equal to

i. where the particular debt is capital property, the adjusted cost base to the creditor of the particular debt, and

ii. in any other case, the cost amount to the creditor of the particular debt;

(c) where any portion of the particular debt is outstanding immediately after that time, the creditor is deemed to have reacquired that portion immediately after that time at a cost equal to

i. where the particular debt is capital property, zero, and

ii. in any other case, the amount by which the cost amount to the creditor of the particular debt exceeds the specified cost to the creditor of the particular debt; and

(d) where no portion of the particular debt is outstanding immediately after that time and the particular debt is not capital property, the creditor may deduct as a bad debt in computing the creditor's income for the year the amount described in subparagraph ii of paragraph c in respect of the seizure.

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

484.13. Where a property is seized at any time in a taxation year by a creditor in respect of a debt, no amount in respect of the debt

(a) is deductible in computing the creditor's income for the year or a subsequent taxation year as a bad, doubtful or impaired debt; or

(b) shall be included after that time in computing, for the purposes of this Part, any balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts of the creditor as a bad, doubtful or impaired debt.

1996, c. 39, s. 139; 2001, c. 7, s. 48; 2001, c. 53, s. 72.

DIVISION III

DEBT FORGIVENESS

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

§ 1. — Interpretation and miscellaneous provisions

1996, c. 39, s. 139.

485. In this division,

"commercial debt obligation" means a debt obligation issued by a debtor and, where interest was paid or payable by the debtor in respect of it pursuant to a legal obligation, or if interest had been paid or payable by the debtor in respect of it pursuant to a legal obligation, in respect of which an amount in respect of the interest was or would have been deductible in computing the debtor's income, taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, if this Part were read without reference to sections 119.4, 119.17, 135.4, 164, 166, 169 and 180 to 182;

"commercial obligation" issued by a debtor means a commercial debt obligation issued by the debtor, or a distress preferred share issued by the debtor;

"debtor" includes any corporation that has issued a distress preferred share and any partnership;

"directed person" at any time in respect of a debtor means

(a) a taxable Canadian corporation or an eligible Canadian partnership by which the debtor is controlled at that time; or

(b) a taxable Canadian corporation or an eligible Canadian partnership that is controlled at that time by

i. the debtor,

ii. the debtor and one or more persons related to the debtor, or

iii. a person or group of persons by which the debtor is controlled at that time;

"distress preferred share" at any time means a share issued after 21 February 1994, other than a share issued pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into on or before that date, by a corporation that is a share described in section 21.6.1 that would, but for paragraphs c and e of section 21.6, be a term preferred share at that time;

"eligible Canadian partnership" at any time means a Canadian partnership none of the members of which is, at that time,

(a) an investment corporation owned by persons not resident in Canada;

(b) a person exempt, pursuant to Book VIII, from tax under this Part on all or part of the person's taxable income;

(c) a partnership, other than an eligible Canadian partnership; or

(d) a trust, other than a trust in which no person not resident in Canada and no person described in any of paragraphs a to c is beneficially interested;

"eligible transferee" of a debtor at any time is a directed person at that time in respect of the debtor or a taxable Canadian corporation or eligible Canadian partnership related, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, at that time to the debtor;

"excluded obligation" means an obligation issued by a debtor where

(a) the amount for which the obligation was issued

i. were included in computing the debtor's income or, but for the expression ", other than a prescribed amount," in paragraph w of section 87, would have been so included,

ii. were deducted in computing, for the purposes of this Part, any balance of undeducted outlays, expenses or other amounts, or

iii. were deducted in computing the capital cost or cost amount to the debtor of any property of the debtor;

(b) an amount paid by the debtor in satisfaction of the entire principal amount of the obligation is included in the amount determined under subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 194 or section 198 in respect of the debtor;

(c) sections 481 to 483.1 apply to the obligation;

(d) the principal amount of the obligation would, if this Act were read without reference to sections 484 to 485.18 and the obligation were settled without any amount being paid in satisfaction of its principal amount, be included in computing the debtor's income because of the settlement of the obligation; or

(e) remittance of the principal amount of the obligation is made in accordance with the first paragraph of section 39 of the residential renovation incentive program implemented by the Société d'habitation du Québec pursuant to Order in Council 153-94 dated 19 January 1994;

"excluded property" means property of a debtor who is not resident in Canada that is tax-agreement-protected property or that is not taxable Canadian property;

"excluded security" issued by a corporation to a person as consideration for the settlement of a debt means

(a) a distress preferred share issued by the corporation to the person; or

(b) a share issued by the corporation to the person under the terms of the debt, where the debt was a bond, debenture or note listed on a designated stock exchange located in Canada and the terms for its conversion to a share were not established or substantially modified after the later of 22 February 1994 and the time that the bond, debenture or note was issued;

"forgiven amount" at any time in respect of a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is the amount by which the lesser of the amount for which the obligation was issued and the principal amount of the obligation exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation;

(b) the amount included under section 37 or 111 in computing the income of any person because of the settlement of the obligation at that time;

(c) the amount deducted at that time under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 175.1.3 in computing the forgiven amount in respect of the obligation;

(d) the capital gain of the debtor resulting from the application of section 263 to the purchase at that time of the obligation by the debtor;

(e) such portion of the principal amount of the obligation as relates to an amount renounced under section 381, 406, 417 or 418.13, as it read in respect of the renunciation, by the debtor;

(f) any portion of the principal amount of the obligation that is included in the amount determined in any of subparagraphs a to d of the second paragraph of section 484.2 in respect of the debtor for the taxation year of the debtor that includes that time or for a preceding taxation year;

(g) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a forgiven amount at a previous time that the obligation was deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to have been settled;

(h) such portion of the principal amount of the obligation as can reasonably be considered to have been included under sections 487.1 to 487.5.4 in computing the debtor's income for his taxation year that includes that time or for a preceding taxation year;

(i) where the debtor is a bankrupt at that time, the principal amount of the obligation;

(j) such portion of the principal amount of the obligation as represents the principal amount of an excluded obligation;

(k) where the debtor is a partnership and the obligation was, since the later of the creation of the partnership or the issue of the obligation, always payable to a member of the partnership actively engaged, on a regular, continuous and substantial basis, in the activities of the partnership that are other than the financing of the partnership business, the principal amount of the obligation; and

(l) the amount given at or before that time by the debtor to another person as consideration for the assumption by the other person of the obligation;

"person" includes a partnership;

"relevant loss balance" at a particular time for a commercial obligation and in respect of a debtor's non-capital loss, farm loss, restricted farm loss or net capital loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year means, subject to section 485.2, the amount of such loss that would be deductible in computing the debtor's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, for the taxation year that includes that time if

(a) the debtor had sufficient incomes and sufficient taxable capital gains for such purposes;

(b) sections 485.4 and 485.5 did not apply to reduce such loss at or after the particular time; and

(c) subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 736 and sections 736.0.1 and 736.0.1.1 did not apply to the debtor;

"specified cost" of a debt owing to a person at any time means

(a) where the debt is capital property of the person at that time, the adjusted cost base to the person of the debt at that time; and

(b) in any other case, the indicated cost amount to the person;

"successor pool" at any time for a commercial obligation and in respect of an amount determined in relation to a debtor means, subject to section 485.1, such portion of that amount as would be deductible under section 418.17, 418.17.3, 418.18, 418.19 or 418.21 in computing the debtor's income for the taxation year that includes that time, if

(a) the debtor had sufficient incomes for such purposes;

(b) section 485.8 did not apply to reduce the particular amount so determined at that time;

(c) the taxation year ended immediately after that time; and

(d) the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 and the first paragraph of section 418.20 were read without reference to "30% of" wherever it appears and the second paragraph of section 418.21 were read without reference to "10% of";

"unrecognized loss" at a particular time, in respect of an obligation issued by a debtor, from the disposition of a property means the amount that would, but for section 240, be a capital loss from the disposition by the debtor at or before the particular time of a debt or other right to receive an amount, except that where the debtor is a taxpayer that was subject to a loss restriction event before the particular time and after the time of the disposition, the unrecognized loss at the particular time in respect of the obligation is deemed to be nil unless

(a) the obligation was issued by the debtor before, and not in contemplation of, the loss restriction event; or

(b) all or substantially all of the amount for which the obligation was issued was used to satisfy the principal amount of another obligation to which paragraph a or this paragraph would apply if the other obligation were still outstanding.

485.1. Notwithstanding the definition of "successor pool" in section 485, the successor pool at any time for a commercial obligation in respect of a specified amount in relation to a debtor is deemed to be nil unless

(a) the obligation was issued by the debtor before, and not in contemplation of, the event described in paragraph a of section 485.8 that gives rise to the deductibility under any of sections 418.17, 418.17.3, 418.18, 418.19 and 418.21, as the case may be, of all or part of that amount in computing the debtor's income; or

(b) all or substantially all of the amount for which the obligation was issued was used to satisfy the principal amount of another obligation to which paragraph a or this paragraph would apply if the other obligation were still outstanding.

485.2. Despite the definition of "relevant loss balance" in section 485, the relevant loss balance at a particular time for a commercial obligation and in respect of a debtor's non-capital loss, farm loss, restricted farm loss or net capital loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year is deemed to be nil where the debtor is a taxpayer that was at a previous time subject to a loss restriction event and the taxation year ended before the previous time, unless

(a) the obligation was issued by the debtor before, and not in contemplation of, the loss restriction event; or

(b) all or substantially all of the amount for which the obligation was issued was used to satisfy the principal amount of another obligation to which paragraph a or this paragraph would apply if the other obligation were still outstanding.

485.3. For the purposes of this subdivision and subdivision 2,

(a) an obligation issued by a debtor is settled at a particular time where the obligation is settled or extinguished at that time, otherwise than by way of a succession or will or as consideration for the issue of a share described in paragraph b of the definition of "excluded security" in section 485;

(b) an amount of interest payable by a debtor in respect of an obligation issued by the debtor is deemed to be an obligation that was issued by the debtor for an amount, and that has a principal amount, equal to the portion of the amount of such interest that was deductible or would, but for sections 135.4, 164 and 180 to 182, have been deductible in computing the debtor's income for a taxation year;

(c) sections 485.4 to 485.6 and 485.8 to 485.13 apply in numerical order to the forgiven amount in respect of a commercial obligation;

(d) the applicable fraction of the unapplied portion of a forgiven amount at any time in respect of an obligation issued by a debtor is in respect of a loss for a taxation year, the fraction required to be used under the first paragraph of section 231 for that year;

(e) where an applicable fraction, as determined under subparagraph d, of the unapplied portion of a forgiven amount is at any time applied under section 485.5 to reduce a loss for a taxation year, the portion of the forgiven amount so applied is, except for the purpose of reducing the loss, deemed to be the quotient obtained when the amount of the reduction under that section 485.5 is divided by the applicable fraction;

(f) (paragraph repealed);

(g) where a share, other than an excluded security, is issued by a corporation to a person as consideration for the settlement of a debt issued by the corporation and payable to the person, the amount paid in satisfaction of the debt as a consequence of the issue of the share is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the share at the time it was issued;

(h) where a debt issued by a corporation and payable to a person is settled at any time, the amount that can reasonably be considered to be the increase, as a consequence of the settlement of the debt, in the fair market value of the shares of the capital stock of the corporation owned by the person, other than shares acquired by the person as consideration for the settlement of the debt, is deemed to be paid at that time in satisfaction of the debt;

(i) where the consideration given by a debtor to another person for the settlement at any time of a particular commercial debt obligation issued by the debtor and payable to the other person includes a new commercial debt obligation issued by the debtor to the other person

i. an amount equal to the principal amount of the new obligation is deemed to have been paid by the debtor at that time, because of the issue of the new obligation, in satisfaction of the principal amount of the particular obligation, and

ii. the new obligation is deemed to have been issued for an amount equal to the amount by which the principal amount of the new obligation exceeds the amount by which the principal amount of the new obligation exceeds the amount for which the particular obligation was issued;

(j) where two or more commercial obligations issued by a debtor are settled at the same time, those obligations shall be treated as if they were settled at different times in the order designated by the debtor in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the debtor's taxation year that includes the time of the settlement or, if the debtor does not so designate any such order, in the order designated by the Minister;

(k) for the purpose of determining, at any time, whether two persons are related to each other or whether any person is controlled by any other person, the following rules apply:

i. each partnership and each trust is deemed to be a corporation having a capital stock of a single class of voting shares divided into 100 issued shares,

ii. each member of a partnership and each beneficiary under a trust is deemed to own at that time the number of issued shares of that class that is equal to the proportion of 100 that the fair market value at that time of the member's interest in the partnership or the beneficiary's interest in the trust, as the case may be, is of the fair market value at that time of all members' interests in the partnership or all beneficiaries' interests in the trust, as the case may be, and

iii. where a beneficiary's share of the income or capital of a trust depends on the exercise by any person of, or the failure by any person to exercise, a power to appoint, the fair market value at any time of the beneficiary's interest in the trust is equal to

(1) where the beneficiary is not entitled to receive or otherwise obtain the use of all or part of the income or capital of the trust before the death after that time of one or more other beneficiaries under the trust, nil, and

(2) in any other case, the fair market value at that time of all beneficiaries' interests in the trust;

(l) where an obligation is denominated in a foreign currency, the forgiven amount at any time in respect of the obligation shall be determined with reference to the relative value of that currency and Canadian currency at the time the obligation was issued;

(m) where an amount is paid in satisfaction of the principal amount of a particular commercial obligation issued by a debtor and, as a consequence of the payment, the debtor is legally obliged to pay that amount to another person, the obligation to pay that amount to the other person is deemed to be a commercial obligation that was issued by the debtor at the same time and in the same circumstances as the particular obligation;

(n) the amount that can be applied because of sections 485 to 485.18 to reduce another amount may not exceed that other amount;

(o) except for the purposes of this paragraph, where a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the debtor is at that time a member of a partnership, and the obligation was, under the agreement governing the obligation, considered immediately before that time as a debt owed by the partnership, the obligation is deemed to have been issued by the partnership and not by the debtor;

(p) notwithstanding subparagraph o, where a commercial debt obligation for which a particular person is solidarily liable with one or more other persons is settled at any time in respect of the particular person but not in respect of all of the other persons, the portion of the obligation that can reasonably be considered to be the particular person's share of the obligation is deemed to have been issued by the particular person and settled at that time and not at any subsequent time;

(q) a commercial debt obligation issued by an individual that is outstanding at the time of the individual's death and settled at a time subsequent to the death is, if the succession of the individual was liable for the obligation immediately before the subsequent time, deemed to have been issued by the succession at the same time at which, and in the same circumstances in which, the obligation was issued by the individual; and

(r) where a commercial debt obligation issued by an individual would, but for this paragraph, be settled at any time in the period ending six months after the death of an individual, or within such longer period as is acceptable to the Minister and the succession of the individual, and the succession of the individual was liable immediately before that time for the obligation, the following rules apply, subject to the second paragraph:

i. the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the beginning of the day on which the individual died and not at that time,

ii. any amount paid at that time by the succession in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation is deemed to have been paid at the beginning of the day on which the individual died,

iii. any amount given by the succession at or before that time to another person as consideration for assumption by the other person of the obligation is deemed to have been given at the beginning of the day on which the individual died, and

iv. subparagraph b shall not apply in respect of the settlement to interest that accrues within that period.

Subparagraph r of the first paragraph does not apply in circumstances in which any amount is, because of the settlement of the commercial debt obligation referred to in that subparagraph, included under section 37 or 111 in computing the income of any person, or in which sections 484 to 484.6 apply in respect of that obligation.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.4. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied to reduce at that time, in the following order,

(a) the debtor's non-capital loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the amount, in section 485.5 referred to as the debtor's "ordinary non-capital loss at that time for the year", that would be the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor's non-capital loss for the year if subparagraph iii of paragraph a of section 728.0.1 were read without reference to "the taxpayer's allowable business investment losses for the year,", and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor's non-capital loss for a preceding taxation year;

(b) the debtor's farm loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor's farm loss for the year, and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor's farm loss for a preceding taxation year; and

(c) the debtor's restricted farm loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor's restricted farm loss for the year, and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor's restricted farm loss for a preceding taxation year.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 2006, c. 36, s. 42.

485.5. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the applicable fraction of the remaining unapplied portion of a forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied to reduce at that time, in the following order,

(a) the debtor's non-capital loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the amount by which the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor's non-capital loss for the year exceeds the debtor's ordinary non-capital loss, within the meaning assigned by subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 485.4, at that time for the year, and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor's non-capital loss for a preceding taxation year; and

(b) the debtor's net capital loss for each taxation year that ended before that time, to the extent that the amount so applied

i. does not exceed the relevant loss balance at that time for the obligation and in respect of the debtor's net capital loss for the year, and

ii. does not, because of this section, reduce the debtor's net capital loss for a preceding taxation year.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.6. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied, subject to the second paragraph, in such manner as is designated by the debtor in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year that includes that time, to reduce immediately after that time the following amounts:

(a) the capital cost to the debtor of a depreciable property that is owned by the debtor immediately after that time; and

(b) the undepreciated capital cost to the debtor of depreciable property of a prescribed class immediately after that time.

The remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of a commercial obligation at the time of settlement of the obligation may be applied to reduce, immediately after that time, the capital cost to the debtor of a depreciable property only to the extent that

(a) in the case of a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the undepreciated capital cost to the debtor of depreciable property of that class at that time exceeds the aggregate of all other reductions immediately after that time to that undepreciated capital cost; and

(b) in the case of a depreciable property other than a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the capital cost to the debtor of the property at that time exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount allowed to the debtor before that time in respect of the property

i. in accordance with the method authorized under Part XVII of the regulations made under the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1952, c. 148), as it read on 31 December 1971, followed by the debtor under the Corporation Tax Act (R.S.Q. 1964, c. 67) or the Provincial Income Tax Act (R.S.Q. 1964, c. 69);

ii. under section 130R223 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1).

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 2009, c. 15, s. 89.

485.7. (Repealed).

485.8. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at the time of settlement of the obligation in respect of the obligation shall be applied, to the extent designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year that includes that time, to reduce immediately after that time the following amounts:

(a) where the debtor is a corporation resident in Canada throughout that year, each particular amount determined in respect of the debtor under the second paragraph of any of sections 418.17, 418.18 and 418.19, or that would be so determined under the second paragraph of section 418.17.3 or 418.21 if that second paragraph were read without reference to "30% of" or "10% of", as the case may be, as a consequence of the acquisition of control of the debtor by a person or group of persons, the debtor ceasing to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income or the acquisition of properties by the debtor as a result of an amalgamation or merger, where the amount so applied does not exceed the successor pool immediately after that time for the obligation and in respect of the particular amount;

(b) the cumulative Canadian exploration expense, within the meaning assigned by section 398, of the debtor;

(c) the cumulative Canadian development expense, within the meaning assigned by section 411, of the debtor;

(d) the cumulative Canadian oil and gas property expense, within the meaning assigned by section 418.5, of the debtor;

(e) the amount determined under paragraph a of section 371 in respect of the debtor, where

i. the debtor is resident in Canada throughout that year, and

ii. the amount so applied does not exceed such portion of the aggregate of the debtor's foreign exploration and development expenses as were incurred by the debtor before that time and would be deductible under section 371 in computing the debtor's income for that year if the aggregate determined in respect of the debtor under paragraph b of section 374 were sufficient and if that year ended at that time; and

(f) the cumulative foreign resource expense of the debtor, in relation to a country, within the meaning of section 418.1.3.

485.9. Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 and 485.8 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the following rules apply:

(a) the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be applied, to the extent designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year that includes that time, to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of capital properties, other than shares of the capital stock of corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time, debts issued by corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time, interests in partnerships that are related to the debtor at that time, depreciable property that is not of a prescribed class, personal-use properties and excluded properties, that are owned by the debtor immediately after that time;

(b) an amount may be applied under this section to reduce, immediately after that time, the capital cost to the debtor of a depreciable property of a prescribed class only to the extent that the capital cost immediately after that time to the debtor of the property, determined without reference to the settlement of the obligation at that time, exceeds the capital cost of the property immediately after that time to the debtor for the purposes of sections 64, 78.4, 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, determined without reference to the settlement of the obligation at that time; and

(c) for the purposes of sections 64, 78.4, 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, no amount shall be considered to have been applied under this section.

485.10. Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6, 485.8 and 485.9 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of the obligation is to be applied (to the extent that it is designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the year) to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of capital properties, owned by the debtor immediately after that time, that are shares of the capital stock of corporations of which the debtor is a specified shareholder at that time and debts issued by such corporations, other than shares of the capital stock of corporations related to the debtor at that time, debts issued by corporations related to the debtor at that time and excluded properties.

485.11. Subject to section 485.18, where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 and 485.8 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount in respect of the obligation is to be applied (to the extent that it is designated in a prescribed form filed with the debtor's fiscal return under this Part for the year) to reduce immediately after that time the adjusted cost bases to the debtor of

(a) shares or debts that are capital properties, other than excluded properties and properties the adjusted cost bases of which are reduced at that time under section 485.9 or 485.10, owned by the debtor immediately after that time; and

(b) interests in partnerships that are related to the debtor at that time that are capital properties, other than excluded properties, owned by the debtor immediately after that time.

485.12. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor (other than a partnership) is settled at any time in a taxation year and amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6, 485.8 and 485.9 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the following rules apply:

(a) the debtor is deemed to have a capital gain for the year from the disposition of capital property or, where the debtor is an individual not resident in Canada at the end of the year, of taxable Canadian property, equal to the lesser of

i. the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of the debtor's capital losses from the dispositions of properties, other than precious property and excluded properties, and, subject to the second paragraph, twice the amount that would, because of sections 564.2 to 564.4 and 564.4.4, be deductible under section 729 in computing the debtor's taxable income for the year, if the debtor had sufficient incomes and taxable capital gains for the year for such purposes, exceeds the aggregate of the debtor's capital gains for the year from the dispositions of such properties, determined without reference to this section, and the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an amount deemed by this section to be a capital gain of the debtor for the year as a consequence of the application of this section to another commercial obligation settled before that time; and

(b) the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation shall be considered to have been applied under this section to the extent of the amount deemed by this section to be a capital gain of the debtor for the year as a consequence of the application of this section to the settlement of the obligation at that time.

However, where the taxation year of the debtor includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the reference to "twice" in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the debtor for the year.

485.13. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year, there shall be added, in computing the debtor's income for the year from the source in connection with which the obligation was issued, the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B - C - D) \times E.$$

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the remaining unapplied portion of the forgiven amount at that time in respect of the obligation;

(b) B is the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts designated under section 485.11 by the debtor in respect of the settlement of the obligation at that time, and

ii. the residual balance at that time in respect of the settlement of the obligation;

(c) C is the aggregate of the amounts each of which is an amount specified in an agreement filed under subdivision 6 in respect of the settlement of the obligation at that time;

(d) D is

i. where the debtor has designated amounts under sections 485.6 and 485.8 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the obligation, the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an unrecognized loss at that time, in respect of the obligation, from the disposition of a property exceeds, subject to the third paragraph, twice the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount by which the amount determined before that time under this section in respect of a settlement of an obligation issued by the debtor has been reduced because of an amount determined under this subparagraph i, and

ii. in any other case, zero, and

(e) E is equal to

i. where the debtor is a partnership, 1, and

ii. in any other case, subject to the third paragraph, 1/2.

However, where the taxation year of the debtor includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the following rules apply:

(a) the reference to the word "twice" in subparagraph i of subparagraph d of the second paragraph shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the debtor for the year; and

(b) the reference to the fraction "1/2" in subparagraph ii of subparagraph e of the second paragraph shall be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the debtor for the year.

485.14. For the purposes of section 485.13, the residual balance at any time in a taxation year in respect of the settlement of a particular commercial obligation issued by a debtor is the amount by which the gross tax attributes of directed persons at that time in respect of the debtor exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amount determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 485.13 in respect of the settlement of the particular obligation at that time;

(b) all amounts each of which is

i. the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 485.13 in respect of a settlement before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph c of the second paragraph of that section in respect of the settlement,

ii. the amount determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 485.13 in respect of a settlement of a commercial obligation that is deemed under paragraph a of section 485.42 to have been issued by a directed person in respect of the debtor because of the filing of an agreement in accordance with sections 485.42 to 485.52 in respect of a settlement before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor, or

iii. the amount specified in an agreement, other than an agreement with a directed person in respect of the debtor, filed in accordance with sections 485.42 to 485.52 in respect of the settlement before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor; and

(c) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a settlement at a particular time before that time and in the year of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor equal to the least of

i. the aggregate of all amounts designated under section 485.11 in respect of the settlement,

ii. the residual balance of the debtor at the particular time, and

iii. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts determined under subparagraphs a and b of the second paragraph of section 485.13 in respect of the settlement exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph c of the second paragraph of that section in respect of the settlement.

485.14.1. For the purposes of section 485.14, the gross tax attributes of directed persons at a particular time in respect of a debtor means the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would be applied under any of sections 485.4 to 485.10 and 485.12 in respect of a settlement of a separate commercial obligation, in this section referred to as a "notional obligation", issued by directed persons at that time in respect of the debtor if the following assumptions were made:

(a) a notional obligation was issued immediately before the particular time by each of those directed persons and was settled at the particular time;

(b) the forgiven amount at the particular time in respect of each of those notional obligations was equal to the total of all amounts each of which is a forgiven amount at or before that time and in the year in respect of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor;

(c) amounts were designated under sections 485.6 and 485.8 to 485.10 by each of those directed persons to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of each of those notional obligations; and

(d) no amounts were designated under section 485.11 by any of those directed persons in respect of the settlement of any of the notional obligations.

485.15. Where a commercial debt obligation issued by a partnership, in this section referred to as the "partnership obligation", is settled at any time in a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in a taxation year of a member of the partnership,

(a) the member may deduct, in computing the member's income for the year, such amount as the member claims not exceeding the relevant limit in respect of the partnership obligation;

(b) for the purposes of paragraph a, the relevant limit in respect of the partnership obligation is the amount that would be included in computing the member's income for the year as a consequence of the application of sections 485.13 and 599 to 613.10 to the settlement of the partnership obligation if the partnership had designated amounts under sections 485.6 and 485.8 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of each obligation settled in that fiscal period and if income arising from the application of section 485.13 were from a source of income separate from any other sources of partnership income; and

(c) for the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18 and 485.42 to 485.52,

i. the member is deemed to have issued a commercial debt obligation that was settled at the end of that fiscal period,

ii. the amount deducted under paragraph a in respect of the partnership obligation in computing the member's income shall be treated as if it were the forgiven amount at the end of that fiscal period in respect of the obligation referred to in subparagraph i,

iii. subject to subparagraph iv, the obligation referred to in subparagraph i is deemed to have been issued at the same time at which, and in the same circumstances in which, the partnership obligation was issued,

iv. where the member is a taxpayer that was subject to a loss restriction event at a particular time that is before the end of that fiscal period and before the taxpayer became a member of the partnership, and the partnership obligation was issued before the particular time,

(1) subject to the application of this subparagraph iv to the taxpayer after the particular time and before the end of that fiscal period, the obligation referred to in subparagraph i is deemed to have been issued by the member after the particular time, and

(2) paragraph b of the definition of "unrecognized loss" in section 485 and paragraph b of sections 485.1 and 485.2 do not apply in respect of the loss restriction event, and

v. the source in connection with which the obligation referred to in subparagraph i was issued is deemed to be the source in connection with which the partnership obligation is issued.

485.16. Where a commercial obligation issued by a debtor is settled at any time in a taxation year and, as a consequence of the settlement of the obligation, an amount would, but for this section, be deducted under section 346.1 or 346.2 in computing the debtor's income for the year and the debtor has not designated amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.11 to the maximum extent possible in respect of the settlement of the obligation,

(a) the Minister may designate amounts under sections 485.6 to 485.11 to the extent that the debtor would have been permitted to designate those amounts under those sections; and

(b) the amounts designated by the Minister shall, except for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.11.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 109.

485.18. Where a commercial obligation issued by a partnership is settled at any time after 20 December 1994, the amount designated under any of sections 485.9 to 485.11 in respect of the settlement by the partnership to reduce the adjusted cost base of a capital property acquired by the partnership shall not exceed the amount by which the adjusted cost base at that time to the partnership of the property exceeds the fair market value at that time of the property.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

§ 3. — Deemed settlement of an obligation

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.19. For the purposes of this subdivision,

(a) notwithstanding section 485, "forgiven amount" in respect of an obligation has the meaning assigned by the second paragraph of section 37.0.1 or 111.1, as the case may be, where an amount would be included in computing a person's income under section 37 or 111 as a consequence of the settlement of the obligation if the obligation were settled without any payment being made in satisfaction of its principal amount;

(b) subparagraphs a, b, k, m and o of the first paragraph of section 485.3 apply; and

(c) a person is deemed to have a significant interest in a corporation at any time if the person owned at that time shares of the capital stock of the corporation

i. that would give the person 25% or more of the votes that could be cast under all circumstances at the annual meeting of shareholders of the corporation, or

ii. having a fair market value of 25% or more of the fair market value of all the issued shares of the corporation.

For the purposes of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, a person is deemed to own at any time each share of the capital stock of a corporation that is owned, otherwise than because of this paragraph, at that time by another person with whom the person does not deal at arm's length.

485.20. Where a commercial obligation or another obligation, in this section referred to as the "indebtedness", of a debtor that is a corporation to pay an amount to a creditor that is another corporation is settled on an amalgamation of the debtor and the creditor, the indebtedness is deemed to have been settled immediately before the time that is immediately before the amalgamation by a payment made by the debtor and received by the creditor of an amount that would be the creditor's cost amount of the indebtedness at that time if the definition of "cost amount" in section 1 were read without reference to paragraph e of that definition and if that cost amount included amounts added in computing the creditor's income in respect of the portion of the indebtedness representing unpaid interest, to the extent those amounts have not been deducted in computing the creditor's income as bad debts in respect of that unpaid interest.

485.21. Where there is a winding-up of a subsidiary to which sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply and a debt or other obligation, in this section referred to as the "subsidiary's obligation", of the subsidiary to pay an amount to the parent, or a debt or other obligation, in this section referred to as the "parent's obligation", of the parent to pay an amount to the subsidiary is, as a consequence of the winding-up, settled at a particular time without any payment of an amount or by the payment of an amount that is less than the principal amount of the subsidiary's obligation or the parent's obligation, as the case may be,

(a) if that payment is less than the amount that would be the cost amount to the subsidiary or parent of the subsidiary's obligation or the parent's obligation immediately before the particular time if the definition of "cost amount" in section 1 were read without reference to its paragraph e, and the parent makes a valid election under paragraph c of subsection 4 of section 80.01 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to the subsidiary's obligation or the parent's obligation, the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the subsidiary's obligation or the parent's obligation is deemed to be equal to the amount that would be the cost amount to the subsidiary or the parent, as the case may be, of the subsidiary's obligation or the parent's obligation immediately before that time if that definition of "cost amount" were read without reference to its paragraph e, and if that cost amount included amounts added in computing the subsidiary's income or the parent's income in respect of the portion of the indebtedness representing unpaid interest, to the extent that the subsidiary or the parent has not deducted any amount as bad debts in respect of that unpaid interest; and

(b) for the purpose of applying sections 485 to 485.18 to the subsidiary's obligation, where property is distributed at any time in circumstances to which the first paragraph of section 557 or section 558 applies and the subsidiary's obligation is settled as a consequence of the distribution, the subsidiary's obligation is deemed to have been settled immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the distribution and not at any later time.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph c of subsection 4 of section 80.01 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

485.22. Where there is a winding-up of a subsidiary to which sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply and, as a consequence of the winding-up, a distress preferred share issued by the subsidiary and owned by the parent, or a distress preferred share issued by the parent and owned by the subsidiary, is settled at any time without any payment of an amount or by the payment of an amount that is less than the principal amount of the share,

(a) where there was no payment or the payment was less than the adjusted cost base of the share to the parent or the subsidiary, as the case may be, immediately before that time, for the purpose of applying the provisions of this Part to the issuer of the share, an amount equal to the adjusted cost base to the parent or to the subsidiary, as the case may be, is deemed to be paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share; and

(b) for the purpose of applying sections 485 to 485.18 to the share, where property is distributed at any time in circumstances to which the first paragraph of section 557 or section 558 applies and the share is settled as a consequence of the distribution, the share is deemed to have been settled immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the distribution and not at any later time.

485.22.1. If a trust that is a SIFT wind-up entity is the only beneficiary under another trust (in this section referred to as the "subsidiary trust"), and a capital property that is a debt or other obligation (in this section referred to as the "subsidiary trust's obligation") of the subsidiary trust to pay an amount to the SIFT wind-up entity is, as a consequence of a distribution by the subsidiary trust that is a SIFT trust wind-up event, settled at a particular time without any payment or by the payment of an amount that is less than the principal amount of the subsidiary trust's obligation, the following rules apply:

(a) if the payment is less than the adjusted cost base to the SIFT wind-up entity of the subsidiary trust's obligation immediately before the particular time, and the SIFT wind-up entity makes a valid election under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of subsection 5.1 of section 80.01 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in relation to the subsidiary trust's obligation, the amount paid at the particular time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the subsidiary trust's obligation is deemed to be equal to the amount that would be the adjusted cost base to the SIFT wind-up entity of the subsidiary trust's obligation immediately before the particular time if that adjusted cost base included amounts added in computing the SIFT wind-up entity's income in respect of the portion of the indebtedness representing unpaid interest, to the extent that the SIFT wind-up entity has not deducted any amounts as bad debts in respect of that unpaid interest; and

(b) for the purpose of applying sections 485 to 485.18 to the subsidiary trust's obligation, the subsidiary trust's obligation is deemed to have been settled immediately before the time that is immediately before the distribution.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of subsection 5.1 of section 80.01 of the Income Tax Act.

2010, c. 25, s. 32.

485.23. For the purposes of section 485.24, "specified obligation" of a debtor at a particular time means an obligation issued by the debtor where

(a) at any previous time, other than a time before the last time the obligation became a parked obligation before the particular time,

i. a person who owned the obligation dealt at arm's length with the debtor and, where the debtor is a corporation, did not have a significant interest in the debtor, or

ii. the obligation was acquired by the holder of the obligation from another person who was, at the time of that acquisition, not related to the holder or related to the holder only because of paragraph b of section 20; or

(b) the obligation is deemed by section 299 to have been reacquired at the particular time.

485.24. For the purposes of this section and sections 485.23, 485.25 and 485.27,

(a) an obligation issued by a debtor is a parked obligation at any time where at that time

i. the obligation is a specified obligation of the debtor, and

ii. the holder of the obligation does not deal at arm's length with the debtor or, where the debtor is a corporation and the holder acquired the obligation after 12 July 1994, otherwise than pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into on or before that date, has a significant interest in the debtor; and

(b) an obligation that is, at any time, acquired or reacquired in circumstances to which subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 485.23 or paragraph b of that section applies is, if the obligation is a parked obligation immediately after that time, deemed to have become a parked obligation at that time.

485.25. Where at any particular time after 21 February 1994, a commercial debt obligation that was issued by a debtor becomes a parked obligation, otherwise than pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into before 22 February 1994, and the specified cost at the particular time to the holder of the obligation is less than 80% of the principal amount of the obligation, for the purpose of applying the provisions of this Part to the debtor,

(a) the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the particular time; and

(b) the forgiven amount at the particular time in respect of the obligation shall be determined as if the debtor had paid an amount at the particular time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation equal to that specified cost.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.26. Where at any particular time after 21 February 1994, a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor that is payable to a person other than a person with whom the debtor is related at that time becomes unenforceable in a competent court because of a statutory limitation period and the obligation would, but for this section, not have been settled or extinguished at the particular time, for the purpose of applying the provisions of this Part to the debtor, the obligation is deemed to have been settled at the particular time.

485.27. Where a commercial debt obligation issued by a debtor is first deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to have been settled at a particular time, at a subsequent time a payment is made by the debtor of an amount in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation and it cannot reasonably be considered that one of the reasons the obligation became a parked obligation or became unenforceable, as the case may be, before the subsequent time was to have this section apply to the payment, in computing the debtor's income for the taxation year, in this section referred to as the "subsequent year", that includes the subsequent time from the source in connection with which the obligation was issued, the debtor may deduct the amount determined, subject to the fourth paragraph, by the formula

$$0.5 (A - B) - C.$$

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the payment;

(b) B is the amount by which the principal amount of the obligation exceeds the aggregate of

i. all amounts each of which is a forgiven amount in respect of a particular portion of the obligation at any time in the period that began at the particular time referred to in the first paragraph and ended immediately before the subsequent time referred to therein, and at which a particular portion of the obligation is deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to be settled in respect of the particular portion, and

ii. all amounts paid in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation in the period referred to in subparagraph i; and

(c) C is the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in the third paragraph:

i. all amounts deducted by the debtor under section 346.2 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year,

ii. all amounts added by the debtor because of section 485.13 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year in respect of a settlement under section 485.25 or 485.26 in a period during which the debtor was exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income, and

iii. all amounts added by the debtor because of section 485.13 in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding taxation year in respect of a settlement under section 485.25 or 485.26 in a period during which the debtor, in the case of a corporation, had no establishment in Québec or, in the case of an individual, was not resident in Canada, other than any of those amounts added by the individual in computing his income, taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada as a consequence of the second paragraph of section 23 or section 26, as the case may be.

The aggregate to which subparagraph c of the second paragraph refers is the aggregate of

(a) the amount deducted by the debtor because of paragraph c.1 of section 225 in computing the aggregate, determined immediately after the subsequent year, of the amounts deductible under sections 222 to 224 by the debtor; and

(b) all amounts by which, because of subparagraph c of the second paragraph, the amount deductible by the debtor under this section in respect of a payment made by the debtor before the subsequent time referred to in the first paragraph in computing the debtor's income for the subsequent year or a preceding year has been reduced.

Where the taxation year that includes the particular time referred to in the first paragraph began before 18 October 2000, the formula in the first paragraph is to be read as if "0.5" were replaced by the fraction in the first paragraph of section 231 that, with reference to section 231.0.1, applies to the debtor for that year.

485.28. Where an obligation issued by a debtor is denominated in a foreign currency and the obligation is deemed by section 485.25 or 485.26 to have been settled, those sections do not apply for the purpose of determining any gain or loss of the debtor on the settlement that is attributable to a fluctuation in the value of the foreign currency relative to the value of Canadian currency.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

§ 4. — Distress preferred shares

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.29. For the purpose of applying this Part to an issuer of a distress preferred share,

(a) the principal amount, at any time, of the share is deemed to be the amount, determined at that time, for which the share was issued;

(b) the amount for which the share was issued is, at any time, deemed to be the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount paid before that time on a reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the share, except to the extent that the amount is deemed by sections 504 to 510.1 to have been paid as a dividend:

i. the amount for which the share was issued, determined without reference to this subparagraph, and

ii. all amounts by which the paid-up capital in respect of the share increased after the share was issued and before that time;

(c) the share is deemed to be settled at such time as it is redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the issuer; and

(d) a payment in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share means any payment made on a reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the share to the extent that the payment is proceeds of disposition of the share within the meaning that would be assigned by section 251 if that section were read without reference to "an amount deemed to be a dividend received under section 508 to the extent that it refers to a dividend deemed paid under sections 505 and 506, except the portion of that amount that is deemed to be included in the proceeds of disposition of the share under paragraph b of section 308.1 or deemed not to be a dividend under paragraph b of section 568.

485.30. Where the consideration given by a corporation to another person for the settlement or extinguishment at any time of a commercial debt obligation that was issued by the corporation and owned immediately before that time by the other person includes a distress preferred share issued by the corporation to the other person,

(a) for the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18, the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the obligation because of the issue of that share is deemed to be equal to the lesser of the principal amount of the obligation and the amount by which the paid-up capital in respect of the class of shares that includes that share increases because of the issue of that share; and

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 485.29, the amount for which the share was issued is deemed to be equal to the amount deemed by paragraph a to have been paid at that time.

485.31. Where the consideration given by a corporation to another person for the settlement at any time of a distress preferred share that was issued by the corporation and owned immediately before that time by the other person includes a commercial debt obligation issued by the corporation to the other person, sections 485 to 485.18 apply with reference to the following rules:

(a) the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share because of the issue of that obligation is deemed to be equal to the principal amount of the obligation; and

(b) the amount for which the obligation was issued is deemed to be equal to its principal amount.

485.32. Where the consideration given by a corporation to another person for the settlement at any time of a particular distress preferred share that was issued by the corporation and owned immediately before that time by the other person includes another distress preferred share issued by the corporation to the other person, sections 485 to 485.18 apply with reference to the following rules:

(a) the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the particular share because of the issue of the other share is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the paid-up capital in respect of the class of shares that includes the other share increases because of the issue of the other share; and

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 485.29, the amount for which the other share was issued is deemed to be equal to the amount deemed by paragraph a to have been paid at that time.

485.33. Where the consideration given by a corporation to another person for the settlement at any time of a distress preferred share that was issued by the corporation and owned immediately before that time by the other person includes another share, other than a distress preferred share, or an obligation, other than a commercial obligation, issued by the corporation to the other person, for the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18, the amount paid at that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the distress preferred share because of the issue of the other share or obligation is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the other share or obligation, as the case may be, at that time.

485.34. Where at any time a distress preferred share becomes a share that is not a distress preferred share, sections 485 to 485.18 apply with reference to the following rules:

(a) the share is deemed to have been settled immediately before that time; and

(b) a payment equal to the fair market value of the share at that time is deemed to have been made immediately before that time in satisfaction of the principal amount of the share.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

§ 5. — Subsequent dispositions

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.35. Where at any time in a taxation year a person surrenders a particular capital property, other than a distress preferred share, that is a share, an interest in a partnership or a capital interest in a trust, the person is deemed to have a capital gain from the disposition at that time of another capital property or, where the particular capital property is a taxable Canadian property, another taxable Canadian property, equal to the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph b.1 of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base to the person of the particular capital property immediately before that time exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amount that would, but for section 638, be the person's capital gain for the year from the disposition of the particular capital property; and

(b) where, at the end of the year, the person is resident in Canada or is a person not resident in Canada who carries on business in Canada through a fixed place of business, the amount designated under section 485.40 by the person in respect of the disposition, at that time or immediately after that time, of the particular capital property.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

485.36. For the purposes of section 485.35, a person shall be considered to have surrendered a property at any time only where

(a) in the case of a share of the capital stock of a particular corporation,

i. the person is a corporation that disposed of the share at that time and the proceeds of disposition of the share are determined under section 558, or

ii. the person is a corporation that owned the share at that time and, immediately after that time, amalgamates or merges with the particular corporation;

(b) in the case of a capital interest in a trust, the person disposed of the interest at that time and the proceeds of disposition are determined under subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 688; and

(c) in the case of an interest in a partnership, the person disposed of the interest at that time and the proceeds of disposition are determined under section 621 or 627.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 133.

485.37. (Repealed).

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 110.

485.38. (Repealed).

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 2000, c. 5, s. 110.

485.39. (Repealed).

485.40. For the purposes of sections 485 to 485.18 and 485.35, where at any time in a taxation year a person disposes of a property and the person designates an amount in a prescribed form filed with the person's fiscal return under this Part for the year, the following rules apply:

(a) the person is deemed to have issued a commercial debt obligation at that time that is settled immediately after that time;

(b) the lesser of the amount so designated and the amount that would, but for this section, be a capital gain determined in respect of the disposition because of section 485.35 shall be treated as if it were the forgiven amount at the time of the settlement in respect of the obligation referred to in paragraph a;

(c) the source in connection with which the obligation referred to in paragraph a was issued is deemed to be the business, if any, carried on by the person at the end of the year, and

(d) where the person does not carry on a business at the end of the year, the person is deemed to carry on an active business at the end of the year and the source in connection with which the obligation referred to in paragraph a was issued is deemed to be the business deemed by this paragraph to be carried on.

485.41. Where, as a consequence of the disposition at any time by an individual or a partnership of a property that is a qualified farm or fishing property of the individual, within the meaning assigned by section 726.6, a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, within the meaning assigned by section 726.6.1, or a resource property of the individual or partnership, within the meaning assigned by section 726.20.1, the individual or partnership is deemed by section 485.35 to have a capital gain at that time from the disposition of another property, for the purposes of sections 28, 462.7 to 462.10 and 727 to 737, as they apply for the purposes of sections 726.6 to 726.20.4, the other property is deemed to be a qualified farm or fishing property or a qualified small business corporation share, as the case may be, of the individual, or a resource property of the individual or partnership, as the case may be.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.42. Where a particular commercial obligation issued by a debtor, other than an obligation deemed by paragraph a to have been issued, is settled at a particular time, amounts have been designated by the debtor under sections 485.6 to 485.10 to the maximum extent permitted in respect of the settlement of the particular obligation at the particular time, the debtor and an eligible transferee of the debtor at the particular time file under this subdivision an agreement between them in respect of that settlement, and an amount is specified in that agreement, the following rules apply:

(a) except for the purposes of section 485.11, the transferee is deemed to have issued a commercial debt obligation that was settled at the particular time;

(b) the specified amount is deemed to be the forgiven amount at the particular time in respect of the obligation referred to in paragraph a;

(c) subject to paragraph d, the obligation referred to in paragraph a is deemed to have been issued at the same time, in paragraph d referred to as the "time of issue", at which, and in the same circumstances in which, the particular obligation was issued;

(d) where the transferee is a taxpayer that was subject to a loss restriction event after the time of issue and the transferee and the debtor were, if the transferee is a corporation, not related to each other—or, if the transferee is a trust, not affiliated with each other—immediately before the loss restriction event,

i. the commercial debt obligation referred to in paragraph a is deemed to have been issued after the loss restriction event, and

ii. paragraph b of the definition of "unrecognized loss" in section 485 and paragraph b of sections 485.1 and 485.2 do not apply in respect of the loss restriction event;

(e) the source in connection with which the obligation referred to in paragraph a was issued is deemed to be the source in connection with which the particular obligation was issued; and

(f) for the purposes of sections 346.2 to 346.4, the amount included under section 485.13 in computing the income of the eligible transferee in respect of the settlement of the obligation referred to in paragraph a or deducted under paragraph a of section 485.15 in respect of such income is deemed to be nil.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2017, c. 1, s. 124.

485.43. This subdivision applies with reference to subparagraphs a, b, k, m and o of the first paragraph of section 485.3.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.44. For the purposes of this Part, where property is acquired at any time by an eligible transferee as consideration for entering into an agreement with a debtor that is filed under this subdivision

(a) where the property was owned by the debtor immediately before that time,

i. the debtor is deemed to have disposed of the property at that time for proceeds equal to the fair market value of the property at that time, and

ii. no amount may be deducted by the debtor in computing the debtor's income as a consequence of the transfer of the property, except any amount arising as a consequence of the application of subparagraph i;

(b) the cost at which the property was acquired by the eligible transferee at that time is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the property at that time; and

(c) the eligible transferee is not required to add an amount in computing income solely because of the acquisition at that time of the property;

(d) (paragraph repealed).

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 2000, c. 5, s. 112.

485.44.1. For the purposes of this Part, where a debtor and an eligible transferee enter into an agreement that is filed in accordance with this subdivision, no benefit shall be considered to have been conferred on the debtor as a consequence of the agreement.

2000, c. 5, s. 113.

485.45. Subject to section 485.46, a particular agreement between a debtor and an eligible transferee in respect of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor that was settled at any time is deemed not to have been filed under this subdivision

(a) where it is not filed with the Minister in a prescribed form

i. on or before

(1) the debtor's filing-due date for the taxation year or fiscal period, as the case may be, that includes that time, or

(2) if it is later, the transferee's filing-due date for the taxation year or fiscal period, as the case may be, that includes that time, or

ii. on or before

(1) the expiry of the 90-day period commencing on the day of sending of the notice of assessment of tax payable under this Part or of a notification that no tax is payable under this Part, for a taxation year or fiscal period, as the case may be, described in subparagraph 1 or 2 of subparagraph i, or

(2) if it is later, where the debtor is an individual (other than a trust) or a succession that is a graduated rate estate, the day that is one year after the debtor's filing-due date for the year;

(b) where it is not accompanied by,

i. where the debtor is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made,

ii. where the debtor is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made,

iii. where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made, and

iv. where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made; or

(c) if an agreement amending the particular agreement has been filed in accordance with this subdivision, except where section 485.47 applies to the particular agreement.

485.46. Where a commercial obligation is settled at any time in a fiscal period of a partnership, it shall be assumed for the purposes of section 485.45 that

(a) the partnership is required to file a fiscal return under this Part for the fiscal period on or before the latest of the filing-due dates of the members of the partnership during the fiscal period for the taxation year in which that fiscal period ends; and

(b) the partnership may file a notice of objection described in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 485.45 within each period within which any member of the partnership during the fiscal period may file a notice of objection to tax payable under this Part for a taxation year in which that fiscal period ends.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 52; 2003, c. 9, s. 30; I.N. 2016-01-01 (NCCP).

485.47. Where at any time a corporation becomes related to another corporation and it can reasonably be considered that the main purpose of the corporation becoming related to the other corporation is to enable the corporations to file an agreement under this subdivision, the amount specified in the agreement is deemed to be nil for the purposes of subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 485.13.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

485.48. Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, the Minister shall under this Part assess or reassess the tax, interest and penalties payable by a taxpayer in order to take into account an agreement filed under this subdivision.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.49. Without affecting the liability of any person under any other provision of this Act, where a debtor and an eligible transferee file an agreement between them under this subdivision in respect of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor that was settled at any time, the debtor is, to the extent of 30% of the amount specified in the agreement, liable to pay

(a) where the transferee is a corporation, all taxes payable under this Part by it for taxation years that end in the period that begins at that time and ends four calendar years after that time;

(b) where the transferee is a partnership, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the tax payable under this Part by a person for a taxation year that begins or ends in the period referred to in paragraph a and that includes the end of a fiscal period of the partnership during which the person was a member of the partnership; and

(c) interest and penalties in respect of such taxes.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 114.

485.50. Where taxes, interest and penalties are payable under this Part by a person for a taxation year and those taxes, interest and penalties are payable by a debtor because of section 485.49, the debtor and the person are solidarily liable to pay those amounts.

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

485.51. Where a debtor and an eligible transferee file an agreement between them under this subdivision in respect of a commercial obligation issued by the debtor that was settled at a particular time,

(a) where the debtor is an individual or a corporation, the Minister may at any subsequent time assess the debtor in respect of taxes, interest and penalties for which the debtor is liable because of section 485.49; and

(b) where the debtor is a partnership, the Minister may at any subsequent time assess any person who has been a member of the partnership in respect of taxes, interest and penalties for which the partnership is liable because of section 485.49, to the extent that those amounts relate to taxation years of the transferee or, where the transferee is also a partnership, members of that partnership, that end at or after

i. where the person was not a member of the partnership at the particular time, the first subsequent time the person becomes a member of the partnership, and

ii. in any other case, the particular time.

The provisions of Book IX apply, with the necessary modifications, to the assessment made under the first paragraph as if the assessment had been made under Title II of that Book.

485.52. For the purposes of this section and paragraph b of sections 485.49 and 485.51, where a partnership is at any time a member of another partnership, each member of the partnership is deemed to be a member of the other partnership at that time.

1996, c. 39, s. 142; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

DIVISION IV

MISCELLANEOUS CASES

1996, c. 39, s. 142.

§ 1. — Reimbursement of royalties in relation to natural resources

2015, c. 24, s. 76.

486. For the application of this Part, except this section, to a taxation year that ends on or before 31 December 2006, where a taxpayer, under a contract, pays to another person a particular amount that may reasonably be considered to have been received by the other person as a reimbursement, contribution or allowance in respect of an amount paid or payable by the other person, the latter amount is included in computing the income of that other person under section 89 or is not deductible in computing the income of such other person because of section 144 and the taxpayer, at the time of payment of the particular amount, was resident in Canada or carrying on business in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed neither to have paid nor to have become obligated to pay the particular amount to the other person but to have paid an amount contemplated in section 144 equal to the particular amount;

(b) the other person is deemed neither to have received nor to have become entitled to receive the particular amount from the taxpayer.

486.1. Sections 486.2 to 486.11 apply if

(a) a taxpayer, under a contract, pays to another person (in this subdivision referred to as the "recipient") an amount (in this subdivision referred to as the "specified amount"), in a taxation year of the taxpayer that ends after 31 December 2006, that may reasonably be considered to be received by the recipient as a reimbursement of, or a contribution or an allowance in respect of, an amount (in this subdivision referred to as the "original amount") that is described in section 144 and was paid or is payable by the recipient, or that is, in respect of the recipient, an amount described in section 89;

(b) the original amount is paid or became payable or receivable in a taxation year or fiscal period of the recipient that begins before 1 January 2007; and

(c) the taxpayer is resident in Canada or carries on business in Canada when the specified amount is paid.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.2. Where the specified amount is paid by a taxpayer in a taxation year of the taxpayer that begins before 1 January 2008, the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9, is deemed to be an amount described in section 144 that is paid by the taxpayer.

The specified amount that is paid by a taxpayer in a taxation year of the taxpayer that begins after 31 December 2007 is deemed, for the purpose of applying this subdivision to the taxpayer, to be nil.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.3. For the purpose of applying section 144 for the taxpayer's taxation year in which the taxpayer pays a specified amount, the amount to which section 144 applies is to be determined as if,

(a) where the taxpayer was in existence at the time the original amount became receivable by a person referred to in section 90 or became payable to such a person, the specified amount had been paid by the taxpayer at that time; and

(b) in any other case, the taxpayer were in existence and had a calendar taxation year at the time the original amount became receivable by a person referred to in section 90 or became payable to such a person and the specified amount had been paid by the taxpayer at that time.

The first paragraph does not apply to a specified amount paid by a taxpayer if

(a) the recipient is a partnership;

(b) the original amount became receivable by a person referred to in section 90 or became payable to such a person in a particular fiscal period of the partnership;

(c) the taxpayer is a member of the partnership at the end of the particular fiscal period; and

(d) the taxpayer paid the specified amount before the end of the taxation year of the taxpayer in which the particular fiscal period ends.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.4. The recipient shall include, in computing the recipient's income for the taxation year or fiscal period in which the original amount was paid or became payable or receivable, the amount by which the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9, exceeds the portion of the original amount that is included because of section 89, or that is not deductible because of section 144, in computing the income of the recipient for the taxation year or fiscal period.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.5. For the purposes of section 486.4, the portion of the original amount that was included in computing the income of the recipient or that was not deductible in computing the income of the recipient is the amount that would be included in computing the income of the recipient under section 89 or that would not be deductible in computing the income of the recipient under section 144, if the original amount were equal to the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.6. The recipient shall include, in computing the recipient's income for its taxation year or fiscal period in which the original amount was paid or became payable or receivable, the amount by which the specified amount exceeds the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.7. Subject to sections 128 and 129, the taxpayer may deduct, in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxpayer's taxation year in which the specified amount was paid, the amount by which the specified amount exceeds the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.8. Except for the purposes of subparagraph iv.1 of paragraph i of section 255 and this subdivision, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed not to have paid, and not to be obligated to pay, the specified amount; and

(b) the recipient is deemed not to have received, and not to have become entitled to receive, the specified amount.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.9. The eligible portion of a specified amount means

(a) the specified amount if

i. the original amount is a tax imposed under a provincial law in relation to the production of

(1) petroleum, natural gas or other related hydrocarbons from a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas (other than a mineral resource) located in Canada, or from an oil or gas well located in Canada if the petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons are not, before extraction, owned by the State or the Crown in right of Canada or a province, other than Québec, or

(2) metals, minerals or coal from a mineral resource located in Canada if the metals, minerals or coal are not, before extraction, owned by the State or the Crown in right of Canada or a province, other than Québec,

ii. the specified amount does not exceed the taxpayer's share of the original amount, determined under section 486.10, or

iii. the original amount is a prescribed amount; or

(b) the taxpayer's share of the original amount, determined under section 486.10, in any other case.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.10. A taxpayer's share of an original amount in respect of a specified amount paid by the taxpayer to a recipient in respect of a property is the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount described in section 89 or 144 in respect of the property, which share may not exceed the total of

(a) the amount that is that proportion of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount described in section 89 or 144 in respect of the property that the taxpayer's share of production from the property payable to the taxpayer as a royalty, which royalty is computed without reference to the costs of exploration or production, is of the total production from the property; and

(b) the amount that is that proportion of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount described in section 89 or 144 in respect of the property (other than an amount which the recipient has received or is entitled to receive as a reimbursement, contribution or allowance in respect of a royalty described in paragraph a) that the taxpayer's share of the income from the property is of the total income from the property.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

486.11. For the purposes of Chapter III of Title XVI of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1), an original amount in respect of which a specified amount is received is deemed, for the taxation year in which the original amount is paid or became payable or receivable, not to include an amount equal to the eligible portion of the specified amount, determined under section 486.9.

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

§ 2. — Special deductions in respect of farming and animal husbandry

2015, c. 24, s. 78.

487. Where a taxpayer includes, in computing his income from a farming business for a taxation year, a particular amount in respect of the forced destruction of livestock in the year under an Act, he may, subject to section 487.0.4, deduct in computing that income for that year an amount not exceeding the particular amount.

The amount deducted by the taxpayer under the first paragraph in computing his income from a farming business for a taxation year is deemed to be income of the taxpayer from such business for the subsequent taxation year.

487.0.1. In this section and sections 487.0.2 to 487.0.3,

"breeding animals" means bison, bovine cattle, deer, horses, goats, elk, sheep or other grazing ungulates that are over 12 months of age and are kept for breeding;

"breeding bees" means bees that are not used principally to pollinate plants in greenhouses and larvae of those bees;

"breeding bee stock", of a taxpayer at a particular time, means a reasonable estimate of the quantity of the taxpayer's breeding bees held at that time in the course of carrying on a farming business using a unit of measurement that is accepted as an industry standard;

"breeding herd" of a taxpayer at any time means the number of animals determined at that time, in respect of the taxpayer, by the formula

$$A - (B - C).$$

For the purposes of the formula set forth in the definition of "breeding herd" set forth in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the total number of the taxpayer's breeding animals held in the course of carrying on a farming business at that time;

(b) B is the total number of the taxpayer's breeding animals held in the farming business at that time that are female bovine cattle that have not given birth to calves;

(c) C is the lesser of the number of animals determined as the value of B and one-half on the total number of the taxpayer's breeding animals held in the farming business at that time that are female bovine cattle that have given birth to calves.

487.0.2. A taxpayer who, in a taxation year, carries on a farming business in a region that is a drought region or a region of flood or excessive moisture, within the meaning of the regulations, at any time in the year and whose breeding herd at the end of the year in respect of the business does not exceed 85% of his breeding herd at the beginning of the year in respect of the business, may deduct, in computing his income from the business for the year, an amount not exceeding the amount determined for the year, in respect of the taxpayer's business, by the formula

(A − B) × C.

For the purposes of the formula set forth in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the aggregate of the particular amounts included, in respect of the sale of breeding animals in the year, in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for the year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted under section 153, in respect of the particular amounts, in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for the year;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts deducted, in respect of the acquisition of breeding animals, in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for the year;

(c) C is 30% where the taxpayer's breeding herd at the end of the year in respect of the business exceeds 70% of his breeding herd at the beginning of the year in respect of the business, and 90% in all other cases.

487.0.2.1. A taxpayer who, in a taxation year, carries on a farming business in a region that is at any time in the year a drought region or a region of flood or excessive moisture, within the meaning of the regulations, and whose breeding bee stock at the end of the year in respect of the business does not exceed 85% of the taxpayer's breeding bee stock at the beginning of the year in respect of the business, may deduct, in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the business, an amount not exceeding the amount determined for the year, in respect of the taxpayer's business, by the formula

(A – B) × C.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the aggregate of all the particular amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the business in respect of the sale of breeding bees in the year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted in respect of the particular amounts, under section 153, in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the business;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the business in respect of the acquisition of breeding bees; and

(c) C is either 30% if the taxpayer's breeding bee stock at the end of the year in respect of the business exceeds 70% of the taxpayer's breeding bee stock at the beginning of the year in respect of the business, or 90% in any other case.

487.0.3. The amount deducted under section 487.0.2 or 487.0.2.1 in computing the income of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year from a farming business carried on in a region referred to in the first paragraph of section 487.0.2 or 487.0.2.1,

(a) must, up to the amount determined under the second paragraph, be included in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for a given taxation year ending after the particular taxation year; and

(b) is deemed, except to the extent that the amount has been included under this section in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for a preceding taxation year after the particular taxation year, to be income of the taxpayer from the business for the taxation year that is the earliest of

i. the taxpayer's first taxation year beginning after the end of the period or series of continuous periods, as the case may be, for which the region was referred to in the first paragraph of section 487.0.2 or 487.0.2.1,

ii. the taxpayer's first taxation year, following the particular taxation year, at the end of which the taxpayer was not resident in Canada and not carrying on business through a fixed place of business in Canada, and

iii. the taxpayer's taxation year in which the taxpayer died.

The amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers is equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount deducted under section 487.0.2 or 487.0.2.1 in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular taxation year from the farming business, except to the extent that the amount has been included under this section in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for a taxation year preceding the given taxation year but after the particular taxation year; and

(b) the amount included for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), under subsection 5 of section 80.3 of that Act, in computing the taxpayer's income from the business for the given taxation year because of an election made in accordance with that subsection 5 in respect of the amount deducted under subsection 4 or 4.1 of that section 80.3 in that computation for the particular taxation year.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 5 of section 80.3 of the Income Tax Act.

487.0.4. The first paragraph of section 487 and sections 487.0.2 and 487.0.2.1 do not apply to a taxpayer, in respect of a farming business, for a taxation year in which the taxpayer died or where at the end of the year the taxpayer is not resident in Canada and not carrying on business through a fixed place of business in Canada.

487.0.5. In applying section 487.0.2.1 in respect of a taxation year, the unit of measurement used for estimating the quantity of a taxpayer's breeding bee stock held in the course of carrying on a farming business at the end of the year is to be the same as that used for the beginning of the year.

2017, c. 1, s. 130.

§ 3. — Benefits arising from a loan

2015, c. 24, s. 79.

487.1. A corporation carrying on a personal services business or an individual is deemed to receive a benefit in a taxation year equal to the amount computed under section 487.2 when a person or partnership contracts a debt because of services provided or to be provided by the corporation or of the individual's previous, current or intended office or employment.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a debt is deemed to have been contracted because of an individual's office or employment, or because of services provided by a corporation that carries on a personal services business, if it is reasonable to conclude that, but for the individual's previous, current or intended office or employment, or the services provided or to be provided by the corporation,

(a) the terms of the debt would have been different; or

(b) the debt would not have been contracted.

1978, c. 26, s. 82; 1983, c. 44, s. 26; 1994, c. 22, s. 191; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 79; 2001, c. 53, s. 74.

487.2. The amount to which the first paragraph of section 487.1 refers is the amount by which the amount computed under section 487.2.1 is exceeded by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the interest, computed at the prescribed rate, in respect of each such debt for the period of the year in which it was unpaid, or the interest paid or payable for the year in respect of each such debt

(a) by a person or partnership that employed or planned to employ the individual;

(b) by a person or partnership to which or for which the corporation provided or was to provide services; or

(c) by a person who was not a debtor of the debt and who was related to the person or partnership described in paragraph a or was not dealing at arm's length with the person or partnership described in paragraph b.

487.2.1. The amount referred to in section 487.2 is the aggregate of

(a) the interest for the year paid on each such debt not later than 30 days after the end of the year; and

(b) the portion of the interest paid or payable for the year in respect of each such debt by a person or partnership referred to in any of paragraphs a to c of section 487.2 that is reimbursed by the debtor in the year or within 30 days after the end of the year to the person or partnership that made the payment referred to in that section.

487.3. A person, other than a corporation resident in Canada, or a partnership, other than a partnership every member of which is such a corporation, is deemed to receive a benefit in a taxation year equal to the amount computed under section 487.4, where the person or partnership contracts a debt with a corporation by virtue of the fact that the person or partnership is a shareholder of the corporation, is connected with a shareholder of the corporation or is a member of a partnership or a beneficiary of a trust that is such a shareholder.

The same rule applies where the person or partnership contracts a debt with a corporation related to the corporation or with a partnership of which the corporation or a corporation related to it is a member.

For the purposes of this section, a person or a partnership is connected with a shareholder of a corporation if that person or partnership does not deal at arm's length with, or is affiliated with, the shareholder, unless, in the case of a person, that person is a foreign affiliate of the corporation or of a person resident in Canada with which the corporation does not deal at arm's length.

487.4. The amount to which section 487.3 refers is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the interest in respect of each such debt, computed at the prescribed rate for the period of the year in which it was unpaid, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(a) the amount of interest paid for the year in respect of each such debt (other than debts incurred as or on account of loans that are deemed to have been received under section 113.4) not later than 30 days after the end of the year; or

(b) the amount of interest determined, for the year, in respect of each debt incurred as or on account of loans that are deemed to have been received under section 113.4.

487.4.1. For the purposes of sections 487.1 to 487.6, the specified interest amount, for a year, in respect of a debt (in this section referred to as the "deemed loan") contracted as or on account of a loan that is deemed to have been received under section 113.4 from a particular ultimate funder, is the amount determined by the formula

A × B / C.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the total amount of interest for the year paid not later than 30 days after the end of the year in respect of all debts that are owing to the particular ultimate funder under one or more funding arrangements by one or more funders, but excluding any funders that are ultimate funders, and that gave rise to the deemed loan;

(b) B is the average amount owing for the year in respect of the deemed loan; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the average amount owing in the year as or on account of an amount owing in respect of a debt described in subparagraph a.

In this section, "funder", "funding arrangement" and "ultimate funder" have the meaning assigned by section 113.7.

2020, c. 16, s. 73.

487.5. Sections 487.1 and 487.3 do not apply in respect of a debt or the portion of a debt

(a) that is included in computing the income of a person or partnership under this Part; or

(b) on which the interest is paid or payable to the creditor only by the debtor and in respect of which the rate of interest is not lower than the rate which, in view of the circumstances and the terms and conditions of the debt, would have been agreed upon, when the debt was contracted, between the parties who were dealing at arm's length, if the loan of money had been part of the creditor's normal business and if neither of the parties contracted the debt by virtue of an office or employment, or by virtue of the fact that a person or partnership is a shareholder.

487.5.1. For the purpose of computing the benefit under the first paragraph of section 487.1 in a taxation year in respect of a debt contracted for a home purchase loan or a home relocation loan, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the interest on all such debts, computed at the prescribed rate for the period in the year during which it was outstanding, must not exceed the aggregate of the amounts that would have been determined in this manner if the interest had been computed at the rate of 8% in the case of a debt contracted before 1 May 1987 or, in any other case, at the prescribed rate in effect at the time the debt was contracted.

487.5.2. For the purposes of sections 487.1 to 487.6, other than paragraph b of section 487.5, where a debt, other than a prescribed debt, contracted for a home purchase loan or a home relocation loan of an individual has a term for repayment exceeding five years, the balance outstanding on the debt on the date that is five years from the day the debt was contracted or was last deemed by this section to have been contracted is deemed to be a new debt contracted for a home purchase loan on that date.

487.5.3. For the purposes of sections 487.1 to 487.6, "home purchase loan" means that portion of any debt contracted by an individual in the circumstances referred to in section 487.1 that is used to acquire, or to repay a debt that was contracted to acquire, a dwelling or a share of the capital stock of a housing cooperative acquired for the sole purpose of acquiring the right to inhabit a dwelling owned by the cooperative, where the dwelling is for the habitation of any of the persons described in section 487.5.4, or that is used to repay a home purchase loan.

487.5.4. The persons referred to in section 487.5.3 are the following:

(a) the individual by virtue of whose office or employment the debt is contracted;

(b) a specified shareholder of the corporation by virtue of whose services the debt is contracted;

(c) a person related to a person described in paragraph a or b.

1988, c. 4, s. 35; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

487.6. For the purposes of sections 64 and 160, any benefit deemed to be received in a taxation year under section 487.1 or 487.3 is also deemed to be interest paid in the year and payable in respect of the year by the debtor in accordance with a legal obligation to pay interest on borrowed money.

487.7. Where a synthetic disposition arrangement is entered into in respect of a property owned by a taxpayer and the synthetic disposition period of the arrangement is at least one year, the taxpayer is deemed

(a) to have disposed of the property immediately before the beginning of the synthetic disposition period for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at the beginning of the synthetic disposition period; and

(b) to have reacquired the property at the beginning of the synthetic disposition period at a cost equal to its fair market value at the beginning of the synthetic disposition period.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a property owned by a taxpayer where

(a) the disposition referred to in the first paragraph would not result in the realization of a capital gain or income;

(b) the property of the taxpayer is a mark-to-market property (within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 851.22.1);

(c) the synthetic disposition arrangement referred to in the first paragraph is a lease of corporeal property;

(d) the arrangement is an exchange of property to which section 301 applies; or

(e) the property is disposed of as part of the arrangement, within one year after the day on which the synthetic disposition period of the arrangement begins.

2017, c. 1, s. 131.

TITLE VIII

AMOUNTS NOT INCLUDED IN COMPUTING INCOME

1972, c. 23.

CHAPTER I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

488. A taxpayer shall not include, in computing his income for a taxation year, the amounts provided for in this title or the regulations.

Such amounts include those that sections 218 to 220 provide are not to be included in computing income and the payments that Title I of Book VII provides are not to be included in computing income.

1972, c. 23, s. 386; 1993, c. 64, s. 36; 2000, c. 5, s. 116.

CHAPTER II

MISCELLANEOUS CASES

1972, c. 23.

489. The amounts which shall not be included also include:

(a) an amount received under a War Savings Certificate issued by His Majesty in right of Canada or under a similar savings certificate issued by His Majesty in right of Newfoundland before 1 April 1949;

(b) the income earned in Canada by a person who is not resident in Canada from international shipping or from the operation of aircraft in international traffic, if the country in which that person resides treats persons resident in Canada in the same manner;

(b.1) where the taxpayer is an individual (other than a trust), an amount ordinarily paid as a social assistance payment based on a means, needs or income test provided for under a program of the Government of Canada, of the government of a province or of an Indigenous governing body, within the meaning of section 2 of the Children's Special Allowances Act (S.C. 1992, c. 48), to the extent that it is received directly or indirectly by the taxpayer for the benefit of a particular individual, if

i. payments to recipients under the program are made for the care and upbringing, on a temporary basis, of another individual in need of protection,

ii. the particular individual is a child of the taxpayer because of paragraph b of the definition of "child" in section 1 (or would be a child of the taxpayer under that paragraph if the taxpayer did not receive payments under the program), and

iii. no special allowance under the Children's Special Allowances Act is payable in respect of the particular individual for the period in respect of which the social assistance payment is made;

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(c.1) an amount, other than a prescribed amount, ordinarily paid to an individual, other than a trust, as a social assistance payment based on a means, needs or income test under a program provided for by a law of Canada, of a province or of an Indigenous governing body, within the meaning of section 2 of the Children's Special Allowances Act, to the extent that it is received directly or indirectly by the individual for the benefit of another individual, other than the individual's spouse or a person who is related to the individual or to the individual's spouse, if

i. no family allowance under the Family Allowance Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. F-1) or any similar allowance under a law of a province is payable in respect of the other individual for the period in respect of which the social assistance payment is made, and

ii. throughout the period referred to in subparagraph i, the other individual resides in the individual's principal place of residence or the individual's principal place of residence is maintained for use as the residence of that other individual;

(c.2) an amount received by an individual as remuneration referred to in subparagraph 1 or 2 of the second paragraph of section 540 of the Act respecting the governance of the health and social services system (chapter G-1.021) or subparagraph 1 or 2 of the third paragraph of section 303 of the Act respecting health services and social services for the Inuit and Naskapi (chapter S-4.2), or following an Order in Council made under the Act respecting health services and social services for Cree Native persons (chapter S-5), where

i. the individual

(1) operates an intermediate resource within the meaning of section 538 of the Act respecting the governance of the health and social services system or section 302 of the Act respecting health services and social services for the Inuit and Naskapi,

(2) is a family-type resource within the meaning of section 552 of the Act respecting the governance of the health and social services system or is recognized as such under section 312 of the Act respecting health services and social services for the Inuit and Naskapi, or

(3) acts as a foster family within the meaning of subparagraph o of the first paragraph of section 1 of the Act respecting health services and social services for Cree Native persons, and

ii. throughout the period in respect of which the amount is received, the individual takes in at the individual's principal place of residence a maximum of nine persons referred to the individual by a public institution described in section 42 or 328 of the Act respecting the governance of the health and social services system or, as the case may be, in section 98 of the Act respecting health services and social services for the Inuit and Naskapi, or entrusted to the individual through a social service centre referred to in subparagraph j of the first paragraph of section 1 of the Act respecting health services and social services for Cree Native persons, or the individual maintains the individual's principal place of residence to be used as the residence of such persons;

(c.3) an amount received by an individual under a service contract entered into with the Minister of Public Security to establish a foster home and to facilitate the social rehabilitation of the persons required to live there, where

i. the foster home is maintained in the individual's principal place of residence, and

ii. throughout the period in respect of which the individual receives the amount, a maximum of nine persons are required to live in the foster home;

(d) interest received by a corporation resident in Canada, accrued, received or become receivable, on a bond, debenture, bill, note, hypothecary claim, mortgage or similar obligation which it receives as consideration for the disposition by it, before 18 June 1971, of a business carried on by it in a country other than Canada or all the shares of its subsidiary that carried on a business in such a country, and such of the debts and other obligations of such subsidiary as were, immediately before such disposition, owing to the corporation;

(e) (paragraph repealed);

(f) (paragraph repealed);

*(f.1)* an amount that is credited or added to a deposit or account referred to in a foreign retirement arrangement as interest or other income in respect of the deposit or account, where the amount would, but for this paragraph, be included in computing the taxpayer's income by reason only of such crediting or adding;

(g) (paragraph repealed);

(h) (paragraph repealed);

(i) an amount paid to an individual in a taxation year under an arrangement described in paragraph a of section 47.16R1 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1), to the extent that the amount may reasonably be considered to be attributable to an amount that i. was included in computing the individual's income for a preceding taxation year and was income, interest or other additional amounts described in subparagraph iv of paragraph a of section 47.16R1 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act, and

ii. was paid again by the individual under the arrangement in a preceding taxation year;

1972, c. 23, s. 387; 1973, c. 17, s. 56; 1975, c. 21, s. 14; 1975, c. 22, s. 109; 1978, c. 26, s. 83; 1982, c. 5, s. 113; 1984, c. 15, s. 105; 1987, c. 67, s. 117; 1993, c. 16, s. 199; 1994, c. 22, s. 192; 1996, c. 39, s. 143; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 117; 2002, c. 40, s. 38; 2005, c. 1, s. 117; 2005, c. 32, s. 308; 2009, c. 24, s. 91; 2015, c. 21, s. 175; 2017, c. 1, s. 132; 2021, c. 14, s. 44; 2023, c. 2, s. 15; 2023, c. 19, s. 35; 2023, c. 34, s. 1048.

490. Paragraph d of section 489 applies only in the case of a public utility, if such public utility or the property described in that paragraph has been disposed of to a person resident in such other country and if the obligation received by the corporation has been issued or guaranteed by the government of that other country or any mandatary of such government.

1972, c. 23, s. 388; 1995, c. 49, s. 131; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2017, c. 29, s. 73.

CHAPTER III

CERTAIN PENSIONS AND COMPENSATIONS

1972, c. 23.

491. The following shall also be excluded in computing income:

(a) a pension payment in the case of disability or death arising out of a war from a country that was an ally of Canada at that time, if that country grants the same exemption for the year to persons receiving a pension contemplated in paragraph e;

(b) a pension payment, a grant or an allowance in respect of death or injury sustained in the explosion in Halifax in 1917 and received from the Halifax Relief Commission the incorporation of which was confirmed by An Act respecting the Halifax Relief Commission (S.C. 1918, c. 24) or received pursuant to the Halifax Relief Commission Pension Continuation Act (S.C. 1974-75-76, c. 88);

(c) a pension payment or compensation received under section 5, 31 or 45 of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Pension Continuation Act (R.S.C. 1970, c. R-10) or sections 32 and 33 of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. R-11), in respect of an injury, disability or death;

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) compensation received under the regulations made under section 9 of the Aeronautics Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. A-2), an amount received under the Gallantry Awards Order made by the Government of Canada or a pension payment, an allowance or compensation that is received under the Pension Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. P-6), the Civilian War-related Benefits Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. C-31) or the War Veterans Allowance Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. W-3);

*(e.1)* an amount received or enjoyed by a taxpayer or the taxpayer's spouse or survivor, within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 146.2 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), on account of

i. a Canadian Forces income support benefit payable under Part 2 of the Veterans Well-being Act (S.C. 2005, c. 21),

ii. pain and suffering compensation, additional pain and suffering compensation or a critical injury benefit, disability award, death benefit, clothing allowance or detention benefit payable under Part 3 of the Veterans Well-being Act,

iii. a caregiver recognition benefit payable under Part 3.1 of the Veterans Well-being Act, iv. an amount payable under subsection 1 of section 132 of the Veterans Well-being Act,

v. a benefit provided under the Veterans Health Care Regulations (SOR/90-594), vi. a benefit provided in respect of Rehabilitation Services and Vocational Assistance under Part 2 of the Veterans Well-being Act,

vii. a benefit provided to a member of the Canadian Forces under the Compensation and Benefit Instructions for the Canadian Forces that is

(1) a home modifications benefit,

(2) a home modifications move benefit,

(3) a vehicle modifications benefit,

(4) a home assistance benefit,

(5) an attendant care benefit,

(6) a caregiver benefit,

(7) a spousal education upgrade benefit,

(8) a funeral and burial expenses benefit, or

(9) a next of kin travel benefit, or viii. a benefit provided by the Department of National Defence as an education expense reimbursement for ill and injured members;

(e.2) an amount received under any of sections 100 to 103 of the Budget Implementation Act, 2016, No. 1 (S.C. 2016, c. 7);

(f) a payment made by the Federal Republic of Germany or by a public body performing a function of government within that country as compensation to a victim of National Socialist persecution, where such payment is exempt from income tax in the country of origin;

(g) an amount that, but for this paragraph, would be the income of the taxpayer for the year if

i. the taxpayer is the trust established under

(1) the 1986-1990 Hepatitis C Settlement Agreement entered into by Her Majesty in right of Canada and Her Majesty in right of each of the provinces,

(2) the Pre-1986/Post-1990 Hepatitis C Settlement Agreement entered into by Her Majesty in right of Canada,

(3) the Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement entered into by Her Majesty in right of Canada on 8 May 2006,

CHAPTER V

INCOME FROM CERTAIN PROPERTY

1973, c. 17, s. 57.

494. An individual is not required to include in computing his income the income for the year from property acquired by or on behalf of a person as indemnity for, or pursuant to an action for, damages in respect of physical or mental injury to the person, or from any property substituted for the first property and any taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of any such property,

(a) where the income was income from the property, if the income was earned in respect of a period before the end of the taxation year in which the person attained the age of 21 years; and

(b) in any other case, if the person was less than 21 years of age during any part of the year.

1973, c. 17, s. 57; 1974, c. 18, s. 22; 1982, c. 5, s. 115; 1986, c. 19, s. 115; 1995, c. 1, s. 46.

495. An individual is not required to include in computing his income the income for the year from any income that is by virtue of section 494 or this section not required to be included in computing his income, unless the income is attributable to any period after the end of the taxation year in which the person on whose behalf the income was earned attained the age of 21 years.

496. An individual referred to in section 494 who makes, for the taxation year in which a person who suffered physical or mental injury reached 21 years of age, a valid election under subsection 5 of section 81 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to a property described in section 494, is deemed to have disposed of the property on the day preceding the date on which the person reached 21 years of age for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the property on that day and to have reacquired it immediately after at a cost equal to those proceeds.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 5 of section 81 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1977, c. 26, s. 60; 1995, c. 1, s. 46; 2005, c. 23, s. 52; 2009, c. 5, s. 171.

TITLE IX

CORPORATIONS RESIDENT IN CANADA AND THEIR SHAREHOLDERS

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER I

TAXABLE DIVIDENDS

1972, c. 23.

497. A taxpayer shall include, in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year, the aggregate of

(a) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts, other than eligible dividends or amounts described in any of subparagraphs c to e, received by the taxpayer in the year from corporations resident in Canada as, on account of, in lieu of payment of or in satisfaction of, taxable dividends exceeds, if the taxpayer is an individual, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, or is deemed under subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 21.33.2 to have been, paid by the taxpayer in the year and deemed under section 21.32 to have been received by another person as a taxable dividend (other than an eligible dividend);

(b) the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts, other than amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income because of any of subparagraphs c to e, received by the taxpayer in the year from corporations resident in Canada as, on account of, in lieu of payment of or in satisfaction of, eligible dividends exceeds, if the taxpayer is an individual, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, or is deemed under subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 21.33.2 to have been, paid by the taxpayer in the year and deemed under section 21.32 to have been received by another person as an eligible dividend;

(c) the aggregate of the taxable dividends received by the taxpayer at any time in the year on a share acquired before that time and after 30 April 1989 from corporations resident in Canada under a dividend rental arrangement of the taxpayer;

(d) the aggregate of the taxable dividends, other than taxable dividends described in subparagraph c, received by the taxpayer in the year from corporations resident in Canada that are not taxable Canadian corporations; and

(e) if the taxpayer is a trust, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is all or part of a taxable dividend, other than a dividend described in subparagraph c or d, that was received by the trust in the year on a share of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation and that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust who was not resident in Canada at the end of the year.

The taxpayer shall also include, in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year, if the taxpayer is an individual, other than a trust that is a registered charity, the aggregate of

(a) the product obtained by multiplying the excess amount determined in respect of the taxpayer under subparagraph a of the first paragraph for the year by

i. 16%, for the taxation year 2018, and

ii. 15%, for a taxation year subsequent to the taxation year 2018; and

(b) 38% of the excess amount determined in respect of the taxpayer under subparagraph b of the first paragraph for the year.

1972, c. 23, s. 392; 1975, c. 22, s. 110; 1978, c. 26, s. 84; 1988, c. 18, s. 48; 1990, c. 59, s. 179; 1991, c. 25, s. 80; 1995, c. 49, s. 236; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 51; 2009, c. 5, s. 172; 2009, c. 15, s. 90; 2015, c. 21, s. 177; 2015, c. 24, s. 80; 2017, c. 1, s. 134; 2019, c. 14, s. 148.

498. A taxpayer who must, by reason of sections 316, 316.1, 456 to 458, 462.1 to 462.24 and 466 to 467.1, include in computing his income for a taxation year a dividend received by another person is deemed, for the purposes of this Part, to have received such dividend.

498.1. If a corporation makes a valid election, for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), under subsection 2 of section 185.1 of that Act in relation to an eligible dividend (in this section referred to as the "original dividend for federal purposes") that it paid at a particular time after 23 March 2006, the following rules apply:

(a) despite the definition of "eligible dividend" in section 1, the amount of the dividend corresponding to the original dividend for federal purposes, that is an eligible dividend (in this section referred to as the "original dividend for Québec purposes") that the corporation paid at the particular time is deemed to be equal to the lesser of the amount of the original dividend for Québec purposes, determined without reference to this section, and the amount of the original dividend for federal purposes, determined under paragraph a of subsection 2 of section 185.1 of the Income Tax Act;

(b) an amount equal to the amount by which the amount of the original dividend for Québec purposes, determined without reference to this section, exceeds the amount of the original dividend for Québec purposes, determined under subparagraph a, is deemed to be a separate taxable dividend, other than an eligible dividend, that was paid by the corporation immediately before the particular time;

(c) each shareholder of the corporation who at the particular time held any of the issued shares of the class of shares in respect of which the original dividend for Québec purposes was paid is deemed

i. not to have received the original dividend for Québec purposes, and

ii. to have received at the particular time

(1) as an eligible dividend, the shareholder's proportional share of the amount of any dividend determined under subparagraph a, and

(2) as a taxable dividend, other than an eligible dividend, the shareholder's proportional share of the amount of any dividend determined under subparagraph b;

(d) a shareholder's proportional share of the amount of a dividend paid at any time on a class of shares of the capital stock of a corporation is the proportion of that amount that the number of shares of that class held by the shareholder at that time is of the number of shares of that class outstanding at that time; and

(e) not later than 30 days after the day on which the election is made, the corporation shall notify the Minister in writing of the election and attach to the notice a copy of every document sent to the Minister of National Revenue in connection with the election.

In the event of non-compliance with a requirement of subparagraph e of the first paragraph, the corporation incurs a penalty of $25 a day for every day the omission continues, up to $2,500.

Under this Part and despite sections 1010 to 1011, the Minister may make such assessments of the tax, interest and penalties payable as are necessary for any taxation year to give effect to the rules set out in this section in relation to the original dividend for Québec purposes, if the corporation fails to comply with a requirement of subparagraph e of the first paragraph in relation to the valid election referred to in that paragraph in respect of the original dividend for federal purposes or if the corporation makes the election after the day that is 30 months after the day on which the original dividend for federal purposes was paid.

2009, c. 5, s. 173.

499. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 394; 1986, c. 19, s. 116; 1989, c. 5, s. 69; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 9, s. 31.

CHAPTER II

SPECIAL RULES

1972, c. 23.

500. For the purposes of sections 501 to 517 and 556 to 568, where a dividend becomes payable for more than one class of shares of the capital-stock of a corporation at the same time, the dividend on each class is deemed to become payable at a different time.

The dividends referred to in the first paragraph are deemed to become payable in the order designated in their respect in accordance with subsection 3 of section 89 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)).

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation made under subsection 3 of section 89 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006, and must, if the order referred to in the second paragraph was designated by the Minister of National Revenue, be applied, with the necessary modifications, as if the designation had been made by the corporation.

501. Where a dividend contemplated in section 501.1 is paid, the following rules apply:

(a) no part of that dividend shall be included in computing the income of a shareholder of the corporation under this Title; and

(b) in computing the adjusted cost base of a share on which such a dividend is paid, the shareholder must deduct, in respect of that dividend, an amount as provided by subparagraph i of paragraph g of section 257.

501.1. A dividend referred to in section 501 is a dividend on a share that is outstanding on 31 March 1977 of a prescribed series of tax-deferred preferred shares of a class of the capital stock of a public corporation, where that dividend becomes payable by the corporation after 1978 and, according to the case that applies to that series, not later than,

(a) where the holder of each share of that series was entitled, under the terms and conditions in force on 31 March 1977 of those shares, to exchange it after a particular date for a share of another series or class of preferred shares of the capital stock of the corporation, that particular date;

(b) where the corporation was required, under the terms and conditions in force on 31 March 1977 of the shares of that series, to offer to purchase from all of the holders of those shares, no later than a particular date, all of the shares of that series, that particular date; or

(c) in any other, 1 October 1991.

1978, c. 26, s. 86; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

501.2. A dividend that would otherwise be referred to in section 501.1 is deemed not to be such a dividend if, at the time the dividend becomes payable, the terms of the shares of the series referred to in the said section differ from the terms in force on 31 March 1977 of those shares or if the corporation issued additional shares of that series after 31 March 1977.

501.3. For the purposes of this chapter, where, after 31 March 1977, there is an amalgamation within the meaning of section 544 and, immediately before the amalgamation, the capital stock of a predecessor corporation includes a prescribed series of preferred shares contemplated in section 501.1, that series is deemed to continue to exist in the form of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation and the latter is deemed to be the same corporation as the predecessor corporation.

502. If, at a particular time after 1971, a dividend becomes payable by a private corporation on a share of its capital stock and the corporation makes an election, at the latest at the particular time or, if it is earlier, on the day on which a portion of the dividend was paid, the following rules apply:

(a) the dividend is deemed a capital dividend to the extent of its capital dividend account immediately before the particular time; and

(b) no portion of the dividend shall be included in computing the income of a shareholder of the corporation.

502.0.1. Notwithstanding section 502, where a dividend that, but for this section, would be a capital dividend is paid on a share of the capital stock of a corporation and the share, or another share for which the share was substituted, was acquired by the holder thereof in a transaction or as part of a series of transactions one of the main purposes of which was to receive the dividend, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of this Act, except section 503.0.1, the dividend is deemed to be received by the shareholder and paid by the corporation as a taxable dividend and not as a capital dividend; and

(b) paragraph b of section 502 does not apply in respect of the dividend.

502.0.2. Section 502.0.1 does not apply in respect of a particular dividend, in respect of which an election is made under section 502, paid on a share of the capital stock of a particular corporation to an individual where it is reasonable to consider that all or substantially all of the capital dividend account of the particular corporation, as determined under section 89 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, immediately before the particular dividend became payable consisted of amounts other than

(a) any amount added to the account by reason of paragraph b of the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of section 89 of the said Act in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of another corporation which share, or another share for which the share was substituted, was acquired by the particular corporation in a transaction or as part of a series of transactions one of the main purposes of which was that the particular corporation receive the dividend, but not in respect of a dividend where it is reasonable to consider that the purpose of paying the dividend was to distribute an amount that was received by the other corporation and included in computing the other corporation's capital dividend account, as determined under section 89 of the said Act and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, by reason of paragraph d of the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of section 89 of the said Act;

(b) any amount added to the account by reason of paragraph z.1 of subsection 2 of section 87 of the said Act as a result of an amalgamation or winding-up or a series of transactions including the amalgamation or winding-up that would not have been so added had the amalgamation or winding-up occurred or the series of transactions including the amalgamation or winding-up been commenced after 4:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, 25 September 1987;

(c) any amount added to the account at the time when the particular corporation was controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more persons not resident in Canada; or

(d) any amount in respect of a capital gain from a disposition of a property by the particular corporation or another corporation that may reasonably be considered as having accrued while the property, or another property for which it was substituted, was a property of a corporation that was controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more persons not resident in Canada.

502.0.3. Section 502.0.1 does not apply in respect of a dividend, in respect of which an election is made under section 502, paid on a share of the capital stock of a corporation where it is reasonable to consider that the purpose of paying the dividend was to distribute an amount that was received by the corporation and included in computing its capital dividend account, as determined under section 89 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, by reason of paragraph d of the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of section 89 of the said Act.

502.0.4. Section 502.0.1 does not apply in respect of a particular dividend, in respect of which an election is made under section 502, paid on a share of the capital stock of a particular corporation to a corporation related, otherwise than by reason of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, to the particular corporation, and in this section referred to as the "related corporation", where it is reasonable to consider that all or substantially all of the capital dividend account of the particular corporation, as determined under section 89 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, immediately before the particular dividend became payable consisted of amounts other than

(a) any amount added to the account by reason of paragraph b of the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of section 89 of the said Act in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of another corporation if it is reasonable to consider that any portion of the capital dividend account of that other corporation, as determined under the said section 89 and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, immediately before that dividend became payable consisted of an amount added thereto by reason of paragraph z.1 of subsection 2 of section 87 of the said Act or of paragraph b of the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of the said section 89 as a result of a transaction or a series of transactions that would not have been so added had the transaction occurred or the series of transactions been commenced after 4:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, 25 September 1987;

(b) any amount that represented the capital dividend account of a corporation, as determined under the said section 89 and without reference to paragraph b of section 570, before it became related to the related corporation;

(c) any amount added to the account at the time when the particular corporation was controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more persons not resident in Canada;

(d) any amount in respect of a capital gain from a disposition of a property by the particular corporation or another corporation that may reasonably be considered as having accrued while the property, or another property for which it was substituted, was a property of a corporation that was controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more persons not resident in Canada; or

(e) any amount in respect of a capital gain from a disposition of a property, or another property for which it was substituted, that may reasonably be considered as having accrued while the property or the other property was a property of a person that was not related to the related corporation.

1990, c. 59, s. 181; 1995, c. 49, s. 136; 1996, c. 39, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

1984, c. 15, s. 107; 1987, c. 67, s. 119.

503. The election referred to in section 502 is valid only if it is made in prescribed form and prescribed manner for the total amount of the dividend.

1972, c. 23, s. 397; 1975, c. 22, s. 111; 1977, c. 26, s. 61; 1978, c. 26, s. 88; 1984, c. 15, s. 107; 1987, c. 67, s. 120; 2001, c. 53, s. 78.

503.0.0.1. For the purposes of section 502, an election that is filed after the time provided for in that section is deemed to have been filed on or before that time if

(a) the election is made in accordance with section 503;

(b) an estimate by the corporation of the penalty under section 503.0.0.2 is paid when the election is filed; and

(c) the directors or any other person legally entitled to administer the affairs of the corporation has previously authorized the election.

2006, c. 13, s. 40.

503.0.0.2. The penalty referred to in paragraph b of section 503.0.0.1 is equal to the lesser of

(a) 1% per year of the amount of the dividend referred to in section 502 for each month or part of a month during the period that begins on the day on which the time provided for in section 502 for making the election expires and that ends on the day on which the election to which section 503.0.0.1 applies is filed with the Minister; and

(b) an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying $500 by the proportion that the number of months included, in whole or in part, in the period described in paragraph a is of 12.

2006, c. 13, s. 40.

503.0.0.3. The Minister shall examine with dispatch the election to which section 503.0.0.1 applies, determine the penalty payable and send a notice of assessment to the corporation, which shall pay the unpaid balance of the penalty to the Minister without delay.

2006, c. 13, s. 40.

503.0.1. Where a corporation has made an election under one or another of sections 502, 1106, 1113 and 1116 in respect of the total amount of a dividend payable by the corporation at a particular time and has later made a valid prescribed election in respect of that dividend, the prescribed rules arising from the prescribed election also apply, with the necessary modifications, for the purposes of this Act and the corporation having made the latter election shall, upon or before making the election, inform the Minister in a manner satisfactory to the Minister and send to the Minister the prescribed documents.

DEEMED DIVIDENDS

1972, c. 23; 1994, c. 22, s. 193.

DIVISION I

SHARES OF A CORPORATION

1975, c. 22, s. 112; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

504. (1) A corporation resident in Canada which, at a particular time after 31 December 1971, increases its paid-up capital in respect of the shares of a given class of its capital stock, is deemed to have then paid, on the issued shares of such class, a dividend equal to the excess of the increase in the paid-up capital over the aggregate of the amount of the increase in the value of the assets or the decrease in the liabilities, as the case may be, contemplated in paragraph b of subsection 2, of the amount of the reduction contemplated in paragraph c of subsection 2 and of the amount of the increase in the paid-up capital that resulted from a conversion referred to in any of paragraphs d to f of subsection 2.

(2) Subsection 1 does not apply if the increase in the paid-up capital is the result of:

(a) the payment of a stock dividend;

(b) a transaction by which the value of the assets less the liabilities has been increased by an amount at least equal to the increase in the paid-up capital in respect of the shares of the class contemplated, or by which the liabilities less the value of the assets has been decreased by such an amount;

(c) a transaction by which the paid-up capital in respect of shares of other classes of the capital stock of the corporation has been reduced by an amount at least equal to the increase in the paid-up capital in respect of the shares of such class;

(d) a transaction by which an insurance corporation converts contributed surplus related to its insurance business (other than any portion of that contributed surplus that arose at a time when the corporation was not resident in Canada, or that arose in connection with a disposition to which subsection 1.1 of section 212.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) applies or an investment to which subsection 2 of section 212.3 of that Act applies) into paid-up capital in respect of shares of its capital stock;

(e) a transaction by which a bank converts contributed surplus resulting from the issuance of shares of its capital stock (other than any portion of that contributed surplus that arose at a time when the corporation was not resident in Canada, or that arose in connection with a disposition to which subsection 1.1 of section 212.1 of the Income Tax Act applies or an investment to which subsection 2 of section 212.3 of that Act applies) into paid-up capital in respect of shares of its capital stock; or

(f) a transaction by which a corporation, other than an insurance corporation or a bank, converts into paid-up capital in respect of a particular class of shares of its capital stock any of its contributed surplus (other than any portion of that contributed surplus that arose at a time when the corporation was not resident in Canada, or that arose in connection with a disposition to which subsection 1.1 of section 212.1 of the Income Tax Act applies or an investment to which subsection 2 of section 212.3 of that Act applies) resulting, after 31 March 1977,

i. from the issuance of shares of that class or shares of another class for which shares of that class were substituted, other than an issuance to which any of sections 236.3, 301, 301.1, 419 and 419.0.1 or Chapters III.1 to VI apply,

ii. from the acquisition of property by the corporation from a person who, at the time of the acquisition, held any of the issued shares of that class or shares of another class for which shares of that class were substituted, where the property is acquired for no consideration or for consideration that does not include shares of the capital stock of the corporation, or

iii. from a transaction by which the paid-up capital in respect of that class of shares or in respect of shares of another class for which shares of that class were substituted was reduced by the corporation, to the extent of the reduction in paid-up capital that resulted from the transaction.

504.1. For the purposes of paragraph f of subsection 2 of section 504, there shall be deducted in determining at any time the contributed surplus of a corporation that results, after 31 March 1977, from any event described in that paragraph the lesser of

(a) the amount by which the amount of a dividend paid by the corporation at or before that time and after 31 March 1977 while being a public corporation, exceeds its retained earnings immediately before the payment of the dividend, and

(b) the amount of the contributed surplus of the corporation immediately before the payment of the dividend referred to in paragraph a, that results, after 31 March 1977, from any event described in paragraph f of subsection 2 of section 504.

1993, c. 16, s. 202; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

504.2. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of paragraph f of subsection 2 of section 504, where the property acquired by the corporation consists of shares of any class of the capital stock of another corporation resident in Canada, in this section referred to as the "particular corporation", and, immediately after the acquisition, the particular corporation is connected, within the meaning of the regulations, with the corporation, the contributed surplus of the corporation that arose on the acquisition is deemed to be the lesser of

(a) the amount added to the contributed surplus of the corporation on the acquisition, and

(b) the amount by which the paid-up capital in respect of the shares at the time of the acquisition exceeded the fair market value of any consideration given by the corporation for the shares.

1995, c. 49, s. 138; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

505. A corporation resident in Canada the funds or property of which have, at any time after 31 March 1977, been distributed or otherwise appropriated in any manner whatever to or for the benefit of the shareholders of any class of shares in its capital stock, pursuant to the winding-up, discontinuance or reorganization of its business, is deemed to have paid at that time a dividend on the shares of that class equal to the amount by which the amount of the funds or value of the property so distributed or appropriated exceeds the amount of the reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the shares of that class pursuant to that distribution or appropriation.

506. A corporation resident in Canada which, at any time after 1977, by way of a transaction other than that described in section 505, redeems, acquires or cancels a share of any class of its capital stock, is deemed to pay at that time, on a separate class of shares comprising the shares that are the subject of that transaction, a dividend equal to the amount by which the amount paid for that transaction by the corporation exceeds the paid-up capital in respect of those shares immediately before that time.

506.1. Any amount paid by a public corporation on the reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of any class of shares of its capital stock, otherwise than by way of a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of a share of that class or by way of a transaction described in section 505 or Chapter V, is deemed to have been paid by the corporation and received by the person to whom it was paid, as a dividend, unless

(a) the amount may reasonably be considered to be derived from proceeds of disposition realized by the corporation, or by a person or partnership in which the corporation had a direct or indirect interest at the time that the proceeds were realized, from a transaction that occurred

i. outside the ordinary course of the business of the corporation, or of the person or partnership that realized the proceeds, and

ii. within the period that began 24 months before the payment; and

(b) no amount that may reasonably be considered to be derived from those proceeds was paid by the corporation on a previous reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of any class of shares of its capital stock.

1979, c. 18, s. 41; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2009, c. 5, s. 175.

507. A corporation resident in Canada which has, at any time after 31 March 1977, reduced the paid-up capital in respect of any class of shares of its capital stock in a manner other than those referred to in sections 505 to 506.1, is deemed to have paid at that time, on the shares of that class, a dividend equal to the amount by which the amount it pays in respect to that reduction, exceeds the amount of that reduction.

508. Where, at any time after 16 November 1978, the paid-up capital of a term preferred share owned by a shareholder that is a specified financial institution or a partnership or trust of which such institution or a person related thereto is a member or a beneficiary and acquired in the ordinary course of the business carried on by the shareholder, is reduced otherwise than as described in sections 505 to 506.1, or where, under sections 504 to 507, a dividend is deemed to have been paid at a particular time on a particular class of shares, for a determined value, the owner of the term preferred share at that time or each person holding shares of that class at that time or immediately after that time in the case contemplated in section 504, is deemed to receive as a dividend, in the case of such a reduction of the paid-up capital of the term preferred share, or in the case contemplated in section 506.1, an amount equal to the amount he in fact receives in respect of the reduction of the paid-up capital or, in other cases, an amount equal to the proportion of the value of the dividend so deemed to have been paid that

(a) the number of shares of that class which he holds immediately before that particular time is of the total number of issued shares of that class immediately before that time, in the cases contemplated in sections 505 and 507, or the number of shares of that separate class which he holds at that time is of the total number of shares of that separate class, in the case contemplated in section 506; or

(b) the number of shares of that class which he holds immediately after that particular time is of the total number of shares of that class issued immediately after that time, in the case contemplated in section 504.

1972, c. 23, s. 402; 1978, c. 26, s. 90; 1979, c. 18, s. 43; 1980, c. 13, s. 50; 1982, c. 5, s. 119; 1990, c. 59, s. 183; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

508.1. Where, at any time after 31 December 1987, the paid-up capital in respect of a share of the capital stock of a particular corporation is reduced otherwise than as described in sections 505 to 506.1 and the share is owned by a shareholder that is another corporation that would be denied, by reason of sections 740.2 to 740.3.1 or section 740.5, the deduction under section 738, 740 or 845 in respect of a dividend received on the share, if the particular corporation were a taxable Canadian corporation, or by a partnership or trust of which such other corporation is a member or a beneficiary, the amount received by the shareholder on the reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of the share is deemed to be a dividend received by the shareholder at that time.

509. For the purposes of sections 505 to 508, where the property referred to in section 505 or the amount paid by the corporation and referred to in section 506 or 507 includes a share of the capital stock of that corporation, the following rules apply:

(a) in computing the value of that property at any time, the share must be valued at an amount equal to its paid-up capital at that time; and

(b) in computing that amount at any time, the share must be valued at an amount equal to the amount by which the paid-up capital in respect of the class of shares in which it is comprised has increased by virtue of its issue.

1972, c. 23, s. 403; 1978, c. 26, s. 91; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

1991, c. 8, s. 8; 1995, c. 63, s. 39; 1997, c. 14, s. 81; 2009, c. 15, s. 91.

510. Sections 505 and 506 do not apply in respect of any transaction or event to the extent that section 504 applies in respect of that transaction or event, or in respect of any purchase, by a corporation, of one or more of its shares in the open market in the manner in which shares would normally be purchased by any member of the public.

510.0.1. If the shareholder of a corporation disposes of a share of the capital stock of the corporation as a result of the redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation, the shareholder is, for the purposes of this Part, deemed to dispose of the share to the corporation.

1986, c. 19, s. 117; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2011, c. 1, s. 32.

510.1. Section 508 does not apply to deem a dividend to have been received by a shareholder of a public corporation where that section would otherwise have been applicable as a consequence of the application of section 506 and the following conditions are met:

(a) the shareholder is an individual resident in Canada who deals at arm's length with the corporation;

(b) the shares redeemed, acquired or cancelled are prescribed shares of the capital stock of the corporation.

1984, c. 15, s. 109; 1985, c. 25, s. 94; 1987, c. 67, s. 121; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

DEBTS OF A CORPORATION

1975, c. 22, s. 113; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

511. In computing the adjusted cost base, after 31 March 1977, of a debt owing to an individual by a corporation on 31 March 1977, the individual must deduct the amount of any dividend he would be deemed to have received on that date if the corporation had paid the debt in full on that date.

However, this section does not apply where the debt contemplated in the first paragraph is converted, after 31 March 1977 and before 1979, into shares of a particular class of the capital stock of the corporation and the debt was owing to the individual by the corporation continuously from 31 March 1977 until the time of that conversion.

DIVISION III

RULE APPLICABLE TO PAYMENT

1975, c. 22, s. 113.

517. A dividend that is deemed by this chapter, Chapter III.1 or Chapter I of Title I.1 of Book VI to have been paid at a particular time is deemed, for the purposes of this Title, to have become payable at that time.

NON-ARM'S LENGTH DISPOSITION OF SHARES

1978, c. 26, s. 93.

DIVISION I

GENERAL RULES

2017, c. 1, s. 135.

517.1. The rules provided in this chapter apply where, after 22 May 1985, a taxpayer resident in Canada other than a corporation disposes of shares, hereinafter referred to as the "subject shares", that are capital property for him, of any class of the capital stock of a particular corporation resident in Canada in favour of another corporation, hereinafter referred to as the "purchaser corporation", with which he does not deal at arm's length and, immediately after the disposition, the particular corporation is connected, within the meaning of the regulations, with the purchaser corporation.

517.2. For the purposes of this Part and subject to section 517.5.5, a dividend equal to the amount by which the aggregate determined under section 517.3 exceeds the aggregate determined under section 517.3.1 is deemed to have been paid to the taxpayer by the purchaser corporation, and received by the taxpayer from the purchaser corporation, at the time of the disposition.

517.3. The aggregate referred to in the first instance in section 517.2 is the sum of

(a) the increase, determined without reference to section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) as it applies to the acquisition of the subject shares, in the paid-up capital in respect of all shares of the capital stock of the purchaser corporation as a result of the issue by that corporation of new shares as consideration for the subject shares;

(b) the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of any consideration, other than the new shares, received by the taxpayer from the purchaser corporation for the subject shares.

1978, c. 26, s. 93; 1984, c. 15, s. 110; 1987, c. 67, s. 122.

517.3.1. The aggregate referred to in the second instance in section 517.2 is the sum of

(a) the greater of

i. the paid-up capital, immediately before the disposition, in respect of the subject shares, and

ii. subject to sections 517.4 to 517.4.2, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer, immediately before the disposition, of the subject shares;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts required to be deducted by the purchaser corporation under paragraph a of subsection 1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) in computing the paid-up capital in respect of any class of shares of its capital stock by virtue of the acquisition of the subject shares.

517.4. For the purposes of this chapter, where a share disposed of by a taxpayer was acquired by him before 1 January 1972, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the share at any time is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of

(a) the amount that would be its adjusted cost base to him if the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) were read without reference to the first two paragraphs of section 68 or to section 72;

(b) all amounts each of which is an amount received by the taxpayer after 31 December 1971 and before that time as a dividend on the share and in respect of which the corporation that paid the dividend has made an election under section 501 as it read in its application to a dividend that became payable before 1 January 1979.

517.4.1. For the purposes of this chapter, where a share disposed of by a taxpayer was acquired by him after 31 December 1971 from a person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length, was a share substituted for such a share or was a share substituted for a share owned by the taxpayer at the end of 1971, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the share at any time is deemed to be the amount by which its adjusted cost base to him, otherwise determined, exceeds the amount determined under section 517.4.2.

517.4.2. The amount referred to in section 517.4.1 is equal to the aggregate of

(a) where the share or a share for which the share was substituted was owned at the end of 1971 by the taxpayer or a person with whom the taxpayer did not deal at arm's length, the amount by which the fair market value of the share or the share for which it was substituted, on valuation day, within the meaning of section 49 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), exceeds the aggregate of

i. the actual cost, within the meaning of section 54 of the said Act, of the share or the share for which it was substituted, on 1 January 1972, to the taxpayer or the person with whom he did not deal at arm's length, and

ii. all amounts each of which is an amount received by the taxpayer or the person with whom he did not deal at arm's length after 31 December 1971 and before that time as a dividend on the share or the share for which it was substituted and in respect of which the corporation that paid the dividend has made an election under section 501, as it read in its application to a dividend that became payable before 1 January 1979;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined after 31 December 1984 under that part of section 234 which precedes subparagraph b of the first paragraph in respect of a previous disposition of the share or a share for which the share was substituted, or such lesser amount as is established by the taxpayer to be the amount in respect of which a deduction under sections 726.6 to 726.20 was claimed, by the taxpayer or an individual with whom the taxpayer did not deal at arm's length.

517.4.3. For the purposes of sections 517.4.1 and 517.4.2,

(a) where at any time a corporation issues a share of its capital stock to a taxpayer, the taxpayer and the issuing corporation are deemed not to be dealing with each other at arm's length at that time;

(b) where a taxpayer is deemed, because of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2, to have reacquired a share, the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the share at the beginning of 23 February 1994 from a person with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length; and

(c) where a share owned by a particular person, or a share substituted for that share, has by one or more transactions or events between persons not dealing at arm's length become vested in another person, the particular person and the other person are deemed at all times not to be dealing at arm's length with each other whether or not the particular person and the other person coexisted.

517.4.4. For the purposes of paragraph b of section 517.4.2, where a taxpayer or an individual with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, in this section referred to as the "transferor", disposes of a share in a taxation year and deducts an amount under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 in computing the gain for the year from the disposition, in this section referred to as the "particular disposition", the amount in respect of which an amount was deducted under Title VI.5 of Book IV in respect of the transferor's gain from the particular disposition is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of

i. the amount deducted by the transferor for the year under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 in respect of the particular disposition, and

ii. subject to the third paragraph, twice the amount deducted under Title VI.5 of Book IV in computing the taxable income of the transferor for the year in respect of the taxable capital gain from the particular disposition, and

(b) subject to the third paragraph, twice the maximum amount that could have been deducted under Title VI.5 of Book IV in computing the taxable income of the transferor for the year in respect of the taxable capital gain from the particular disposition, if

i. no amount had been deducted by the transferor under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 in computing the gain for the year from the particular disposition, and

ii. all amounts deducted under Title VI.5 of Book IV in computing the taxable income of the transferor for the year in respect of the taxable capital gain from the disposition of property to which this section does not apply, were deducted before determining the maximum amount that could have been deducted under the said Title in respect of the taxable capital gain from the particular disposition.

For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, and subject to the third paragraph, 1/2 of the aggregate of all amounts determined under this section for the year in respect of other property disposed of before the particular disposition are deemed to have been deducted under Title VI.5 of Book IV in computing the taxable income of the transferor for the year in respect of taxable capital gains from the disposition of property to which this section does not apply.

Where the taxation year of the transferor includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the following rules apply:

(a) the reference to the word "twice" in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph and the portion of subparagraph b of that paragraph before subparagraph i shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the transferor for the year; and

(b) the reference to the fraction "1/2" in the second paragraph shall be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the transferor for the year.

517.4.5. For the purposes of section 517.4.4, if more than one share to which that section applies is disposed of in a taxation year, each such share is deemed to have been separately disposed of in the order designated by the taxpayer after 19 December 2006 in accordance with subsection 2.1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in relation to those shares.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation made under subsection 2.1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to a designation made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1993, c. 16, s. 205; 2009, c. 5, s. 176.

517.5. For the purposes of this chapter, a taxpayer is deemed not to deal at arm's length with the corporation in favour of which a disposition contemplated in section 517.1 is made if, immediately before the disposition, he is a member of a group of less than six persons that controls the corporation the share of which is disposed of and if, immediately after the disposition, he is a member of a group of less than six persons that controls the corporation in favour of which the disposition is made, each member of which is a member of the group of less than six persons that, immediately before the disposition, controlled the corporation the share of which is disposed of.

517.5.0.1. For the purposes of section 517.5,

(a) a group of persons in respect of a corporation means any two or more persons each of whom owns shares of the capital stock of the corporation;

(b) a corporation that is controlled by one or more members of a particular group of persons in respect of that corporation is deemed to be controlled by that group of persons; and

(c) a corporation may be controlled by a person or a particular group of persons notwithstanding that the corporation is also controlled or deemed to be controlled by another person or group of persons.

517.5.1. For the purpose of determining whether or not a taxpayer referred to in section 517.5 is a member, at any time, of a group referred to in that section, that taxpayer is deemed to be the owner at that time of any share owned by any of the following persons:

(a) the taxpayer's child, within the meaning of subparagraph d of the first paragraph of section 451, who is under 18 years of age, or the taxpayer's spouse;

(b) a trust of which the taxpayer, a person described in paragraph a or a corporation described in paragraph c is a beneficiary;

(c) a corporation controlled by the taxpayer, by a person described in paragraph a, by a trust described in paragraph b or by any combination thereof.

Furthermore, that person is deemed, for those purposes, not to be the owner of that share.

1979, c. 18, s. 45; 1980, c. 13, s. 51; 1993, c. 16, s. 206; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 105.

517.5.2. For the purposes of this chapter, a trust and a beneficiary of the trust or a person related to a beneficiary of the trust are deemed not to deal with each other at arm's length.

1993, c. 16, s. 207.

DIVISION II

ELIGIBLE BUSINESS TRANSFER

2017, c. 1, s. 137.

517.5.3. In this division,

"eligible business transfer" of an individual means a series of transactions that includes the disposition of eligible shares of the individual in circumstances described in section 517.1, if the conditions of sections 517.5.6 to 517.5.11 are satisfied in respect of the series of transactions;

"eligible share" means

(a) a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 726.6.1; or

(b) a qualified small business corporation share, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 726.6.1.

For the purposes of this division, a corporation has a substantial interest in another corporation at a particular time if it has such an interest in the other corporation under subsection 2 of section 191 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) at that time.

2017, c. 1, s. 137; 2017, c. 29, s. 74.

517.5.4. (Repealed).

517.5.5. Where eligible shares of an individual, other than a trust, are disposed of in connection with an eligible business transfer of the individual and, but for this section, a dividend equal to the excess amount that corresponds to the amount by which the aggregate determined under section 517.3 exceeds the aggregate determined under section 517.3.1 would, under section 517.2, be deemed to have been paid by the purchaser corporation to the individual, and received by the individual from the purchaser corporation, at the time of the disposition of those shares, the following rules apply:

(a) the lesser of the amount of that excess amount and the amount that would be determined in respect of the disposition of those shares under paragraph b of subsection 1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) if that section were read without reference to paragraph e of its subsection 2 (in this section referred to as the "deemed dividend amount") is deemed to be a capital gain from the disposition of those shares, to the extent of the amount the individual designates to that effect in the individual's fiscal return filed under this Part (in this section referred to as the "designated capital gain") for the year of disposition, without, however, exceeding the amount (in this section referred to as the "particular amount") determined in accordance with the second paragraph, and, despite any other provision of this Act,

i. for the purposes of section 234, where a reserve is claimed in accordance with subparagraph b of the first paragraph of that section in respect of the portion of the proceeds of disposition of the shares that is payable after the end of the year of disposition, the gain from the disposition of those shares is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the designated capital gain exceeds the amount of the reserve (which excess amount is in this subparagraph and subparagraphs ii and iii referred to as the "reduced capital gain") and, for the purpose of determining the reserve that the individual may claim in respect of the disposition of the shares, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 is to be read without reference to its subparagraph iii, ii. for the purpose of determining the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year of disposition,

(1) section 28 is to be read, in respect of the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, as the case may be, without reference to subparagraph ii of its paragraph b and, in respect of the amount the individual may subtract in accordance with its paragraph c, as if the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain were not taken into account for the purposes of subparagraph i of its paragraph b,

(2) an amount is deductible by the individual under Book IV, except Title VI.5, only to the extent that the individual's income, determined in accordance with subparagraph 1, exceeds one-half of the amount of the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, as the case may be,

(3) an amount is deductible by the individual under Title VI.5 of Book IV, in respect of a capital gain other than the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, as the case may be, only to the extent that the individual's taxable income, determined otherwise and taking subparagraphs 1 and 2 into account, exceeds one-half of the amount of the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, and

(4) an amount is deductible by the individual under section 729 only to the extent that the excess amount referred to in paragraph b of section 28 that would be determined for the year, in respect of the individual, if the amount of the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, as the case may be, were not taken into account, and

iii. the amount determined under paragraph b of section 28, to which paragraph b of section 728.0.1 refers for the purpose of determining the individual's non-capital loss or farm loss for the year of disposition, and the amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 28, to which paragraph a of section 730 refers for the purpose of determining the individual's net capital loss for the year of disposition, are computed without taking the amount of the designated capital gain or reduced capital gain, as the case may be, into account; and

(b) the amount of the designated capital gain in respect of the disposition of those shares is deemed not to be a dividend paid by the purchaser corporation and received by the individual at the time of the disposition of those shares.

The particular amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal to twice the least of the amounts that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year either, where subsection 1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act does not apply in respect of the disposition of shares because of paragraph e of subsection 2 of that section, under subparagraphs a to e of the first paragraph of section 726.7 or 726.7.1, as the case may be, or, where subsection 1 of that section 84.1 applies in respect of the disposition of shares, under subparagraphs a to d of the first paragraph of section 726.7 or 726.7.1, as the case may be, if the deemed dividend amount were a capital gain realized by the individual in the year from the disposition of eligible shares and if subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph were not taken into account.

517.5.6. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible primary and manufacturing sectors shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual only if the individual or the individual's spouse was, while the individual owned those shares and during the 24-month period that immediately preceded the disposition of the shares, actively engaged in a business carried on by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation had a substantial interest.

(a) where the individual or the individual's spouse, as the case may be, is, immediately before the disposition of the shares, unable to actively engage in a business carried on by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation had a substantial interest due to an illness or a disability, the first paragraph is to be read as if "the 24-month period that immediately preceded the disposition of the shares" were replaced by "the 24-month period that preceded the time at which the individual's inability, or that of the individual's spouse, began";

(b) the individual is deemed, during the 24-month period that immediately precedes the disposition of the shares, to own the shares and to have been actively engaged in a business carried on by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation had a substantial interest if

i. the individual's spouse died in the 24-month period that precedes the disposition of the shares, and

ii. the individual or the individual's spouse was actively engaged in a business carried on by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation had a substantial interest during the 24-month period that precedes the date of death; and

(c) where an individual was actively engaged in a business during a particular period and all or substantially all of the assets used in the course of carrying on that business is disposed of to a corporation as consideration for shares of the capital stock of the corporation, the individual is deemed to have actively engaged in a business carried on by the corporation for the particular period.

517.5.7. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may not be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual where, after the disposition of the shares, the individual or the individual's spouse is actively engaged in a qualified business carried on by the purchaser corporation, by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation has a substantial interest, unless

(a) the active engagement of the individual or the individual's spouse in that business for a particular period (in the second paragraph referred to as the "transition period") aims to encourage the transfer of the knowledge possessed by the individual or the individual's spouse in relation to that business for the benefit of other persons actively engaged in that business;

(b) substantially all the income from the business in which the individual or the individual's spouse is actively engaged is not derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of properties, or the rendering of services, similar to those of a business that, before the disposition of the shares, was carried on by the purchaser corporation, by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the purchaser corporation or the particular corporation held a direct or indirect interest; or

(c) the active engagement of the individual or the individual's spouse in that business stems from the sole fact that the person referred to in section 517.5.11 is unable to actively engage in that business due to an illness, a disability or the person's death if the illness, disability or death begins or occurs after the disposition of the shares of the particular corporation.

For the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph, for any calendar year included in whole or in part in the transition period, the remuneration received by an individual as consideration for services rendered in the calendar year or part of calendar year because the individual is actively engaged in a business carried on by the purchaser corporation, by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation has a substantial interest must not exceed the amount obtained by multiplying the Maximum Pensionable Earnings determined for the year under section 40 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan (chapter R-9) by the proportion that the number of days in the calendar year that are included in whole or in part in the transition period is of 365.

517.5.8. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may not be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual where, in the period that begins 30 days after the disposition of the shares and ends at the end of that series of transactions, the individual or the individual's spouse controls the particular corporation or a corporation in which the particular corporation had, immediately before the disposition of those shares, a substantial interest or is a member of a group of persons that controls such a corporation, unless the corporation is

(a) a corporation carrying on a business substantially all the income of which is not derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of properties, or the rendering of services, similar to those of a business that, before the disposition of the shares, was carried on by the purchaser corporation, by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the purchaser corporation or the particular corporation held a direct or indirect interest; or

(b) a corporation that does not carry on a qualified business.

517.5.9. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may not be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual where, in the period that begins 30 days after the disposition of the shares and ends at the end of that series of transactions, the individual or the individual's spouse holds, directly or indirectly, common shares of the capital stock of the particular corporation or of a corporation in which the particular corporation had, immediately before the disposition of those shares, a substantial interest, unless they are common shares of the capital stock of such a corporation that is

(a) a corporation carrying on a business substantially all the income of which is not derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of properties, or the rendering of services, similar to those of a business that, before the disposition of the shares, was carried on by the purchaser corporation, by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the purchaser corporation or the particular corporation held a direct or indirect interest; or

(b) a corporation that does not carry on a qualified business.

517.5.10. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual only if

(a) throughout the period that begins 30 days after the disposition of the shares and ends at the end of that series of transactions, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of the residual financial interest of a person who is the individual, any other individual in respect of whom, but for this section, section 517.5.5 would apply in relation to the disposition of a share of the particular corporation in connection with that series of transactions, or their respective spouses, does not exceed

i. where the particular corporation is referred to in paragraph a of the definition of "eligible share" in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3, 80% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "corporation concerned") that is the particular corporation, the purchaser corporation or a corporation in which the particular corporation has a substantial interest at that time, or

ii. where the particular corporation is referred to in paragraph b of the definition of "eligible share" in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3, 60% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation concerned;

(b) the terms and conditions of reimbursement or redemption of the residual financial interests the amount of which is included in the first aggregate referred to in subparagraph a provide that no later than 10 years after the disposition of the shares, that aggregate will not exceed

i. where the particular corporation is referred to in paragraph a of the definition of "eligible share" in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3, 50% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation concerned, or

ii. where the particular corporation is referred to in paragraph b of the definition of "eligible share" in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3, 30% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation concerned;

(c) where the residual financial interest of a person described in subparagraph a includes a share of the capital stock of a corporation concerned,

i. the redemption of the share may not be required by the person before the expiry of the 10-year period referred to in subparagraph b unless the redemption aims to comply with the requirement of subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph b,

ii. the share entitles its holder to a cumulative dividend at a rate not exceeding a reasonable rate according to market conditions and the rate of that dividend is not based on a corporation's profitability, iii. the share is redeemable at any time at the option of the corporation concerned, and

iv. the share is convertible only into one or more shares that satisfy the conditions of subparagraphs i to iii or into one or more debts that satisfy the conditions of subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph d; and

(d) where the residual financial interest of a person described in subparagraph a includes a debt of a corporation concerned,

i. the reimbursement of the debt may not be required by the person before the expiry of the 10-year period referred to in subparagraph b unless the reimbursement aims to comply with the requirement of subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph b,

ii. the debt entitles its holder to a reasonable return according to market conditions and the return rate of the debt is not based on a corporation's profitability,

iii. the debt is reimbursable at any time, with accrued interest, at the option of the corporation concerned, and

iv. the debt is convertible only into one or more shares that satisfy the conditions of subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph c or into one or more debts that satisfy the conditions of subparagraphs i to iii.

In this section, the amount of the residual financial interest of a person described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, at any time, means an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, at that time, of a financial interest that the person holds, directly or indirectly, in a corporation concerned and that is a share of the capital stock of the corporation concerned or a debt of the corporation concerned.

For the purposes of the second paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) where a trust in which an individual or the individual's spouse has a beneficial interest holds, directly or indirectly, a financial interest in a corporation concerned, the individual is deemed to hold the financial interest;

(b) where an individual or the individual's spouse holds, directly or indirectly, a financial interest in an entity that is a trust, a partnership or a corporation, which entity holds, directly or indirectly, a financial interest in a corporation concerned, the individual is deemed to hold the financial interest in the corporation concerned; and

(c) where more than one individual would otherwise be required to include the same amount in computing their residual financial interest because of subparagraph a or b, only one of those individuals is required to take that amount into account in establishing the amount of that individual's residual financial interest in the corporation concerned.

For the purposes of subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph, no account is to be taken of the residual financial interest of a person described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph in a corporation concerned or of the fair market value, immediately before the beginning of the series of transactions, of the shares of the capital stock of such a corporation, if that corporation is

(a) a corporation carrying on a business substantially all the income of which is not derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of properties, or the rendering of services, similar to those of a business that, before the disposition of the shares, was carried on by the particular corporation, by the purchaser corporation or by a corporation in which the purchaser corporation or the particular corporation held a direct or indirect interest; or

(b) a corporation that does not carry on a qualified business.

For the purpose of determining the end of the period described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, the series of transactions to which that subparagraph applies is deemed not to include a transaction consisting in the redemption or reimbursement of the residual financial interest of an individual.

517.5.11. A series of transactions that includes the disposition by an individual of eligible shares of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") may be considered to be an eligible business transfer of the individual only if, in the period that begins immediately after the disposition of the shares and ends at the end of that series of transactions, at least one person (other than the individual) who holds, directly or indirectly, shares of the purchaser corporation, or the person's spouse, is actively engaged in a business carried on by the particular corporation or by a corporation in which the particular corporation had, immediately before the disposition of those shares, a substantial interest.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a period in which a person referred to in that paragraph who was to be actively engaged in a business is unable to be so actively engaged due to an illness, a disability or the person's death if the illness, disability or death begins or occurs after the disposition of the shares of the particular corporation.

DIVISION I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

518. The rules provided for in this division and in Divisions II and III apply where a taxpayer disposes of any of the taxpayer's property to a taxable Canadian corporation for consideration that includes a share of the capital stock of the corporation, if the taxpayer and the corporation make a valid election for the purposes of subsection 1 of section 85 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the disposition or, where that election cannot be made by reason of subsection 21.2 of section 13 of that Act, make an election, in the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1, to apply the rules in respect of the disposition.

520.1. Where section 518 applies in respect of the disposition of property, the prescribed form and, if the election made by the taxpayer and the corporation is the first election mentioned in that section, a copy of every document sent to the Minister of Revenue of Canada in respect of the disposition in connection with that election, shall be sent to the Minister.

The prescribed form shall also be sent to the Minister where an application is made to the Minister under the third paragraph of section 522 in respect of the disposition.

In addition, the taxpayer incurs, solidarily with the corporation, a penalty equal

(a) where a document referred to in the first paragraph is not sent to the Minister on or before the date, referred to as the "particular date" in subparagraph i, that is the later of the earliest of the filing-due dates for the persons having made the election referred to in section 518 in respect of the disposition for the taxation year in which the disposition was made and the date of the last day of the two-month period following the end of the taxation year which, of the taxation years of those persons, ends the latest, to the lesser of

i. 0.25% of the amount by which the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition exceeds the proceeds of disposition of the property, for each month or part of a month during the period beginning on the particular date and ending on the day on which the documents have all been sent to the Minister, and

ii. the product obtained by multiplying $100 by the number of months each of which is a month all or part of which is during the period referred to in subparagraph i, or

(b) where an application made to the Minister in respect of a disposition under the third paragraph of section 522 is granted by the Minister, to the lesser of the amounts that would be determined in respect of the disposition under subparagraphs i and ii of subparagraph a if the reference in subparagraph i to "the documents have all been sent to the Minister" were a reference to "the prescribed form referred to in the second paragraph is sent to the Minister"; in such case, this subparagraph is deemed not to apply in respect of any other such application made previously in respect of the disposition.

However, the total amount of the penalties that the taxpayer incurs, solidarily with the corporation, under the third paragraph in respect of the disposition may not exceed the greater of the penalties that the taxpayer would otherwise incur, solidarily with the corporation, in respect of the disposition under subparagraph a or subparagraph b of the third paragraph nor $5,000.

520.2. Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to give effect to the rules provided for in this division and in Divisions II and III in respect of the disposition of property.

DIVISION II

VALUATION OF TRANSFERRED PROPERTY

1972, c. 23.

521.2. Subject to section 522, where the taxpayer and the corporation make the first election mentioned in section 518 in respect of the disposition of property, the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property and the cost to the corporation of the property are deemed to be equal to such amount as is established in respect of the property under subsection 1 of section 85 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), except that, for the purposes of paragraphs b and c of section 528, the proceeds of disposition of the property are deemed to be equal to that amount established without reference to paragraph e.2 of subsection 1 of that section 85.

522. Notwithstanding section 521.2 and subject to the fourth paragraph, where the taxpayer and the corporation make the election referred to in section 518 in respect of the disposition of property, where the conditions described in the second paragraph are met for the transferor and for the transferee, where the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1 is sent to the Minister on or before the end of a three-year period, or a longer period allowed by the Minister in the circumstances, that follows the particular date referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 520.1 in respect of the disposition and where, in the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1 or, if the application made to the Minister under the third paragraph in respect of the disposition is granted by the Minister, in the prescribed form referred to in the second paragraph of section 520.1, the taxpayer and the corporation jointly agree on an amount in respect of the property, the amount so agreed on is deemed to be

(a) the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property and the cost of the property to the corporation;

(b) subject to subparagraph c, equal to the fair market value, at the time of the disposition, of the consideration received by the taxpayer for the property if the amount agreed on is actually less than that fair market value and if the consideration is not a share of the capital stock of the corporation or a right to receive any such share; and

(c) equal to the fair market value of the property, at the time of the disposition, if the amount agreed on is actually greater than that fair market value.

The conditions referred to in the first paragraph are as follows:

(a) in the case of an individual, the individual must be resident in Québec at the end of the individual's taxation year in which the disposition is made and, if the second paragraph of section 22 applies to the individual for that year, the proportion applicable in respect of the individual in that second paragraph for that year must be not less than 9/10;

(b) in the case of a corporation, the proportion that the business carried on by the corporation in Québec is of the aggregate of the business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere established by the regulations made under section 771 for its taxation year in which the disposition is made, must be not less than 9/10; and

(c) in the case of a partnership, the proportion that the business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of the business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere that would be established in its respect by the regulations made under section 771 for its taxation year in which the disposition is made if the partnership were a corporation and if its fiscal period were a taxation year, must be not less than 9/10.

In addition, the Minister may, on a joint application by the taxpayer and by the corporation, allow, for the purposes of the first paragraph in respect of the disposition, the taxpayer and the corporation

(a) where the election made by the taxpayer and the corporation is the first election mentioned in section 518, to agree on an amount in respect of the property if they have not done so in the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1;

(b) where the election made by the taxpayer and the corporation is the first election mentioned in section 518, to be deemed never to have agreed on an amount in respect of the property; or

(c) to agree on a new amount in respect of the property, which amount is deemed to be the only amount agreed on in respect of the property for the purposes of the first paragraph.

However, where the election made by the taxpayer and the corporation is the first election mentioned in section 518, this section does not apply in respect of the disposition unless all or substantially all of the difference between the amount that would, but for this section, be determined in respect of the property under section 521.2 and the amount agreed on in its respect in the first paragraph, is justified by a difference between the cost amount of the property to the taxpayer, immediately before the disposition, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) and the cost amount, at that time, for the purposes of this Part, or by another reason considered by the Minister to be acceptable in the circumstances.

Where the election made by the taxpayer and the corporation in respect of the disposition is not the first election mentioned in section 518 and, but for this paragraph, any of the conditions for the application of the first paragraph in respect of the disposition is not met, the election is deemed, notwithstanding section 518, never to have been made by the taxpayer and the corporation in respect of the disposition.

523. Where, in accordance with section 522, the taxpayer and the corporation have jointly agreed in the prescribed form on an amount in respect of property described in section 524, the amount is deemed, despite subparagraphs b and c of the first paragraph of section 522, but subject to the second paragraph, to be equal to the least of the amounts described in paragraph b or c, as the case may be, of section 524.

However, the amount shall in no case be less than the amount that is deemed to be the amount agreed on under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 522, subject to subparagraph c of that paragraph.

524. Section 523 applies where the property disposed of is

(a) (paragraph repealed);

(b) depreciable property of a prescribed class the proceeds of disposition of which would otherwise be less than the least of

i. the undepreciated capital cost to the taxpayer of all property of that class immediately before the disposition,

ii. the cost to the taxpayer of the property, and

iii. the fair market value of the property at the time of its disposition; and

(c) capital property, other than depreciable property of a prescribed class, an inventory, a NISA Fund No. 2, a farm income stabilization account or a property that is referred to in paragraph g or g.1 of subsection 1.1 of section 85 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), and the amount agreed upon in accordance with section 522 in the prescribed form in respect of the property is less than the lesser of

i. the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition, and

ii. the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property at the time of disposition.

524.0.2. (Repealed).

524.1. Where the taxpayer referred to in section 518 carries on a farming business the income of which is computed in accordance with the cash method and the property disposed of as referred to in that section 518 was inventory owned by the taxpayer in connection with that business immediately before the time the property was disposed of to the corporation referred to in that section 518,

(a) subject to subparagraphs b and c of the first paragraph of section 522 and notwithstanding paragraph c of section 524, the amount agreed on, if any, in accordance with section 522 in the prescribed form, in respect of inventory purchased by the taxpayer is deemed to be equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$[(A \times B) / C] + D;$$

(a.1*)* the amount referred to in section 521.2 in respect of inventory purchased by the taxpayer is deemed, where it would otherwise be less than the particular amount that would be determined in respect of the property by the formula in subparagraph a if no account were taken of the letter D, to be equal to that particular amount;

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 194, the disposition of the property and the receipt of proceeds of disposition therefor are deemed to have occurred at the particular time and in the course of carrying on the business; and

(c) for the purposes of section 194, where the property of which the corporation has become the owner is in connection with a farming business and the income from that business is computed in accordance with the cash method,

i. the corporation is deemed to have paid, at the particular time and in the course of carrying on that business, an amount equal to the cost to the corporation of the property, and

ii. the corporation is deemed to have purchased the property at the particular time and in the course of carrying on that business, for an amount equal to that cost.

For the purposes of the formula set forth in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount that would be included, by reason of subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 194, in computing the taxpayer's income for his last taxation year commencing before the particular time referred to in the first paragraph if that taxation year had ended immediately before the particular time;

(b) B is the value, determined in accordance with section 194.2, to the taxpayer immediately before the particular time, of the inventory purchased by him and in respect of which the election under section 518 is made;

(c) C is the value, determined in accordance with section 194.2, of all of the inventory purchased by the taxpayer that was owned by him in connection with that business immediately before the particular time;

(d) D is such additional amount as the taxpayer and the corporation designate in respect of the property.

1993, c. 16, s. 211; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 85, s. 90.

525. Where two or more properties, each of which is a property described in paragraph b of section 524, are disposed of at the same time, sections 523 and 524 apply as if each property so disposed of had been separately disposed of in the order designated by the taxpayer in the prescribed form or, if the taxpayer does not so designate any such order, in the order designated by the Minister.

525.1. Where section 518 applies in respect of the disposition of depreciable property of a prescribed class of a taxpayer that is a passenger vehicle to which paragraph d.3 of section 99 applies and the taxpayer and the corporation to which the property is disposed of do not deal with each other at arm's length, the amount referred to in section 521.2 in respect of the property or, where section 522 applies thereto, the amount agreed on in respect of the property in the prescribed form, is deemed to be equal to the undepreciated capital cost to the taxpayer of the class immediately before the disposition, minus, where applicable, the amount deducted by the taxpayer under paragraph a of section 130 in respect of the passenger vehicle in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year in which the passenger vehicle was disposed of by the taxpayer.

However, for the purposes of section 41.0.1, the cost to the corporation of the passenger vehicle is deemed to be an amount equal to its fair market value immediately before the disposition.

525.2. Where section 518 applies in respect of the disposition of depreciable property of a prescribed class of a taxpayer that is a zero-emission passenger vehicle to which paragraph d.5 of section 99 applies and the taxpayer and the corporation to which the property is disposed of do not deal with each other at arm's length, the amount referred to in section 521.2 in respect of the property or, where section 522 applies thereto, the amount agreed on in respect of the property in the prescribed form, is deemed to be equal to the cost amount to the taxpayer of the vehicle immediately before the disposition.

However, for the purposes of section 41.0.1, the cost to the corporation of the vehicle is deemed to be an amount equal to its fair market value immediately before the disposition.

2021, c. 18, s. 47.

526. Where section 522 applies in respect of the disposition of property by a taxpayer, where the fair market value of the property, immediately before the time of the disposition, exceeds the greater of the fair market value, immediately after that time, of the consideration received by the taxpayer and the amount otherwise agreed on in the prescribed form in respect of the property, and where it is reasonable to regard any part of the excess as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on a person related to the taxpayer, other than a corporation that is a wholly-owned corporation of the taxpayer immediately after the disposition, the amount agreed on in the prescribed form in respect of the property is deemed, except for the purposes of paragraphs b and c of section 528, to be an amount equal to the amount otherwise agreed on in the prescribed form in respect of the property to which that part of the excess is added.

526.1. For the purposes of section 526 and this section, "wholly-owned corporation" of a taxpayer means a corporation all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of which, except director's qualifying shares, belong to

(a) the taxpayer,

(b) a corporation that is a wholly-owned corporation of the taxpayer, or

(c) any combination of persons described in paragraph a or b.

DIVISION III

COST OF PROPERTY OR OF THE CONSIDERATION

1972, c. 23.

527. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of any regulations made for the purposes of paragraph a of section 130, where Divisions I and II or Division IV apply in respect of the disposition of depreciable property to a person and the capital cost to the transferor of the property exceeds the transferor's proceeds of disposition of the property, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost to the transferee of the property is deemed to be equal to the amount that was its capital cost to the transferor; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the transferee as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years that ended before the time of disposition.

527.3. Where Divisions I and II have applied in respect of the disposition of any property by an individual to a corporation, the cost of the property to the individual was included in computing an amount determined under section 75.2.1 or 75.3 in respect of the individual, the property is depreciable property of the corporation, and the amount, in this section referred to as the "individual's original cost", that would be the cost of the property to the individual immediately before its disposition if this Act were read without reference to section 75.5 exceeds the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost to the corporation of the property is deemed to be equal to the individual's original cost; and

(b) the amount by which the individual's original cost exceeds the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property is deemed to have been allowed to the corporation as depreciation in respect of the property for taxation years that end before the time of disposition.

528. Where a taxpayer and a corporation make the election referred to in section 518 in respect of a disposition, the cost to the taxpayer of each property the taxpayer receives for the disposition is deemed to be equal

(a) in the case of any particular property other than a share of the capital stock of the corporation or of a right to receive such share, to the lesser of the fair market value of that property at the time of disposition and the proportion of the fair market value, at the same time, of the property disposed of by the taxpayer to the corporation, that the fair market value of such particular property is of that of all such particular properties which he receives as consideration for such disposition;

(b) in the case of a preferred share of a given class of the capital stock of the corporation, to the lesser of the fair market value of such share immediately after the disposition and that proportion of the excess of the proceeds of disposition of that property over the fair market value of the particular property contemplated in paragraph a which he receives for such disposition, that the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of that preferred share of such class is, at the same time, of all the preferred shares of the capital stock of the corporation that he receives or has a right to receive as consideration for such disposition; and

(c) in the case of a common share of a given class of the capital stock of the corporation, to that proportion of the excess of the proceeds of disposition of the property over the aggregate of the fair market value, at the time of disposition, of the particular property contemplated in paragraph a, that he receives for such disposition, and of the cost, to him, of all the preferred shares which he has a right to receive for such disposition, that the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of such common share of that class is, at the same time, of the fair market value all the common shares of the capital stock of the corporation that he receives or has a right to receive as consideration for such disposition.

DIVISION IV

TRANSFER BY A PARTNERSHIP

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

529. Where a partnership disposes of any property (other than an eligible derivative, within the meaning of section 85.8, if subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 85.7 applies to the partnership) to a taxable Canadian corporation for consideration that includes a share of the capital stock of the corporation, and all the members of the partnership and the corporation make a valid election for the purposes of subsection 2 of section 85 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the disposition or, where that election cannot be made by reason of subsection 21.2 of section 13 of that Act, make an election, in the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1, the provisions of Divisions I to III apply, with the necessary modifications, in respect of the disposition as if the partnership were a taxpayer resident in Canada that had disposed of the property to the corporation.

In addition, for the purposes of the third paragraph of section 520.1 in respect of the disposition, subparagraph a of that paragraph is to be read as if "the taxation year which, of the taxation years of those persons, ends the latest" in the portion before subparagraph i was replaced by "that taxation year of the corporation or the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made, whichever year or period in the latter case ends later".

CERTAIN TRANSFERS MADE BEFORE 26 MARCH 1997

1997, c. 85, s. 94.

529.1. Except for the purposes of this section, where property is disposed of to a corporation before 26 March 1997 by a taxpayer or a partnership, in subparagraph b referred to as the "transferor", Divisions I to III, or I to IV, as the case may be, as they read in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997 and not as they read in respect of the disposition, apply in respect of the disposition where

(b) it may not reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of an excess amount is attributable to the difference between the cost amount of the property to the transferor, immediately before the disposition, for the purposes of this Part and the cost amount of the property to the transferor, at that time, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), where that excess amount is

i. the amount by which the transferor's income for the taxation year in which the disposition is made is reduced by reason of the application of Divisions I to III, or I to IV, as the case may be, in respect of the disposition, exceeds the amount, if any, by which the transferor's income for that year, established for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act, is reduced by reason of the application of section 85 of that Act in respect of the disposition, or

ii. the amount by which the cost amount of the property to the corporation, immediately after the disposition, for the purposes of this Part, exceeds the cost amount of the property to the corporation established at that time for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act.

However, the first paragraph does not apply where the disposition is of property in respect of which section 522, as it reads in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997, would apply if

(a) the disposition had been made on 26 March 1997;

(b) where the election referred to in section 518 or in the first paragraph of section 529, as the case may be, as that section 518 or that paragraph reads in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997, was not made in respect of the disposition, the election had been made for an amount agreed on equal to the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition; and

(c) an amount had been agreed on in respect of the property in the prescribed form for the purposes of that section 522, and was equal to the amount agreed on in its respect in the election made under section 518 or the first paragraph of section 529, as the case may be, as that section 518 or that paragraph reads in respect of the disposition, or to the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition if no election were made.

1997, c. 85, s. 94; 1997, c. 85, s. 781.

DIVISION IV.2

WINDING-UP OF THE BUSINESS OF A PARTNERSHIP WITHIN 60 DAYS

1997, c. 85, s. 94; 2000, c. 39, s. 29.

530. Sections 531 to 533 apply where section 529 applies in respect of the disposition of property of a partnership to a corporation, where the affairs of the partnership are wound-up within 60 days of the disposition and where, immediately before the winding-up of the partnership, its property includes nothing but money and property received from the corporation as consideration for the disposition.

1972, c. 23, s. 413; 1984, c. 35, s. 15; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

531. The partnership which, at the time of its winding-up, has distributed property contemplated in section 530 to a member of the partnership is deemed to have disposed of it for proceeds equal to the cost amount to the partnership of the property immediately before such distribution.

532. The cost to each member of the partnership of each property received or receivable by the member as consideration for the disposition of the member's partnership interest on the winding-up of the partnership is deemed to be

(a) in the case of property other than a share of the capital stock of the corporation or a right to receive such share, the fair market value of that property at the time of the winding-up;

(b) in the case of a preferred share of a given class of the capital stock of the corporation that was not accompanied by a common share, the amount determined under subparagraph ii and, if it was accompanied by a common share, the lesser of:

i. the fair market value, immediately after the winding-up, of such preferred share of that class which he receives or has the right to receive; and

ii. that proportion of the excess of the adjusted cost base to him of his partnership interest immediately before its winding-up over the aggregate of the fair market value, at the time of winding-up, of the consideration contemplated in paragraph a and received by him from the disposition of his partnership interest, that the fair market value, immediately after the winding-up, of such preferred share of that class that he so receives or has the right to receive is of the fair market value, at the same time, of all preferred shares of the capital stock of the corporation which he receives or also has the right to receive as consideration for the disposition; and

(c) in the case of a common share of a given class of the capital stock of the corporation, an amount equal to that proportion of the amount by which the adjusted cost base to him of his partnership interest immediately before the winding-up exceeds the aggregate of the fair market value, at the time of disposition, of the property contemplated in paragraph a that he receives for the disposition, and the cost to him of all the preferred shares he has the right to receive for the disposition, that the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of that common share of that class is at the same time of the fair market value of all the common shares of the capital stock of the corporation he receives or has the right to receive as consideration for the disposition.

533. The proceeds of disposition of the partnership interest of any member of a partnership on its winding-up is deemed to be the cost, to the member, of the property and shares received or receivable by the member as consideration for the disposition of the interest plus the amount of any money received by the member as consideration for the disposition.

1972, c. 23, s. 415; 1984, c. 35, s. 15; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 39, s. 30.

DIVISION V

Repealed, 2000, c. 5, s. 122.

1997, c. 14, s. 82; 2000, c. 5, s. 122.

DIVISION VI

EXCHANGE OF SHARES

1975, c. 22, s. 122.

536. The rules set out in sections 537 to 539 apply where a Canadian corporation, in this division referred to as the "particular corporation", issues a share of any particular class of its capital stock to a taxpayer in exchange for capital property owned by the taxpayer that is a share, in this division referred to as the "exchanged share", of a particular class of the capital stock of a second corporation which is a taxable Canadian corporation.

However, they do not apply where

(a) the taxpayer and the particular corporation were, immediately before the exchange, not dealing with each other at arm's length, otherwise than by reason of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20 that is a right of the particular corporation to acquire the exchanged share, or the taxpayer and the corporation made an election under section 518 or 529 in respect of the exchanged share;

(b) immediately after the exchange, the taxpayer or persons with whom the taxpayer is not dealing at arm's length, separately or together, controlled the particular corporation or owned shares of the capital stock thereof having a fair market value of more than 50% of that of all of the outstanding shares of its capital stock;

(c) the taxpayer receives a consideration other than a share of the particular class of the capital stock of the particular corporation in exchange for the exchanged share, except where such other consideration results from the disposition to the particular corporation of a share of the capital stock of the second corporation other than the exchanged share; or otherwise determined, from the disposition of the exchanged share in computing the taxpayer's foreign accrual property income, within the meaning of section 579, for that taxation year.

(d) the taxpayer is a foreign affiliate of another taxpayer resident in Canada at the end of the taxation year of the taxpayer in which the exchange occurred and the taxpayer has included any portion of the gain or loss,

1975, c. 22, s. 122; 1978, c. 26, s. 95; 1989, c. 77, s. 56; 1990, c. 59, s. 196; 1994, c. 22, s. 198; 1995, c. 49, s. 141; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 107.

537. Unless the taxpayer has included any portion of the gain or loss, otherwise determined, from the disposition of the exchanged share in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year in which the exchange occurred, the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of the exchanged share for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base of the share to the taxpayer immediately before the exchange and to have acquired the share issued in exchange at a cost equal to such adjusted cost base.

538. If the exchanged share is a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the share issued in exchange is deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the exchange, a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, as the case may be.

1975, c. 22, s. 122; 2004, c. 8, s. 107; 2011, c. 6, s. 134.

539. The cost of the exchanged share to the particular corporation, at any particular time up to and including the time it disposes of the share, is deemed to be the lesser of the following amounts:

(a) the fair market value of the exchanged share immediately before the exchange;

(b) the paid-up capital of the exchanged share immediately before the exchange.

539.1. For the purposes of the first paragraph of section 536 and sections 537 to 539, where a particular corporation issues shares (in this section referred to as "new shares") of a class of its capital stock to a trust in accordance with a court-approved plan of arrangement, the issue is deemed to be an issue to a taxpayer referred to in the first paragraph of section 536, if the taxpayer disposes of exchanged shares traded on a designated stock exchange to the particular corporation for consideration that consists solely of new shares that are widely traded on a designated stock exchange immediately after and as part of completion of the plan of arrangement.

540. Where a taxpayer disposes of capital property that is a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer to a corporation that, immediately after the disposition, is also a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for consideration that includes a share of the capital stock of that affiliate:

(a) section 542 applies, with the necessary modifications, to determine the cost to the taxpayer of all property receivable by him as consideration for such disposition;

(b) the taxpayer's proceeds of such disposition of the shares so disposed of is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of the cost to him of all property receivable by him as consideration; and

(c) the cost to the foreign affiliate of the shares acquired by it from the taxpayer is deemed to be equal to the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of them, as determined in paragraph b.

1975, c. 22, s. 122; 1995, c. 63, s. 261; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

540.1. Section 540 does not apply in respect of a disposition at any time by a taxpayer of a share of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the taxpayer to another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer if

(a) the following conditions are met:

i. all or substantially all of the property of the particular affiliate was, immediately before that time, excluded property, within the meaning of section 576.1, of the particular affiliate, and

ii. the disposition is part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events for the purpose of disposing of the share to a person or partnership that, immediately after the transaction, event or series, was a person or partnership with whom the taxpayer is dealing at arm's length, other than a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of which the taxpayer has a qualifying interest, within the meaning of paragraph m of subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), at the time of the transaction or event or throughout the series, as the case may be; or

(b) the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the share at that time is greater than the amount that would, in the absence of section 540, be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the share in respect of the disposition.

540.2. Subject to section 540, and subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) when it has effect for the purposes of section 579, the rules set out in sections 540.3 and 540.4 apply where a corporation not resident in Canada (in this division referred to as the "foreign corporation") issues a share of its capital stock to a taxpayer in exchange for capital property owned by the taxpayer that is a share (in this division referred to as the "exchanged foreign share") of the capital stock of a second corporation not resident in Canada.

However, they do not apply where

(a) the taxpayer and the foreign corporation were, immediately before the exchange, not dealing with each other at arm's length, otherwise than by reason of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20 that is a right of the foreign corporation to acquire the exchanged foreign share;

(b) immediately after the exchange, the taxpayer or persons with whom the taxpayer is not dealing at arm's length, separately or together, controlled the foreign corporation or owned shares of the capital stock thereof having a fair market value of more than 50% of that of all of the outstanding shares of its capital stock;

(c) the taxpayer receives a consideration other than the issued share in exchange for the exchanged foreign share, except where such consideration results from the disposition to the foreign corporation of a share of the capital stock of the second corporation other than the exchanged foreign share; or

(d) the taxpayer is a foreign affiliate of another taxpayer resident in Canada at the end of the taxation year of the taxpayer in which the exchange occurred and

i. the taxpayer has included any portion of the gain or loss, otherwise determined, from the disposition of the exchanged foreign share in computing the taxpayer's foreign accrual property income, within the meaning of section 579, for that taxation year, or

ii. the exchanged foreign share is excluded property, within the meaning of section 576.1, of the taxpayer.

2004, c. 8, s. 109; 2015, c. 21, s. 183.

540.3. Unless the taxpayer has included any portion of the gain or loss, otherwise determined, from the disposition of the exchanged foreign share in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year in which the exchange occurred, the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of the exchanged foreign share for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base of the share to the taxpayer immediately before the exchange and to have acquired the share issued in exchange at a cost equal to such adjusted cost base.

540.4. If the exchanged foreign share is a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the share issued in exchange is deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the exchange, a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, as the case may be.

540.4.1. For the purposes of the first paragraph of section 540.2 and sections 540.3 and 540.4, where a foreign corporation issues shares (in this section referred to as "new shares") of a class of its capital stock to a trust in accordance with a court-approved plan of arrangement, the issue is deemed to be an issue to a taxpayer referred to in the first paragraph of section 540.2, if the taxpayer disposes of exchanged foreign shares traded on a designated stock exchange to the foreign corporation for consideration that consists solely of new shares that are widely traded on a designated stock exchange immediately after and as part of completion of the plan of arrangement.

540.5. The rules in section 540.6 apply if a taxpayer disposes, before 1 January 2013, of an investment in a SIFT wind-up entity (in section 540.6 referred to as the "particular unit") to a taxable Canadian corporation if

(a) the disposition occurs during a period (in this section and section 540.6 referred to as the "exchange period") of no more than 60 days at the end of which all of the interests in the entity that are investments in a SIFT wind-up entity are owned by the corporation;

(b) the taxpayer receives no consideration for the disposition other than a share (in this section and section 540.6 referred to as the "exchange share") of the capital stock of the corporation that is issued during the exchange period to the taxpayer by the corporation;

(c) neither of sections 518 and 529 applies in respect of the disposition; and

(d) all of the exchange shares issued to holders of interests in the entity that are investments in a SIFT wind-up entity are shares of a single class of the capital stock of the corporation.

2010, c. 25, s. 39.

540.6. The rules to which section 540.5 refers, in relation to a disposition by a taxpayer of a particular unit of a SIFT wind-up entity to a corporation for consideration that is an exchange share, are as follows:

(a) the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the particular unit, and cost of the exchange share, are deemed to be equal to the cost amount to the taxpayer of the particular unit immediately before the disposition;

(b) if the particular unit was immediately before the disposition taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the exchange share is deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the disposition, taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, as the case may be;

(c) if the exchange share's fair market value immediately after the disposition exceeds the particular unit's fair market value at the time of the disposition, the excess is deemed to be an amount that Division IV of Chapter II of Title III requires to be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxpayer's taxation year in which the disposition occurs;

(d) if the particular unit's fair market value at the time of the disposition exceeds the exchange share's fair market value immediately after the disposition, and it is reasonable to regard any part of the excess as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on a person, or partnership, with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, the excess is deemed to be an amount that Division IV of Chapter II of Title III requires to be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxpayer's taxation year in which the disposition occurs; and

(e) the cost to the corporation of the particular unit is deemed to be the lesser of

i. the fair market value of the particular unit immediately before the disposition, and

ii. the amount determined for B in the formula in paragraph f of subsection 8 of section 85.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), in respect of the particular unit.

2010, c. 25, s. 39; 2011, c. 6, s. 136.

CHAPTER V

REORGANIZATION OF CAPITAL

1972, c. 23.

541. This chapter applies where at a particular time after 6 May 1974, in the course of a reorganization of the capital of a corporation, a taxpayer disposes to the corporation of capital property that is shares of a particular class of the capital stock of the corporation that are then owned by him for consideration receivable by him from the corporation that includes another share of such capital stock, except where section 518 or 529 applies.

542. The cost to the taxpayer of any property receivable by him as consideration for the disposition referred to in section 541 is deemed to be:

(a) in the case of property other than a share of the capital stock of the corporation, the fair market value of that property at the time of such disposition;

(b) in the case of a share of any class of the capital stock of the corporation, that proportion of the amount by which the aggregate of the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer, immediately before the disposition, of each share disposed of exceeds the fair market value at the same time of the property referred to in paragraph a, that the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of such share of such class is of the fair market value, at the same time, of all the shares of the capital stock of the corporation receivable by him as consideration for the disposition.

543. The proceeds of disposition of the shares of the taxpayer, upon reorganization, as provided in this chapter, are deemed to be equal to the aggregate of the cost to him of all property receivable by him as consideration.

543.1. Notwithstanding paragraph b of section 542 and section 543, where the fair market value of the shares disposed of by the taxpayer exceeds, immediately before the disposition, the aggregate of the cost deemed to him under paragraph a of section 542 of any property contemplated therein, and of the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of every share contemplated in paragraph b of section 542, and it is reasonable to regard all or any portion of such excess as a benefit that the taxpayer desires to have conferred on a person related to the taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to dispose of the shares for proceeds equal to the lesser of their fair market value immediately before the disposition and of the aggregate of the cost deemed to him under paragraph a of section 542 of any property contemplated therein, and of the amount of the benefit conferred;

(b) the taxpayer's capital loss resulting from the disposition of shares is deemed to be nil; and

(c) the cost to the taxpayer of a share of any class of the capital stock of the corporation receivable by him in consideration for the shares disposed of is deemed to be that proportion of the amount by which the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer, immediately before the disposition, of each share disposed of exceeds the aggregate determined in paragraph a, that the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of such share of such class is of the fair market value, at the same time, of the aggregate of the shares receivable by him as consideration for the disposition.

543.2. The following rules apply in respect of each share receivable by a taxpayer as consideration for the disposition referred to in section 541:

(a) the taxpayer shall deduct after the disposition, in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the share, the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B / C;$$

(b) the taxpayer shall add after the disposition, in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the share, the amount determined under subparagraph a in respect of the acquisition.

For the purposes of the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which

i. the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph b.1 of section 257 in computing, immediately before the disposition, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the shares disposed of, exceeds

ii. the amount that would be, but for subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234, the taxpayer's capital gain for the taxation year that includes the time of the disposition, from the disposition of the shares disposed of;

(b) B is the fair market value of the share at the time it was acquired by the taxpayer as consideration for the disposition of the shares disposed of; and

(c) C is the fair market value of all shares receivable by the taxpayer in consideration for the disposition at the time referred to in subparagraph b.

1996, c. 39, s. 150.

CHAPTER VI

AMALGAMATION

1972, c. 23.

DIVISION I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

544. (1) For the purposes of this chapter, an amalgamation is a merger of several taxable Canadian corporations, hereinafter called "predecessor corporations", which are replaced to form one corporate entity hereinafter referred to as the "new corporation", in such a manner that, on account of such merger,

(a) all of the property of the predecessor corporations immediately before the merger, except an amount receivable from a predecessor corporation or a share of the capital stock of such a corporation, becomes property of the new corporation;

(b) all the liabilities of the predecessor corporations immediately before the merger, except an amount payable to a predecessor corporation, become liabilities of the new corporation; and

(c) all of the shareholders, who owned shares of the capital stock of any predecessor corporation immediately before the merger, receive a share of the capital stock of the new corporation, excepting the predecessor corporations themselves.

(2) An amalgamation does not result from the acquisition of property of one corporation by another or from the distribution of property of another corporation being wound up to another corporation.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph c of subsection 1, where there is a merger of a corporation and of one or more of its subsidiary wholly controlled corporations or of several corporations each of which is a subsidiary wholly-controlled corporation of the same corporation, any share of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation owned by a shareholder, except a predecessor corporation, immediately before the merger that was not cancelled on the merger is deemed to be a share of the capital stock of the new corporation received by the shareholder by virtue of the merger as consideration for the disposition of a share of the capital stock of the predecessor corporation.

(4) Where there has been an amalgamation of a corporation and one or more of its subsidiary wholly-owned corporations or two or more corporations each of which is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the same person, the new corporation is, for the purposes of Chapter VII.1 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) and sections 332.1, 332.2, 359.1 to 359.17, 362 to 418.36, 419.1 to 419.4 and 419.6, deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each predecessor corporation. However, this subsection shall in no respect affect the determination of any predecessor corporation's fiscal period, taxable income or tax payable.

(5) For the purposes of subsections 3 and 4, this subsection and the second paragraph of section 547.1, and notwithstanding section 1, "subsidiary wholly-owned corporation" of a particular person means a corporation all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of which are owned by

(a) the particular person;

(b) a corporation that is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the particular person; or

(c) any combination of persons each of which is a person described in paragraph a or b.

1972, c. 23, s. 422; 1975, c. 22, s. 126; 1978, c. 26, s. 96; 1980, c. 13, s. 52; 1982, c. 5, s. 124; 1984, c. 15, s. 113; 1985, c. 25, s. 95; 1986, c. 19, s. 119; 1989, c. 77, s. 58; 1994, c. 22, s. 199; 1995, c. 49, s. 143; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1998, c. 16, s. 170.

544.1. If there is an amalgamation of two or more corporations and one of those corporations is a SIFT wind-up corporation, the new corporation is deemed to be a SIFT wind-up corporation.

2010, c. 25, s. 40.

545. (1) The new corporation resulting from the amalgamation must include in computing its income or its taxable income all the amounts which would have been otherwise included in computing the income or the taxable income of the predecessor corporations.

(2) The new corporation may deduct, for the purposes of computing its income or taxable income, all the amounts that would have been otherwise deductible when computing the income or taxable income of the predecessor corporations.

(3) (Subsection repealed).

(4) The new corporation is deemed, for the purposes of section 104.1 or 104.4, to have deducted in computing its income the aggregate of all amounts deducted under section 156.1 or 156.5, as the case may be, in computing the income of the predecessor corporations.

(5) For the purposes of sections 741 to 744.2.2,

(a) any taxable dividend received on a share that was deductible in computing the predecessor corporation's taxable income for a taxation year under sections 738 to 745 or section 845 is deemed to be a taxable dividend received on the share by the new corporation that was deductible from the new corporation's income for a taxation year under sections 738 to 745 or section 845, as the case may be;

(b) any dividend, other than a taxable dividend, received on a share by the predecessor corporation is deemed to have been received on the share by the new corporation; and

(c) a share acquired by the new corporation from a predecessor corporation is deemed to have been owned by the new corporation throughout any period of time throughout which it was owned by a predecessor corporation.

546. For the purposes of this Part, the new corporation must attribute to the assets and liabilities of the predecessor corporations the costs, values and prices otherwise determined in accordance with this Part for such predecessor corporations immediately before the amalgamation.

1972, c. 23, s. 424; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

546.1. For the purposes of section 194, where the income of the predecessor corporation at the end of its taxation year ending immediately before the amalgamation, in this section referred to as its "last taxation year", from a farming business and the income of the new corporation from a farming business are computed in accordance with the cash method, the new corporation is deemed to have purchased, in its first taxation year and in the course of carrying on that farming business, the property described in its inventory in connection with that business at the commencement of its first taxation year that was property described in the inventory in connection with the farming business of the predecessor corporation at the end of its last taxation year, for an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount included, by reason of subparagraph b or c of the second paragraph of section 194, in computing the income from a farming business of the predecessor corporation for its last taxation year.

1993, c. 16, s. 216; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

547. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 425; 1978, c. 26, s. 97; 1985, c. 25, s. 96; 1994, c. 22, s. 200.

547.0.1. (Repealed).

547.1. For the purposes of determining either the non-capital loss, the net capital loss, the restricted farm loss, the farm loss or the limited partnership loss, as the case may be, of the new corporation for any taxation year, or the extent to which sections 734 to 736.0.4 and paragraph e of section 999.1 have the effect of restricting the deductibility by the new corporation of such a loss, the new corporation is deemed to continue the corporate existence of any predecessor corporation.

However, this section shall not affect the determination of the fiscal period or of the income of the new corporation or any predecessor corporation or that of the taxable income of, or the tax payable under this Act by, any predecessor corporation other than a corporation which, where the new corporation is formed by the amalgamation of a particular corporation and one or more of its subsidiary wholly-owned corporations, is the particular corporation.

547.3. (Repealed).

1995, c. 63, s. 42; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 84.

548. For the purposes of section 34, an employee or former employee of a predecessor corporation is deemed to be, as the case may be, an employee or former employee of the new corporation.

1972, c. 23, s. 426; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

549. For the purposes of this Part, the new corporation is deemed to continue the corporate existence of any predecessor corporation, except when otherwise provided in this chapter or the regulations.

However, the first taxation year of the new corporation is deemed to begin at the time of the amalgamation.

1972, c. 23, s. 427; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2009, c. 5, s. 180.

550. For the purposes of this Part, the amount for the new corporation, at a particular time, of its capital dividend account and its capital gains dividend account designates the amount determined under the rules prescribed for such purposes.

550.0.1. For the purpose of applying this chapter to an amalgamation governed by section 689 of the Act respecting financial services cooperatives (chapter C-67.3), an investment deposit of a savings and credit union is deemed to be a share of a separate class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation in respect of the amalgamation the adjusted cost base and paid-up capital of which to the savings and credit union is equal to the adjusted cost base to the savings and credit union of that deposit immediately before the amalgamation if

(a) immediately before the amalgamation, that deposit is an investment deposit, to which section 425 of the Savings and Credit Unions Act (chapter C-4.1) applies, of an investment fund of the predecessor corporation; and

(b) on the amalgamation, the savings and credit union disposes of that deposit for consideration that consists solely of shares of a class of the capital stock of the new corporation.

2009, c. 5, s. 181.

550.1. (Repealed).

1979, c. 18, s. 47; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 124.

550.2. (Repealed).

550.3. For the purposes of sections 21.5 to 21.9.4.1, if, as a result of an amalgamation after 16 November 1978, a particular share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation is issued in consideration for the disposition of a share of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation and the terms and conditions of the particular share are similar to the terms and conditions of the share so disposed of, the following rules apply:

(a) the particular share is deemed to have been issued at the same time as the share disposed of;

(b) if the share disposed of was issued under an agreement in writing, the particular share is deemed to have been issued under that agreement; and

(c) the new corporation is deemed to be the same corporation as the predecessor corporation.

1980, c. 13, s. 53; 1984, c. 15, s. 116; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2007, c. 12, s. 67.

550.4. For the purposes of sections 21.12 to 21.15, where, following an amalgamation after 16 November 1978, a debt or other obligation, both referred to as a "debt" in this section, of the new corporation is issued in consideration for the disposition of an income bond or income debenture of a predecessor corporation and the terms and conditions of the debt are similar to the terms and conditions of the bond or debenture so disposed of, the debt is deemed to have been issued at the same time as the bond or debenture disposed of and under the same agreement as that under which the bond or debenture disposed of was issued.

550.5. Where, following an amalgamation or merger of two or more corporations after 27 November 1986, a particular share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation is issued to a shareholder in consideration for the disposition of a share by that shareholder of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation and the attributes of the particular share are similar to the attributes of the share so disposed of, the following rules apply for the purpose of applying this section and sections 21.10 to 21.11.21, 21.16, 740.2 to 740.3.1 and 740.5 to the particular share:

(a) the particular share is deemed to have been issued at the same time as the share disposed of;

(b) where the share disposed of was a share described in any of paragraphs a to d of section 21.11.20, the particular share is deemed, for the purposes of sections 21.11.20 and 21.11.21, to be the same share as the share disposed of;

(c) the particular share is deemed to have been acquired by the shareholder at the same time as the share disposed of;

(d) the new corporation is deemed to be the same corporation as the predecessor corporation.

1990, c. 59, s. 199; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

550.6. For the purposes of paragraph d of section 21.11.20, where, following an amalgamation or merger of two or more corporations after 18 June 1987, a particular right listed on a designated stock exchange to acquire a share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation is acquired by a shareholder in consideration for the disposition by him of a right described in the said paragraph d to acquire a share of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation, the terms and conditions of the particular right are similar to the terms and conditions of the right disposed of and the attributes of the share that may be acquired upon an exercise of the particular right are similar to the attributes of the share that could have been acquired upon an exercise of the right disposed of, the particular right is deemed to be the same right as the right disposed of.

550.7. Where there has been an amalgamation of two or more corporations each of which is a development corporation, within the meaning of section 363, or a corporation that at no time carried on business, and a predecessor corporation entered into an agreement with a person at a particular time under which the predecessor corporation issued to the person before the amalgamation, for consideration given by the person, a share (in this section referred to as the "old share") that was a flow-through share other than a right to acquire a share, or a right to acquire a share that would be a flow-through share if it were issued, the following rules apply for the purposes of section 359.8 and Part III.14 and for the purpose of renouncing an amount under any of sections 359.2, 359.2.1 and 359.4 in respect of Canadian exploration expenses or Canadian development expenses that would, but for the renunciation, be incurred by the new corporation after the amalgamation:

(a) the person is deemed to have given the consideration under the agreement to the new corporation for the issue of the particular share described in the second paragraph,

(b) the agreement is deemed to have been entered into between the person and the new corporation at the particular time,

(c) the particular share described in the second paragraph is deemed to be a flow-through share of the new corporation, and

(d) the new corporation is deemed to be the same corporation as the predecessor corporation.

The particular share referred to in the first paragraph is a share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation

(a) that the new corporation issues on the amalgamation to the person referred to in the first paragraph or to a person or partnership that subsequently acquired the old share in consideration for the disposition of the old share of the predecessor corporation and the attributes of which are similar to the attributes of the old share; or

(b) that the new corporation is obliged after the amalgamation to issue to the person referred to in the first paragraph pursuant to the right of that person to acquire a share of the capital stock of the predecessor corporation that would have been a flow-through share if it had been issued, and that would, if it were issued, be a flow-through share.

For the purposes of this section, "flow-through share" has the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 359.1.

550.8. For the purposes of Title III of Part II, a share, in this section referred to as the "new share", is deemed to be listed on a designated stock exchange until the earliest time at which it is redeemed, acquired or cancelled, where

(a) a new corporation is formed as a result of an amalgamation;

(b) the new corporation is a public corporation;

(c) the new corporation issues the new share, which is a share of any class of the capital stock thereof;

(d) the new share is issued in exchange for a share, in this section referred to as the "old share", of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation;

(e) immediately before the amalgamation, the old share was listed on a designated stock exchange; and

(f) the new share is redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the new corporation within 60 days after the amalgamation.

2001, c. 7, s. 55; 2010, c. 5, s. 49.

550.9. Where at any time there is an amalgamation of a corporation, in this section referred to as the "parent", and one or more other corporations, each of which is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the parent, the following rules apply:

(a) the shares of each subsidiary are deemed to have been disposed of by the parent immediately before the amalgamation for proceeds equal to the proceeds that would be determined under section 558 if sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 applied, with the necessary modifications, to the amalgamation; and

(b) the cost to the new corporation formed on an amalgamation of each capital property of each subsidiary acquired on the amalgamation is deemed to be the amount that would have been the cost to the parent of the property if the property had been distributed at that time to the parent on a winding-up of the subsidiary and sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 had applied to the winding-up.

2001, c. 7, s. 55.

DIVISION II

SHAREHOLDER OR CREDITOR OF A PREDECESSOR CORPORATION

1972, c. 23; 1975, c. 22, s. 129; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

551. This division applies to a taxpayer who, immediately before an amalgamation, owned a capital property that was a share of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation, an option to acquire such a share, or a bond, a debenture, a hypothecary claim, a mortgage, a note or other similar obligation of such corporation and who received from the new corporation, by reason of such amalgamation, no consideration for the disposition of such capital property other than a property that is, as the case may be, a share of the capital stock of the new corporation, an option to acquire such share, a bond, a debenture, a hypothecary claim, a mortgage, a note or another similar obligation, respectively, of the new corporation.

However, this division does not apply if the taxpayer is himself a predecessor corporation or if the amount payable on the maturity of the bond, debenture, hypothecary claim, mortgage, note or other similar obligation received as consideration for the capital property disposed of on the amalgamation is not the same as the amount that would have been payable on the maturity of such capital property disposed of.

552. The taxpayer referred to in section 551 is deemed to have disposed, by reason of the amalgamation, of capital property described therein for proceeds equal to its adjusted cost base to him immediately before the amalgamation.

1972, c. 23, s. 430; 1975, c. 22, s. 131.

553. The taxpayer referred to in section 551 is deemed to have acquired the property received as consideration for the disposition at a cost equal to the proceeds determined under section 552 for the capital property disposed of or, in the case of a share of any particular class of the new corporation, at a cost equal to that proportion of such proceeds that the fair market value, immediately after the amalgamation, of the share of such class so acquired by him is of the fair market value, at the same time, of all the shares so acquired by him.

553.1. Notwithstanding sections 552 and 553, where, immediately before the amalgamation, the fair market value of the shares of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation that belonged to a taxpayer exceeds the fair market value, immediately after the amalgamation, of the shares he has received as consideration, and it is reasonable to regard all or any portion of such excess as a benefit that the taxpayer desires to have conferred on a person related to the taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer shall be deemed to dispose of the shares of the capital stock of the predecessor corporation for proceeds equal to the lesser of their fair market value immediately before the amalgamation and the aggregate of their adjusted cost base to him at the same time, and the amount of the benefit conferred;

(b) the taxpayer's capital loss resulting from the disposition of the shares shall be deemed to be nil; and

(c) the cost to the taxpayer of any share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation acquired by him on the amalgamation is deemed to be that proportion of the lesser of the adjusted cost base to him, immediately before the amalgamation, of the shares disposed of and the aggregate of the fair market value, immediately after the amalgamation, of all the shares acquired by him on the amalgamation, and the amount that, but for paragraph b, would be the taxpayer's capital loss from the disposition of the shares, that the fair market value, immediately after the amalgamation, of such share of that class is of the fair market value, at the same time, of the aggregate of the shares so acquired by him.

553.2. Where the cost to a taxpayer referred to in section 551 of a property received as consideration for the disposition that is an option or a bond, debenture or note is determined at any time under section 553 and the terms of the bond, debenture or note conferred upon the holder the right to exchange that bond, debenture or note for shares,

(a) the taxpayer shall deduct after that time, in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the property, the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph b.1 of section 257 in computing, immediately before that time, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the capital property disposed of; and

(b) the taxpayer shall add, after that time, in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the property, the amount determined under paragraph a.

1996, c. 39, s. 153.

554. If the capital property disposed of that is referred to in section 551 is a share or an option to acquire such a share that is a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the share or option received as consideration is deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the amalgamation referred to in that section, a taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, as the case may be.

555. Subject to subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) where it has effect for the purposes of section 579, this division applies, with the necessary modifications, to a taxpayer in respect of a share or an option to acquire a share of the capital stock of a corporation where there is a foreign merger under which a share owned by the taxpayer or an option owned by the taxpayer to acquire such a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was a predecessor foreign corporation immediately before the merger is exchanged for or becomes a share or an option to acquire a share of the capital stock of a new foreign corporation or a foreign parent corporation.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the first paragraph does not apply where the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 8 of section 87 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) to have the rules provided for in that section not apply in respect of the exchange.

555.0.1. In this chapter, "foreign merger" means a merger or combination of corporations each of which was, immediately before the merger or combination, resident in a country other than Canada, each of which is in this chapter referred to as a "predecessor foreign corporation", to form one corporate entity resident in a country other than Canada, in this chapter referred to as the "new foreign corporation", in such a manner that, by reason of the merger or combination and otherwise than as a result of the distribution of property to one corporation on the winding-up of another corporation,

(a) all or substantially all of the property, except any amount receivable from any predecessor foreign corporation or share of the capital stock of any predecessor foreign corporation, of the predecessor foreign corporations immediately before the merger or combination becomes property of the new foreign corporation;

(b) all or substantially all of the liabilities, except any amount payable to any predecessor foreign corporation, of the predecessor foreign corporations immediately before the merger or combination become liabilities of the new foreign corporation; and

(c) all or substantially all of the shares of the capital stock of the predecessor foreign corporations, except any shares or options owned by any predecessor foreign corporation, are exchanged for or become shares of the capital stock of

i. the new foreign corporation, or

ii. another corporation resident in a country other than Canada, in this chapter referred to as the "foreign parent corporation", if, immediately after the merger, the new foreign corporation was controlled by the foreign parent corporation.

555.0.2. For the purposes of section 555.0.1, if there is a merger or combination, otherwise than as a result of the distribution of property to one corporation on the winding-up of another corporation, of two or more corporations not resident in Canada (each of which is referred to in this section as a "predecessor foreign corporation"), as a result of which one or more predecessor foreign corporations ceases to exist and, immediately after the merger or combination, another predecessor foreign corporation (referred to in this section as the "survivor corporation") owns properties (except an amount receivable from, or shares of the capital stock of, any predecessor foreign corporation) representing all or substantially all of the fair market value of all such properties owned by each predecessor foreign corporation immediately before the merger or combination, the following rules apply:

(a) the merger or combination is deemed to be a merger or combination of the predecessor foreign corporations to form one corporation not resident in Canada;

(b) the survivor corporation is deemed to be the corporation not resident in Canada so formed;

(c) all of the properties of the survivor corporation immediately before the merger or combination that are properties of the survivor corporation immediately after the merger or combination are deemed to become properties of the survivor corporation as a consequence of the merger or combination;

(d) all of the liabilities of the survivor corporation immediately before the merger or combination that are liabilities of the survivor corporation immediately after the merger or combination are deemed to become liabilities of the survivor corporation as a consequence of the merger or combination;

(e) all of the shares of the capital stock of the survivor corporation that were outstanding immediately before the merger or combination and that are shares of the capital stock of the survivor corporation immediately after the merger or combination are deemed to become shares of the capital stock of the survivor corporation as a consequence of the merger or combination; and

(f) all of the shares of the capital stock of each predecessor foreign corporation (other than the survivor corporation) that were outstanding immediately before the merger or combination and that cease to exist as a consequence of the merger or combination are deemed to have been exchanged by the shareholders of each such predecessor foreign corporation for shares of the survivor corporation as a consequence of the merger or combination.

2015, c. 21, s. 185.

555.0.3. Section 555 does not apply in respect of a taxpayer's share of the capital stock of a predecessor foreign corporation that is exchanged for or becomes, on a foreign merger, a share of the capital stock of the new foreign corporation or the foreign parent corporation, where

(a) the new foreign corporation is, at the time that is immediately after the foreign merger, a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer;

(b) shares of the capital stock of the new foreign corporation are, at the time that is immediately after the foreign merger, excluded property, within the meaning of section 576.1, of another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer; and

(c) the foreign merger is part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that includes a disposition of shares of the capital stock of the new foreign corporation, or property substituted for the shares, to

i. a person (other than a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of which the taxpayer has a qualifying interest, within the meaning of paragraph m of subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), at the time of the transaction or event or throughout the series, as the case may be) with whom the taxpayer was dealing at arm's length immediately after the transaction, event or series, or

ii. a partnership a member of which is, immediately after the transaction, event or series, a person described in subparagraph i.

2017, c. 1, s. 138.

555.0.4. If, at a particular time, there is a merger of two or more foreign corporations, one of the foreign corporations (in this section referred to as the "particular corporation") disposes, because of the merger, of a particular taxable Canadian property that is a share of the capital stock of a corporation, an interest in a partnership or an interest in a trust, the particular property becomes property of the corporation resulting from the merger (in this section referred to as the "new corporation") and the new corporation and the particular corporation make a valid election under paragraph e of subsection 8.4 of section 87 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the merger, the following rules apply:

(a) if the particular property is an interest in a partnership,

i. the particular corporation is deemed not to have disposed of the particular property, and

ii. the new corporation is deemed

(1) to have acquired the particular property at a cost equal to the cost of the particular property to the particular corporation, and

(2) to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, the particular corporation in respect of the particular property; and

(b) if the particular property is a share of the capital stock of a corporation or an interest in a trust,

i. the particular property is deemed to have been disposed of at the particular time by the particular corporation to the new corporation for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base of the property to the particular corporation immediately before that time, and

ii. the cost of the particular property to the new corporation is deemed to be equal to the amount that is deemed to be the proceeds of disposition of the property under subparagraph i.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph e of subsection 8.4 of section 87 of the Income Tax Act.

2020, c. 16, s. 79.

DIVISION III

RULES APPLICABLE TO CERTAIN MERGERS

1980, c. 13, s. 54.

555.1. This division applies where a new corporation resulting from the merger of several taxable Canadian corporations is, immediately after the merger, controlled by a taxable Canadian corporation, hereinafter called the "particular corporation", and where, at the time of the merger, shares of the capital stock of the particular corporation are issued to persons who, immediately before the merger, were shareholders of a predecessor corporation.

555.2. For the purposes of paragraph c of subsection 1 of section 544, sections 551 to 554 and the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), any share of the particular corporation received by a shareholder of a predecessor corporation is deemed to be a share of the new corporation received by the shareholder by virtue of the merger.

555.2.1. For the purposes of sections 550.3 and 550.5, a share of the particular corporation issued to a shareholder in consideration for the disposition of a share of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation is deemed to be a share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation that was issued in consideration for the disposition of a share of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation by that shareholder.

1993, c. 16, s. 218; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

555.2.2. For the purposes of section 550.6, a right listed on a designated stock exchange to acquire a share of a class of the capital stock of the particular corporation is deemed to be a right listed on such a stock exchange to acquire a share of a class of the capital stock of the new corporation.

555.2.2.1. For the purposes of the second paragraph of section 550.7, a share of the particular corporation issued to a shareholder in consideration for a share of any class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation is deemed to be a share of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation issued to the shareholder by the new corporation on the merger, and an obligation of the particular corporation to issue a share of a class of its capital stock to a person in circumstances described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 550.7 is deemed to be an obligation of the new corporation to issue a share to the person.

2015, c. 24, s. 84.

555.2.3. For the purposes of applying sections 551 to 553 and section 554 to the merger, in respect of a right to acquire a share, any reference therein to the new corporation shall be read as a reference to the particular corporation.

1994, c. 22, s. 202; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

555.2.4. For the purpose of applying section 550.8 in respect of a merger,

(a) the reference in paragraph b of that section to "the new corporation" shall be read as a reference to "the new corporation or the particular corporation, within the meaning assigned by Division III of this chapter"; and

(b) the references in paragraphs c and f of that section to "the new corporation" shall be read as references to "the public corporation referred to in paragraph b".

2001, c. 7, s. 57.

555.3. (1) Notwithstanding section 553, the cost to the particular corporation of shares of any class of the capital stock of the new corporation is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of the cost to it of such shares as determined under section 553 and, where all of the issued shares of the capital stock of the new corporation are owned by the particular corporation immediately after the merger, the portion attributed to those shares in accordance with section 555.4 of the amount referred to in subsection 2.

(2) The amount referred to in subsection 1 is the amount by which the aggregate, immediately before the merger, of the adjusted cost bases to the particular corporation of all the shares of a predecessor corporation that were then beneficially owned by it, is exceeded by the amount by which the aggregate, immediately after the merger, of the money on hand of the new corporation and the cost amount to the new corporation of each property owned by it exceeds the aggregate of all the debts of the new corporation.

555.4. For the purposes of section 555.3, the particular corporation shall itself determine in its fiscal return for the taxation year in which the merger occurs the portion of the amount referred to in subsection 2 of that section which is attributed to the shares of the class contemplated in that section.

However, the portion of that amount so attributed to shares of a particular class must not exceed the amount by which the fair market value, immediately after the merger, of the shares of that class issued by virtue of the merger exceeds the cost of those same shares to the particular corporation, determined without reference to this section nor to section 555.3.

Furthermore, the aggregate of the portions so attributed to the shares of each class of the capital stock of the new corporation must not exceed the amount referred to in subsection 2 of section 555.3.

1980, c. 13, s. 54; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 85.

CHAPTER VII

WINDING-UP OF A CANADIAN SUBSIDIARY

1972, c. 23.

556. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part other than section 427.4, the rules set forth in this chapter apply to the winding-up after 6 May 1974 of a taxable Canadian corporation not less than 90% of the issued shares of each class of the capital stock of which were, immediately before the winding-up, owned by another taxable Canadian corporation, and the balance of the shares of which were owned by persons with whom the other corporation was dealing at arm's length.

In this chapter, the wound-up corporation is called the "subsidiary" while the other corporation owning the shares is called "parent".

557. Any property, other than an interest in a partnership, that was distributed to the parent by a subsidiary on the winding-up is deemed to have been disposed of by the subsidiary for proceeds equal to the cost amount to the subsidiary of the property immediately before the winding-up.

However,

(a) in the case of a Canadian resource property, a foreign resource property or a right to receive production, as defined in section 158.1, to which a matchable expenditure, as defined in section 158.1, relates, the proceeds are deemed to be equal to zero; and

(b) in the case of a specified debt obligation, within the meaning assigned by section 851.22.1, other than a mark-to-market property, within the meaning assigned by that section, the property is deemed, except for the purposes of section 427.4, not to have been disposed of where the subsidiary was a financial institution, within the meaning assigned by section 851.22.1, in its taxation year in which its property was distributed to the parent on the winding-up and the parent was such a financial institution in its taxation year in which it received the property of the subsidiary on the winding-up.

Each interest of the subsidiary in a partnership that was distributed to the parent on the winding-up is deemed, except for the purposes of section 632, not to have been disposed of by the subsidiary.

558. The parent is deemed to dispose, on the winding-up, of the shares of the capital stock of the subsidiary owned by it immediately before that time for proceeds equal to the greater of

(a) the lesser of

i. the paid-up capital in respect of the shares immediately before the winding-up; and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts each of which is in respect of any property owned by the subsidiary immediately before the winding-up and equal to the cost amount to it of the property at that time, plus its cash then on hand, exceeds the aggregate of all the debts of the subsidiary immediately before the winding-up and of the amount of each reserve deducted by the subsidiary in computing its income for the taxation year during which its property was distributed to the parent on the winding-up, other than a reserve contemplated in sections 153, 234 and 279 and sections 357 and 358, as they apply in respect of a disposition made before 13 November 1981; or

(b) the aggregate of amounts each of which is in respect of any share of the capital stock of the subsidiary and equal to the adjusted cost base of the share to the parent, immediately before the winding-up.

559. Notwithstanding the reference to section 546 in section 564, except where section 546 applies in respect of a property to which subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 557 applies, the cost to the parent of each property of the subsidiary distributed to the parent on the winding-up is deemed, subject to the second paragraph, to be equal

(a) in the case of a property that is an interest in a partnership, to the amount that but for this section would be the cost to the parent of the property; and

(b) in any other case, to the amount by which the amount that, but for section 427.4, would be deemed by section 557 to be the proceeds of disposition of the property exceeds the amount by which the cost amount to the subsidiary has been reduced because of sections 485 to 485.18 on the winding-up.

If the property referred to in the first paragraph is a capital property, other than property described in the third paragraph, owned by the subsidiary at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary and subsequently without interruption until the time it was distributed to the parent on the winding-up, there is to be added to the cost to the parent of the property, as otherwise determined under the first paragraph, the amount determined under section 560 in respect of the property.

The property referred to in the second paragraph is

(a) depreciable property, including a leasehold interest in a depreciable property and an option to acquire a depreciable property;

(b) property transferred to the parent on the winding-up where the transfer is part of a distribution, within the meaning assigned by section 308.0.1, made in the course of a reorganization in which a dividend was received to which section 308.1 would, but for section 308.3, apply;

(c) property acquired by the subsidiary from the parent or from any person or partnership that was not, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, dealing at arm's length with the parent, or any other property acquired by the subsidiary in substitution for it, where the acquisition was part of the series of transactions or events in which the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary; or

(d) property distributed to the parent on the winding-up where, as part of the series of transactions or events that includes the winding-up,

i. the parent acquired control of the subsidiary, and

ii. any property distributed to the parent on the winding-up or any other property acquired by any person in substitution therefor is acquired by

(1) a particular person, other than a specified person, that, at any time during the course of the series and before control of the subsidiary was last acquired by the parent, was a specified shareholder of the subsidiary,

(2) two or more persons, other than specified persons, if a particular person would have been, at any time during the course of the series and before control of the subsidiary was last acquired by the parent, a specified shareholder of the subsidiary if all the shares that were then owned by those two or more persons were owned at that time by the particular person, or

(3) a corporation, other than a specified person or the subsidiary, of which a particular person referred to in subparagraph 1 is, at any time during the course of the series of transactions or events and after control of the subsidiary was last acquired by the parent, a specified shareholder, or of which a particular person would be, at any time during the course of the series of transactions or events and after control of the subsidiary was last acquired by the parent, a specified shareholder if all the shares then owned by persons, other than specified persons, referred to in subparagraph 2 and acquired by those persons as part of the series of transactions or events were owned at that time by the particular person.

1972, c. 23, s. 437; 1975, c. 22, s. 140; 1978, c. 26, s. 101; 1980, c. 13, s. 56; 1984, c. 15, s. 118; 1989, c. 77, s. 63; 1990, c. 59, s. 200; 1993, c. 16, s. 221; 1994, c. 22, s. 204; 1996, c. 39, s. 157; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 125; 2004, c. 8, s. 112; 2009, c. 5, s. 182.

560. The amount that is to be added to the cost, to the parent, of a particular capital property described in the second paragraph of section 559 is equal, subject to the second paragraph, to the lesser of

(a) the total of

i. the amount designated after 19 December 2006 by the parent in accordance with paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in relation to the particular capital property, and

ii. if the total of the amounts designated by the parent in accordance with paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act in relation to the aggregate of the capital properties described in the second paragraph of section 559 corresponds to the maximum total of the amounts that the parent may then designate in accordance with that paragraph d in relation to the aggregate of those capital properties, the portion—that is specified by the parent, in its fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year in which the subsidiary is wound up, in relation to the particular capital property and that is not so specified in relation to another capital property—of the amount by which the amount described in the third paragraph in respect of the capital properties described in the second paragraph of section 559 exceeds the portion of the maximum total of the amounts that the parent may then designate in accordance with that paragraph d in relation to the aggregate of those capital properties that exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the amount described in subparagraph i in respect of a capital property described in the second paragraph of section 559 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph b in respect of that capital property; and

(b) the amount by which the fair market value of the particular capital property, at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary, exceeds the aggregate of

i. the greater of the cost amount to the subsidiary of the capital property at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary and the cost amount to the subsidiary of the capital property immediately before the winding-up, and

ii. the amount prescribed for the purposes of C in the formula in subparagraph ii of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act.

However, if the aggregate of the amounts determined under the first paragraph in respect of the capital properties described in the second paragraph of section 559 would, but for this paragraph, exceed the amount described in the third paragraph, the amount otherwise determined under the first paragraph in respect of such a capital property must be reduced to the amount specified in relation to that capital property by the parent in its fiscal return under this Part for the taxation year in which the subsidiary is wound up or, if no amount is so specified, by the Minister, so that the aggregate is equal to the amount described in the third paragraph.

The amount referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph and in the second paragraph is an amount equal to the amount by which the aggregate described in paragraph b of section 558 exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amount determined under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 558; and

(b) the aggregate of each amount relating to a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary disposed of by the parent on the winding-up or in contemplation of the winding-up and equal to the aggregate of each amount received by the parent or by a corporation with which the parent was not dealing at arm's length, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20 in respect of the subsidiary, in respect of that share or a share (in this subparagraph referred to as a "replacement share") that replaced that share or a replacement share or that was exchanged for that share or a replacement share, as a taxable dividend, to the extent that the amount was deductible under sections 738 to 745 or section 845 in computing the taxable income of the recipient corporation for a taxation year and was not an amount on which it was required to pay prescribed tax, or as a capital dividend or life insurance capital dividend.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation made under paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to a determination made under this section before 20 December 2006.

560.1. For the purposes of sections 559 and 560, where the parent did not deal at arm's length with another person at any time before the winding-up, the parent and the other person are deemed never to have dealt with each other at arm's length, whether or not the parent and the other person coexisted.

The first paragraph does not apply if the other person is a corporation the control of which was acquired by the parent from a person with whom the parent dealt at arm's length.

1980, c. 13, s. 58; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 126.

560.1.1. For the purposes of this section and subparagraph d of the third paragraph of section 559,

(a) "specified person", at a particular time, means

i. the parent,

ii. each person who would be related to the parent at that time if

(1) paragraph b of section 20 were not taken into account, and

(2) each person who is the child of a deceased individual were related to each brother or sister of the individual and to each child of a deceased brother or sister of the individual, and

iii. if the particular time is before the incorporation of the parent, each person who is described in subparagraph ii throughout the period that begins at the time the parent is incorporated and ends at the time that is immediately before the beginning of the winding-up;

(a.1) a person described in subparagraph ii or iii of paragraph a is deemed not to be a specified person if it can reasonably be considered that one of the main purposes of one or more transactions or events is to cause the person to become a specified person so as to prevent a property that is distributed to the parent on the winding-up from being, for the purposes of section 559, a property described in the third paragraph of that section;

(b) where at a particular time a property is owned or acquired by a partnership or a trust,

i. the partnership or the trust, as the case may be, is deemed to be a corporation having one class of issued shares, which shares have full voting rights under all circumstances,

ii. each member of the partnership or beneficiary under the trust, as the case may be, is deemed to own at that time the proportion of the number of issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation that the fair market value at that time of that member's interest in the partnership or that beneficiary's interest in the trust, as the case may be, is of the fair market value at that time of all the members' interests in the partnership or beneficiaries' interests in the trust, as the case may be, and

iii. the property is deemed to have been owned or acquired at that time by the corporation;

(c) in determining whether a person is a specified shareholder of a corporation,

i. the reference in section 21.17 to "the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation or of any other corporation that is related to the corporation" shall be read as a reference to "the issued shares of any class, other than a specified class, of the capital stock of the corporation or of any other corporation that is related to the corporation and that has a significant direct or indirect interest in any issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation",

i.1. a corporation controlled by another corporation is, at a particular time, deemed not to own any shares of the capital stock of the other corporation if, at that time, the corporation does not have a direct or an indirect interest in any of the shares of the capital stock of the other corporation,

i.2. section 21.18 is to be read without reference to its paragraph a in respect of any share of the capital stock of the subsidiary that the person would, but for this subparagraph, be deemed to own solely because the person has a right described in paragraph b of section 20 to acquire shares of the capital stock of a corporation that

(1) is controlled by the subsidiary, and

(2) does not have a direct or an indirect interest in any of the shares of the capital stock of the subsidiary, and

ii. a corporation is deemed not to be a specified shareholder of itself; and

(d) property that is distributed to the parent on the winding-up is deemed not to be acquired by a person if the person acquired the property before the acquisition of control referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph d of the third paragraph of section 559 and the property is not owned by the person at any time after that acquisition of control.

560.1.2. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the third paragraph of section 559, property acquired by any person in substitution for particular property or properties distributed to the parent on the winding-up includes the following property but not the property described in the second paragraph:

(a) property, other than specified property, owned by the person at a particular time after the acquisition of control referred to in subparagraph i of that subparagraph d more than 10% of the fair market value of which is, at the particular time, attributable to the particular property or properties; and

(b) property owned by the person at a particular time after the acquisition of control referred to in subparagraph i of that subparagraph d the fair market value of which is, at the particular time, determinable primarily by reference to the fair market value of, or to any proceeds from a disposition of, the particular property or properties.

The property to which the first paragraph refers is

(a) money;

(b) property that was not owned by the person at a particular time after the acquisition of control referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph d of the third paragraph of section 559;

(c) property described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph if the only reason the property is described in that subparagraph is because a specified property described in any of subparagraphs a to d of the first paragraph of section 560.1.3 was received as consideration for the acquisition of a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary in the circumstances described in those subparagraphs a to d;

(d) a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary or a debt owing by the subsidiary, where the share or debt was owned by the parent immediately before the winding-up; or

(e) a share of the capital stock of a corporation or a debt owing by a corporation, where the fair market value of the share or debt was not, at any time after the beginning of the winding-up, wholly or partly attributable to property distributed to the parent on the winding-up.

2000, c. 5, s. 128; 2015, c. 24, s. 86.

560.1.2.0.1. For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 560, where the particular capital property is an interest of a subsidiary in a partnership, the fair market value of the interest at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary is deemed to be equal to the amount determined by the formula

A - B.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the fair market value (determined without reference to this section) of the interest of the subsidiary in the partnership at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary; and

(b) B is the portion of the amount by which the fair market value (determined without reference to this section) of the interest of the subsidiary in the partnership at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary exceeds its cost amount at that time as may reasonably be regarded as attributable at that time to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. in the case of a depreciable property held directly by the partnership or held indirectly by the partnership through one or more other partnerships, the amount by which the fair market value (determined without reference to liabilities) of the property exceeds its cost amount,

ii. in the case of a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property held directly by the partnership or held indirectly by the partnership through one or more other partnerships, the fair market value (determined without reference to liabilities) of the property, or

iii. in the case of a property that is not a capital property, a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property and that is held directly by the partnership or held indirectly through one or more other partnerships, the amount by which the fair market value (determined without reference to liabilities) of the property exceeds its cost amount.

For the purposes of subparagraph a of the second paragraph, the fair market value of an interest of the subsidiary in a particular partnership at the time the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary is deemed not to include the amount that is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the fair market value of a property that would otherwise be included in computing the fair market value of the interest, if

(a) as part of the transaction or event or series of transactions or events in which control of the subsidiary is last acquired by the parent and on or before the acquisition of control,

i. the subsidiary disposes of the property to the particular partnership or any other partnership and the second paragraph of section 614 applies in respect of the disposition, or

ii. where the property is an interest in a partnership, the subsidiary acquires the interest in the particular partnership or any other partnership from a person or partnership with whom the subsidiary does not deal at arm's length (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20) and Divisions I to IV of Chapter IV apply in respect of the acquisition; and

(b) at the time of the acquisition of control, the particular partnership holds directly, or indirectly through one or more other partnerships, property described in any of subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph.

560.1.2.1. For the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 560.1.1 and this section, a specified class of the capital stock of a corporation is a class of shares of the capital stock of the corporation where

(a) the paid-up capital in respect of the class was not, at any time, less than the fair market value of the consideration for which the shares of that class then outstanding were issued;

(b) the shares are non-voting in respect of the election of the board of directors, except in the event of a failure or default under the terms or conditions of the shares;

(c) under neither the terms and conditions of the shares nor any agreement in respect of the shares are the shares convertible into or exchangeable for shares other than shares of a specified class of the capital stock of the corporation; and

(d) under neither the terms and conditions of the shares nor any agreement in respect of the shares is any holder of the shares entitled to receive on the redemption, cancellation or acquisition of the shares by the corporation or by any person with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length an amount, excluding any premium for early redemption, greater than the aggregate of the fair market value of the consideration for which the shares were issued and the amount of any unpaid dividends on the shares.

2004, c. 8, s. 114.

560.1.3. For the purposes of section 560.1.2, a specified property is

(a) a share of the capital stock of the parent that was received as consideration for the acquisition of a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary by the parent or by a corporation that was a specified subsidiary corporation of the parent immediately before the acquisition, or issued for consideration that consists solely of money;

(b) an indebtedness that was issued by the parent as consideration for the acquisition of a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary by the parent, or for consideration that consists solely of money;

(c) a share of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation that was received as consideration for the acquisition of a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary by the taxable Canadian corporation or by the parent where the parent was a specified subsidiary corporation of the taxable Canadian corporation immediately before the acquisition;

(d) an indebtedness of a taxable Canadian corporation that was issued by it as consideration for the acquisition of a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary by the taxable Canadian corporation or by the parent where the parent was a specified subsidiary corporation of the taxable Canadian corporation immediately before the acquisition; or

(e) where the subsidiary was formed on the amalgamation of two or more particular corporations at least one of which was a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the parent,

i. a share of the capital stock of the subsidiary that was issued on the amalgamation and that is, before the beginning of the winding-up, redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the subsidiary for consideration that consists solely of money or shares of the capital stock of the parent, or of any combination of the two, or exchanged for shares of the capital stock of the parent, or

ii. a share of the capital stock of the parent issued on the amalgamation in exchange for a share of the capital stock of one of the particular corporations.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) a corporation is a specified subsidiary corporation of another corporation, at a particular time, where the other corporation holds, at that time, shares of the corporation

i. that give the shareholder 90% or more of the votes that could be cast under all circumstances at an annual meeting of shareholders of the corporation, and

ii. having a fair market value of 90% or more of the fair market value of all the issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation; and

(b) a reference to a share of the capital stock of a corporation includes a right to acquire a share of the capital stock of the corporation.

2000, c. 5, s. 128; 2015, c. 24, s. 87.

560.1.4. For the purposes of section 560.1.2 and notwithstanding section 21.4.2, where control of a corporation is acquired by way of articles of arrangement relating to the corporation, that control is deemed to have been acquired at the end of the day on which the arrangement becomes effective.

2000, c. 5, s. 128.

560.2. For the purposes of this paragraph and sections 559 and 560, the time at which a particular person or group of persons last acquired control of a subsidiary is, where control of the subsidiary was acquired from another person or group of persons, in this paragraph referred to as the "vendor", with whom the particular person or group of persons was not dealing at arm's length otherwise than solely because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, deemed to be the earlier of

(a) the time at which the vendor last acquired control, within the meaning of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 739, with the necessary modifications, of the subsidiary; and

(b) the time at which the vendor is deemed for the purposes of this paragraph to have last acquired control of the subsidiary.

For the purposes of the first paragraph and sections 559 and 560, where control of a corporation is last acquired by a particular person or group of persons because of an acquisition of shares of the capital stock of the corporation as a consequence of the death of an individual, the particular person or group of persons is deemed to have last acquired control of the corporation immediately after the death from a person who dealt at arm's length with the particular person or group of persons.

For the purposes of the first and second paragraphs and sections 559, 560 and 560.1.1 to 560.1.4, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to subparagraph c, control of any corporation is deemed not to have been acquired by reason of an amalgamation;

(b) any corporation formed as a result of an amalgamation is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each predecessor corporation; and

(c) in the case of a merger contemplated in section 555.1, where the parent did not have control of a predecessor corporation prior to the merger, the parent is deemed to have acquired control immediately before the merger.

560.2.1. If a corporation amends, in accordance with paragraph c of subsection 1.8 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), a designated amount (in this section referred to as the "initial designation") referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 560 in respect of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, or an interest in a partnership that, in accordance with paragraph c of section 600, owns a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, and subsection 1.9 of that section 88 applies in respect of the initial designation, the amended designation is deemed to have been made on the day on which the initial designation was made and the initial designation is deemed not to have been made.

2015, c. 36, s. 24.

561. Section 505 and sections 36 to 41.2 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) do not apply to a winding-up described in section 556, and section 93.3.1 does not apply to such a winding-up with respect to property acquired by the parent on the winding-up.

1972, c. 23, s. 439; 1973, c. 17, s. 64; 1975, c. 22, s. 141; 1984, c. 15, s. 120; 2000, c. 5, s. 130; 2019, c. 14, s. 154.

562. The subsidiary may, in computing its income for the taxation year during which its property was distributed to, and its obligations were assumed by, the parent on its winding-up, claim any reserve that would have been allowed to it for the year under this Part if its property had not been transferred to, or its obligations had not been assumed by, the parent on the winding-up.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, the subsidiary is not bound to include any amount whatever in respect of any reserve so claimed in computing its income for the following taxation year.

563. If a subsidiary has made a gift in a taxation year (in this section referred to as the "gift year") for the purpose of computing the amount deductible under section 710 by the parent in computing its taxable income for a taxation year ending after the winding-up of the subsidiary, the parent is deemed to have made a gift, in its taxation year in which the gift year of the subsidiary ended, equal to the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a gift or, in the case of a gift made after 20 December 2002, the eligible amount of the gift, made by the subsidiary in the gift year exceeds the aggregate of the amounts deducted under section 710 in computing the subsidiary's taxable income in respect of those gifts.

564. Subject to the special provisions of this chapter, section 544.1, section 545, except as regards the computing of the taxable income of the parent corporation, section 546, subject to sections 481 to 483, section 548, the first paragraph of section 549 and sections 550 to 553 apply, with the necessary modifications, to a winding-up described in section 556.

564.0.1. Where a subsidiary is an insurance corporation, the following rules apply for the purposes of determining the portion of the gross investment revenue required to be included under section 825 in computing the income of the subsidiary and the parent and the amount of gains and losses of the subsidiary and the parent from property used or held by them in a taxation year in the course of carrying on an insurance business in Canada:

(a) the subsidiary and the parent, in addition to their normal taxation years, are deemed to have had a taxation year ending immediately before the time when the property of the subsidiary was transferred to, and the obligations of the subsidiary were assumed by, the parent on the winding-up;

(b) for the taxation years of the subsidiary and the parent following the time referred to in paragraph a, the property transferred to, and the obligations assumed by, the parent on the winding-up are deemed to have been transferred or assumed, as the case may be, on the last day of the taxation year ending immediately before that time.

1990, c. 59, s. 204; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1998, c. 16, s. 172.

564.0.2. For the purposes of section 851.22.15, the subsidiary's taxation year in which its property was distributed to the parent on the winding-up is deemed to have ended immediately before the time when the property was distributed.

564.1. For the purposes of sections 741 to 744.2.2, where the parent acquires pursuant to a winding-up described in section 556 a share owned by the subsidiary,

(a) any taxable dividend received on that share by the subsidiary that was deductible in computing the subsidiary's taxable income for a taxation year under sections 738 to 745 or section 845 is deemed to be a taxable dividend received by the parent that was deductible in computing the parent's taxable income for a taxation year under the said sections 738 to 745 or section 845, as the case may be;

(b) any dividend, other than a taxable dividend, received on a share by the subsidiary is deemed to have been received on the share by the parent; and

(c) a share acquired by the parent from the subsidiary is deemed to have been owned by the parent throughout any period of time throughout which it was owned by the subsidiary.

564.2. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of the parent for any taxation year commencing after the commencement of a winding-up described in section 556 or that would be if the expression "taxable Canadian corporation" were replaced by the expression "Canadian corporation", such portion of any non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss of the subsidiary for a particular taxation year as may reasonably be regarded as its loss from carrying on a particular business, any other portion of any non-capital loss or limited partnership loss of the subsidiary for any such year as may reasonably be regarded as being derived from any other source or any other portion of any non-capital loss of the subsidiary for any such year as may reasonably be regarded as being due to an amount added to its taxable income for the year under section 726.5, as it read before its repeal, or the net capital loss sustained by the subsidiary for any such year is deemed, for the purposes of this section, sections 564.3 to 564.4.4, 727, 728.2, 729, 731, 733.0.0.1, 734 and 735, to be a non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss of the parent from carrying on the particular business of the subsidiary, a non-capital loss or limited partnership loss of the parent that was derived from the source from which the subsidiary sustained such portion of its non-capital loss or limited partnership loss, a non-capital loss of the parent due to an amount added to its taxable income for the year under section 726.5, as it read before its repeal, or a net capital loss, respectively, sustained by the parent for its taxation year during which the particular taxation year of the subsidiary ended.

564.3. Section 564.2 applies only to the extent that the loss referred to therein was not deducted in computing the taxable income of the subsidiary for any taxation year and would have been deductible in such computation for any taxation year commencing after the commencement of the winding-up if the subsidiary had such a taxation year as well as sufficient income and taxable capital gains for that year.

564.4. Where section 564.2 applies and where, at any time, control of the parent or subsidiary has been acquired by a person or group of persons, no amount in respect of a net capital loss of the subsidiary for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible in computing the parent's taxable income for a taxation year ending after that time.

564.4.1. Where section 564.2 applies and where control of a parent has been acquired by a person or a group of persons at any time after the commencement of the winding-up, or control of a subsidiary has been acquired by a person or a group of persons at any time whatever, no amount in respect of the subsidiary's non-capital loss or farm loss for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible in computing the taxable income of the parent for a particular taxation year ending after that time, except that portion of the subsidiary's non-capital loss or farm loss that may reasonably be regarded as its loss from carrying on a business and, where a business was carried on by the subsidiary in that year, that portion of the non-capital loss that may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to an amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing its taxable income for the year, such portions being then deductible only if the parent or the subsidiary carried on that business for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit throughout the particular year, and only up to the amount computed under section 564.4.2.

564.4.2. The amount referred to in section 564.4.1 is equal to the aggregate of the parent's income for the particular year from the business contemplated in the said section and, where properties were sold, leased, rented or developed, or services were rendered in the course of carrying on that business before the time contemplated in the said section, from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties or from the rendering of similar services.

564.4.3. For the purposes of section 564.4.1, where section 564.2 applies to the winding-up of a particular corporation in respect of which the subsidiary referred to in the said section 564.2 was the parent and section 564.4.1 applies in respect of losses of that particular corporation, the subsidiary is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, that particular corporation with respect to those losses.

564.4.4. A parent may elect that any portion of a loss of the subsidiary that would otherwise be deemed, by reason of section 564.2, to be a loss of the parent for a particular taxation year commencing after the commencement of the winding-up be deemed, for the purpose of computing the parent's taxable income for a taxation year commencing after the commencement of a winding-up described in section 556, to be a loss of the parent for its immediately preceding taxation year and not for the particular taxation year.

The parent referred to in the first paragraph must make the election referred to therein in its fiscal return under this Part for the particular taxation year.

1993, c. 16, s. 225; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

564.4.5. For the purposes of sections 564.2 to 564.4.4, a corporation's business that is at any time an adventure or concern in the nature of trade is deemed to be a business carried on at that time by the corporation.

2000, c. 5, s. 131.

564.5. For the purposes of sections 563, 564.2 to 564.4.2, 710 to 712, 727, 728.1, 729, 731, 733.0.0.1 and 734 to 735.1, where a parent corporation was incorporated or otherwise formed after the end of a taxation year during which one of its subsidiaries sustained a loss or made a gift, the parent corporation is deemed, for the purpose of computing its taxable income for any taxation year,

(a) to have been in existence during the period commencing immediately before the end of the first year during which the subsidiary sustained a loss or made a gift, as the case may be, and ending immediately after it was incorporated or otherwise formed;

(b) to have had throughout that period fiscal periods ending on the day of the year on which its first fiscal period ended; and

(c) to have been controlled throughout that period by the person or persons who controlled it immediately after it was incorporated or otherwise formed.

565. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where the subsidiary distributes depreciable property to the parent on the winding-up and the capital cost of the property to the subsidiary exceeds the proceeds it is deemed to receive under section 557, the capital cost of the property to the parent is deemed equal to that to the subsidiary, notwithstanding section 559, and the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the parent as depreciation in respect of such property for the taxation years preceding its acquisition of the property.

565.1. For the purposes of Chapter VII.1 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4) and sections 332.1, 332.2, 359.1 to 359.17, 362 to 418.36, 419.1 to 419.4 and 419.6, where the rules in sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply to the winding-up of a subsidiary, its parent is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, the subsidiary.

565.2. Where a corporation that carries on a farming business and computes its income from that business in accordance with the cash method is wound up in circumstances to which sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply and, at the particular time that is immediately before the winding-up, owned inventory that was used in connection with the business, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of the first paragraph of section 557, the cost amount to the corporation, at the particular time, of property purchased by it that is included in the inventory is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

$$[(A \times B) / C] + D;$$

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 194, the disposition of the inventory and the receipt of the proceeds of disposition are deemed to have occurred at that particular time in the course of carrying on the business;

(c) for the purposes of section 194, where the parent carries on a farming business and computes its income from that business in accordance with the cash method, the following rules apply:

i. an amount equal to the cost to the parent of the inventory is deemed to have been paid by it in the course of carrying on a business and at the time it acquired the inventory, and

ii. the parent is deemed to have purchased the inventory for an amount equal to that cost in the course of carrying on that business and at the time referred to in subparagraph i.

For the purposes of the formula set forth in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount that would be included by reason of subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 194 in computing the corporation's income for its last taxation year commencing before the particular time referred to in the first paragraph if that taxation year had ended at that time,

(b) B is the value, determined in accordance with section 194.2, to the corporation at that time of the inventory purchased by it and distributed to the parent on the winding-up,

(c) C is the value, determined in accordance with section 194.2, of all of the inventory purchased by the corporation that was owned by it in connection with that business at that time,

(d) D is the lesser of

i. such additional amount as the corporation designates in respect of the property, and

ii. the amount by which the fair market value of the property at the particular time referred to in the first paragraph exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph a in respect of the property.

1993, c. 16, s. 226; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER VIII

WINDING-UP OF A CANADIAN CORPORATION

1975, c. 22, s. 146; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

566. The rules provided in this chapter apply to the winding-up after 1978 of a Canadian corporation other than a subsidiary to the winding-up of which the rules in sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply where, at a particular time in the course of the winding-up, all or substantially all of the property owned by the corporation immediately before such time is distributed to its shareholders.

566.1. For the purposes of computing the income of the corporation for its taxation year that includes the particular time referred to in section 566, paragraph u of section 87 shall read as if the reference therein to "in respect of a property acquired or an expenditure made in a preceding taxation year in computing the taxpayer's tax payable for" were a reference to "in computing the taxpayer's tax payable for the year or".

567. For the purposes of computing for the corporation, at the time immediately before the particular time referred to in section 566, its capital dividend account, its capital gains dividend account and its pre-1972 capital surplus on hand within the meaning of the regulations, the taxation year of the corporation that would normally include the particular time is deemed to have ended immediately before the time of computation and a new taxation year to have commenced at the time of computation; furthermore, the corporation is deemed to have disposed immediately before the end of the taxation year so deemed to have ended, of each property distributed to shareholders at the particular time for proceeds equal to the fair market value thereof immediately before the particular time.

568. The following rules apply where the corporation is deemed to pay a dividend at a particular time under section 505 on shares of any class of its capital stock:

(a) for the purposes of the election provided for in section 502 or 1106 and, if the corporation has so elected, for all other purposes, such dividend is deemed to be a separate dividend to the extent that it does not exceed its capital dividend account or its capital gains dividend account within the meaning of the regulations made under section 567, as the case may be, immediately before that time;

(b) the portion of the dividend equal to the lesser of its pre-1972 capital surplus on hand within the meaning of the regulations made under section 567, immediately before the particular time, and the amount by which the dividend exceeds the portion that has been the subject of an election under section 502 is deemed not to be a dividend;

(c) the portion of the dividend that exceeds the aggregate of the amount deemed, under paragraph a, to be a separate dividend for all purposes and the portion deemed under paragraph b not to be a dividend is deemed, notwithstanding paragraph g of section 570, to be a separate dividend that is a taxable dividend;

(d) every person who holds shares of that class at that particular time is deemed to receive the proportion of any separate dividend determined under paragraph a or c represented by the proportion between the number of shares of that class held by him immediately before the particular time and the number of shares of that class then issued and outstanding.

CHAPTER IX

DISSOLUTION OF A FOREIGN AFFILIATE

1975, c. 22, s. 146.

569. Despite the second paragraph of section 424, if at any time a taxpayer receives a property (in this section referred to as the "distributed property") from a foreign affiliate (in this section referred to as the "disposing affiliate") of the taxpayer on a liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate and the distributed property is received in respect of shares of the capital stock of the disposing affiliate that are disposed of on the liquidation and dissolution, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to sections 569.0.0.3 and 569.0.0.4, the distributed property is deemed to have been disposed of at that time by the disposing affiliate to the taxpayer for proceeds of disposition equal to the relevant cost base (within the meaning of subsection 4 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) to the disposing affiliate of the distributed property in respect of the taxpayer, immediately before that time, if

i. the liquidation and dissolution is a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate, or

ii. the distributed property is a share of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that was, immediately before that time, excluded property (within the meaning of section 576.1) of the disposing affiliate;

(b) if subparagraph a does not apply to the distributed property, the distributed property is deemed to have been disposed of at that time by the disposing affiliate to the taxpayer for proceeds of disposition equal to the distributed property's fair market value at that time;

(c) the distributed property is deemed to have been acquired, at that time, by the taxpayer at a cost equal to the amount determined under subparagraph a or b to be the disposing affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the distributed property;

(d) each share (in subparagraph e and section 569.0.0.3 referred to as a "disposed share") of a class of the capital stock of the disposing affiliate that is disposed of by the taxpayer on the liquidation and dissolution is deemed to have been disposed of for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount determined by

A/B; and

(e) if the liquidation and dissolution is a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate, any loss of the taxpayer in respect of the disposition of a disposed share is deemed to be nil.

In the formula in subparagraph d of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the net distribution amount in respect of a distribution of distributed property made, at any time, in respect of the class, and

(b) B is the total number of issued and outstanding shares of the class that are owned by the taxpayer during the liquidation and dissolution.

569.0.0.1. For the purposes of sections 569, 569.0.0.3 and 569.0.0.4, a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of a foreign affiliate (in this section referred to as the "disposing affiliate") of a taxpayer means a liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate in respect of which the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 3.1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.))

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 3.1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 21, s. 188.

569.0.0.2. For the purposes of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 569, net distribution amount in respect of a distribution of distributed property means the amount determined by the formula

A-B.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the cost to the taxpayer of the distributed property as determined under subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 569; and

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount owing (other than an unpaid dividend) by, or an obligation of, the disposing affiliate that was assumed or cancelled by the taxpayer in consideration for the distribution of the distributed property.

2015, c. 21, s. 188.

569.0.0.3. For the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 569, if a liquidation and dissolution is a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of a disposing affiliate, the taxpayer would, in the absence of this section and after taking into account an election referred to in section 589, where applicable, realize a capital gain from the disposition of a disposed share and the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 3.3 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) for the purposes of that Act, the distributed property that was, immediately before the disposition, capital property of the disposing affiliate is deemed to have been disposed of by the disposing affiliate to the taxpayer for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount claimed by the taxpayer in the election.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 3.3 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 21, s. 188.

569.0.0.4. For the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 569, a distributed property is deemed to have been disposed of by a disposing affiliate to a taxpayer for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base of the distributed property to the disposing affiliate immediately before the time of its disposition, if

(a) the liquidation and dissolution is a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate;

(b) the distributed property is, at the time of its disposition, taxable Canadian property (other than treaty-protected property) of the disposing affiliate that is a share of the capital stock of a corporation resident in Canada; and

(c) the taxpayer and the disposing affiliate have made a valid joint election under paragraph c of subsection 3.5 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph c of subsection 3.5 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 21, s. 188.

CHAPTER IX.0.1

WINDING-UP THAT IS A SIFT TRUST WIND-UP EVENT

2010, c. 25, s. 42.

569.0.1. Section 569.0.2 applies to a trust's distribution of property to a taxpayer if

(a) the distribution is a SIFT trust wind-up event;

(b) the trust is

i. a SIFT wind-up entity whose only beneficiary, at all times at which the trust makes a distribution that is a SIFT trust wind-up event, is a taxable Canadian corporation, or

ii. a trust whose only beneficiary, at all times at which the trust makes a distribution that is a SIFT trust wind-up event, is another trust described in subparagraph i;

(c) where the trust is a SIFT wind-up entity, the distribution occurs no more than 60 days after the first SIFT trust wind-up event of the trust or, if it is earlier, the first distribution to the trust that is a SIFT trust wind-up event of another trust; and

(d) where the property is shares of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation,

i. the property was not acquired by the trust as part of a distribution referred to in section 688.3, and

ii. the trust makes a valid election under subparagraph ii of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in relation to the distribution.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subparagraph ii of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88.1 of the Income Tax Act.

2010, c. 25, s. 42.

569.0.2. If the conditions in section 569.0.1 are met, in respect of a trust's distribution of property to a taxpayer, Chapter VII, and Chapter VI and sections 21.2 to 21.3.1 as they apply for the purposes of Chapter VII, apply in respect of the distribution, with the necessary modifications, as if

(a) the trust were a taxable Canadian corporation (in this section referred to as the "subsidiary") other than a private corporation;

(b) where the taxpayer is a SIFT wind-up entity, the taxpayer were a taxable Canadian corporation other than a private corporation;

(c) the distribution were a winding-up of the subsidiary;

(d) the taxpayer's interest as a beneficiary under the trust were shares of a single class of shares of the capital stock of the subsidiary owned by the taxpayer;

(e) section 558 deemed the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the shares described in paragraph d and owned by the taxpayer immediately before the distribution to be equal to the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's interest as a beneficiary under the trust immediately before the distribution;

(f) each trust, a majority-interest beneficiary (within the meaning of section 21.0.1) of which is another trust that because of the application of this section is deemed to be a corporation, were a corporation; and

(g) except for the purposes of sections 564.2 to 564.4.2, the taxpayer last acquired control of the subsidiary and of each corporation (including any trust that because of the application of this section is deemed to be a corporation) controlled by the subsidiary at the time at which the taxpayer last became a majority-interest beneficiary (within the meaning of section 21.0.1) of the trust.

CHAPTER X

DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

1972, c. 23; 1995, c. 49, s. 147.

570. In this Title:

(a) "paid-up capital" means the amount determined according to the rules prescribed for that purpose;

(b) "capital dividend account" of a corporation at any particular time means the amount determined according to the rules prescribed for that purposes;

(b.1) (paragraph repealed);

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) (paragraph repealed);

(f) (paragraph repealed);

(g) "taxable dividend" means a dividend other than a dividend in respect of which the corporation paying it elects in accordance with section 501 as it reads before 1 January 1979, or with section 502, or other than a dividend contemplated in section 501.1;

(h) (paragraph replaced);

(i) (paragraph replaced);

(j) (paragraph replaced);

(k) (paragraph replaced);

(l) "Canadian corporation" at a particular time means a corporation that is resident in Canada at that time and incorporated in Canada or resident in Canada throughout the period from 18 June 1971 to that time;

(m) "taxable Canadian corporation" means a corporation that, at the time the expression is relevant, is a Canadian corporation that is not, by virtue of a statutory provision, exempt from tax under this Part;

(n) "private corporation" at any particular time means a corporation that is resident in Canada at that time, is not a public corporation and is not controlled by one or more public corporations, other than prescribed venture capital corporations, or prescribed State bodies or federal Crown bodies or by any combination thereof;

(o) "public corporation" means a public corporation within the meaning assigned by subsection 1 of section 89 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) and the regulations made under that section, and a corporation that is deemed to be a public corporation under paragraph ii of subsection 2 of section 87 of the Income Tax Act.

1972, c. 23, s. 441; 1975, c. 22, s. 147; 1978, c. 26, s. 105; 1980, c. 13, s. 60; 1984, c. 15, s. 126; 1987, c. 67, s. 125; 1990, c. 59, s. 207; 1993, c. 16, s. 229; 1994, c. 22, s. 207; 1996, c. 39, s. 160; 1997, c. 3, s. 27; 1998, c. 16, s. 174; 2005, c. 38, s. 80; 2009, c. 5, s. 186; 2019, c. 14, s. 155.

570.1. For the purposes of paragraph l of section 570, a corporation formed at any time by the amalgamation or merger of, or by a plan of arrangement or other corporate reorganization in respect of, two or more corporations is a Canadian corporation because it is resident in Canada at that time and was incorporated in Canada only if

(a) that reorganization took place under the laws of Canada or a province, and

(b) each of those corporations was, immediately before that time, a Canadian corporation.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a reorganization occurring as a result of the acquisition of property of one corporation by another corporation, pursuant to the purchase of the property by the other corporation or as a result of the distribution of the property to the other corporation on the winding-up of the corporation.

TITLE X

SHAREHOLDERS OF CORPORATIONS AND BENEFICIARIES OF TRUSTS NOT RESIDENT IN CANADA AND HOLDERS OF OFFSHORE INVESTMENT FUND PROPERTY

1972, c. 23; 1975, c. 22, s. 148; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

FOREIGN AFFILIATE

1972, c. 23.

571. In this Title, "foreign affiliate", at a particular time, of a taxpayer resident in Canada means a corporation not resident in Canada in which, at that time,

(a) the taxpayer's equity percentage is not less than 1%, and

(b) the total of the equity percentages in the corporation of the taxpayer and of each person related to the taxpayer, where each such equity percentage is determined as if the determinations, in applying the rule provided in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 573, were made without reference to the equity percentage of any person in the taxpayer or in any person related to the taxpayer, is not less than 10%.

However, no corporation may be a foreign affiliate of a non-resident-owned investment corporation.

1972, c. 23, s. 442; 1973, c. 17, s. 66; 1975, c. 22, s. 149; 1996, c. 39, s. 161; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

572. In this Title, a controlled foreign affiliate, at any time, of a taxpayer resident in Canada means a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that

(a) is, at that time, controlled by the taxpayer; or

(b) would, at that time, be controlled by the taxpayer if the taxpayer owned all of the following shares of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate:

i. the shares that are owned at that time by the taxpayer,

ii. the shares that are owned at that time by any person who does not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer,

iii. the shares that are owned at that time by any person (in this section referred to as a "relevant Canadian shareholder"), in any set of persons not exceeding four (which set of persons is to be determined without reference to the existence of or the absence of any relationship, connection or action in concert between those persons), who

(1) are resident in Canada,

(2) are not the taxpayer or a person described in subparagraph ii, and

(3) own, at that time, shares of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate, and

iv. the shares that are owned at that time by any person who does not deal at arm's length with any relevant Canadian shareholder.

1975, c. 22, s. 151; 1990, c. 59, s. 208; 1993, c. 16, s. 230; 2010, c. 25, s. 43.

572.1. For the purposes of this section and paragraph b of section 572, the following rules apply:

(a) the shares of the capital stock of a corporation that are at any time owned by, or that are deemed by this section to be at any time owned by, another corporation are deemed to be, at that time, owned by, or property of, each shareholder of the other corporation in the proportion that the fair market value at that time of the shares of the capital stock of the other corporation that, at that time, are owned by, or are property of, the shareholder is of the fair market value at that time of all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of the other corporation;

(b) the shares of the capital stock of a corporation that are, or are deemed by this section to be, at any time, property of a partnership, are deemed to be, at that time, owned by, or property of, each member of the partnership in the proportion that the fair market value at that time of the member's interest in the partnership is of the fair market value at that time of all interests in the partnership;

(c) the shares of the capital stock of a corporation that are at any time owned by, or that are deemed by this section to be at any time owned by, a non-discretionary trust (within the meaning of section 127.1) other than an exempt trust are deemed to be, at that time, owned by, or property of, each beneficiary of the trust in the proportion that the fair market value at that time of the beneficiary's beneficial interest in the trust is of the fair market value at that time of all beneficial interests in the trust; and

(d) all of the shares of the capital stock of a corporation that are at any time owned by, or that are deemed by this section to be at any time owned by, a particular trust (other than a non-discretionary trust, within the meaning of section 127.1, or an exempt trust) are deemed to be, at that time, owned by, or property of,

i. each beneficiary of the particular trust at that time, and

ii. each settlor (within the meaning of section 127.1) in respect of the particular trust at that time.

2010, c. 25, s. 44.

572.2. In applying the assumption in paragraph b of section 572 in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada to determine whether a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer is at any time a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, nothing in that paragraph or in section 572.1 is to be read or construed as requiring a right in a share of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate of the taxpayer owned at that time by the taxpayer to be taken into account more than once.

572.2.1. For the purposes of sections 572.2.2 and 572.2.3, a particular property is a tracking interest in respect of a person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "tracked entity") if

(a) all or part of the fair market value of the particular property—or of any payment or right to receive an amount in respect of the particular property—can reasonably be considered to be determined, directly or indirectly, by reference to one or more of the following criteria in respect of property or activities of the tracked entity (in this section and section 572.2.2 referred to as the "tracked property and activities"):

i. the fair market value of property of the tracked entity,

ii. any revenue, income or cash flow from property or activities of the tracked entity,

iii. any profits or gains from the disposition of property of the tracked entity, and

iv. any similar criteria applicable to property or activities of the tracked entity; and

(b) the tracked property and activities in respect of the particular property represent less than all of the property and activities of the tracked entity.

2021, c. 14, s. 46.

572.2.2. The rules set out in the second paragraph apply in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year of the foreign affiliate, for the purpose of determining an amount to be included or deducted, in respect of the year, by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's income under section 580 or 583, respectively, if, at any time in the year,

(a) the taxpayer holds a property that is a tracking interest in respect of the particular foreign affiliate; and

(b) shares of a class of the capital stock of the particular foreign affiliate (in the second paragraph referred to as a "tracking class") the fair market value of which can reasonably be considered to be determined by reference to the tracked property and activities in respect of the tracking interest are held by the taxpayer or a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer.

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are as follows:

(a) the tracked property and activities of the particular foreign affiliate are deemed to be property and activities of a corporation not resident in Canada that is separate from the particular foreign affiliate and not to be property or activities of the particular foreign affiliate;

(b) any income, losses or gains for the year in respect of the property and activities described in subparagraph a are deemed to be income, losses or gains of the separate corporation and not of the particular foreign affiliate;

(c) all rights and obligations of the particular foreign affiliate in respect of the property and activities described in subparagraph a are deemed to be rights and obligations of the separate corporation and not of the particular foreign affiliate;

(d) the separate corporation is deemed to have, at the end of the year, 100 issued and outstanding shares of a single class of its capital stock which have full voting rights under all circumstances;

(e) each shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate is deemed to own, at the end of the year, that number of shares of the separate corporation that is equal to the product obtained by multiplying 100 by the amount that would be the aggregate participating percentage (as defined in section 580.1) of that shareholder in respect of the particular foreign affiliate for the year if

i. the particular foreign affiliate were a controlled foreign affiliate of that shareholder at the end of the year,

ii. the only shares of the capital stock of the particular foreign affiliate issued and outstanding at the end of the year were shares of tracking classes in respect of the tracked property and activities, and

iii. the only income, losses or gains of the particular foreign affiliate for the year were those referred to in subparagraph b; and

(f) any amount included or deducted by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's income under section 580 or 583, respectively, in respect of shares of the separate corporation is deemed to be an amount so included or deducted by the taxpayer in respect of shares of tracking classes held by the taxpayer or a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, as the case may be.

2021, c. 14, s. 46.

572.2.3. Where section 572.2.2 does not apply in respect of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year of the affiliate, the affiliate is deemed to be a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer throughout the year if, at a particular time in the year, a tracking interest in respect of the foreign affiliate or a partnership of which the foreign affiliate is a member is held by

(a) the taxpayer; or

(b) a person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as a "holder"), if

i. the holder does not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer at the particular time,

ii. where either the taxpayer or the holder is a partnership and the other party is not, any member of the partnership does not deal at arm's length with the other party at the particular time, or

iii. where both the taxpayer and the holder are partnerships, the taxpayer or any member of the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length with the holder or any member of the holder at the particular time.

2021, c. 14, s. 46.

572.3. In this Title,

"eligible trust" means a trust, other than a trust

(a) created or maintained for charitable purposes;

(b) governed by an employee benefit plan;

(c) described in subparagraph a.1 of the third paragraph of section 647;

(d) governed by a salary deferral arrangement;

(e) operated for the purpose of administering or providing pension benefits or employee benefits; or

(f) where the amount of income or capital that an entity may receive directly from the trust at any time as a beneficiary under the trust depends on the exercise by an entity of, or the failure by an entity to exercise, a discretionary power;

"entity" includes an association, a corporation, a fund, a natural person, a joint venture, an organization, a partnership, a syndicate or a trust;

"exempt trust", at a particular time in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada, means a trust that, at that time, is a trust under which the interest of each beneficiary under the trust is, at all times that the interest exists during the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time, a specified fixed interest of the beneficiary in the trust, if at the particular time

(a) the trust is an eligible trust;

(b) there are at least 150 beneficiaries each of whom holds a specified fixed interest, in the trust, that has a fair market value of at least $500; and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of an interest as a beneficiary under the trust held by a specified purchaser in respect of the taxpayer is not more than 10% of the total fair market value of all interests as a beneficiary under the trust;

"specified fixed interest", at any time, of an entity in a trust, means an interest of the entity as a beneficiary under the trust if

(a) the interest includes, at that time, rights of the entity as a beneficiary under the trust to receive, at or after that time and directly from the trust, all or part of the income and capital of the trust;

(b) the interest was issued by the trust, at or before that time, to an entity, in exchange for consideration and the fair market value, at the time at which the interest was issued, of that consideration was equal to the fair market value, at the time at which it was issued, of the interest;

(c) the only manner in which any part of the interest may cease to be the entity's is by way of a disposition (determined without reference to section 7.2 and subparagraph e of the second paragraph of section 248) by the entity of that part; and

(d) no amount of the income or capital of the trust that an entity may receive directly from the trust at any time as a beneficiary under the trust depends on the exercise by an entity of, or the failure by an entity to exercise, a discretionary power;

"specified purchaser", at a particular time, in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada, means an entity that is, at that time,

(a) the taxpayer;

(b) an entity resident in Canada with which the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length;

(c) a foreign affiliate of an entity described in any of paragraphs a, b and d to f;

(d) a trust (other than an exempt trust) in which an entity described in any of paragraphs a to c, e and f is beneficially interested;

(e) a partnership of which an entity described in any of paragraphs a to d and f is a member; or

(f) an entity (other than an entity described in any of paragraphs a to e) with which an entity described in any of those paragraphs does not deal at arm's length.

2010, c. 25, s. 44.

573. For the purposes of this Title, the equity percentage of a taxpayer at any time in a particular corporation is the aggregate of his direct and indirect equity percentages in the corporation at that time, computed according to the following rules:

(a) his direct equity percentage at that time is that percentage which is not less than any other percentage representing the proportion that the number of shares of each class of the capital stock of the corporation then owned by him is of the total number of issued shares of that class at the same time;

(b) his indirect equity percentage at that time is the aggregate of all percentages each of which is the product then obtained when the taxpayer's equity percentage in any corporation is multiplied by that corporation's direct equity percentage in the particular corporation.

However, for the purposes of section 574, subparagraph b of the first paragraph must read as if the expression "any corporation" were replaced by the expression "any corporation not resident in Canada".

1972, c. 23, s. 444; 1975, c. 22, s. 152; 1977, c. 26, s. 64; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

574. For the purposes of this Title, the participating percentage of a share owned by a taxpayer of the capital stock of a corporation that, at the end of its taxation year, is a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, is equal to

(a) the percentage that would be the taxpayer's equity percentage in the affiliate at the end of that year on the assumption that the taxpayer owns no share other than that share, if

i. the affiliate and each other corporation that is relevant to the determination of the taxpayer's equity percentage in the affiliate have, at that time, only one class of issued shares, and

ii. no foreign affiliate (in this subparagraph referred to as the "upper-tier affiliate") of the taxpayer that is relevant to the determination of the taxpayer's participating percentage in the affiliate has, at that time, a participating percentage in a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that has a participating percentage in the upper-tier affiliate; and

(b) in any other case, the percentage determined in prescribed manner.

However, the participating percentage of such a share is nil where the foreign accrual property income of the affiliate for the year, within the meaning of section 579, does not exceed $5,000.

1975, c. 22, s. 153; 1994, c. 22, s. 208; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2015, c. 21, s. 189.

575. The taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer is, for the purposes of this Title, the period for which the accounts of the foreign affiliate have been ordinarily made up, but not a period exceeding 53 weeks.

1975, c. 22, s. 153.

576. For the purposes of this Title, an income bond or income debenture issued by a corporation not resident in Canada is deemed a share of the capital stock of such corporation unless the interest or other similar amount paid periodically by such corporation on the bond or debenture was, under the laws of the country in which the corporation was resident, deductible in computing the amount on which the corporation was liable to pay income or profits tax for the year imposed by the government of that country.

576.1. In this Title, "excluded property" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer means any property that constitutes excluded property of the foreign affiliate for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th supplement).

1984, c. 15, s. 127; 1985, c. 25, s. 103; 1989, c. 5, s. 72; 1993, c. 16, s. 231; 1996, c. 39, s. 162.

CHAPTER II

DIVIDENDS RECEIVED FROM FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

576.2. In this chapter,

"eligible bank affiliate" has the meaning assigned by subsection 15 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.));

"eligible Canadian bank" has the meaning assigned by subsection 15 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act;

"specified amount" in respect of a loan or indebtedness that is required by section 577.5 to be included in computing the income of a taxpayer for a taxation year means an amount equal to the amount that is required by subsection 6 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act to be included in computing the income of the taxpayer for the year, in respect of the loan or indebtedness;

"specified debtor" at any time, in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada, means

(a) the taxpayer;

(b) a person with which the taxpayer does not, at that time, deal at arm's length, other than

i. a corporation not resident in Canada that is, at that time, a controlled foreign affiliate, within the meaning of section 127.1, of the taxpayer, or

ii. a corporation not resident in Canada (other than a corporation described in subparagraph i) that is, at that time, a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, if each share of the capital stock of the affiliate is owned at that time by any of

(1) the taxpayer,

(2) a person resident in Canada,

(3) a person not resident in Canada that deals at arm's length with the taxpayer,

(4) a person described in subparagraph i,

(5) a partnership each member of which is a partnership described in this subparagraph 5 or a person described in any of subparagraphs 1 to 4 and 6, and

(6) a corporation each shareholder of which is a partnership described in subparagraph 5 or a person described in any of subparagraphs 1 to 4 or in this subparagraph 6;

(c) a partnership a member of which is, at that time, a person or partnership that is a specified debtor in respect of the taxpayer because of paragraph a or b; and

(d) if the taxpayer is a partnership,

i. any member of the partnership that is a corporation resident in Canada if the creditor affiliate or a member of the creditor partnership, as the case may be, within the meaning assigned to those expressions in section 577.5, is, at that time, a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

ii. a person with which a corporation referred to in subparagraph i does not, at that time, deal at arm's length, other than a controlled foreign affiliate, within the meaning of section 127.1, of the partnership or of a member of the partnership that holds, directly or indirectly, an interest in the partnership representing at least 90% of the fair market value of all such interests, or

iii. a partnership a member of which is, at that time, a specified debtor in respect of the taxpayer because of subparagraph i or ii;

"upstream deposit" has the meaning assigned by subsection 15 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 21, s. 190; 2017, c. 1, s. 139; 2020, c. 16, s. 81.

577. A taxpayer must include in computing his income any amount he receives in the year as a dividend on any share he owns in the capital stock of a corporation not resident in Canada.

577.1. Notwithstanding section 577, a taxpayer who, immediately before a prescribed reorganization, held a common share of the capital stock of a prescribed corporation, referred to as a "share of the corporation" in the second paragraph, and who elects that the rules in the second paragraph apply for the purposes of this Part is not required to include, in computing his income for the taxation year 1984, the amount which, under section 577 and but for this section, should have been included, as a consequence of the reorganization, in respect of the value of a share of the capital stock of a prescribed regional holding company that he received at the time of the reorganization, referred to as a "distributed share" in the second paragraph.

For the purposes of computing the adjusted cost base, at any particular time after the reorganization, to the taxpayer contemplated in the first paragraph, of each share of the corporation and each distributed share owned by him immediately after the reorganization and thereafter without interruption until the particular time, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed, at the time of the reorganization, of the share of the corporation for proceeds of disposition equal to its adjusted cost basis to him immediately before the reorganization and to have reacquired it immediately after the reorganization at a cost equal to the proportion of the adjusted cost base to him, immediately before the reorganization, of all the shares of the corporation held by him immediately before the reorganization that the fair market value of the share of the corporation, immediately after the reorganization, is of the fair market value of the aggregate of the shares of the corporation and the distributed shares held by him immediately after the reorganization; and

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired, immediately after the reorganization, the distributed share at a cost equal to the proportion of the adjusted cost base to him, immediately before the reorganization of all the shares of the corporation held by him immediately before the reorganization, that the fair market value of the distributed share, immediately after the reorganization, is of the fair market value of the aggregate of the shares of the corporation and the distributed shares held by him immediately after the reorganization.

577.2. For the purposes of this Act, an amount is deemed to be a dividend paid or received, as the case may be, at any time on a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation not resident in Canada that is a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer if the amount is the share's portion of a pro rata distribution (other than a distribution made in the course of the liquidation and dissolution of the corporation, on a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation, or on a qualifying return of capital in respect of the share) made at that time by the corporation in respect of all the shares of that class.

577.3. For the purposes of section 577.2, a distribution made at any time by a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer in respect of a share of the capital stock of the affiliate that is a reduction of the paid-up capital of the affiliate in respect of the share and that would, in the absence of this section, be deemed under section 577.2 to be a dividend paid or received, at that time, on the share is a qualifying return of capital at that time in respect of the share if a valid election is made in respect of the distribution under subsection 3 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 3 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

577.4. For the purposes of this Act, no amount paid or received at any time is a dividend paid or received on a share of the capital stock of a corporation not resident in Canada that is a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer unless it is so deemed under this Part.

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

577.5. Except where section 113 applies, if a person or partnership receives at any time a loan from, or becomes at that time indebted to, a creditor that is at that time a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada, or a partnership of which such an affiliate is a member, (in subparagraph i of paragraph d of the definition of "specified debtor" in section 576.2 referred to respectively as "creditor affiliate" and "creditor partnership"), and the person or partnership is at that time a specified debtor in respect of the taxpayer, the specified amount in respect of the loan or indebtedness is to be included in computing the income of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes that time.

577.5.1. For the purposes of sections 262.0.1, 262.0.2, 576.2, 577.5 and 577.6 to 577.11, the rules set out in the second paragraph apply at a particular time where

(a) immediately before the particular time, a person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "original debtor") owes an amount in respect of a loan or indebtedness (in this section referred to as the "pre-transaction loan") to another person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "original creditor");

(b) the pre-transaction loan was, at the time it was made or entered into, a loan or indebtedness described in section 577.5; and

(c) in the course of an amalgamation, a merger, a winding-up or a liquidation and dissolution, any of the following facts occurs:

i. the amount owing in respect of the pre-transaction loan becomes owing at the particular time by another person or partnership (the amount owing after the particular time and the other person or partnership being in the second paragraph referred to as the "post-transaction loan payable" and the "new debtor", respectively), ii. the amount owing in respect of the pre-transaction loan becomes owing at the particular time to another person or partnership (the amount owing after the particular time and the other person or partnership being in the second paragraph referred to as the "post-transaction loan receivable" and the "new creditor", respectively), or

iii. the taxpayer in respect of which the original debtor was a specified debtor at the time referred to in subparagraph b

(1) ceases to exist, or

(2) merges with one or more corporations to form one corporate entity (in the second paragraph referred to as the "new corporation").

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are as follows:

(a) if the fact described in subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the first paragraph occurred,

i. the post-transaction loan payable is deemed to be the same loan or indebtedness as the pre-transaction loan, and

ii. the new debtor is deemed to be the same debtor as, and a continuation of, the original debtor;

(b) if the fact described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph occurred,

i. the post-transaction loan receivable is deemed to be the same loan or indebtedness as the pre-transaction loan, and

ii. the new creditor is deemed to be the same creditor as, and a continuation of, the original creditor;

(c) if the fact described in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph occurred,

i. subject to subparagraph ii, each entity that held an interest in the taxpayer described in that subparagraph iii immediately before the winding-up (in this subparagraph c referred to as a "successor entity") is deemed to be the same entity as, and a continuation of, the taxpayer, and

ii. for the purpose of applying section 577.10 and subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 577.11, an amount, in respect of a loan or indebtedness, equal to whichever of the following amounts is applicable is deemed to have been included under section 577.5 in computing the income of each successor entity:

(1) if the taxpayer is a partnership, the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the successor entity's share of the specified amount that was required to be included in computing the taxpayer's income under section 577.5 in respect of the loan or indebtedness, such share being determined in a manner consistent with the determination of the successor entity's share of the income of the partnership under section 600 for the taxpayer's final fiscal period, and

(2) in any other case, the portion of the specified amount included in computing the taxpayer's income under section 577.5, in respect of the loan or indebtedness, represented by the proportion that the fair market value of the successor entity's interest in the taxpayer, immediately before the distribution of the taxpayer's assets on the winding-up, is of the fair market value of all interests in the taxpayer at that time; and

(d) if the fact described in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph occurred, the new corporation is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, the taxpayer.

577.6. For the purposes of this section and sections 262.0.1, 262.0.2, 576.2, 577.5 and 577.7 to 577.11, if at any time a person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "intermediate lender") makes a loan to another person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "intended borrower") because the intermediate lender received a loan from another person or partnership (in this section referred to as the "initial lender"), the following rules apply:

(a) the loan made by the intermediate lender to the intended borrower is deemed, at that time, to have been made by the initial lender to the intended borrower under the same terms and conditions and at the same time as it was made by the intermediate lender to the extent of the lesser of the amount of the loan made by the initial lender to the intermediate lender and the amount of the loan made by the intermediate lender to the intended borrower; and

(b) the loan made by the initial lender to the intermediate lender and the loan made by the intermediate lender to the intended borrower are deemed not to have been made to the extent of the amount of the loan deemed to have been made under paragraph a.

2015, c. 21, s. 191; 2020, c. 16, s. 83.

577.7. Section 577.5 does not apply in respect of

(a) a loan or indebtedness that is repaid, other than as part of a series of loans or other transactions and repayments, within two years of the day the loan was made or the indebtedness arose;

(b) indebtedness that arose in the ordinary course of the business of the creditor or a loan made in the ordinary course of the creditor's ordinary business of lending money if, at the time the indebtedness arose or the loan was made, bona fide arrangements were made for repayment of the indebtedness or loan within a reasonable time;

(c) a loan that was made, or indebtedness that arose, in the ordinary course of carrying on a life insurance business outside Canada if

i. the loan or indebtedness is owed by the taxpayer or by a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the taxpayer,

ii. the taxpayer, or the subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, as the case may be, is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada,

iii. the loan or indebtedness directly relates to a business of the taxpayer, or of the subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, that is carried on outside Canada, and

iv. the interest on the loan or indebtedness is included in computing the active business income of the creditor, or if the creditor is a partnership, a member of the partnership, under clause A of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), or would be so included if it were otherwise income from property within the meaning of subsection 1 of that section 95; and

(d) an upstream deposit owing to an eligible bank affiliate, subject to section 577.7.1.

577.7.1. For the purposes of this chapter, where a taxpayer is an eligible Canadian bank and an eligible bank affiliate of the taxpayer is owed, at any time in a taxation year of the affiliate (in this section referred to as the "particular year") or its immediately preceding taxation year, an upstream deposit, the following rules apply:

(a) the affiliate is deemed to make a loan to the taxpayer immediately before the end of the particular year equal to the loan that it is deemed to make to the taxpayer, at that time, under paragraph a of subsection 8.1 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)); and

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to repay immediately before the end of the particular year—in an amount that the taxpayer is deemed to pay, at that time, under paragraph b of subsection 8.1 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act and in the order in which they arose—loans made by the affiliate under paragraph a in a prior taxation year and not previously repaid, and the repayment is deemed to not be part of a series of loans or other transactions and repayments.

2017, c. 1, s. 141.

577.8. A corporation resident in Canada may deduct in computing its income for a taxation year, in respect of a specified amount included in that computation under section 577.5 or in respect of an amount so included under section 577.9 in relation to a particular loan or indebtedness, a particular amount that is equal to the amount that the corporation deducts for the year in relation to the particular loan or indebtedness under subsection 9 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

577.9. A corporation resident in Canada is required in computing its income for a particular taxation year to include any amount deducted by the corporation under section 577.8 in computing its income for the taxation year preceding the particular year.

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

577.10. A corporation may not claim a deduction for a taxation year under section 577.8 in respect of the same portion of a specified amount in respect of a loan or indebtedness for which a deduction is claimed for that year or a preceding taxation year by the corporation, or by the partnership of which the corporation is a member, under section 577.11.

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

577.11. In computing a taxpayer's income for a particular taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

A × (B/C).

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the specified amount, in respect of a loan or indebtedness, that is included under section 577.5 in computing the taxpayer's income for a preceding taxation year;

(b) B is the portion of the loan or indebtedness that is repaid in the particular year, to the extent it is established, having regard to subsequent events or otherwise, that the repayment is not part of a series of loans or other transactions and repayments; and

(c) C is the amount, in respect of the loan or indebtedness, that is referred to in the description of A in the formula in the definition of "specified amount" in subsection 15 of section 90 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

2015, c. 21, s. 191.

578. For the purposes of this Title and section 305, the amount of a stock dividend paid by a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is, in respect of the corporation, deemed to be nil.

1975, c. 22, s. 157; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER II.1

FOREIGN CORPORATION SPIN-OFFS

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

DIVISION I

ELIGIBLE DISTRIBUTION

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

578.1. In this chapter, an eligible distribution is a distribution of property to a taxpayer by a particular corporation if

(a) the distribution is made in relation to all of the taxpayer's common shares of the capital stock of the particular corporation, in this chapter referred to as the "original shares" ;

(b) the property distributed consists solely of common shares of the capital stock of another corporation that were owned by the particular corporation immediately before their distribution to the taxpayer, in this chapter referred to as the "spin-off shares" ;

(c) where the distribution is a prescribed distribution, the conditions set out in the first paragraph of section 578.2 are satisfied;

(d) where the distribution is not a prescribed distribution, the conditions set out in the second paragraph of section 578.2 are satisfied;

(e) the particular corporation provides to the Minister information satisfactory to the Minister establishing the elements described in the first paragraph of section 578.3, before the end of the sixth month following the day on which the particular corporation first distributes a spin-off share in respect of the distribution; and

(f) the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 2 of section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), to have the provisions of that section apply to the distribution and provides to the Minister information satisfactory to the Minister establishing the elements described in the second paragraph of section 578.3.

578.2. The conditions to which paragraph c of section 578.1 refers are as follows:

(a) at the time of the distribution, the particular corporation and the other corporation are resident in the same country, other than the United States, with which a tax agreement was entered into, in this paragraph referred to as the "foreign country", and were never resident in Canada;

(b) at the time of the distribution, the shares of the class that includes the original shares are widely held and actively traded on a designated stock exchange;

(c) under the law of the foreign country, no shareholder of the particular corporation who is resident in that country is taxable in relation to the distribution; and

(d) the distribution is a prescribed distribution subject to such terms and conditions as are considered appropriate in the circumstances.

The conditions to which paragraph d of section 578.1 refers are as follows:

(a) at the time of the distribution, the particular corporation and the other corporation are resident in the United States and were never resident in Canada;

(b) at the time of the distribution, the shares of the class that includes the original shares are widely held and

i. are actively traded on a designated stock exchange in the United States, or

ii. are required, under the United States Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended from time to time, to be registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the United States and are so registered; and

(c) under the provisions of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time, that apply to the distribution, no shareholder of the particular corporation who is resident in the United States is taxable in respect of the distribution.

2004, c. 8, s. 116; 2009, c. 5, s. 187; 2010, c. 5, s. 51.

578.3. The elements that the particular corporation must establish in accordance with paragraph e of section 578.1 are as follows:

(a) compliance with the conditions set out in subparagraphs b and c of the first or second paragraph of section 578.2, according to whether or not the distribution is a prescribed distribution;

(b) the fact that the particular corporation and the other corporation were never resident in Canada;

(c) the date of the distribution;

(d) the type and fair market value of each property distributed to a person resident in Canada;

(e) the name and address of each person resident in Canada who received property with respect to the distribution; and

(f) such other element as is required by the prescribed form.

The elements that the taxpayer must establish in accordance with paragraph f of section 578.1 are as follows:

(a) the number, cost amount, determined without reference to this chapter, and the fair market value of the taxpayer's original shares immediately before the distribution;

(b) the number, and fair market value, of the taxpayer's original shares and spin-off shares immediately after the distribution;

(c) except where the taxpayer makes the election under subsection 2 of section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) in the taxpayer's fiscal return filed by the taxpayer under that Act for the year in which the distribution occurs, the amount of the distribution, the manner in which the distribution was reported by the taxpayer and the details of any subsequent disposition of an original share or spin-off share that are required for the purpose of determining any gain or loss from that disposition; and

(d) such other element as is required by the prescribed form.

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

DIVISION II

APPLICABLE RULES

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

578.4. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where an eligible distribution is made to a taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount of the eligible distribution shall not be included in computing the income of the taxpayer; and

(b) section 304 does not apply to the eligible distribution.

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

578.5. Where a spin-off share is distributed by a corporation to a taxpayer pursuant to an eligible distribution in relation to an original share of the taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) there shall be deducted in computing the cost amount to the taxpayer of the original share at any time the amount determined by the formula

A × (B / C); and

(b) the cost to the taxpayer of the spin-off share is the amount by which the cost amount of the taxpayer's original share was reduced under subparagraph a.

In the formula provided for in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the cost amount, determined without reference to this chapter, to the taxpayer of the original share immediately before the distribution or, if the original share is disposed of by the taxpayer before the distribution, immediately before its disposition;

(b) B is the fair market value of the spin-off share immediately after its distribution to the taxpayer; and

(c) C is the aggregate of

i. the fair market value of the original share immediately after the distribution of the spin-off share to the taxpayer, and

ii. the fair market value of the spin-off share immediately after its distribution to the taxpayer.

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

578.6. For the purpose of determining the value of property described in the inventory of a taxpayer's business, the following rules apply:

(a) the distribution to the taxpayer of a spin-off share that is property described in the inventory, in respect of an eligible distribution, is deemed not to be an acquisition of property in the fiscal period of the business in which the distribution occurs; and

(b) the value of the spin-off share must be included in computing the value of the property described in the inventory at the end of that fiscal period.

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

578.7. Notwithstanding the expiry of the time limits provided for in section 1010, the Minister may, where the Minister obtains information according to which the condition in subparagraph c of the first or second paragraph of section 578.2 is not, or is no longer, satisfied, make under this Part, for any taxation year, such assessments or reassessments of tax, interest and penalties or such determinations or redeterminations as are necessary,

(a) within three years after the day on which the Minister obtains the information; or

(b) within four years after the day referred to in paragraph a if, at the end of the taxation year concerned, the taxpayer is a mutual fund trust or a corporation other than a Canadian-controlled private corporation.

2004, c. 8, s. 116.

CHAPTER III

FOREIGN ACCRUAL PROPERTY INCOME

1975, c. 22, s. 158.

579. In this Title, the foreign accrual property income of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year of such affiliate means an amount equal to that which is computed as foreign accrual property income in respect of the affiliate for the year under the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) and the Income Tax Regulations made under that Act.

1975, c. 22, s. 158; 2013, c. 10, s. 35.

580. A taxpayer resident in Canada, in computing his income for a taxation year, must include as income from each share owned by him of the capital stock of a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, the percentage of the foreign accrual property income of any controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for each taxation year of the affiliate ending in the taxation year of the taxpayer, equal to that share's participating percentage in respect of the affiliate, determined at the end of each such taxation year of the affiliate.

1975, c. 22, s. 158.

580.1. For the purposes of this section and sections 580.2 and 580.3,

"aggregate participating percentage", of a taxpayer in respect of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer for a taxation year of the foreign affiliate, means the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is the participating percentage, in respect of the foreign affiliate, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is owned by the taxpayer at the end of the taxation year;

"connected partnership", in respect of a particular taxpayer, means a partnership if, at or immediately after the particular time at which section 580.3 applies in respect of a foreign affiliate of the particular taxpayer,

(a) the particular taxpayer or a connected person in respect of the particular taxpayer is, directly or indirectly through one or more other partnerships, a member of the partnership; or

(b) where paragraph a does not apply,

i. the foreign affiliate is a foreign affiliate of the partnership at the particular time, and

ii. the aggregate participating percentage of the partnership in respect of the foreign affiliate for the foreign affiliate's ordinary taxation year may reasonably be considered to have increased as a result of the triggering event that gave rise to the application of section 580.3;

"connected person", in respect of a particular taxpayer, means a person that—at or immediately after the particular time at which section 580.3 applies in respect of a foreign affiliate of the particular taxpayer—is resident in Canada and

(a) does not deal at arm's length with the particular taxpayer; or

(b) deals at arm's length with the particular taxpayer, if

i. the foreign affiliate is a foreign affiliate of the person at the particular time, and

ii. the aggregate participating percentage of the person in respect of the foreign affiliate for the foreign affiliate's ordinary taxation year may reasonably be considered to have increased as a result of the triggering event that gave rise to the application of section 580.3;

"excluded acquisition or disposition", in respect of a taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, means an acquisition or disposition of an equity interest in a corporation, partnership or trust that can reasonably be considered to result in a change in the aggregate participating percentage of the taxpayer in respect of the foreign affiliate for the taxation year of the foreign affiliate, where

(a) the change in the aggregate participating percentage of the taxpayer is less than 1%; and

(b) it cannot reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons the acquisition or disposition occurs as a separate acquisition or disposition from one or more other acquisitions or dispositions is to avoid the application of section 580.3;

"triggering event" means

(a) an acquisition or disposition of an equity interest in a corporation, partnership or trust;

(b) a change in the terms or conditions of a share of the capital stock of a corporation or a right as a member of a partnership or as a beneficiary under a trust; or

(c) a disposition or change of a right referred to in paragraph a of section 598.

2021, c. 14, s. 47.

580.2. For the purposes of this chapter and Chapter IV, the rules set out in section 580.3 apply at a particular time in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada if

(a) an amount would be included under section 580 in computing the taxpayer's income, in respect of a share of the particular foreign affiliate or another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that has an equity percentage in the particular foreign affiliate, for the taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate (determined without reference to section 580.3) that includes the particular time (in this section and section 580.1 referred to as the "ordinary taxation year" of the particular foreign affiliate), if the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate had ended at the particular time;

(b) immediately after the particular time, there is

i. an acquisition of control of the taxpayer, or

ii. a triggering event that can reasonably be considered to result in a change in the aggregate participating percentage of the taxpayer in respect of the particular foreign affiliate for the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate;

(c) where subparagraph i of subparagraph b applies, the condition of paragraph c of subsection 1.1 of section 91 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) is met in respect of the particular foreign affiliate; and

(d) where subparagraph ii of subparagraph b applies, none of the following is the case:

i. the change in the aggregate participating percentage referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b is a decrease and is equal to the total of all amounts each of which is the increase—that can reasonably be considered to result from the triggering event—in the aggregate participating percentage of another taxpayer, in respect of the particular foreign affiliate for the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate, if the other taxpayer

(1) is a person resident in Canada, other than a person that is—or a trust, any of the beneficiaries under which is—exempt from tax under this Part, and

(2) is a person related to the taxpayer at the particular time, if the triggering event results from a winding-up of the taxpayer referred to in section 556, or immediately after the particular time, in any other case,

ii. the triggering event is on an amalgamation within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 544,

iii. the triggering event is an excluded acquisition or disposition, in respect of the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate, and

iv. if one or more triggering events—all of which are described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b and in respect of which none of the conditions of subparagraphs i to iii are met—occur in the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate, the percentage determined by the following formula is not greater than 5%:

A – B.

In the formula in subparagraph iv of subparagraph d of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the total of all amounts each of which is the decrease—which can reasonably be considered to result from a triggering event described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph (other than a triggering event that meets the conditions of subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph d of the first paragraph)—in the aggregate participating percentage of the taxpayer in respect of the particular foreign affiliate for the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate; and

(b) B is the total of all amounts each of which is the increase—which can reasonably be considered to result from a triggering event described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph (other than a triggering event that meets the conditions of subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph d of the first paragraph)—in the aggregate participating percentage of the taxpayer in respect of the particular foreign affiliate for the ordinary taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate.

580.3. The rules to which section 580.2 refers in respect of a foreign affiliate of a particular taxpayer resident in Canada are as follows:

(a) in respect of the particular taxpayer and each connected person, or connected partnership, in respect of the particular taxpayer, the foreign affiliate's taxation year that would, in the absence of this section, have included the particular time referred to in section 580.2 is deemed to end at the time (in this chapter referred to as the "stub-period end time") that is immediately before the particular time; and

(b) where the foreign affiliate is, immediately after the particular time referred to in section 580.2, a foreign affiliate of the particular taxpayer or a connected person, or connected partnership, in respect of the particular taxpayer, the foreign affiliate's taxation year that follows the stub-period end time is deemed, in respect of the particular taxpayer or the connected person or connected partnership, as the case may be, to begin immediately after the particular time.

2021, c. 14, s. 47.

580.4. Where the conditions of section 580.2 are not met at a particular time in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada, section 580.3 applies in respect of the particular foreign affiliate at that time if the taxpayer and all specified corporations have made a valid election under paragraph c of subsection 1.4 of section 91 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) to have subsection 1.2 of that section 91 apply in respect of the disposition that is referred to in paragraph b of subsection 1.4 of that section 91 and that occurs immediately after the particular time.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a specified corporation is a corporation that at or immediately after the particular time meets the following conditions:

(a) the corporation is resident in Canada;

(b) the corporation does not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer; and

(c) the particular foreign affiliate is a foreign affiliate of the corporation, or of a partnership of which the corporation is, directly or indirectly through one or more other partnerships, a member.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph c of subsection 1.4 of section 91 of the Income Tax Act.

2021, c. 14, s. 47.

581. Where the Minister is of opinion that the inclusion of an amount in computing the income of a taxpayer for a taxation year by virtue of sections 580 and 582 imposes undue hardship on the taxpayer by reason of monetary or exchange restrictions of a country other than Canada, the taxpayer may in computing such income deduct in that regard such amount as a reserve as the Minister deems reasonable.

1975, c. 22, s. 158; 1997, c. 14, s. 90.

582. A taxpayer must include in computing his income for a taxation year the amount that he deducted as a reserve by virtue of section 581 for the preceding taxation year.

583. A taxpayer who has included an amount under section 580 in respect of a share of a controlled foreign affiliate (in this section referred to as the "particular foreign affiliate") in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year or for one of the five preceding taxation years may deduct in so computing for the year the lesser of

(a) the product obtained by multiplying the taxpayer's prescribed tax factor for the year by the aggregate —to the extent that the aggregate was not deductible under this section for a preceding year—of any amount prescribed in respect of the particular foreign affiliate or a shareholder affiliate that is attributable to the amount and any income or profits tax reasonably attributable to the amount that is paid by

i. the particular foreign affiliate,

ii. the shareholder affiliate of the taxpayer, or

iii. another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of a dividend received, directly or indirectly, from the particular foreign affiliate, if that other foreign affiliate has an equity percentage in the particular foreign affiliate; and

(b) the amount by which that amount exceeds the aggregate of the amounts deductible under this section in respect of the share for the five preceding taxation years.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a shareholder affiliate of the taxpayer means a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, other than the particular foreign affiliate, where

(a) it has an equity percentage in the particular foreign affiliate; and

(b) the income or profits tax is paid by it to a country other than Canada and it, and not the particular foreign affiliate, is liable for that tax under the laws of that country.

1975, c. 22, s. 158; 1984, c. 15, s. 128; 2015, c. 21, s. 192; 2017, c. 1, s. 142.

584. A taxpayer resident in Canada who in a taxation year has received a dividend on a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was at any time a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, may deduct in computing his income for the year, in respect of such portion of the dividend as is prescribed under section 746 to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate, within the meaning of section 747, the lesser of the amount by which that portion of the dividend exceeds the amount deductible in respect thereof under paragraph b of section 746 and the amount by which the amounts required by section 587 to be added exceed the amounts required by the same section to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of the share before the dividend was received.

584.1. For the purposes of section 584, where a taxpayer that is a taxable Canadian corporation acquires from another corporation resident in Canada with which the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, the taxpayer is deemed to have been required to add or deduct, as the case may be, under Chapter IV, in computing the adjusted cost base of the share, any amount the other corporation has been so required to add or deduct, as the case may be, in computing the adjusted cost base of the share.

584.2. For the purposes of section 584, where a taxpayer resident in Canada acquires a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is immediately after the acquisition a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer from a partnership of which the taxpayer, or a corporation resident in Canada with which the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length at the time the share was acquired, was a member at any time during any fiscal period of the partnership that began before the acquisition, the following rules apply:

(a) that portion of any amount that the partnership was required by section 587 to add to the adjusted cost base of the share of the foreign affiliate equal to the amount included in computing the income of the member of the partnership because of section 600 in relation to the amount that was included in computing the income of the partnership under section 580 or 582 in respect of the foreign affiliate and added to that adjusted cost base, is deemed to be an amount that the taxpayer was required by section 587 to add in computing the adjusted cost base of the share; and

(b) that portion of any amount that the partnership was required by section 587 to deduct from the adjusted cost base of the share of the foreign affiliate equal to the amount by which the income of the member of the partnership was reduced because of section 600 in relation to the amount deducted in computing the income of the partnership, in respect of the foreign affiliate, under any of sections 581, 583 and 584 and deducted from that adjusted cost base, is deemed to be an amount that the taxpayer was required by section 587 to deduct in computing the adjusted cost base of the share.

2004, c. 8, s. 117.

CHAPTER IV

ADJUSTED COST BASE OF SHARES IN A FOREIGN AFFILIATE

1972, c. 23; 1975, c. 22, s. 159.

585. In computing, at any time in a taxation year, the adjusted cost base of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, such corporation shall deduct, in respect of any dividend received by it before that time on such share, an amount equal to the amount by which such portion of the dividend as is deductible under paragraph d of section 746 in computing its taxable income for the year exceeds such portion of income or profits tax that it has paid to the government of a country other than Canada as may reasonably be ascribed to such portion of the dividend that it has so received.

586. The rule set forth in section 585 applies, with the necessary modifications, for the purposes of computing, at any time in a taxation year, the adjusted cost base, to a foreign affiliate of a person resident in Canada, of a share of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of such person, as if the expression "as is deductible" read "as, if it were resident in Canada, would be deductible".

587. A taxpayer resident in Canada, in computing at any time in a taxation year the adjusted cost base of a share owned by him of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, shall add any amount required to be included in respect of that share by virtue of sections 580 and 582 in computing his income for the year or any preceding year, or that would have been so required but for sections 316.1, 456 to 458, 462.1 to 462.24 and 466 to 467.1, and deduct any amount deducted by him in respect of that share, in computing his income for that year, by reason of sections 581 and 583, or that would have been deductible by him but for sections 316.1, 456 to 458, 462.1 to 462.24 and 466 to 467.1, and any dividend received by him before that time in respect of that share, to the extent of the amount deducted by him in respect thereof in computing his income for that year by reason of section 584 or that would have been deductible by him but for the said sections 316.1, 456 to 458, 462.1 to 462.24 and 466 to 467.1.

587.1. A taxpayer is required to add, in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, any amount required by subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 590 to be so added.

2015, c. 21, s. 193.

587.2. A foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada or a partnership of which such a foreign affiliate is a member is required to add, in computing the adjusted cost base to the foreign affiliate or partnership of a share of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the amount required by subsection 1.1 of section 92 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) to be so added in that computation for the purposes of that Act.

2015, c. 36, s. 25.

588. A corporation resident in Canada, in computing, at any time in a taxation year, the adjusted cost base of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, shall deduct any amount deducted by it in computing its taxable income under section 749 for the year or a preceding year in respect of any dividend received by it on such share before that time.

588.1. A corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of such a corporation that disposes at any particular time of all or a portion of an interest in a partnership of which it is a member, shall add, in computing the proceeds of disposition of that interest, an amount equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$[(A - B) - (C + D)] \times (E / F).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was deductible under paragraph d of section 746 in computing the taxable income of the member for any taxation year that began before the particular time in relation to any portion of a dividend received by the partnership, or that would have been so deductible if the member were a corporation resident in Canada;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the partnership or the member to a government of a country other than Canada that can reasonably be attributed to the member's share of the dividend described in paragraph a;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount added under this section in computing the member's proceeds of a disposition before the particular time of another interest in the partnership;

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed by section 588.2 to be a gain of the member from a disposition before the particular time of a share of the capital stock of a corporation by the partnership;

(e) E is the adjusted cost base, immediately before the particular time, of the portion of the member's interest in the partnership disposed of by the member at the particular time; and

(f) F is the adjusted cost base, immediately before the particular time, of the member's interest in the partnership.

2004, c. 8, s. 118.

588.2. Where a partnership disposes of a share of the capital stock of a corporation, at any particular time in a fiscal period of the partnership at the end of which a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is a member of the partnership, the amount determined by the following formula is deemed to be a gain of the member from the disposition of the share by the partnership for the member's taxation year in which that fiscal period ends:

$$(A - B) - C.$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was deductible under paragraph d of section 746 in computing the member's taxable income for a taxation year in relation to any portion of a dividend received by the partnership on the share in a fiscal period that began before the particular time and ended in the member's taxation year, or would have been so deductible if the member were a corporation resident in Canada;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the partnership or the member to a government of a country other than Canada that can reasonably be attributed to the member's share of the dividend described in paragraph a; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount added under section 588.1 in computing the member's proceeds of a disposition before the particular time of an interest in the partnership.

2004, c. 8, s. 118.

CHAPTER V

ELECTION RELATING TO THE DISPOSITION OF A SHARE

1972, c. 23.

589. If a corporation resident in Canada makes a valid election under subsection 1 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), in respect of any share of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation that is disposed of, at any time, by the corporation (in this section referred to as the "disposing corporation") or by another foreign affiliate (in this section referred to as the "disposing affiliate") of the corporation, the amount designated in the election, in accordance with paragraph a of that subsection 1, not exceeding the amount that would, in the absence of this section, be the gain of the disposing corporation or disposing affiliate, as the case may be, from the disposition of the share, is deemed, for the purposes of this Part,

(a) to have been a dividend received on the share from the particular foreign affiliate by the disposing corporation or disposing affiliate, as the case may be, immediately before that time; and

(b) not to have been received by the disposing corporation or disposing affiliate, as the case may be, as proceeds of disposition in respect of the disposition of the share.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 1 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act.

1972, c. 23, s. 451; 1972, c. 26, s. 51; 1975, c. 22, s. 161; 1984, c. 15, s. 129; 1986, c. 15, s. 89; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 53, s. 85; 2010, c. 25, s. 46; 2015, c. 21, s. 194.

589.1. Except for the purposes of paragraph a of section 255, if, in relation to a share, section 261 applies to a corporation that has made, in respect of the share, the election referred to in the first paragraph of section 589, or to a foreign affiliate of the corporation, the amount that is deemed by section 261 to be the gain of the corporation or foreign affiliate, as the case may be, from the disposition of the share is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount established without reference to this section exceeds the amount that is deemed, under the first paragraph of section 589, to be a dividend and not to be proceeds of disposition of the share, in relation to the disposition.

589.1.1. The rules in the second paragraph apply if

(a) a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada disposes at any time of a share (in this subparagraph and the second paragraph referred to as the "disposed share") of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation and the particular foreign affiliate would, in the absence of section 589 and the second paragraph, have realized a capital gain from the disposition of the disposed share; or

(b) in the absence of section 589 and the second paragraph, a corporation resident in Canada would be deemed under section 261, because of a valid election under section 577.3 or subparagraph i of paragraph b of subsection 2 of section 5901 of the Income Tax Regulations made under the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), to have realized a gain, at any time, from the disposition of a share (in the second paragraph referred to as the "disposed share") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation.

The rules to which the first paragraph refers are the following:

(a) the corporation resident in Canada is deemed to have made the election referred to in the first paragraph of section 589, at the time referred to in the first paragraph, in respect of the disposition of the disposed share; and

(b) the corporation resident in Canada is deemed to have designated, in the election, an amount equal to the amount that it is deemed, under paragraph b of subsection 1.11 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act, to have designated in the election in respect of the disposition of the disposed share.

589.2. If the disposition of shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation resident in Canada by a partnership would, but for this section, result in a taxable capital gain for a corporation (in this section referred to as the "disposing corporation") that is the particular corporation or a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation and the particular corporation makes a valid election under subsection 1.2 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of the disposition, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount determined in accordance with the second paragraph in respect of those shares is deemed to be a dividend received immediately before the disposition on the number of those shares that is the amount by which the number of those shares that the disposing corporation is deemed to own under section 592.1 immediately before the disposition exceeds the number of those shares that the disposing corporation is deemed to own under that section immediately after the disposition;

(b) notwithstanding Title XI, the disposing corporation's taxable capital gain from the disposition of those shares is deemed to be the amount by which the disposing corporation's taxable capital gain from the disposition of the shares otherwise determined exceeds the amount determined in accordance with subparagraph a of the second paragraph in relation to those shares;

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(d) for the purposes of sections 746 to 749 in relation to the dividend referred to in subparagraph a, the shares of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate on which that dividend was received are deemed to have been owned by the disposing corporation; and

(e) where the application of section 261 in respect of the partnership, in relation to those shares, results in a taxable capital gain for the disposing corporation, the partnership is deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have disposed of those shares.

The amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers in respect of shares of a class of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate is, subject to the third paragraph, twice

(a) the amount designated in respect of shares in accordance with subparagraph i of paragraph a of subsection 1.2 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act, not exceeding the proportion of the taxable capital gain of the partnership that the amount by which the number of shares of that class of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate that are deemed to be owned by the disposing corporation under section 592.1 immediately before the disposition exceeds the number of those shares that are deemed to be owned by the disposing corporation under that section immediately after the disposition, is of the number of shares of that class of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate that are owned by the partnership immediately before the disposition; or

(b) where section 589.3 applies, the amount prescribed by regulation for the purposes of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of subsection 1.2 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act.

For the purposes of the second paragraph in respect of a disposing corporation for any of the following taxation years, the reference to "twice" in that paragraph shall be replaced, with the necessary modifications, by the following fraction, as the case may be:

(a) in the case of a taxation year that ends before 28 February 2000, 4/3; and

(b) in the case of a taxation year that includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000 or that begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies in respect of the disposing corporation for the year.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 1.2 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under the first paragraph before 20 December 2006.

589.3. If a partnership disposes at a particular time of excluded property that are shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation resident in Canada, the disposition results in a taxable capital gain for a foreign affiliate (in this section referred to as the "disposing corporation") of the particular corporation, and subsection 1.3 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) applies in respect of the disposition, the particular corporation is deemed to have made at that time the election referred to in section 589.2 in relation to the number of shares of that class of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate that is the amount by which the number of those shares that are deemed to be owned by the disposing corporation under section 592.1 immediately before the disposition exceeds the number of those shares that are deemed to be owned by the disposing corporation under that section immediately after the disposition.

590. If a taxpayer resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate (which taxpayer or foreign affiliate is referred to in this section as the "transferee") of the taxpayer acquires shares of the capital stock of one or more foreign affiliates (each referred to in this section as an "acquired affiliate") of the taxpayer on a disposition of shares (such shares disposed of being referred to in this section as the "disposed shares") of the capital stock of any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer (other than, where the transferee is a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, a disposition of shares that are, immediately before the disposition, excluded property of the transferee or a disposition to which section 238.1 applies), the following rules apply:

(a) the capital loss of the transferee from the disposition is deemed to be nil; and

(b) in computing the adjusted cost base to the transferee of a share of a particular class of the capital stock of an acquired affiliate that is owned by the transferee immediately after the disposition, there is to be added the amount determined by the formula

$$[(A-B) \times C/D]/E.$$

In the formula in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the transferee, immediately before the disposition, of a disposed share;

(b) B is the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the proceeds of disposition of a disposed share, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts in respect of the computation of losses of the transferee from the dispositions of the disposed shares, each of which is, in respect of the disposition of a disposed share, the amount by which the amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591 exceeds the amount determined by the formula in that second paragraph;

(c) C is the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of all shares of the particular class owned, immediately after the disposition, by the transferee;

(d) D is the fair market value, immediately after the disposition, of all shares owned, immediately after the disposition, by the transferee of the capital stock of all acquired affiliates; and

(e) E is the number of shares of the particular class that are owned by the transferee immediately after the disposition.

1975, c. 22, s. 162; 1993, c. 16, s. 234; 2000, c. 5, s. 133; 2015, c. 21, s. 196.

591. The amount of a particular loss sustained by a vendor that is a particular corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation is determined in accordance with the rules set out in the second paragraph where

(a) the particular corporation has a particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition by it at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") of a share (in this section referred to as the "affiliate share") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation; or

(b) the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation has a particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition by it at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") of a share (in this section referred to as the "affiliate share") of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation that is not excluded property.

Where a particular loss is a loss referred to in subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph, the amount of the particular loss is deemed to be equal to the greater of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

A-(B-C); and

(b) the lesser of

i. the portion of the particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency other than Canadian currency relative to Canadian currency, and

ii. the amount determined in respect of the vendor that is

(1) if the particular loss is a capital loss, the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain) that was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor and that is described in the fourth paragraph, or that is a capital gain realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor under an agreement described in the fifth paragraph, or

(2) in any other case, the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain or a capital gain) that was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor and that is included in computing the income of the vendor for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized, if the gain meets any of the conditions of the sixth paragraph.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the second paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the particular loss determined without reference to this chapter;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount received before the disposition time, in respect of a tax-exempt dividend on the affiliate share or on a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, by

i. the particular corporation,

ii. another corporation that is related to the particular corporation,

iii. a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, or

iv. a foreign affiliate of another corporation that is related to the particular corporation; and

(c) C is the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of the affiliate share or a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is twice the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter) of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of the affiliate share or a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.1 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

iii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of an interest in a partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.2 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b, and

iv. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is twice the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter) of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of an interest in another partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.3 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b.

The gain to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is a gain that

(a) is deemed under section 262 to be a capital gain of the vendor for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized from the disposition of currency other than Canadian currency; and

(b) is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that

i. was issued or incurred by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the affiliate share by the vendor,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the vendor, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. could reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the affiliate share.

The agreement to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is an agreement that

(a) was entered into by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the affiliate share by the vendor with a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the agreement was in force, at arm's length with the particular corporation;

(b) provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency; and

(c) can reasonably be considered to have been entered into by the vendor for the principal purpose of hedging the foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the acquisition of the affiliate share.

The conditions to which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers in respect of a gain referred to in that subparagraph 2 are the following:

(a) the gain is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that

i. was issued or incurred by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the affiliate share by the vendor,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the vendor, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which it was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. can reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the affiliate share; and

(b) the gain is provided for in an agreement described in the fifth paragraph.

1972, c. 23, s. 452; 1993, c. 16, s. 235; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 120; 2015, c. 21, s. 196.

591.0.1. For the purposes of subparagraphs 1 and 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 591, "specified gain" means a gain in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt referred to in subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph of that section or in subparagraph a of the sixth paragraph of that section, or that arises under a particular agreement referred to in the fifth paragraph of that section, if the particular corporation, or any person or partnership with which the particular corporation was not—at any time during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding or the particular agreement was in force, as the case may be—dealing at arm's length, entered into an agreement that may reasonably be considered to have been entered into for the principal purpose of hedging any foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the foreign currency debt or the particular agreement.

591.1. The amount of a particular allowable capital loss sustained by a particular corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation is determined in accordance with the rules set out in the second paragraph where

(a) the particular corporation has a particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") by a partnership (in this section and section 591.1.1 referred to as the "disposing partnership") of a share (in this section referred to as the "affiliate share") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation; or

(b) the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation has a particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") by a partnership (in this section and section 591.1.1 referred to as the "disposing partnership") of a share (in this section referred to as the "affiliate share") of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation that would not be excluded property of the affiliate if the affiliate had owned the share immediately before the disposition time.

Where a particular allowable capital loss is a loss referred to in subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph, the amount of the particular allowable capital loss is deemed to be equal to the greater of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

A-(B-C); and

(b) the lesser of

i. the portion of the particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency other than Canadian currency relative to Canadian currency, and

ii. one-half of the amount determined in respect of the particular corporation, or the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, that is the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain) that

(1) was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the disposing partnership to the extent that the gain is reasonably attributable to the particular corporation or the foreign affiliate, as the case may be, if the gain is described in the fourth paragraph, or

(2) is a capital gain (to the extent that the capital gain is reasonably attributable to the particular corporation or the foreign affiliate, as the case may be) realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the disposing partnership under an agreement described in the fifth paragraph.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the second paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the particular allowable capital loss determined without reference to this chapter,

(b) B is one-half of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount received before the disposition time, in respect of a tax-exempt dividend on the affiliate share or on a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, by

i. the particular corporation,

ii. another corporation that is related to the particular corporation,

iii. a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, or

iv. a foreign affiliate of another corporation that is related to the particular corporation; and

(c) C is the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is one-half of the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of the affiliate share or a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter), of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of the affiliate share or a share for which the affiliate share was substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

iii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is one-half of the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of an interest in a partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.2 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b, and

iv. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter), of a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of an interest in another partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.3 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b.

The gain to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is a gain that

(a) is deemed under section 262 to be a capital gain of the disposing partnership for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized from the disposition of currency other than Canadian currency; and

(b) is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that i. was issued or incurred by the disposing partnership within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the affiliate share by the disposing partnership,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the disposing partnership, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. could reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the affiliate share.

The agreement to which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is an agreement that

(a) was entered into by the disposing partnership, within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the affiliate share by the disposing partnership, with a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the agreement was in force, at arm's length with the particular corporation;

(b) provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency; and

(c) can reasonably be considered to have been entered into by the disposing partnership for the principal purpose of hedging the foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the acquisition of the affiliate share.

2004, c. 8, s. 121; 2015, c. 21, s. 198.

591.1.1. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 591.1, "specified gain" means a gain in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt referred to in subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph of that section or that arises under a particular agreement referred to in the fifth paragraph of that section, if the disposing partnership, or any person or partnership with which the particular corporation was not–at any time during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding or the particular agreement was in force, as the case may be–dealing at arm's length, entered into an agreement that may reasonably be considered to have been entered into for the principal purpose of hedging any foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the foreign currency debt or the particular agreement.

591.2. The amount of a particular loss sustained by a vendor that is a particular corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation is determined in accordance with the rules set out in the second paragraph where

(a) the particular corporation has a particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition by it at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") of an interest in a partnership that has a direct or indirect right in shares (in this section referred to as the "affiliate shares") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation; or

(b) the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation has a particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition by it at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") of an interest in a partnership that has a direct or indirect right in shares (in this section referred to as the "affiliate shares") of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation that would not be excluded property of the affiliate if the affiliate had owned the shares immediately before the disposition time.

Where a particular loss is a loss referred to in subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph, the amount of the particular loss is deemed to be equal to the greater of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

A - (B - C); and

(b) the lesser of

i. the portion of the particular loss, determined without reference to this chapter, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency other than Canadian currency relative to Canadian currency, and

ii. the amount determined in respect of the vendor that is

(1) if the particular loss is a capital loss, the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain) that was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor and is described in the fourth paragraph or that is a capital gain realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor under an agreement described in the fifth paragraph, or

(2) in any other case, the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain or a capital gain) that was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the vendor and that is included in computing the income of the vendor for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized if the gain meets any of the conditions of the sixth paragraph.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the second paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the particular loss determined without reference to this chapter;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount received before the disposition time, in respect of a tax-exempt dividend on affiliate shares or on shares for which affiliate shares were substituted, by

i. the particular corporation,

ii. another corporation that is related to the particular corporation,

iii. a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, or

iv. a foreign affiliate of another corporation that is related to the particular corporation; and

(c) C is the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of the affiliate shares or shares for which the affiliate shares were substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is twice the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter) of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of the affiliate shares or shares for which the affiliate shares were substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.1 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

iii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of an interest in a partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to subparagraph b, and

iv. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is twice the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter) of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of an interest in another partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.3 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b.

The gain to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is a gain that

(a) is deemed under section 262 to be a capital gain of the vendor for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized from the disposition of currency other than Canadian currency; and

(b) is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that i. was issued or incurred by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of a partnership interest by the vendor,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the vendor, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. could reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the partnership interest.

The agreement to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is an agreement that

(a) was entered into by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the partnership interest by the vendor with a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the agreement was in force, at arm's length with the particular corporation;

(b) provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency; and

(c) can reasonably be considered to have been entered into by the vendor for the principal purpose of hedging the foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the acquisition of the partnership interest.

The conditions to which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers in respect of a gain described in that subparagraph 2 are the following:

(a) the gain is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that i. was issued or incurred by the vendor within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the partnership interest by the vendor,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the vendor, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which it was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. can reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the partnership interest; and

(b) the gain is provided for in an agreement described in the fifth paragraph.

591.2.1. For the purposes of subparagraphs 1 and 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 591.2, "specified gain" means a gain in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt referred to in subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph of that section or in subparagraph a of the sixth paragraph of that section, or that arises under a particular agreement referred to in the fifth paragraph of that section, if the particular corporation, or any person or partnership with which the particular corporation was not–at any time during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding or the particular agreement was in force, as the case may be–dealing at arm's length, entered into an agreement that may reasonably be considered to have been entered into for the principal purpose of hedging any foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the foreign currency debt or the particular agreement.

591.3. The amount of a particular allowable capital loss sustained by a particular corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation is determined in accordance with the rules set out in the second paragraph where

(a) the particular corporation has a particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") by a partnership (in this section and section 591.3.1 referred to as the "particular partnership") of an interest in another partnership that has a direct or indirect right in shares (in this section referred to as the "affiliate shares") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation; or

(b) the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation has a particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, from the disposition at any time (in this section referred to as the "disposition time") by a partnership (in this section and section 591.3.1 referred to as the "particular partnership") of an interest in another partnership that has a direct or indirect right in shares (in this section referred to as the "affiliate shares") of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation that would not be excluded property of the affiliate if the affiliate had owned the shares immediately before the disposition time.

Where a particular allowable capital loss is a loss referred to in subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph, the amount of the particular allowable capital loss is deemed to be equal to the greater of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

A - (B - C); and

(b) the lesser of

i. the portion of the particular allowable capital loss, determined without reference to this chapter, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to a fluctuation in the value of a currency other than Canadian currency relative to Canadian currency, and

ii. one-half of the amount determined in respect of the particular corporation or the foreign affiliate of the particular corporation that is the amount of a gain (other than a specified gain) that

(1) was realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the particular partnership to the extent that the gain is reasonably attributable to the particular corporation or the foreign affiliate, as the case may be, if the gain is described in the fourth paragraph, or

(2) is a capital gain (to the extent that the capital gain is reasonably attributable to the particular corporation or the foreign affiliate, as the case may be) realized within 30 days before or after the disposition time by the particular partnership under an agreement described in the fifth paragraph.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the second paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the particular allowable capital loss determined without reference to this chapter;

(b) B is one-half of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount received before the disposition time, in respect of a tax-exempt dividend on affiliate shares or on shares for which the affiliate shares were substituted, by

i. the particular corporation,

ii. another corporation that is related to the particular corporation,

iii. a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, or

iv. a foreign affiliate of another corporation that is related to the particular corporation; and

(c) C is the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is one-half of the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of the affiliate shares or shares for which the affiliate shares were substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter), of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of the affiliate shares or shares for which the affiliate shares were substituted, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.1 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b,

iii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is one-half of the amount by which a loss (determined without reference to this chapter), of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a corporation, or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, of an interest in a partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 591.2 in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b, and

iv. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which an allowable capital loss (determined without reference to this chapter), of a corporation or a foreign affiliate described in subparagraph b, from a previous disposition by a partnership of an interest in another partnership, was reduced under subparagraph a of the second paragraph in respect of tax-exempt dividends referred to in subparagraph b.

The gain to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is a gain that

(a) is deemed under section 262 to be a capital gain of the particular partnership for the taxation year that includes the time the gain was realized from the disposition of currency other than Canadian currency; and

(b) is in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt that i. was issued or incurred by the particular partnership within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the partnership interest by the partnership,

ii. was, at all times at which it was a debt obligation of the particular partnership, owing to a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding, at arm's length with the particular corporation, and

iii. could reasonably be considered to have been issued or incurred in relation to the acquisition of the partnership interest.

The agreement to which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph refers is an agreement that

(a) was entered into by the particular partnership, within 30 days before or after the acquisition of the partnership interest by the particular partnership, with a person or partnership that dealt, at all times during which the agreement was in force, at arm's length with the particular corporation;

(b) provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency; and

(c) can reasonably be considered to have been entered into by the particular partnership for the principal purpose of hedging the foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the acquisition of the partnership interest.

2004, c. 8, s. 121; 2015, c. 21, s. 202; 2020, c. 16, s. 85.

591.3.1. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 591.3, "specified gain" means a gain in respect of the settlement or extinguishment of a foreign currency debt referred to in subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph of that section, or that arises under a particular agreement referred to in the fifth paragraph of that section, if the particular partnership, or any person or partnership with which the particular corporation was not–at any time during which the foreign currency debt was outstanding or the particular agreement was in force, as the case may be–dealing at arm's length, entered into an agreement that may reasonably be considered to have been entered into for the principal purpose of hedging any foreign exchange exposure arising in connection with the foreign currency debt or the particular agreement.

592. For the purposes of sections 591, 591.1, 591.2 and 591.3, the following rules apply:

(a) a dividend received by a corporation resident in Canada is a tax-exempt dividend to the extent of the portion of the dividend that is deductible in computing its taxable income under any of paragraphs a to c of section 746;

(b) a dividend received by a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada from another foreign affiliate of the corporation is a tax-exempt dividend to the extent of the amount by which the portion of the dividend that was not prescribed to have been paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the other affiliate exceeds the aggregate of such portion of the income or profits tax that can reasonably be considered to have been paid in relation to that portion of the dividend by the particular affiliate or by a partnership in which the particular affiliate had, at the time of the payment of the income or profits tax, a partnership interest, either directly or indirectly; and

(c) a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is deemed to have received from another foreign affiliate of the corporation an amount equal to the amount that is described in paragraph c of subsection 3 of section 93 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)), at the time referred to in that paragraph and for the same purposes.

SHARES HELD BY A PARTNERSHIP

2004, c. 8, s. 123.

592.1. For the purpose of determining whether a corporation not resident in Canada is a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada for the purposes of a provision among those mentioned in the second paragraph, the shares of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that, based on the assumptions contained in paragraph c of section 600, are owned at a particular time by a partnership or are deemed under this section to be owned at a particular time by the partnership, are deemed to be owned at that time by each member of the partnership in proportion to the number of all of those shares that the fair market value of the member's interest in the partnership at that time is of the fair market value of all members' interests in the partnership at that time.

The provisions to which the first paragraph refers are the following:

(a) sections 146.1, 262.0.1, 576.2, 577, 577.2 to 577.11, 589 to 592, 592.2, 592.7 to 592.10 and 746 to 749 and paragraph d of section 785.1;

(b) sections 571 to 576.1, 578 and 579, where those sections apply for the purposes of the provisions mentioned in subparagraph a;

(c) the regulations made under the provisions mentioned in subparagraph a; and

(d) sections 572.2.1 to 572.2.3 and the provisions of Chapter I of Title III of Book V.

2004, c. 8, s. 123; 2015, c. 21, s. 205; 2017, c. 1, s. 143; 2021, c. 14, s. 48.

592.2. Where shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation resident in Canada are owned, based on the assumptions contained in paragraph c of section 600, by a partnership at the time when the foreign affiliate pays a dividend on those shares to the partnership, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of sections 589 to 592 and 746 to 749 and any regulations made under those sections,

i. each member of the partnership (other than another partnership) is deemed to have received a portion of the dividend equal to the proportion of the dividend that the fair market value of the member's interest held, directly or indirectly through an interest in one or more other partnerships, in the partnership at that time is of the fair market value of all the interests in the partnership held directly by members of the partnership at that time, and

ii. the portion of the dividend that is deemed to have been received by a member of the partnership at that time, under subparagraph i, is deemed to have been received by the member in equal proportions on each share of the foreign affiliate that is property of the partnership at that time; and

(b) for the purpose of applying sections 746 to 749, in relation to the dividend referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a, each share of the foreign affiliate referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a is deemed to be owned by each member of the partnership.

In addition, notwithstanding subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) where the particular corporation is a member of the partnership, the amount deductible under sections 746 to 749, in relation to the dividend referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph shall not exceed the portion of the amount of the dividend included in computing its income pursuant to section 600; and

(b) where another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation is a member of the partnership, the amount included in computing the income of that other foreign affiliate, in relation to the dividend referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph shall not exceed the amount that would be included in computing its income pursuant to section 600, in relation to that dividend, but for this section and if the foreign accrual property income of that other foreign affiliate were determined without reference to the value of H of the formula provided for in the definition of "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 1 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)).

592.3. A person or partnership that is (or is deemed by this section to be) a member of a particular partnership that is a member of another partnership is deemed to be a member of the other partnership and to have, directly, rights to the income or capital of the other partnership to the extent of the person or partnership's direct and indirect rights to that income or capital, for the purpose of applying

(a) except to the extent that the context requires otherwise, a provision of this Title; and

(b) sections 262.0.1 and 555.0.3.

2015, c. 21, s. 206; 2017, c. 1, s. 145.

CHAPTER V.2

NON-RESIDENT CORPORATIONS WITHOUT SHARE CAPITAL

2017, c. 1, s. 146.

592.4. In this chapter,

"equity interest", in a non-resident corporation without share capital, means any right, whether immediate or future and whether absolute or contingent, conferred by the corporation to receive an amount that can reasonably be regarded as all or any part of the capital, revenue or income of the corporation, but does not include a right as creditor;

"non-resident corporation without share capital" means a corporation not resident in Canada that, determined without reference to this chapter, does not have capital divided into shares.

2017, c. 1, s. 146.

592.5. For the purposes of this Part, the following rules apply:

(a) equity interests in a non-resident corporation without share capital that have identical rights and obligations, determined without reference to proportionate differences in all of those rights and obligations, are deemed to be shares of a separate class of the capital stock of the corporation;

(b) the corporation is deemed to have 100 issued and outstanding shares of each class of shares of its capital stock;

(c) each person or partnership that holds, at any time, an equity interest in a particular class of the capital stock of the corporation is deemed to own, at that time, that number of shares of the capital stock of the particular class that is equal to the proportion of 100 that the fair market value, at that time, of all the equity interests of the particular class held by the person or partnership is of the fair market value, at that time, of all the equity interests of the particular class; and

(d) shares of a particular class of shares of the capital stock of the corporation are deemed to have rights and obligations that are the same as those of the corresponding equity interests.

2017, c. 1, s. 146.

592.6. For the purposes of Division XIII of Chapter IV of Title IV, section 540 and Chapter V of Title IX, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to subparagraph b, where at any time a taxpayer resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer (in this section referred to as the "vendor") disposes of capital property that is shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or a debt obligation owing to the taxpayer by the affiliate, to—or exchanges the shares or debt for shares of the capital stock of—a non-resident corporation without share capital, that is immediately after that time a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, in a manner that increases the fair market value of a class of shares of the capital stock of the non-resident corporation, the non-resident corporation is deemed to have issued, and the vendor is deemed to have received, new shares of the class as consideration in respect of the disposition or exchange; and

(b) if the taxpayer makes a valid election under paragraph b of subsection 3 of section 93.2 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), subparagraph a does not apply in relation to the disposition or exchange.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph b of subsection 3 of section 93.2 of the Income Tax Act.

2017, c. 1, s. 146.

CHAPTER V.3

SPECIFIED TRUSTS

2017, c. 1, s. 146; 2024, c. 11, s. 53.

592.7. In this chapter,

"specified trust", at any time, means a trust in respect of which the following conditions are met at that time:

(a) in the absence of section 592.9, the trust would be described in paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593;

(b) the trust is resident in Australia or India (each of those jurisdictions being in this chapter referred to as a "specified jurisdiction");

(c) the interest of each beneficiary under the trust is described by reference to units of the trust; and

(d) the liability of each beneficiary under the trust is limited by the operation of any law governing the trust;

"fixed interest" has the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 593.

2017, c. 1, s. 146; 2024, c. 11, s. 54.

592.8. The rules of section 592.9 apply at any time, for the specified purpose provided for in section 592.10, in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada in relation to a trust if

(a) a corporation not resident in Canada is at that time beneficially interested in the trust;

(b) the corporation not resident in Canada is at that time a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of which the taxpayer has a qualifying interest, within the meaning of paragraph m of subsection 2 of section 95 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.));

(c) the trust is at that time a specified trust;

(d) the total fair market value at that time of all fixed interests of a class in the trust held by the corporation not resident in Canada, or persons or partnerships that do not deal at arm's length with the corporation, is equal to at least 10% of the fair market value at that time of all fixed interests of the class; and

(e) unless the corporation not resident in Canada first acquires a beneficial interest in the trust at that time or first becomes a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer at that time, immediately before that time the rules of section 592.9 applied

i. in respect of the taxpayer in relation to the trust, or

ii. in respect of a corporation resident in Canada that, immediately before that time, did not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer, in relation to the trust.

2017, c. 1, s. 146; 2024, c. 11, s. 55.

592.9. The rules to which section 592.8 refers in respect of a taxpayer resident in Canada in relation to a trust are the following:

(a) the trust is deemed to be a corporation not resident in Canada that is resident in a specified jurisdiction and not to be a trust;

(b) each particular class of fixed interests in the trust is deemed to be a separate class of 100 issued shares, of the capital stock of the corporation not resident in Canada, that have the same attributes as the interests of the particular class;

(c) each beneficiary under the trust is deemed to hold the number of shares of each separate class described in paragraph b equal to the proportion of 100 that the fair market value, at the time referred to in section 592.8, of that beneficiary's fixed interests in the corresponding particular class of fixed interests in the trust is of the fair market value at that time of all fixed interests in the particular class;

(d) the corporation not resident in Canada is deemed to be controlled by the taxpayer resident in Canada —a foreign affiliate of which is referred to in paragraph b of section 592.8 and is beneficially interested in the trust—that has the greatest equity percentage in the corporation not resident in Canada;

(e) a particular foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in which the taxpayer has a direct equity percentage at a particular time, and that is not a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer at that time, is deemed to be a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer at that time if, at that time,

i. the particular foreign affiliate has an equity percentage in the foreign affiliate referred to in paragraph b of section 592.8, or

ii. the particular foreign affiliate is the foreign affiliate referred to in paragraph b of section 592.8; and

(f) Chapter VI.2 does not apply in respect of the taxpayer in relation to the trust.

2017, c. 1, s. 146; 2024, c. 11, s. 56.

592.10. The specified purpose to which section 592.8 refers is the determination, in respect of an interest in a specified trust, of the Québec tax results (as defined in section 21.4.16) of the taxpayer resident in Canada referred to in section 592.8 for a taxation year in respect of shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer.

2017, c. 1, s. 146; 2024, c. 11, s. 57.

CHAPTER VI

FOREIGN TRUSTS

1975, c. 22, s. 164.

593. In this chapter and Chapter VI.2,

"arm's length transfer" at any time by a person or partnership (in this definition referred to as the "transferor") means a transfer or loan (which transfer or loan is referred to in this definition as the "transfer") of property (other than restricted property) that is made at that time (in this definition referred to as the "transfer time") by the transferor to another person or partnership (in this definition referred to as the "recipient") where

(a) it is reasonable to conclude that none of the reasons (with reference to all the circumstances including the terms of a trust, an intention, the laws of a country or the existence of an agreement, a memorandum, a letter of wishes or any other arrangement) for the transfer is the acquisition at any time by any person or partnership of an interest as a beneficiary under a trust that is not resident in Canada; and

(b) the transfer is

i. a payment of interest, of dividends, of rent, of royalties or of any other return on investment, or any substitute for such a return on investment, in respect of a particular property held by the recipient, if the amount of the payment is not more than the amount that the transferor would have paid if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient,

ii. a payment made by a corporation on a reduction of the paid-up capital in respect of shares of a class of its capital stock held by the recipient, if the amount of the payment is not more than the lesser of the amount of the reduction in the paid-up capital and the consideration for which the shares were issued,

iii. a transfer in exchange for which the recipient transfers or loans property to the transferor, or becomes obligated to transfer or loan property to the transferor, and for which it is reasonable to conclude

(1) having regard only to the transfer and the exchange, that the transferor would have been willing to make the transfer if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient, and

(2) that the terms and conditions, and circumstances, under which the transfer was made would have been acceptable to the transferor if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient,

iv. a transfer made in satisfaction of an obligation referred to in subparagraph iii and for which it is reasonable to conclude

(1) having regard only to the transfer and the obligation, that the transferor would have been willing to make the transfer if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient, and

(2) that the terms and conditions, and circumstances, under which the transfer was made would have been acceptable to the transferor if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient,

v. a payment of an amount owing by the transferor under a written agreement the terms and conditions of which, when entered into, were terms and conditions that, having regard only to the amount owing and the agreement, would have been acceptable to the transferor if the transferor dealt at arm's length with the recipient,

vi. a payment made before 1 January 2002 to a trust, to a corporation controlled by a trust or to a partnership of which a trust is a majority-interest partner in repayment of or otherwise in respect of a loan made by a trust, corporation or partnership to the transferor, or

vii. a payment made after 31 December 2001 to a trust, to a corporation controlled by the trust or to a partnership of which the trust is a majority-interest partner, in repayment of or otherwise in respect of a particular loan made by the trust, corporation or partnership to the transferor and either

(1) the payment is made before 1 January 2011 and they would have been willing to enter into the particular loan if they dealt at arm's length with each other, or

(2) the payment is made before 1 January 2005 in accordance with fixed repayment terms agreed to before 23 June 2000;

"beneficiary" under a trust includes

(a) a person or partnership that is beneficially interested in the trust; and

(b) a person or partnership that would be beneficially interested in the trust if subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 7.11.1 were read as follows:

"ii. because of the terms or conditions of the particular trust or any agreement in respect of the particular trust at the particular time (including the terms or conditions of a share, or any agreement in respect of a share, of the capital stock of a corporation that is beneficially interested in the particular trust), the particular person or partnership becomes (or could become on the exercise of any discretion by any person or partnership), directly or indirectly, entitled to any amount derived, directly or indirectly, from the income or capital of the particular trust or might, because of the exercise of any discretion by any person or partnership, become beneficially interested in the particular trust at the particular time or at a later time, and";

"closely held corporation" at any time means any corporation, other than a corporation in respect of which

(a) there is at least one class of shares of its capital stock that consists of shares prescribed for the purposes of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.));

(b) it is reasonable to conclude that at that time, in respect of each class of shares described in paragraph a, shares of the class are held by at least 150 shareholders each of whom holds shares of the class that have a total fair market value of at least $500; and

(c) it is reasonable to conclude that at that time in no case does a particular shareholder (or a particular shareholder together with one or more other shareholders with whom the particular shareholder does not deal at arm's length) hold shares of the corporation

i. that would give the particular shareholder (or the group of other shareholders not dealing with each other at arm's length and of which the particular shareholder is a member) 10% or more of the votes that could be cast under any circumstance at an annual meeting of shareholders of the corporation if the meeting were held at that time, or

ii. that have a fair market value of 10% or more of the fair market value of all of the issued and outstanding shares of the corporation;

"connected contributor" to a trust at any time means a contributor to the trust at that time, other than a person all of whose contributions to the trust made at or before that time were made at a non-resident time of the person;

"contribution" to a trust by a particular person or partnership means

(a) a transfer or loan (other than an arm's length transfer) of property to the trust by the particular person or partnership;

(b) where a particular transfer or loan (other than an arm's length transfer) of property is made by the particular person or partnership as part of a series of transactions that includes another transfer or loan (other than an arm's length transfer) of property to the trust by another person or partnership, that other transfer or loan to the extent that it can reasonably be considered to have been made in respect of the particular transfer or loan; or

(c) where the particular person or partnership undertakes to make a transfer or loan (other than a transfer or loan that would, if it were made, be an arm's length transfer) of property as part of a series of transactions that includes another transfer or loan (other than an arm's length transfer) of property to the trust by another person or partnership, that other transfer or loan to the extent that it can reasonably be considered to have been made in respect of the undertaking;

"contributor" to a trust at any time means a person, including a person that has ceased to exist, that is not an exempt person and that, at or before that time, has made a contribution to the trust;

"electing contributor" to a trust at any time means a resident contributor, to the trust, who has made a valid election under the definition of "electing contributor" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act to have subsection 16 of that section 94 apply in respect of the contributor and the trust for a taxation year of the contributor that includes that time or that ends before that time and for any subsequent taxation year;

"electing trust" in respect of a particular taxation year means a trust that

(a) holds at any time in the particular taxation year, or in a prior taxation year throughout which it was deemed, for the purpose of computing its income, to be resident in Canada under paragraph a of section 595, property that is at that time included in its non-resident portion; and

(b) has made a valid election under paragraph b of the definition of "electing trust" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act;

"exempt foreign trust" at a particular time means either a prescribed trust at the particular time or a trust that is not resident in Canada and that

(a) is a trust in respect of which the following conditions are met:

i. each beneficiary under the trust at the particular time is

(1) an individual (in this paragraph referred to as an "infirm beneficiary") who, because of mental or physical infirmity, was, at the time that the trust was created, dependent on an individual who is a contributor to the trust or on an individual related to such a contributor, or

(2) a person who is entitled, only after the particular time, to receive or otherwise obtain the enjoyment of all or part of the trust's income or capital,

ii. at the particular time there is at least one infirm beneficiary under the trust who suffers from a mental or physical infirmity that causes the beneficiary to be dependent on a person,

iii. each infirm beneficiary is, at all times that the infirm beneficiary is a beneficiary under the trust during the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time, not resident in Canada, and

iv. each contribution to the trust made at or before the particular time can reasonably be considered to have been, at the time that the contribution was made, made to provide for the maintenance of an infirm beneficiary during the expected period of the beneficiary's infirmity;

(b) is a trust in respect of which the following conditions are met:

i. the trust was created because of the breakdown of a marriage of two particular individuals to provide for the maintenance of a beneficiary under the trust who was, during that marriage,

(1) a child of both of those particular individuals (in this paragraph referred to as a "child beneficiary"), or

(2) one of those particular individuals (in this paragraph referred to as the "adult beneficiary"), ii. each beneficiary under the trust at the particular time is

(1) a child beneficiary under 21 years of age,

(2) a child beneficiary under 31 years of age who is enrolled at any time in the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time at an educational institution that is described in the third paragraph,

(3) the adult beneficiary, or

(4) a person who is entitled, only after the particular time, to receive or otherwise obtain the enjoyment of all or part of the trust's income or capital,

iii. each beneficiary described in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3 of subparagraph ii is, at all times that the beneficiary is a beneficiary under the trust during the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time, not resident in Canada, and

iv. each contribution to the trust, at the time that the contribution was made, was

(1) an amount paid by the particular individual other than the adult beneficiary that would be a support amount as defined in section 312.3 if it had been paid by that particular individual directly to the adult beneficiary, or

(2) a contribution made by one of those particular individuals or a person related to one of those particular individuals to provide for the maintenance of a child beneficiary while the child was either under 21 years of age or under 31 years of age and enrolled at an educational institution located outside Canada that is described in the third paragraph;

(c) is a trust in respect of which one of the following conditions is met:

i. at the particular time the trust is an agency of the United Nations,

ii. at the particular time the trust owns and administers a university described in subparagraph iv of paragraph a of the definition of "qualified donee" in subsection 1 of section 149.1 of the Income Tax Act,

iii. at any time in the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time or at any time in the preceding calendar year Her Majesty in right of Canada has made a gift to the trust, or

iv. the trust is created under the International Convention on the Establishment of an International Fund for Compensation for Oil Pollution Damage, 1992, or any protocol to it that has been ratified by the Government of Canada;

(d) is a trust in respect of which the following conditions are met:

i. throughout the particular period that began at the time the trust was created and ended at the particular time, the trust would not be resident in Canada for the purposes of the Income Tax Act if that Act were read without reference to subsection 1 of section 94 of that Act as that subsection read in its application to a taxation year that includes 31 December 2000,

ii. the trust was created exclusively for charitable purposes and has been operated throughout the particular period described in subparagraph i exclusively for charitable purposes,

iii. if the particular time is more than 24 months after the day on which the trust was created, the trust numbers at the particular time at least 20 persons (other than trusts) each of whom at that time

(1) is a contributor to the trust,

(2) exists, and

(3) deals at arm's length with at least 19 other contributors to the trust,

iv. the income of the trust (determined in accordance with the laws described in subparagraph v) for each of its taxation years that ends at or before the particular time would, if the income were not distributed and the laws described in subparagraph v did not apply, be subject to an income or profits tax in the country in which it was resident in the taxation year under consideration, and

v. the trust was, for each of its taxation years that ends at or before the particular time, exempt under the laws of the country in which it was resident from the payment of income or profits tax to the government of that country in recognition of the charitable purposes for which the trust is operated;

(e) is governed throughout the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time by a profit sharing plan, a retirement compensation arrangement or a foreign retirement arrangement;

(f) is a trust that

i. throughout the particular period that began when it was created and ended at the particular time has been operated exclusively for the purpose of administering or providing employee benefits in respect of employees or former employees, and

ii. meets the following conditions throughout the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time:

(1) the trust is a trust governed by an employee benefit plan or is a trust described in subparagraph a.1 of the third paragraph of section 647,

(2) the trust is maintained for the benefit of natural persons the majority of whom are not resident in Canada, and

(3) no benefits are provided under the trust other than benefits in respect of qualifying services;

(g) is a trust (other than a trust described in subparagraph a.1 of the third paragraph of section 647 or a prescribed trust) that throughout the particular period that began when it was created and ended at the particular time

i. has been resident in a foreign country the laws of which have, throughout the particular period,

(1) imposed an income or profits tax, and

(2) exempted the trust from the payment of all income tax, and all profits tax, to the government of that country in recognition of the purposes for which the trust is operated, and

ii. has been operated exclusively for the purpose of administering or providing pension benefits that are primarily in respect of services rendered in the foreign country by natural persons who were not resident in Canada at the time those services were rendered; or

(h) is a trust (other than a trust that has made a valid election, described in paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act, not to be an exempt foreign trust under that paragraph h for the taxation year for which the election is made and for any subsequent taxation year) in respect of which the following conditions are met at the particular time:

i. the only beneficiaries under the trust who for any reason are entitled to receive, at or after the particular time and directly from the trust, an amount from the income or capital of the trust are beneficiaries that hold fixed interests in the trust, and

ii. any of the following requirements are complied with:

(1) there are at least 150 beneficiaries among those described in subparagraph i under the trust each of whose fixed interests in the trust have at the particular time a total fair market value of at least $500,

(2) all fixed interests in the trust are listed on a designated stock exchange and in the 30 days immediately preceding the particular time fixed interests in the trust were traded on a designated stock exchange on at least 10 days,

(3) each outstanding fixed interest in the trust was issued by the trust for consideration that was not less than 90% of the interest's proportionate share of the net asset value of the trust's property at the time of its issuance, or was acquired for consideration equal to the fair market value of the interest at the time of its acquisition, or

(4) the trust is governed by a Roth IRA, within the meaning of section 408A of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time, or by a plan or arrangement created after 21 September 2007 that is subject to that Code and that is described in subclause II of clause D of subparagraph ii of paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act;

"exempt person" at any time means

(a) the State, Her Majesty in right of Canada or Her Majesty in right of a province, other than Québec;

(b) a person whose taxable income for the taxation year that includes that time is exempt from tax under this Part in accordance with Book VIII;

(c) a trust resident in Canada or a Canadian corporation

i. that was established by or arises under a law of Canada or of a province, and

ii. the principal activities of which at that time are to administer, manage or invest the monies of one or more superannuation or pension funds or plans established under a law of Canada or of a province;

(d) a trust or corporation established by or arising under a law of Canada or of a province in connection with a scheme or program for the compensation of workers injured in an accident arising out of or in the course of their employment;

(e) a trust resident in Canada all the beneficiaries under which are at that time exempt persons;

(f) a Canadian corporation all the shares, or rights to shares, of which are held at that time by exempt persons;

(g) a Canadian corporation without share capital all the property of which is held at that time exclusively for the benefit of exempt persons;

(h) a partnership all the members of which are at that time exempt persons; and

(i) a trust or corporation that is at that time a mutual fund;

"exempt service" means a service rendered at any time by a person or partnership (in this definition referred to as the "service provider") to, for or on behalf of, another person or partnership (in this definition referred to as the "recipient") where

(a) the recipient is a trust and the service relates to the administration of the trust; or

(b) the following conditions are met in respect of the service:

i. the service is rendered in the service provider's capacity at that time as an employee or agent of the recipient,

ii. in exchange for the service, the recipient transfers or loans property or undertakes to transfer or loan property, and

iii. it is reasonable to conclude

(1) having regard only to the service and the exchange, that the service provider would be willing to provide the service if the service provider were dealing at arm's length with the recipient, and

(2) that the terms, conditions and circumstances under which the service is provided would be acceptable to the service provider if the service provider were dealing at arm's length with the recipient;

"fixed interest" at any time of a person or partnership in a trust means an interest of the person or partnership as a beneficiary (in this definition, determined without reference to section 7.11.1) under the trust provided that no amount of the income or capital of the trust to be distributed at any time in respect of any interest in the trust depends on the exercise by any person or partnership of, or the failure by any person or partnership to exercise, any discretionary power, other than a discretionary power in respect of which it is reasonable to conclude that

(a) the power is consistent with normal commercial practice;

(b) the power is consistent with terms that would be acceptable to the beneficiaries under the trust if the beneficiaries were dealing with each other at arm's length; and

(c) the exercise of, or failure to exercise, the power will not materially affect the value of an interest as a beneficiary under the trust relative to the value of other such interests under the trust;

"joint contributor" at any time in respect of a contribution to a trust means, if more than one contributor has made the contribution, each of those contributors that is at that time a resident contributor to the trust;

"mutual fund" at any time means a mutual fund corporation or mutual fund trust (in this definition referred to as the "fund"), but does not include a fund in respect of which statements or representations have been made at or before that time–by the fund, or by a promoter or other representative of the fund, in respect of the acquisition or offering of an interest in the fund–that the taxes under this Act on the income, profit or gains for any taxation year–in respect of property that is held by the fund and that is, or derives its value from, an interest in a trust– are less than, or are expected to be less than, the tax that would have been applicable under this Act if the income, profits or gains from the property had been earned directly by a person who acquires an interest in the fund;

"non-resident portion" of a trust at any time means all property held by the trust to the extent that it is not at that time part of the resident portion of the trust;

"non-resident time" of a person in respect of a contribution to a trust and a particular time means a time (in this definition referred to as the "contribution time") at which the person made a contribution to a trust that is before the particular time and at which the person was not resident in Canada (or, if the person was not in existence at the contribution time, the person was not resident in Canada at any time in the 18 months before ceasing to exist), if the person was not resident in Canada or not in existence at any time in the period that began 60 months before the contribution time (or, if the person is an individual and the trust arose on and as a consequence of the death of the individual, 18 months before the contribution time) and ends at the earlier of

(a) the time that is 60 months after the contribution time; and

(b) the particular time;

"promoter" in respect of a trust or corporation at any time means

(a) a person or partnership that at or before that time establishes, organizes or substantially reorganizes the undertakings of the trust or corporation, as the case may be; and

(b) for the purposes of the definition of "mutual fund", a person or partnership described in paragraph a and a person or partnership who in the course of carrying on a business

i. issues or sells, or promotes the issuance, sale or acquisition of, an interest in a mutual fund corporation or mutual fund trust,

ii. acts as an agent or advisor in respect of the issuance or sale, or the promotion of the issuance, sale or acquisition of, an interest in a mutual fund corporation or mutual fund trust, or

iii. accepts, whether as a principal or agent, consideration in respect of an interest in a mutual fund corporation or mutual fund trust;

"qualifying services" means

(a) services that are rendered to an employer by an employee of the employer, provided that the employee was not resident in Canada at any time in the period during which the services were rendered;

(b) services that are rendered to an employer by an employee of the employer, other than

i. services that were rendered primarily in Canada,

ii. services that were rendered primarily in connection with a business carried on by the employer in Canada, or

iii. any combination of services described in subparagraphs i and ii;

(c) services that are rendered in a particular month to an employer by an employee of the employer, provided that the employee

i. was resident in Canada throughout no more than 60 months during the 72-month period that ended at the end of the particular month, and

ii. became a member of, or a beneficiary under, the plan or trust under which benefits in respect of the services may be provided (or a similar plan or trust for which the plan or the trust was substituted) before the end of the month following the month in which the employee became resident in Canada; or

(d) any combination of services that are qualifying services because of any of paragraphs a to c;

"resident beneficiary" under a trust at any time means a person that is, at that time, a beneficiary under the trust other than a successor beneficiary under the trust or an exempt person, if, at that time,

(a) the person is resident in Canada; and

(b) there is a connected contributor to the trust;

"resident contributor" to a trust at any time means a person that is, at that time, resident in Canada and a contributor to the trust, but–if the trust was created before 1 January 1960 by a person who was not resident in Canada when the trust was created–does not include an individual (other than a trust) who has not, after 31 December 1959, made a contribution to the trust;

"resident portion" of a trust at a particular time means all of the trust's property that is

(a) property in respect of which a contribution has been made at or before the particular time to the trust by a contributor that is at the particular time a resident contributor, or if there is at the particular time a resident beneficiary under the trust a connected contributor, to the trust and, for the purposes of this paragraph, the following rules apply:

i. if property is held by a contributor in common or in partnership immediately before the property is contributed to the trust, it is contributed by the contributor only to the extent that the contributor so held the property, and

ii. if the contribution to the trust is a transfer described in any of paragraphs a, c, e and g of section 594, the property in respect of which the contribution has been made is deemed to be

(1) in respect of a transfer under paragraph a of section 594 to which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph a applies, property the fair market value of which has increased because of a transfer or loan described in subparagraph i of that paragraph a, or, in respect of such a transfer to which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph a applies, property in respect of which a valid election under subclause II of clause A of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of the definition of "resident portion" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act has been made,

(2) in respect of a transfer under paragraph c of section 594, property described in subparagraph ii of that paragraph c,

(3) in respect of a transfer under paragraph e of section 594, property acquired as a result of any undertaking including a guarantee, covenant or agreement given by a person or partnership other than the trust to ensure the repayment, in whole or in part, of a loan or other indebtedness incurred by the trust in accordance with that paragraph e, and

(4) in respect of a transfer under paragraph g of section 594, property in respect of which a valid election under clause D of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of the definition of "resident portion" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act has been made;

(b) property that is acquired, at or before the particular time, by way of indebtedness incurred by the trust (in this paragraph referred to as the "subject property"), if

i. all or part of the indebtedness is secured on property (other than the subject property) that is held in the trust's resident portion,

ii. it was reasonable to conclude, at the time that the indebtedness was incurred, that the indebtedness would be repaid with recourse to any property (other than the subject property) held at any time in the trust's resident portion, or

iii. a person resident in Canada or partnership of which a person resident in Canada is a member is obligated, either absolutely or contingently, to effect any undertaking including any guarantee, covenant or agreement given to ensure the repayment, in whole or in part, of the indebtedness, or provided any other financial assistance in respect of the indebtedness;

(c) property to the extent that it is derived, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatever, from property described in any of paragraphs a, b and d, and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, including property derived from the income (computed without reference to subparagraph f of the first paragraph of section 597.0.14, paragraphs a and b of section 657 and section 657.1) of the trust for a taxation year of the trust that ends at or before the particular time and property in respect of which an amount would be described at the particular time in respect of the trust in the definition of "capital dividend account" in subsection 1 of section 89 of the Income Tax Act if the trust were at that time a corporation; and

(d) property that is at the particular time substituted for property described in any of paragraphs a to c;

"restricted property" of a person or partnership means property that the person or partnership holds and that

(a) is a share (or a right to acquire a share) of the capital stock of a closely held corporation if the share or right, or property for which the share or right was substituted, was at any time acquired by the person or partnership as part of a transaction or series of transactions under which

i. a specified share of the capital stock of a closely held corporation was acquired by any person or partnership in exchange for or as consideration for the disposition of any property or upon the conversion of any property and the cost of the specified share to the person who acquired it was less than the fair market value of the specified share at the time of the acquisition, or

ii. a share (other than a specified share) of the capital stock of a closely held corporation becomes a specified share of the capital stock of the corporation;

(b) is an indebtedness or other obligation, or a right to acquire an indebtedness or other obligation, of a closely held corporation if

i. the indebtedness, obligation or right, or property for which the indebtedness, obligation or right was substituted, became property of the person or partnership as part of a transaction or series of transactions under which

(1) a specified share of the capital stock of a closely held corporation was acquired by any person or partnership in exchange for or as consideration for the disposition of any property or upon the conversion of any property and the cost of the specified share to the person who acquired it was less than the fair market value of the specified share at the time of the acquisition, or

(2) a share (other than a specified share) of the capital stock of a closely held corporation becomes a specified share of the capital stock of the corporation, and

ii. the amount of any payment under the indebtedness, obligation or right (whether the right to the amount is immediate or future, absolute or contingent or conditional on or subject to the exercise of a discretionary power by any person or partnership) is, directly or indirectly, determined primarily by one or more of the following criteria:

(1) the fair market value of, production from or use of any of the property of the closely held corporation,

(2) gains and profits from the disposition of any of the property of the closely held corporation,

(3) income, profits, revenue and cash flow of the closely held corporation, or

(4) any other criterion similar to a criterion referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3; or

(c) is property

i. that the person or partnership acquired as part of a series of transactions described in paragraph a or b in respect of another property, and

ii. the fair market value of which is derived in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, from the other property referred to in subparagraph i;

"specified party" in respect of a particular person at any time means

(a) the particular person's spouse at that time;

(b) a corporation that at that time

i. is a controlled foreign affiliate of the particular person or the particular person's spouse, or

ii. would be a controlled foreign affiliate of a partnership, of which the particular person is a majority-interest partner, if the partnership were a person resident in Canada at that time;

(c) a person, or a partnership of which the particular person is a majority-interest partner, for which it is reasonable to conclude that the benefit referred to in subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 597.0.5 was conferred

i. in anticipation of the person becoming after that time a corporation described in paragraph b, or

ii. to avoid or minimize a liability that arose, or that would otherwise have arisen, under this Act with respect to the particular person; or

(d) a corporation in which the particular person, or partnership of which the particular person is a majority-interest partner, is a shareholder if

i. the corporation is at or before that time a beneficiary under a trust, and

ii. the particular person or the partnership is a beneficiary under the trust solely because of the application of paragraph b of the definition of "beneficiary" in respect of the particular person or the partnership and in relation to the corporation;

"specified share" means a share of the capital stock of a corporation other than a share that is a prescribed share for the purposes of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act;

"specified time" in respect of a trust for a taxation year of the trust means

(a) if the trust exists at the end of the taxation year, the time that is the end of that taxation year; and

(b) in any other case, the time in that taxation year that is immediately before the time at which the trust ceases to exist;

"successor beneficiary" at a particular time under a trust means a person that is a beneficiary under the trust solely because of a right of the person to receive all or part of the trust's income or capital, provided that under that right the person may receive that income or capital only on or after the death after the particular time of an individual who, at the particular time, is alive and

(a) is a contributor to the trust;

(b) is related to (including, for the purposes of this paragraph and paragraph c, an uncle, aunt, niece or nephew of) a contributor to the trust; or

(c) would have been related to a contributor to the trust if every individual who was alive before the particular time were alive at that time;

"tax-liable taxpayer" in respect of a trust at a particular time in a taxation year means

(a) in the case of a taxpayer who is, at the particular time, either a resident contributor to the trust, a resident beneficiary under the trust or an electing contributor under the trust, or a joint contributor in respect of a contribution to the trust, a person (other than a corporation) who is resident in Québec at the end of the taxation year or a corporation that has an establishment in Québec in the taxation year; or

(b) in the case of a taxpayer who is, at the particular time, a connected contributor to the trust, a person (other than a corporation) who was resident in Québec at a time that is before the particular time and at which the person made a contribution to the trust, or a corporation that had an establishment in Québec at a time that is before the particular time and at which the corporation made a contribution to the trust;

"transaction" includes an arrangement or event.

In this chapter, "trust" includes, for greater certainty, a succession.

An educational institution referred to in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of paragraph b of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph and in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph iv of that paragraph b is an educational institution located outside Canada that

(a) is a university, college or any other institution that provides courses at a post-secondary school level; or

(b) provides courses designed to furnish a person with skills for, or improve a person's skills in, an occupation.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under the definition of "electing contributor", "electing trust", "exempt foreign trust" and "resident portion" in subsection 1 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made before 20 December 2006 under paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph.

1975, c. 22, s. 164; 1984, c. 15, s. 130; 1994, c. 22, s. 209; 1996, c. 39, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2015, c. 36, s. 28; 2019, c. 14, s. 157.

594. For the purposes of this chapter and Chapter VI.2, the following rules apply:

(a) a person or partnership is deemed to have transferred, at any time, property to a trust if

i. at that time the person or partnership transfers or loans property to another person or partnership and the transfer or loan is not an arm's length transfer, and

ii. because of that transfer or loan

(1) the fair market value of one or more properties held by the trust increases at that time, or

(2) a liability or potential liability of the trust decreases at that time;

(b) the fair market value, at any time, of property deemed under paragraph a to be transferred at that time by a person or partnership is deemed to be equal to the amount of the absolute value of the increase or decrease referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph a in respect of the property, and if that time is after 27 August 2010 and the property that the person or partnership transfers or loans at that time is restricted property of the person or partnership, the property deemed under paragraph a to be transferred at that time to a trust is deemed to be restricted property transferred at that time to the trust;

(c) a person or partnership is deemed to have transferred, at any time, property to a trust if

i. at that time the person or partnership transfers restricted property, or loans property other than by way of an arm's length transfer, to another person (in this paragraph and paragraph d referred to as the "intermediary"),

ii. at or after that time, the trust holds property (other than property described in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 597.0.12) the fair market value of which is derived in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, from property held by the intermediary, and

iii. it is reasonable to conclude that one of the reasons the transfer or loan is made is to avoid or minimize a liability under this Act;

(d) the fair market value, at any time, of property deemed under paragraph c to be transferred at that time by a person or partnership is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the property referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph c, and if that time is after 24 October 2012 and the property that the person or partnership transfers or loans to the intermediary is restricted property of the intermediary, the property deemed under paragraph c to be transferred at that time by the person or partnership to a trust is deemed to be restricted property transferred at that time to the trust throughout the period in which the intermediary holds the restricted property;

(e) where, at any time, a particular person or partnership is obligated, either absolutely or contingently, to effect any undertaking including any guarantee, covenant or agreement given to ensure the repayment, in whole or in part, of a loan or other indebtedness incurred by another person or partnership, or has provided any other financial assistance to another person or partnership,

i. the particular person or partnership is deemed to have transferred, at that time, property to that other person or partnership, and

ii. the property, if any, transferred to the particular person or partnership from the other person or partnership in exchange for the guarantee or other financial assistance is deemed to have been transferred to the particular person or partnership in exchange for the property deemed to have been transferred under subparagraph i;

(f) the fair market value at any time of property deemed under subparagraph i of paragraph e to have been transferred at that time to another person or partnership is deemed to be equal to the amount at that time of the loan or indebtedness incurred by the other person or partnership to which the property relates;

(g) where, at any time after 22 June 2000, a particular person or partnership renders any service (other than an exempt service) to, for or on behalf of another person or partnership,

i. the particular person or partnership is deemed to have transferred, at that time, property to that other person or partnership, and

ii. the property, if any, transferred to the particular person or partnership from the other person or partnership in exchange for the service is deemed to have been transferred to the particular person or partnership in exchange for the property deemed under subparagraph i to have been transferred;

(h) each of the following acquisitions of property by a particular person or partnership is deemed to be a transfer of the property, at the time of the acquisition of the property, to the particular person or partnership from the person or partnership from which the property was acquired, namely, the acquisition by the particular person or partnership of

i. a share of a corporation from the corporation, ii. an interest as a beneficiary under a trust (otherwise than from a beneficiary under the trust),

iii. an interest in a partnership (otherwise than from a member of the partnership), iv. a debt owing by a person or partnership from the person or partnership, and

v. a right (granted after 22 June 2000 by the person or partnership from which the right was acquired) to acquire or to be loaned property;

(i) the fair market value at any time of property deemed under subparagraph i of paragraph g to have been transferred at that time is deemed to be equal to the fair market value at that time of the service to which the property relates;

(j) where, at any time, a person or partnership that becomes obligated to do an act that would, if done, constitute the transfer or loan of property to another person or partnership, the person or partnership is deemed to have become obligated at that time to transfer or loan, as the case may be, property to that other person or partnership;

(k) where a trust acquires property of an individual as a consequence of the death of the individual and the individual was immediately before death resident in Canada, the individual is deemed, in applying at any time the definition of "non-resident time" in the first paragraph of section 593, to have transferred the property to the trust immediately before the individual's death;

(l) a transfer or loan of property at any time is deemed to be made at that time jointly by a particular person or partnership and a second person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "specified person") if

i. the particular person or partnership transfers or loans property at that time to another person or partnership,

ii. the transfer or loan is made at the direction, or with the consent, of the specified person, and

iii. it is reasonable to conclude that one of the reasons the transfer or loan is made is to avoid or minimize the liability, of any person or partnership, under this Act that arose, or that would otherwise have arisen, because of the application of this chapter;

(m) a transfer or loan of property made at any time after 8 November 2006 is deemed to be made at that time jointly by a particular person or partnership and a second person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "specified person") if

i. the particular person or partnership transfers or loans property at that time to another person or partnership, and

ii. a purpose or effect of the transfer or loan may reasonably be considered to be to provide benefits in respect of services rendered by a person as an employee of the specified person (whether or not such a benefit may be received under a right that is immediate or future, absolute or contingent, or conditional on or subject to the exercise of any discretionary power by any person or partnership);

(n) a transfer or loan of property at a particular time is deemed to be made at the particular time jointly by a corporation and a person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "specified person") if

i. the corporation transfers or loans property at the particular time to another person or partnership,

ii. the transfer or loan is made at the direction, or with the consent, of the specified person,

iii. the particular time is not, or would not be if the transfer or loan were a contribution of the specified person,

(1) a non-resident time of the specified person, or

(2) if the specified person is a partnership, a non-resident time of one or more members of the partnership, and

iv. the corporation is, at the particular time, a controlled foreign affiliate of the specified person, or would at that time be a controlled foreign affiliate of the specified person if the specified person were at the particular time resident in Canada, or it is reasonable to conclude that the transfer or loan was made in contemplation of the corporation becoming after the particular time such a controlled foreign affiliate of the specified person;

(o) a particular person or partnership is deemed to have transferred, at a particular time, particular property or a particular part of it, as the case may be, to a corporation described in subparagraph i or a second person or partnership described in subparagraph ii if

i. the particular property is a share of the capital stock of a corporation held at the particular time by the particular person or partnership, and as consideration for the disposition at or before the particular time of the share, the particular person or partnership received at the particular time (or became entitled at the particular time to receive) from the corporation a share of the capital stock of the corporation, or

ii. the particular property (or property for which the particular property is substituted) was acquired, before the particular time, from the second person or partnership by any person or partnership, in circumstances that are described in any of subparagraphs i to v of paragraph h (or would be so described if it applied at the time of that acquisition) and at the particular time,

(1) the terms or conditions of the particular property change,

(2) the second person or partnership redeems, acquires or cancels the particular property or the particular part of it,

(3) if the particular property is a debt owing by the second person or partnership, the debt or the particular part of it is settled or cancelled, or

(4) if the particular property is a right to acquire or to be loaned property, the particular person or partnership exercises the right;

(p) a contribution made at any time by a particular trust to another trust is deemed to be made at that time jointly by the particular trust and by each person or partnership that is at that time a contributor to the particular trust;

(q) a contribution made at any time by a particular partnership to a trust is deemed to be made at that time jointly by the particular partnership and by each person or partnership that is at that time a member of the particular partnership;

(r) subject to paragraph s and section 597.0.7, the amount of a contribution to a trust at the time it was made is deemed to be equal to the fair market value, at that time, of the property that was the subject of the contribution;

(s) a person or partnership that at any time acquires a fixed interest in a trust (or a right, issued by the trust, to acquire a fixed interest in the trust) from another person or partnership (other than from the trust that issued the interest or the right) is deemed to have made at that time a contribution to the trust and the amount of the contribution is deemed to be equal to the fair market value at that time of the interest or right, as the case may be;

(t) a particular person or partnership that has acquired a fixed interest in a trust because of making a contribution to the trust–or that has made a contribution to the trust because of having acquired a fixed interest in the trust or a right described in paragraph s–is, for the purpose of applying this chapter from the time after the time that the particular person or partnership transfers the fixed interest or the right, as the case may be, to another person or partnership (which transfer is referred to in this paragraph as the "sale"), deemed not to have made the contribution in respect of the fixed interest, or right, that is the subject of the sale if

i. in exchange for the sale, the other person or partnership transfers or loans, or undertakes to transfer or loan, property (in subparagraph ii referred to as the "consideration") to the particular person or partnership, and

ii. it is reasonable to conclude

(1) having regard only to the sale and the consideration that the particular person or partnership would be willing to make the sale if the particular person or partnership were dealing at arm's length with the other person or partnership, and

(2) that the terms and conditions made or imposed in respect of the exchange would be acceptable to the particular person or partnership if the particular person or partnership were dealing at arm's length with the other person or partnership;

(u) a transfer to a trust by a particular person or partnership is deemed not to be, at a particular time, a contribution to the trust if

i. the particular person or partnership has transferred, at or before the particular time and in the ordinary course of business of the particular person or partnership, property to the trust,

ii. the transfer is not an arm's length transfer, but would be an arm's length transfer if the definition of "arm's length transfer" in the first paragraph of section 593 were read without reference to paragraph a and subparagraphs i, ii and iv to vii of paragraph b,

iii. it is reasonable to conclude that the particular person or partnership was the only person or partnership that acquired, in respect of the transfer, an interest as a beneficiary under the trust,

iv. the particular person or partnership was required, in accordance with the securities law of a country or of a political subdivision of such a country in respect of the issuance by the trust of interests as a beneficiary under the trust, to acquire an interest because of the particular person or partnership's status at the time of the transfer as a manager or promoter of the trust,

v. at the particular time the trust is not an exempt foreign trust, but would be at that time an exempt foreign trust if it had not made an election under paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593, and

vi. the particular time is before the earliest of

(1) the first time at which the trust becomes an exempt foreign trust,

(2) the first time at which the particular person or partnership ceases to be a manager or promoter of the trust, and

(3) the time that is 24 months after the first time at which the total fair market value of consideration received by the trust in exchange for interests as a beneficiary (other than the particular person or partnership's interest referred to in subparagraph iii) under the trust is greater than $500,000;

(v) a transfer, by a Canadian corporation of property, that is at a particular time a contribution by the Canadian corporation to a trust, is deemed not to be, after the particular time, such a contribution to the trust if

i. the trust acquired the property before the particular time from the Canadian corporation in circumstances described in subparagraph i or iv of paragraph h,

ii. as a result of a transfer (in this paragraph referred to as the "sale") at the particular time by any person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "seller") to another person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "buyer") the trust no longer holds any property that is

(1) shares of the capital stock of, or debt issued by, the Canadian corporation, or

(2) property the fair market value of which is derived in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, from shares of the capital stock of, or debt issued by, the Canadian corporation,

iii. the buyer deals at arm's length immediately before the particular time with the Canadian corporation, the trust and the seller,

iv. in exchange for the sale, the buyer transfers or becomes obligated to transfer property (in this paragraph referred to as the "consideration") to the seller, and

v. it is reasonable to conclude

(1) having regard only to the sale and the consideration that the seller would be willing to make the sale if the seller were dealing at arm's length with the buyer,

(2) that the terms and conditions made or imposed in respect of the exchange would be acceptable to the seller if the seller were dealing at arm's length with the buyer, and

(3) that the value of the consideration is not, from the particular time, determined in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, by reference to shares of the capital stock of, or debt issued by, the Canadian corporation;

(w) a transfer, before 11 October 2002, to a personal trust by an individual (other than a trust) of particular property is deemed not to be a contribution of the particular property by the individual to the trust if the transfer is deemed not to be a contribution of the particular property by the individual to the trust for the purposes of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in accordance with paragraph u of subsection 2 of that section 94; and

(x) a loan made by a specified financial institution to a trust is deemed not to be a contribution to the trust if

i. the loan is made on terms and conditions that would have been agreed to by persons dealing at arm's length, and

ii. the loan is made by the specified financial institution in the ordinary course of the business carried on by it.

595. Where, but for this section, a trust would not be resident in Canada at a specified time in a particular taxation year and, at that time, there is a resident contributor to the trust or a resident beneficiary under the trust, the following rules apply, unless the trust is an exempt foreign trust at that time:

(a) the trust is deemed to be resident in Canada throughout the particular taxation year for the purpose of

i. computing the trust's income for the particular year,

ii. applying Chapter V of Title XII (except sections 669.3 and 669.4) and section 688.1 in respect of the trust and a beneficiary under the trust,

iii. applying subparagraph 3 of subparagraph i.1 of paragraph n of section 257, paragraph c of section 597.1, section 688.0.0.2 and Part II, in respect of a beneficiary under the trust,

iv. applying section 733.1,

v. determining the rights and obligations of the trust under Book IX, and

vi. determining whether a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer (other than the trust) is a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer;

(b) no deduction is to be made under section 146 by the trust in computing its income for the particular taxation year, and for the purpose of applying section 146.1 and Chapter I of Title III of Book V to the trust for the particular taxation year, the following rules apply:

i. in determining the non-business-income tax (within the meaning assigned by section 772.2 for the purposes of this section) paid by the trust for the particular taxation year, paragraph b of the definition of that expression does not apply, and

ii. where, at that specified time, the trust is resident in a country other than Canada,

(1) the trust's income for the particular taxation year (other than income—not including dividends or interest—from sources in Canada) is deemed to be from sources in that country and not to be from any other source, and

(2) the business-income tax (within the meaning assigned by section 772.2), and the non-business-income tax, paid by the trust for the particular taxation year are deemed to be paid by the trust to the government of that country and not to any other government;

(c) where section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) did not apply to deem, for the purposes of that Act, the trust to be resident in Canada throughout its taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as the "preceding year") immediately preceding the particular taxation year, the trust is deemed to have

i. immediately before the end of the preceding year, disposed of each property (other than property described in any of subparagraphs i to iv of paragraph b of section 785.1) held by the trust at that time for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time, and

ii. at the beginning of the particular taxation year, acquired each of the properties deemed to be disposed of in accordance with subparagraph i at a cost equal to the property's proceeds of disposition determined under subparagraph i;

(d) where section 94 of the Income Tax Act applied to deem, for the purposes of that Act, the trust to be resident in Canada for its last taxation year that ended before 1 January 2007, the trust is deemed, from the particular taxation year, to have

i. disposed of each property (other than property described in any of subparagraphs i to iv of paragraph b of section 785.1) at the time the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property under section 128.1 of the Income Tax Act, because of the application of that section 94, for proceeds of disposition equal to the proceeds determined at that time under that section 128.1, and

ii. at the time the trust is deemed to have acquired the property under section 128.1 of the Income Tax Act, because of the application of that section 94, acquired each of the properties deemed to be disposed of in accordance with subparagraph i at a cost equal to the property's proceeds of disposition determined under subparagraph i;

(e) if the trust (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular trust") is an electing trust in respect of the particular taxation year, the following rules apply:

i. an inter vivos trust (in this paragraph referred to as the "non-resident portion trust") is deemed for the purposes of this Act (other than for the purposes of the first and second paragraphs of section 647) to be created at the first time at which the particular trust exists in its first taxation year in respect of which the particular trust is an electing trust and to continue in existence until the earliest of

(1) the time at which the particular trust ceases to be resident in Canada because of section 597 or 597.0.1,

(2) the time at which the particular trust ceases to exist, and

(3) the time at which the particular trust becomes resident in Canada otherwise than because of this section,

ii. all of the particular trust's property that is part of the particular trust's non-resident portion is deemed to be the property of the non-resident portion trust and not to be, except for the purposes of this paragraph and the definition of "electing trust" in the first paragraph of section 593, the particular trust's property,

iii. the terms and conditions of, and rights and obligations of beneficiaries under, the particular trust (determined with reference to all the circumstances including the terms of a trust, an intention, the laws of a country or the existence of an agreement, a memorandum, a letter of wishes or any other arrangement) are deemed to be the terms and conditions of, and rights and obligations of beneficiaries under, the non-resident portion trust,

iv. the trustees of the particular trust are deemed to be the trustees of the non-resident portion trust,

v. the beneficiaries under the particular trust are deemed to be the beneficiaries under the non-resident portion trust,

vi. the non-resident portion trust is deemed not to have a resident contributor or connected contributor to it,

vii. the non-resident portion trust is deemed to be, without affecting the liability of its trustees for their own income tax, in respect of its property an individual, viii. if all or part of property becomes at a particular time part of the particular trust's non-resident portion and immediately before the particular time the property or that part of property was part of its resident portion, the particular trust is deemed to have transferred at the particular time the property or that part of property to the non-resident portion trust,

ix. if all or part of property becomes at a particular time part of the particular trust's resident portion and immediately before the particular time the property or that part of property was part of its non-resident portion, the non-resident portion trust is deemed to have transferred at the particular time the property or that part of property to the particular trust,

x. the particular trust and the non-resident portion trust are deemed at all times to be affiliated with each other and to not deal with each other at arm's length, xi. the particular trust has solidarily with the non-resident portion trust the rights and obligations of the non-resident portion trust in respect of any taxation year under Book IX, and the Tax Administration Act (chapter A-6.002) applies in respect of those rights and obligations, and

xii. if the non-resident portion trust ceases to exist at a particular time determined in accordance with any of subparagraphs 1 to 3 of subparagraph i, the following rules apply:

(1) the non-resident portion trust is deemed, at the time (in this subparagraph xii referred to as the "disposition time") that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the particular time, to have disposed of each of its properties that is property described in any of subparagraphs i to iv of paragraph b of section 785.1 for proceeds of disposition equal to the cost amount to it of the property at the disposition time and of each of its other properties for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value of the property at the disposition time,

(2) the particular trust is deemed to have acquired, at the time that is immediately before the particular time, each property described in subparagraph 1 at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition determined under subparagraph 1 in respect of the property, and

(3) each person or partnership that is at the time immediately before the particular time a beneficiary under the non-resident portion trust is deemed at the disposition time to have disposed of the beneficiary's interest as a beneficiary under the non-resident portion trust for proceeds of disposition equal to the beneficiary's cost amount in the interest at the disposition time and to have ceased to be, other than for purposes of this subparagraph 3, a beneficiary under the non-resident portion trust;

(f) where there is, at that time, a resident contributor to the trust that is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust or a resident beneficiary under the trust that is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust if a connected contributor to the trust at that time is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust at that time, the trust is deemed, for the purpose of applying Book II and determining the trust's tax liability under this Part, to be resident in Québec on the last day of the particular year and, where the trust is, in respect of the particular year, an electing trust or a trust that does not meet the condition of paragraph a of the definition of "electing trust" in the first paragraph of section 593, its income for the particular year is deemed to be equal to the portion of that income, otherwise determined, that may reasonably be considered as being attributable to property that was contributed to the trust at or before that time by a contributor that is at that time a resident contributor to the trust and a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust or, if there is at that time a resident beneficiary under the trust that is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust, a connected contributor to the trust and a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust; and

(g) each person that at any time in the particular taxation year is a resident contributor to the trust (other than an electing contributor to the trust at the specified time) or a resident beneficiary under the trust and that is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust at any time has, solidarily with the trust and with each other such person that is such a resident contributor or such a resident beneficiary, the rights and obligations of the trust in respect of the particular taxation year under Book IX, and the Tax Administration Act applies in respect of those rights and obligations.

596. For greater certainty, section 595 does not deem a trust to be resident in Canada

(a) for the purposes of subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 248;

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "investment fund" in section 21.0.5, sections 440, 454 and 597.0.6, the definition of "Canadian partnership" in the first paragraph of section 599, paragraph c of section 692.5, the definition of "qualified disability trust" in the first paragraph of section 768.2, the definition of "eligible trust" in section 796.1 and paragraph a of section 1120;

(c) for the purpose of determining whether section 467 applies;

(d) for the purposes of the definitions of "arm's length transfer" and "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593;

(e) for the purpose of determining whether section 692 applies in respect of a distribution of property to the trust after 17 July 2005;

(f) for the purpose of determining whether, in applying section 785.1, the trust becomes resident in Canada at a particular time; and

(g) for the purpose of determining whether, in applying section 785.2, the trust ceases to be resident in Canada at a particular time.

1975, c. 22, s. 164; 1984, c. 15, s. 131; 1994, c. 22, s. 210; 1996, c. 39, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 92; 2015, c. 36, s. 28; 2017, c. 1, s. 147; 2017, c. 29, s. 83; 2021, c. 14, s. 49.

597. A trust is deemed to cease to be resident in Canada at the earliest time at which there is neither a resident contributor to the trust nor a resident beneficiary under the trust in a particular taxation year (determined without reference to section 785.2) of the trust if

(a) the particular taxation year immediately follows a taxation year of the trust throughout which the trust was deemed under section 595 to be resident in Canada for the purpose of computing its income; and

(b) at a specified time in the particular taxation year, the trust

i. is not resident in Canada,

ii. is not an exempt foreign trust, and

iii. has no resident contributor to it or resident beneficiary under it.

1975, c. 22, s. 164; 1987, c. 67, s. 127; 1990, c. 59, s. 210; 2015, c. 36, s. 28.

597.0.1. A trust is deemed to cease to be resident in Canada at the earliest time at which the trust becomes an exempt foreign trust in a particular taxation year (determined without reference to section 785.2) of the trust if

(a) the particular taxation year immediately follows a taxation year throughout which the trust was deemed under section 595 to be resident in Canada for the purpose of computing its income; and

(b) at a specified time in the particular taxation year,

i. there is a resident contributor to the trust or a resident beneficiary under the trust, and

ii. the trust is an exempt foreign trust.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.2. Where a trust is deemed under section 597 or 597.0.1 to cease to be resident in Canada at a particular time, the following rules apply in respect of the trust in relation to the particular taxation year that is, because of that cessation of residence, deemed to end immediately before the particular time:

(a) the trust's fiscal return for the particular taxation year is deemed to be filed with the Minister on a timely basis if it is filed with the Minister on or before the 90th day after the end of the trust's taxation year that is deemed to start at the particular time because of that cessation of residence; and

(b) an amount that is included in computing the trust's income (determined without reference to paragraphs a and b of section 657 and section 657.1) for the particular taxation year but that otherwise became payable by the trust in the period after the particular taxation year and before the end of the trust's taxation year that is deemed to start at the particular time because of that cessation of residence, is deemed to have become payable by the trust immediately before the end of the particular taxation year and not at any other time.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.3. Where at a specified time in a taxation year a trust is an exempt foreign trust, at a particular time in the immediately following taxation year (determined without reference to this section) the trust ceases to be an exempt foreign trust (otherwise than because of becoming resident in Canada), and at the particular time there is a resident contributor to, or resident beneficiary under, the trust, the trust's taxation year (determined without reference to this section) that includes the particular time is deemed to end immediately before the particular time and a new taxation year of the trust is deemed to begin at the particular time.

597.0.4. The maximum amount recoverable under paragraph g of section 595 at a particular time from a person in respect of a trust (other than a person that is deemed, under section 597.0.10 or 597.0.11, to be a contributor or a resident contributor to the trust) and a particular taxation year of the trust is equal to the person's recovery limit at the particular time in respect of the trust and the particular year if

i. the person is liable under paragraph g of section 595 in respect of the trust and the particular taxation year solely because the person was a resident beneficiary under the trust that is a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust at a specified time in respect of the trust in the particular taxation year, or

ii. at a specified time in respect of the trust in the particular taxation year, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, at the time it was made, of a contribution to the trust made before the specified time by the person or by another person or partnership not dealing at arm's length with the person, is not more than the greater of

(1) $10,000, and

(2) 10% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, at the time it was made, of a contribution made to the trust before the specified time;

(b) the person has complied with the requirements of paragraph b of subsection 7 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the particular time; and

(c) it is reasonable to conclude that for each transaction that occurred before the end of the particular taxation year at the direction of, or with the consent of, the person

i. none of the purposes of the transaction was to enable the person to reduce or avoid any liability under paragraph g of section 595 in respect of the trust, and

ii. the transaction was not part of a series of transactions any of the purposes of which was to enable the person to reduce or avoid any liability under paragraph g of section 595 in respect of the trust.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.5. The recovery limit referred to in section 597.0.4 at a particular time of a particular person in respect of a trust and a particular taxation year of the trust is equal to the amount by which the amount determined under the second paragraph is exceeded by the greater of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. an amount received or receivable after 31 December 2000 and before the particular time by the particular person on the disposition of all or part of the person's interest as a beneficiary under the trust, or by a person or partnership (that was, when the amount became receivable, a specified party in respect of the particular person) on the disposition of all or part of the specified party's interest as a beneficiary under the trust,

ii. an amount (other than an amount described in subparagraph i) made payable by the trust after 31 December 2000 and before the particular time to the particular person because of the interest of the particular person as a beneficiary under the trust, or a person or partnership (that was, when the amount became payable, a specified party in respect of the particular person) because of the interest of the specified party as a beneficiary under the trust,

iii. an amount received after 27 August 2010 by the particular person, or a person or partnership (that was, when the amount was received, a specified party in respect of the particular person), as a loan from the trust to the extent that the amount has not been repaid,

iv. an amount (other than an amount described in any of subparagraphs i to iii) that is the fair market value of a benefit received or enjoyed, after 31 December 2000 and before the particular time, from or under the trust by the particular person, or a person or partnership (that was, when the benefit was received or enjoyed, a specified party in respect of the particular person), or

v. the amount determined in respect of the particular person in accordance with subparagraph v of paragraph a of subsection 8 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)); and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, when made, of a contribution to the trust before the particular time by the particular person.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph is equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(a) an amount recovered before the particular time from the particular person in connection with a liability of the particular person (in respect of the trust and the particular year or a preceding taxation year of the trust) that arose because of the application of section 94 of the Income Tax Act or section 595;

(b) an amount (other than an amount to which this subparagraph has applied in respect of any other person) recovered before the particular time from a specified party in respect of the particular person in connection with a liability of the particular person (in respect of the trust and the particular year or a preceding taxation year of the trust) that arose because of the application of section 94 of the Income Tax Act or section 595;

(c) the amount by which the particular person's tax payable under this Part for any taxation year in which an amount described in any of subparagraphs i to iv of subparagraph a of the first paragraph was paid, became payable, was received, became receivable or was enjoyed by the particular person exceeds the amount that would have been the particular person's tax payable under this Part for that taxation year if no such amount were paid, became payable, were received, became receivable or were enjoyed by the particular person in that taxation year; or

(d) the amount determined in respect of the particular person in accordance with paragraph e of subsection 8 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.6. The rules in the second paragraph apply at a particular time in respect of a particular person, and to a particular property, in respect of a trust not resident in Canada, if at that time

(a) the particular person is resident in Canada; and

(b) the trust holds the particular property on condition that the particular property or property substituted for the particular property may revert to the particular person or pass to one or more persons or partnerships to be determined by the particular person, or may not be disposed of by the trust during the existence of the particular person, except with the particular person's consent or in accordance with the particular person's direction.

In applying this chapter in respect of the trust for a taxation year of the trust that includes the particular time, the rules referred to in the first paragraph are as follows:

(a) every transfer or loan made at or before the particular time by the particular person (or by a trust or partnership of which the particular person was a beneficiary or member, as the case may be) of the particular property, of another property for which the particular property is a substitute, or of property from which the particular property derives, or the other property derived, its value in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, is deemed to be a transfer or loan, as the case may be, by the particular person

i. that is not an arm's length transfer, and

ii. that is, for the purposes of paragraph c of section 594 and section 597.0.7, a transfer or loan of restricted property; and

(b) paragraph c of section 594 is to be read without reference to its subparagraph iii in its application to each transfer and loan described in subparagraph a.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.7. Where a person or partnership contributes at any time restricted property to a trust, the amount of the contribution at that time is deemed, for the purposes of this chapter, to be equal to the greater of

(a) the amount, determined without reference to this section, of the contribution at that time; and

(b) the amount that is the greatest fair market value of the restricted property, or property substituted for it, in the period that begins immediately after that time and ends at the end of the third calendar year that ends after that time.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.8. In applying this chapter at any specified time, in respect of a trust's taxation year, that is before the particular time at which a contributor to the trust becomes resident in Canada within 60 months after making a contribution to the trust, the contribution is deemed to have been made at a time other than a non-resident time of the contributor if

(a) in applying the definition of "non-resident time" in the first paragraph of section 593 at each of those specified times, the contribution was made at a non-resident time of the contributor; and

(b) in applying the definition of "non-resident time" in the first paragraph of section 593 immediately after the particular time, the contribution is made at a time other than a non-resident time of the contributor.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.9. Sections 597.0.10 and 597.0.11 apply to a trust or a person in respect of a trust if

(a) at any time property of a trust (in this section and sections 597.0.10 and 597.0.11 referred to as the "original trust") is transferred or loaned, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatever, to another trust (in this section and sections 597.0.10 and 597.0.11 referred to as the "transferee trust");

(b) the original trust

i. is deemed to be resident in Canada immediately before that time under paragraph a of section 595,

ii. would be deemed to be resident in Canada immediately before that time under paragraph a of section 595 if this chapter, as it read in its application to the taxation year 2013, were read without reference to paragraph a of the definition of "connected contributor" in the first paragraph of section 593 and paragraph a of the definition of "resident contributor" in that first paragraph, or

iii. is an original trust to which subparagraph iii or iv of paragraph b of subsection 11 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) applies; and

(c) it is reasonable to conclude that one of the reasons the transfer or loan is made is to reduce or avoid a liability under this Part, where the liability arose, or would otherwise have arisen, because of the application of this chapter, or under Part I of the Income Tax Act, where the liability arose, or would otherwise have arisen, because of the application of section 94 of that Act.

597.0.10. The original trust described in section 597.0.9 is deemed to be–at and after the time of the transfer or loan referred to in that section and for the purpose of applying this chapter in respect of the transferee trust referred to in that section–a resident contributor to the transferee trust, even if the original trust has ceased to exist.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.11. A person that is, at the time of the transfer or loan referred to in section 597.0.9, a contributor to the original trust referred to in that section, is deemed to be at and after that time, even if the person has ceased to exist,

(a) a contributor to the transferee trust referred to in section 597.0.9; and

(b) a connected contributor to the transferee trust, if at that time the person is a connected contributor to the original trust.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.12. A particular property that is, or will be, at a particular time held, loaned or transferred by a particular person or partnership is not restricted property held, loaned or transferred, as the case may be, at that time by the particular person or partnership if

(a) the particular property is property in respect of which the conditions of paragraph a of subsection 14 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) are met in respect of the particular person or partnership; or

(b) at the particular time

i. the particular property is

(1) a share of the capital stock of a corporation,

(2) a fixed interest in a trust, or

(3) an interest, as a member of a partnership, under which, by operation of any law governing the arrangement in respect of the partnership, the liability of the member as a member of the partnership is limited,

ii. there are at least 150 persons each of whom holds at the particular time property that at that time

(1) is identical to the particular property, and

(2) has a total fair market value of at least $500, iii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, at the particular time, of the particular property (or of identical property that is held, at that time, by the particular person or partnership or a person with whom the particular person or partnership does not deal at arm's length) does not exceed 10% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value, at the particular time, of the particular property or of identical property held by any person or partnership,

iv. property that is identical to the particular property can normally be acquired by and sold by members of the public in the open market, and

v. the particular property, or identical property, is listed on a designated stock exchange.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to property identified by a particular person or partnership for the purposes of subparagraph iii of paragraph a of subsection 14 of section 94 of the Income Tax Act.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.13. For the purposes of this chapter, the following rules apply:

(a) if it can reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons that a person or partnership

i. is at any time a shareholder of a corporation is to cause the condition of paragraph b of the definition of "closely held corporation" in the first paragraph of section 593 to be satisfied in respect of the corporation, the condition is deemed not to have been satisfied at that time in respect of the corporation,

ii. holds at any time an interest in a trust is to cause the condition of subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593 to be satisfied in respect of the trust, the condition is deemed not to have been satisfied at that time in respect of the trust, and

iii. holds at any time a property is to cause the condition of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 597.0.12 to be satisfied in respect of the property or an identical property held by any person, the condition is deemed not to have been satisfied at that time in respect of the property or the identical property;

(b) where, at or before a specified time in a trust's particular taxation year, a resident contributor to the trust contributes to the trust property that is restricted property of the trust, or property for which restricted property of the trust is substituted, and the trust is at that specified time an exempt foreign trust because of paragraph f of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593, the amount of the trust's income for the particular year from the restricted property, and the amount of any taxable capital gain from the disposition in the particular year by the trust of the restricted property, are to be included in computing the income of the resident contributor for its taxation year in which the particular taxation year of the trust ends and not in computing the income of the trust for that particular year; and

(c) where at a specified time in a particular taxation year a trust is an exempt foreign trust because of paragraph h of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593, at a time immediately before a particular time in the immediately following taxation year (determined without reference to section 597.0.3) there is a resident contributor to, or resident beneficiary under, the trust, at the time that is immediately before the particular time a beneficiary under the trust holds a fixed interest in the trust, and at the particular time the interest ceases to be a fixed interest in the trust, the following rules apply:

i. the trust is deemed, other than for the purposes of section 597.0.3, not to be an exempt foreign trust at any time in the trust's taxation year (in this section referred to as the "assessment year") that ends, in accordance with section 597.0.3, at the time that is immediately before the particular time,

ii. the trust shall include in computing its income for its assessment year the amount determined by the formula

A - B - C, and

iii. if the trust has tax payable for its assessment year, then throughout the period that begins at the trust's balance-due day for each taxation year that ends in the interest gross-up period, within the meaning assigned by subparagraph c of the second paragraph, and ends at the trust's balance-due day for its assessment year, the trust is deemed to have unpaid tax (in addition to any unpaid tax otherwise determined in respect of the trust under that section) for the purposes of section 1037 equal to the amount determined by the formula

D/E × 25.75%.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the fair market value of a property held by the trust at the end of its assessment year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the principal amount outstanding at the end of the assessment year of a liability of the trust;

(b) B is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the fair market value of a property held by the trust at the earliest time (in this paragraph referred to as the "initial time") at which there is a resident contributor to, or resident beneficiary under, the trust and at which the trust is an exempt foreign trust exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the principal amount outstanding at the initial time of a liability of the trust;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a contribution made to the trust in the period that begins at the initial time and ends at the end of its assessment year (in this paragraph referred to as the "interest gross-up period");

(d) D is the amount determined in accordance with subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph in respect of the trust for the assessment year; and

(e) E is the number of the trust's taxation years that end in the interest gross-up period.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.14. Where at a specified time in respect of a trust for a taxation year of the trust (in this section referred to as the "trust's year"), there is an electing contributor in respect of the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the electing contributor is required to include in computing income for the contributor's taxation year (in this section referred to as the "contributor's year") in which the trust's year ends, the amount determined by the formula

A/B × (C - D);

(b) subject to subparagraph c, the amount, if any, required to be included in the electing contributor's income, in accordance with subparagraph a, for the contributor's year is deemed to be income from property from a source in Canada;

(c) for the purposes of this subparagraph, subparagraph d and sections 772.2 to 772.13, an amount in respect of the trust's income for the trust's year from a source in a foreign country is deemed to be income of the electing contributor for the contributor's year from that source if the amount is deemed to be such income of the contributor for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) under paragraph c of subsection 16 of section 94 of that Act;

(d) for the purposes of this subparagraph and sections 772.2 to 772.13, the electing contributor is deemed to have paid to the government of a foreign country or of a political subdivision of such a country, as business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, for the contributor's year in respect of a particular source in that country, an amount equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$E \times F/G;$$

(e) in applying section 146.1 and sections 772.2 to 772.13 in respect of the trust's year there must be deducted

i. in computing the trust's income from a particular source for the trust's year the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, in accordance with subparagraph c, is deemed to be income from the particular source of the electing contributor for the contributor's year, and

ii. in computing the business-income tax or non-business-income tax paid by the trust for the trust's year in respect of a particular source the aggregate of all amounts in respect of that source each of which is an amount that, in accordance with subparagraph d, is deemed to be paid by the electing contributor as business-income tax or non-business-income tax in respect of the particular source;

(f) in computing the trust's income for the trust's year the trust may deduct an amount that does not exceed the amount included by the electing contributor, under subparagraph a, in computing the electing contributor's income for the contributor's year; and

(g) where before the specified time the electing contributor made a contribution to the trust as part of a series of transactions in which another person made the same contribution, in applying subparagraphs a to f in respect of the electing contributor and the other person, the other person is deemed not to be a joint contributor in respect of the contribution if the other person is deemed not to be a joint contributor in respect of that contribution for the purposes of the Income Tax Act under paragraph g of subsection 16 of section 94 of that Act.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. where at or before the specified time the electing contributor has made a contribution to the trust and is not a joint contributor in respect of the trust and the contribution, the amount of the contribution, or

ii. where at or before the specified time the electing contributor has made a contribution to the trust and is a joint contributor in respect of the trust and the contribution, the quotient obtained when the amount of the contribution is divided by the number of joint contributors in respect of the contribution;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that would be determined in accordance with subparagraph a for each resident contributor, or connected contributor, to the trust at the specified time if all of those contributors were electing contributors in respect of the trust;

(c) C is the trust's income, computed without reference to subparagraph f of the first paragraph, for the trust's year;

(d) D is the amount deducted by the trust under sections 727 to 737 in computing its taxable income for the trust's year;

(e) E is the amount that, in the absence of subparagraph i of subparagraph e of the first paragraph, would be the business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, paid by the trust to the government of a foreign country or of a political subdivision of such a country in respect of the particular source referred to in subparagraph d of the first paragraph for the trust's year;

(f) F is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed under subparagraph c of the first paragraph to be an income of the electing contributor for the contributor's year from the particular source referred to in subparagraph d of the first paragraph; and

(g) G is the trust's income for the trust's year from the particular source referred to in subparagraph d of the first paragraph.

In this section, "business-income tax" and "non-business-income tax" have the meaning assigned by section 772.2.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

597.0.15. Where, at or before a specified time in a trust's taxation year (in this section referred to as the "trust's year"), there is an electing contributor who is both a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust and a joint contributor in respect of a contribution to the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) each person who is both a joint contributor in respect of the contribution and a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust has, in respect of the contribution, solidarily, the rights and obligations under Book IX of each other person (in this section referred to as the "specified person") who is, at or before the specified time, a joint contributor in respect of the contribution and a tax-liable taxpayer in respect of the trust, for the specified person's taxation year in which the trust's year ends, and the Tax Administration Act (chapter A-6.002) applies in respect of those rights and obligations; and

(b) the maximum amount recoverable under subparagraph a at a particular time from the person in respect of the contribution and a taxation year, of another person who is the specified person, in which the trust's year ends is the amount determined by the formula

A - B - C.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of the amounts payable by the specified person under this Part for the specified person's taxation year in which the trust's year ends;

(b) B is the amount that would be determined in accordance with subparagraph a if the aggregate of the amounts payable by the specified person under this Part for the specified person's taxation year in which the trust's year ends were computed without reference to the contribution; and

(c) C is the amount recovered before the particular time from the specified person, and any other joint contributor in respect of the trust and the contribution, in connection with the liability of the specified person in respect of the contribution.

2015, c. 36, s. 29.

CHAPTER VI.1

OFFSHORE INVESTMENT FUNDS

1986, c. 15, s. 90.

597.1. In this chapter, the expression

(a) "offshore investment fund property" of a taxpayer means a share of the capital stock of, an interest in, or a debt of, a particular foreign entity other than a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or a prescribed foreign entity or a right in or a right or option to acquire such a share, interest or debt that may reasonably be considered to derive its value, directly or indirectly, primarily from portfolio investments of that or any other foreign entity in one or more of the assets listed in section 597.2;

(b) "designated cost" to a taxpayer at any time in a taxation year of an offshore investment fund property that he holds or has a right in means the amount determined in respect thereof at that time under section 597.3;

(c) "foreign entity" at any time means a corporation that is at that time not resident in Canada, a partnership, organization, fund or entity that is at that time not resident in Canada or is not at that time situated in Canada, or an exempt foreign trust, within the meaning assigned to that expression by the first paragraph of section 593, other than a trust described in any of paragraphs a to g of the definition of that expression.

1986, c. 15, s. 90; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2015, c. 36, s. 30; 2020, c. 16, s. 87.

597.2. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 597.1, the assets referred to therein are the following:

(a) shares of the capital stock of a corporation;

(b) indebtedness or annuities;

(c) interests in a fund, organization, corporation, entity, trust or partnership;

(d) commodities;

(e) immovable property;

(f) Canadian of foreign resource properties;

(g) foreign currency; and

(h) rights or options to acquire or dispose of any of the assets listed in paragraphs a to g.

1986, c. 15, s. 90; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2010, c. 5, s. 52.

597.3. The amount contemplated in paragraph b of section 597.1 at any time in a taxation year in respect of an offshore investment fund property that the taxpayer holds or has a right in is the aggregate of

(a) the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property at that time determined without reference to paragraphs c.5 and h.1 of section 255, paragraphs b and b.1 and subparagraph i.3 of paragraph l of section 257 and Title VIII of Book VI;

(b) where an additional amount has been made available by a person to another person after the calendar year 1984 and before that time, whether by way of gift, loan, payment for a share, transfer of property at less than its fair market value or otherwise, in circumstances such that it may reasonably be concluded that one of the main reasons for so making the additional amount available to the other person was to increase the value of the offshore investment fund property, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which such an additional amount exceeds any increase in the cost amount to the taxpayer of the offshore investment fund property by virtue of that additional amount;

(c) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount included in respect of the offshore investment fund property by virtue of this chapter in computing the taxpayer's income for a preceding taxation year;

(d) where the taxpayer has held or has had the right in the property at all times since the end of the calendar year 1984, the amount by which the fair market value of the property at the end of the calendar year 1984 exceeds the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property at the end of the calendar year 1984, or, in any other case, the aggregate of

i. the amount by which the fair market value of the property at the time the taxpayer acquired the property exceeds the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property at that time, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would have been included in respect of the property because of section 597.6 in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year that began before 20 June 1996 if the cost to the taxpayer of the property had been equal to the fair market value of the property at the time the taxpayer acquired it exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was included in respect of the property because of section 597.6 in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year that began before 20 June 1996.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, where the property is a prescribed offshore investment fund property, the amount determined under the first paragraph in respect thereof is deemed nil.

1986, c. 15, s. 90; 2001, c. 7, s. 60; 2020, c. 16, s. 88.

597.4. Where in a taxation year a taxpayer holds or has a right in an offshore investment fund property and it may reasonably be concluded, taking all the circumstances into account, that one of the main reasons for the taxpayer acquiring, holding or having the right in such property was to derive a benefit from portfolio investments in assets listed in paragraphs a to h of section 597.2 in such a manner that the taxes on the income, profits and gains from such assets for a particular year are significantly less than the tax that would have been payable under this Part if the income, profits and gains had been earned directly by the taxpayer, the amount determined under section 597.6 for that year in respect of that property is to be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year.

597.5. For the purposes of section 597.4, the circumstances that must be taken into account include

(a) the nature, organization and operation of any foreign entity and the form of, and the terms and conditions governing, the taxpayer's interest in, or connection with, any such entity;

(b) the extent to which any income, profits and gains that may reasonably be considered to be earned or accrued, whether directly or indirectly, for the benefit of any foreign entity are subject to an income or profits tax that is significantly less than the income tax that would be applicable to such income, profits and gains if they were earned directly by the taxpayer;

(c) the extent to which the income, profits and gains of any foreign entity for any fiscal period are distributed in that or the following fiscal period.

1986, c. 15, s. 90.

597.6. The amount to be included in computing a taxpayer's income for a taxation year under section 597.4 in respect of an offshore investment fund property is equal to the amount by which the taxpayer's income for the year from the offshore investment fund property, determined without reference to this section or to section 597.4, is exceeded by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the product obtained when the designated cost to the taxpayer of the offshore investment fund property at the end of a particular month in the year is multiplied by the quotient obtained when the rate of interest that is the total of the rates determined in accordance with clauses A and B of subparagraph ii of paragraph f of subsection 1 of section 94.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) for the period including the particular month is divided by 12.

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, the taxpayer's income does not include a capital gain.

1986, c. 15, s. 90; 2010, c. 31, s. 175; 2015, c. 36, s. 32.

CHAPTER VI.2

FOREIGN COMMERCIAL TRUSTS

2015, c. 36, s. 33.

597.7. Section 597.8 applies to a beneficiary under a trust, and to a particular person of which such a beneficiary is a controlled foreign affiliate, at a particular time if

(a) the trust is at that time an exempt foreign trust (other than a trust described in any of paragraphs a to g of the definition of "exempt foreign trust" in the first paragraph of section 593);

(b) either

i. the total fair market value at that time of all fixed interests of a particular class in the trust held by the beneficiary, persons or partnerships not dealing at arm's length with the beneficiary, or persons or partnerships that acquired their interests in the trust in exchange for consideration given to the trust by the beneficiary, is at least 10% of the total fair market value at that time of all fixed interests of the particular class, or

ii. the beneficiary or the particular person has at or before that time contributed restricted property to the trust; and

(c) the beneficiary is at that time a

i. resident beneficiary,

ii. mutual fund,

iii. controlled foreign affiliate of the particular person, or

iv. partnership of which a person listed in any of subparagraphs i to iii is a member.

2015, c. 36, s. 33.

597.8. If, because of section 597.7, this section applies at a particular time to a beneficiary under, or a particular person in respect of, a trust, for the purposes of sections 571 to 576.1, 578 and 579 to 583, paragraph a of section 597.1 and section 598, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to be at that time a corporation not resident in Canada

i. controlled by each of the beneficiary and the particular person, and

ii. having, for each particular class of fixed interests in the trust, a separate class of capital stock of 100 issued shares that have the same attributes as the interests of the particular class; and

(b) each beneficiary under the trust is deemed to hold at that time a percentage of the number of shares of each separate class described in subparagraph ii of paragraph a equal to the percentage representing the proportion that the fair market value at that time of that beneficiary's fixed interests in the corresponding particular class of fixed interests in the trust is of the fair market value at that time of all fixed interests in the particular class.

2015, c. 36, s. 33.

597.9. For the purposes of this chapter in respect of a taxpayer for a taxation year, the fair market value of interests in a trust for the purposes of sections 597.7 and 597.8 in respect of the taxpayer for the year is deemed to be equal to the fair market value determined for the year, in respect of those interests, in accordance with subsection 4 of section 94.2 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

2015, c. 36, s. 33.

CHAPTER VII

SPECIAL RULES

1975, c. 22, s. 164.

598. For the purposes of this Title, except section 577,

(a) any person or partnership having a right under a contract or otherwise, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to shares of the capital stock of a corporation or interests in a partnership, is deemed to own those shares or interests, if it can reasonably be considered that the principal purpose for the existence of the right is to permit any person to avoid, reduce or defer the payment of tax or any other amount that would otherwise be payable under this Act; and

(b) where a person or partnership acquires or disposes of shares of the capital stock of a corporation or interests in a partnership, either directly or indirectly, and it can reasonably be considered that the principal purpose for the acquisition or disposition of the shares or interests is to permit a person to avoid, reduce or defer the payment of tax or any other amount that would otherwise be payable under this Act, those shares or interests are deemed not to have been acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, and not to have been issued if the corporation or partnership had not issued them immediately prior to the acquisition.

598.1. For the purposes of this Part, an individual resident in Québec who is a shareholder of a corporation described in the second paragraph may agree, with the approval in writing of the Minister and subject to the terms and conditions set out in the approval, to apply the following rules for the period during which the agreement is effective:

(a) the corporation is deemed to be a controlled foreign affiliate of the individual;

(b) the income of the corporation is deemed to be foreign accrual property income of a controlled foreign affiliate of the individual;

(c) for the purposes of section 146, the portion of the income that is included in computing the individual's income for a taxation year is deemed not to be income from a property; and

(d) the individual shall not include any amount in computing the individual's income in respect of a dividend paid to the individual on a share of the capital stock of the corporation and shall deduct the amount of the dividend in computing the adjusted cost base to the individual of the share.

The corporation to which the first paragraph refers is an S corporation within the meaning of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time.

2000, c. 39, s. 36; 2009, c. 15, s. 92.

TITLE XI

PARTNERSHIPS AND THEIR MEMBERS

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

599. For the purposes of this Title, the expression "Canadian partnership" means a partnership all the members of which, at any time when the expression applies, are resident in Canada.

Moreover, a reference to a member of a particular partnership or a reference to a person or a taxpayer who is a member of a particular partnership shall include a reference to another partnership that is a member of the particular partnership.

1972, c. 23, s. 454; 1988, c. 18, s. 49; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

599.1. For the purposes of this chapter and Chapters II and II.1, a taxpayer includes a partnership.

2021, c. 14, s. 50.

600. Each member of a partnership shall compute, for a taxation year, his income, non-capital loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, as if each of the following hypotheses governing the interpretation of the provisions of this Title applied:

(a) the partnership is a separate person resident in Canada;

(b) the taxation year of the partnership is its fiscal period;

(c) the partnership carries on as a separate person each of its activities, including the ownership of property and for each of its taxation years, computes the amount of:

i. each taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss from the disposition of property, and

ii. each income and loss of the partnership from each other source in Canada or from sources in another place;

(d) in computing each income or loss of the partnership for a taxation year, no account shall be taken of paragraph z.4 of section 87, sections 145 and 217.2 to 217.9.1, 217.18 to 217.34, paragraphs a, d, e and e.1 of section 330 and section 418.12, and no deduction is permitted under section 88.4 of the Act respecting the application of the Taxation Act (chapter I-4), section 217.13, the first paragraph of section 360 or sections 362 to 418.12;

(e) each gain of the partnership from the disposition of land used in a farming business of the partnership is computed without reference to paragraph l of section 255;

(e.1*)* the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts determined under sections 222 to 224 in respect of the partnership at the end of a taxation year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts determined under section 225 in respect of the partnership at the end of the year was deducted under the said sections in computing the income of the partnership for the year;

(f) subject to section 600.0.1, the income of the partnership, for a taxation year, from any source in Canada or from sources in another place is, to the extent of the taxpayer's share thereof, his income for his taxation year during which the taxation year of the partnership ends, from such source in Canada or sources situated in such other place, as the case may be; and

(g) subject to section 600.0.1, the amount by which the loss of the partnership for a taxation year from any source in Canada or from sources in another place exceeds, in the case of a taxpayer who would be a specified member of the partnership in the year if the definition of "specified member" in section 1 were read without reference to paragraph b thereof, the amount deducted by the partnership under sections 222 to 230 in computing its income for the taxation year from that source or those sources, as the case may be, and, in any other case, nil, is the loss of the taxpayer from such source in Canada or sources situated in such other place, as the case may be, for the taxation year of the taxpayer in which the partnership's taxation year ends, to the extent of the taxpayer's share thereof.

600.0.1. Except for the purposes of Chapter II.1 of this Title, paragraph i of section 255 and paragraph l of section 257, where, in a particular taxation year, an individual is a member of a particular partnership and the particular partnership deducted, in computing its income for its taxation year ending in the particular taxation year, an amount under paragraph a of section 130 or the second paragraph of section 130.1 in respect of a certified Québec film, within the meaning of the regulations under the said section 130, or another partnership deducted, in the same respect, an amount under one of the said paragraphs which may reasonably be considered to have contributed to the creation or increase of the individual's share of the loss of the particular partnership which, but for this section, would be determined for the particular taxation year, or to the reduction or cancellation of the individual's share of the income of the particular partnership which, but for this section, would be determined for the particular taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual would, but for this section, have a share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year, that share is deemed, notwithstanding paragraph f of section 600, to be equal to the aggregate of his share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would be determined in the said paragraph f of his share of the amount so deducted by the particular partnership in computing its income for the particular taxation year pursuant to the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 and, as the case may be, of the amount so deducted by the other partnership pursuant to the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 to the extent that it may reasonably be considered that the deduction of that amount by the other partnership contributed to the reduction of that share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would have been determined in the said paragraph f,

(b) where the individual would, but for this section, have a share of the loss of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year, that share is deemed, notwithstanding paragraph g of section 600, to be equal to the amount by which his share of the loss of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would be determined in the said paragraph g exceeds the lesser of

i. the aggregate of his share of the amount so deducted by the particular partnership, in computing its income for that taxation year, pursuant to the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 and, as the case may be, of the amount so deducted by the other partnership pursuant to the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 to the extent that it may reasonably be considered that the deduction of that amount by the other partnership contributed to the creation or increase of that share of the loss of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would have been determined in the said paragraph g; and

ii. his share of the loss of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would be determined in paragraph g of section 600;

(c) where the amount determined in subparagraph i of paragraph b for the particular year exceeds the amount referred to in subparagraph ii of the said paragraph for the same year, the excess amount is deemed to constitute the individual's share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year;

(d) where, for the particular taxation year, the individual would, but for this section, have neither a share of the income of the particular partnership nor a share of the loss of the particular partnership, he is deemed to have a share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year in an amount equal to the aggregate of his share of the amount so deducted by the particular partnership, in computing its income for that taxation year, pursuant to the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 and, as the case may be, of the amount so deducted by the other partnership under the said paragraph a of section 130 or the said second paragraph of section 130.1 to the extent that it may reasonably be considered that the deduction of that amount by the other partnership contributed to the cancellation of the individual's share of the income of the particular partnership for the particular taxation year which, but for this section, would otherwise have been determined in paragraph f of section 600.

600.0.2. An individual's share of the loss of a partnership, determined pursuant to section 600.0.1 for a fiscal period of the partnership at the end of which the individual was a member of the partnership, in this section referred to as "corrected loss", shall not however exceed the proportion of at-risk amount of the individual in respect of the partnership at that date, within the meaning of sections 613.2 to 613.5, that his share of the corrected loss of the partnership which, but for this section, would be so determined under section 600.0.1 is of his share of the corrected loss of the partnership which, but for this section and section 600.0.1, would be determined under paragraph g of section 600.

600.0.3. Despite sections 231 and 600, where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer, the taxpayer is a member of a partnership with a fiscal period that ends in the particular year, the taxable capital gain, allowable capital loss or allowable business investment loss of the taxpayer for the particular year in respect of the partnership is determined by the formula

$$A \times B / C.$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the taxpayer's taxable capital gain, allowable capital loss or allowable business investment loss, as the case may be, for the particular year in respect of the partnership that would, but for this section, be determined under section 600;

(b) B is the fraction that applies under section 231 for the particular year in respect of the taxpayer; and

(c) C is the fraction that is used under section 231 for the fiscal period of the partnership.

1990, c. 59, s. 212; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 137; 2004, c. 8, s. 126; 2019, c. 14, s. 159; 2022, c. 23, s. 36.

600.0.4. For the purposes of section 600.0.3, where the fraction referred to in subparagraph c of the second paragraph of that section cannot be determined by a taxpayer in respect of a fiscal period of a partnership that ended before 28 February 2000, or includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, the fraction is deemed to be

(a) where the fiscal period ended before or began before 28 February 2000, 3/4;

(b) where the fiscal period began after 27 February 2000 but before 18 October 2000, 2/3; and

(c) in any other case, 1/2.

2003, c. 2, s. 138.

600.1. Subject to section 600.2, the share of a member of a partnership of any amount that would be an amount referred to in paragraph e of section 398, paragraph b or e of section 399, paragraph d of section 411, subparagraph i of paragraph b or paragraph c or h of section 412, paragraph d of section 418.5 or subparagraph i of paragraph b or paragraph c or e of section 418.6, in respect of the partnership for a taxation year of the partnership, but for paragraph d of section 600, is deemed to be an amount referred to in paragraph e of section 398, paragraph b or e of section 399, paragraph d of section 411, subparagraph of paragraph b or paragraph c or h of section 412, paragraph d of section 418.5 or subparagraph i of paragraph b or paragraph c or e of section 418.6, as the case may be, in respect of the member for the taxation year of the member in which the taxation year of the partnership ends.

1978, c. 26, s. 107; 1982, c. 5, s. 130; 1993, c. 16, s. 237; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

600.2. However, where a person not resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that is deemed under section 1096.2 to have disposed of a property, the deemed amount in respect of the person under section 600.1 respecting section 411, 412, 418.5 or 418.6, as the case may be, is then so deemed for his taxation year that ended at the particular time referred to in section 1096.1.

601. If an individual who is a member of a partnership immediately before its dissolution, or who is a member of a partnership that, but for section 618, would have been dissolved at a particular time, makes a valid election under subsection 2 of section 99 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to a fiscal period of the partnership that is referred to in the third or fourth paragraph of section 7, the partnership's fiscal period is deemed, for the purpose of computing the individual's income, to have ended immediately before the time it would normally have ended if the partnership had continued to exist.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2 of section 99 of the Income Tax Act.

602.1. If, at any time in a fiscal period of a partnership, a taxpayer ceases to be a member of the partnership, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 7, sections 217.2 to 217.9.1, 600, 607, 634 and 635 and despite section 643, the taxpayer is deemed to be a member of the partnership at the end of the fiscal period; and

(b) for the purpose of applying subparagraphs i and viii of paragraph i of section 255, subparagraph i of paragraph l of section 257, section 261.2 and the second paragraph of section 613.1 to the taxpayer, the fiscal period of the partnership is deemed to end

i. immediately before the time at which the taxpayer is deemed under section 436 to have disposed of the interest in the partnership, if the taxpayer ceased to be a member of the partnership because of the taxpayer's death, and

ii. immediately before the time that is immediately before the time that the taxpayer ceased to be a member of the partnership, in any other case.

2009, c. 5, s. 191; 2015, c. 21, s. 207.

603. Where a taxpayer who was a member of a partnership during a fiscal period has, for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's income from the partnership for the fiscal period, entered into an agreement or made an election, a designation or a specification under the regulations made under section 104, under any of sections 96, 119.15, 156, 180 to 182, 230, 279, 280.3, 299, 485.6, 485.9 to 485.11, 485.42 to 485.52, 614, 832.23 and 832.24 or, because of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 614, under the first paragraph of section 522 that, but for this section, would be a valid agreement, designation, specification or election, as the case may be, the following rules apply:

(a) the agreement, designation, specification or election is not valid unless it was entered into or made on behalf of the taxpayer and each other member of the partnership during the fiscal period and the taxpayer had authority to act for the partnership;

(b) if the agreement, designation, specification or election is valid under paragraph a, each other member of the partnership during the fiscal period is deemed to have entered into the agreement or made the designation, specification or election, as the case may be; and

(c) despite paragraph a, any agreement, designation, specification or election deemed to have been entered into or made, as the case may be, by a member under paragraph b is deemed to be a valid agreement, designation, specification or election entered into or made by that member.

1973, c. 17, s. 68; 1975, c. 22, s. 166; 1982, c. 5, s. 131; 1986, c. 19, s. 132; 1993, c. 16, s. 238; 1994, c. 22, s. 212; 1995, c. 1, s. 47; 1996, c. 39, s. 165; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 57; 1997, c. 85, s. 96; 2001, c. 7, s. 61; 2001, c. 53, s. 86; 2003, c. 9, s. 39; 2009, c. 5, s. 192; 2009, c. 15, s. 93; 2019, c. 14, s. 160.

603.1. If a SIFT partnership becomes liable to pay the tax provided for in Part III.17 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) paragraph f of section 600 is to be read as if "the income of the partnership, for a taxation year, from any source in Canada or from sources in another place" was replaced by "the amount by which the partnership's income for a taxation year from any source in Canada or from sources in another place exceeds, the portion, determined in respect of each such source, of the partnership's taxable non-portfolio earnings for the year that is applicable to that source"; and

(b) the SIFT partnership is deemed to have received a dividend in the taxation year from a taxable Canadian corporation equal to the amount by which the amount of the SIFT partnership's taxable non-portfolio earnings for the taxation year exceeds the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B + C).$$

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of the SIFT partnership's taxable non-portfolio earnings for the taxation year;

(b) B is the basic rate determined in respect of the SIFT partnership for the taxation year under the third paragraph of section 1129.71 or, if the SIFT partnership has an establishment outside Québec in the year, the aggregate of the following rates:

i. that basic rate represented by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as that proportion would be determined under Chapters I and II of Title XXVII of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1) if the SIFT partnership were a corporation, and

ii. the provincial SIFT tax rate, within the meaning assigned by subsection 1 of section 248 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) and expressed as a percentage, that would be applicable to the SIFT partnership for the year if that definition applied in respect of the SIFT partnership for that year and if section 414 of the Income Tax Regulations made under that Act were read without reference to its subsection 4; and

(c) C is the net corporate income tax rate, within the meaning assigned by subsection 1 of section 248 of the Income Tax Act and expressed as a percentage, that is applicable to the SIFT partnership for the taxation year.

For the purposes of this section, "taxable non-portfolio earnings" of a SIFT partnership has the meaning assigned by section 1129.70.

605.1. For the purposes of this Part, where at a particular time a person resident in Canada becomes a member of a partnership, or a person who is a member of a partnership becomes resident in Canada, and immediately before the particular time no member of the partnership is resident in Canada, the following rules apply for the purpose of computing the partnership's income for fiscal periods ending after the particular time:

(a) where, at or before the particular time, the partnership held depreciable property of a prescribed class, other than taxable Canadian property,

i. no amount shall be included in determining the amounts under subparagraphs i, ii.1 and ii.2 of subparagraph e of the first paragraph of section 93 and under subparagraphs c to f of the second paragraph of that section in respect of the acquisition or disposition before the particular time of the property, and

ii. where the property is the partnership's property at the particular time, the property is deemed to have been acquired, immediately after the particular time, by the partnership at a capital cost equal to the lesser of its fair market value and its capital cost to the partnership otherwise determined;

(b) in the case of the partnership's property that is inventory, other than inventory of a business carried on in Canada, or non-depreciable capital property, other than taxable Canadian property, of the partnership at the particular time, its cost to the partnership is deemed to be, immediately after the particular time, equal to the lesser of its fair market value and its cost to the partnership otherwise determined; and

(c) any loss in respect of the disposition of a property, other than inventory of a business carried on in Canada or taxable Canadian property, by the partnership before the particular time is deemed to be nil;

(d) (paragraph repealed).

605.2. For the purposes of section 605.1 and this section,

(a) where it can reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons that a member of a partnership is resident in Canada is to avoid the application of section 605.1, the member is deemed not to be resident in Canada; and

(b) where at any time a particular partnership is a member of another partnership, the following rules apply:

i. each person or partnership that is, at that time, a member of the particular partnership is deemed to be a member of the other partnership at that time,

ii. each person or partnership that becomes a member of the particular partnership at that time is deemed to become a member of the other partnership at that time, and

iii. each person or partnership that ceases to be a member of the particular partnership at that time is deemed to cease to be a member of the other partnership at that time.

CHAPTER II

SHARING AGREEMENTS

1972, c. 23.

606. Section 607 applies where there is an agreement among the members of a partnership to share, according to an agreed proportion, any income or loss of the partnership from or arising out of any source in Canada or from sources in another place or any amount in respect of any activity of the partnership that is relevant to the computation of the income or taxable income of such members.

607. (1) Where the principal purpose for an agreement contemplated in section 606 may reasonably be considered to be the reduction of the tax that might otherwise be or become payable under this Part of the postponement of such payment, the share of each member in the income, loss or amount that is the object of that agreement shall be the amount that is reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances including the proportions in which the members have agreed to share profits and losses from other sources in Canada or from sources in another place.

(1.1) Where an agreement described in section 606 is entered into between members of a partnership not dealing with each other at arm's length, the share of each member in the income, loss or amount that is the object of that agreement is the amount that is reasonable, having regard to the work performed for the partnership by its members, the capital invested therein by them or any other relevant factor.

(2) For the purposes of this chapter, the word "losses" when used in the expression "profits and losses" means losses determined without reference to the other provisions of this Part.

1972, c. 23, s. 459; 1982, c. 5, s. 132; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

608. For the purposes of sections 7 to 7.0.6, 217.2 to 217.34, 600, 607, 634 and 635, where the principal activity of a partnership is carrying on a business in Canada and its members have entered into an agreement to allocate a share of the income or loss of the partnership from any source in Canada or from sources in another place to any person described in section 609, that person is deemed to be a member of the partnership and the amount so allocated for a particular fiscal period of the partnership must be included in computing the person's income for the taxation year in which that fiscal period of the partnership ends.

609. The person to whom section 608 applies is:

(a) a taxpayer who at any time ceased to be a member of the partnership described therein or of any other partnership that has been dissolved at any time, or would, but for section 618, have been dissolved, where the members thereof or the members of a third partnership in which a member of such other partnership became a member immediately after the other partnership was dissolved, have entered into an agreement described in section 608 in favour of the taxpayer or of any person described in paragraph b; and

(b) the spouse, succession or legatee by particular title of the taxpayer referred to in paragraph a or a person referred to in section 611.

1975, c. 22, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1998, c. 16, s. 251; 2000, c. 5, s. 134.

610. A taxpayer who, in a taxation year, disposes of a right to a share of the income or loss of a partnership under an agreement referred to in section 608 shall include in computing his income for the year the proceeds of the disposition and he is deemed to have acquired each property received as consideration for its fair market value at the time of such disposition.

611. A taxpayer who has included an amount in computing his income for the year by virtue of section 608 or 610 may deduct for the year the lesser of such amount and the amount by which the cost to him of the right to a share of the income or loss of a partnership under an agreement referred to in section 608 exceeds the aggregate of the amounts in respect of that right that were deductible by virtue of this section in computing his income for previous taxation years.

1975, c. 22, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

612. For the purposes of this Part, a right to a share of the income or loss of a partnership under an agreement referred to in section 608 is deemed not to be capital property and sections 429 and 430 apply with respect to such a right that a taxpayer had at his death.

1975, c. 22, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

612.1. Where a partnership carries on a business in Québec at any time during a taxation year, each taxpayer who is deemed to be a member of the partnership under section 608 is deemed, for the purposes of section 25, to carry on that business in Québec at any time during the year.

1994, c. 22, s. 213; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

613. Where a partnership carries on a business in Canada at any time, each taxpayer who is deemed under section 608 to be a member of the partnership at that time is deemed, for the purposes of sections 26 and 1000 to 1003 and of Divisions VIII.1 and VIII.3 of Chapter V of Title III, subject to section 217.34, to carry on that business in Canada at that time.

1975, c. 22, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 59; 2000, c. 5, s. 135; 2015, c. 24, s. 90.

TAXPAYER'S AT-RISK AMOUNT

1988, c. 4, s. 40.

613.1. Despite section 600, where a taxpayer is, at any time in a taxation year, a limited partner of a partnership, the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's share of the amount of any loss of the partnership for a fiscal period of the partnership ending in the taxation year from a business (other than a farming business) or from property, determined in accordance with section 600, exceeds the amount determined under the second paragraph must not be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, must not be included in computing the taxpayer's non-capital loss for the year, and

(a) where the taxpayer is not a partnership, is deemed to be the taxpayer's limited partnership loss in respect of the partnership for the year; or

(b) where the taxpayer is a partnership, must reduce the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership for a fiscal period of the partnership ending in the taxation year of the taxpayer from a business (other than a farming business) or from property.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph is the amount, if any, by which the at-risk amount of the taxpayer in respect of the partnership at the end of its fiscal period exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amount required by subsection 8 of section 127 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the partnership to be added in the year in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer for the year within the meaning assigned to that expression by the said Act for the purposes of the said subsection;

(b) the taxpayer's share of any losses of the partnership for the fiscal period from a farming business; and

(c) the taxpayer's share of the foreign resource pool expenses, Canadian exploration expense, Canadian development expense and Canadian oil and gas property expense incurred by the partnership in the fiscal period.

613.1.1. Where the taxation year of a taxpayer ends after 26 February 2018, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of sections 727 to 737, the taxpayer's non-capital loss, or limited partnership loss in respect of a partnership, for a preceding taxation year must be determined as if section 599.1 and subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 613.1 applied in respect of a taxation year that ends before 27 February 2018; and

(b) in computing the adjusted cost base of the taxpayer's interest in a partnership after 26 February 2018, the taxpayer shall add an amount equal to the portion of the amount that, because of paragraph a, must reduce the taxpayer's non-capital loss that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the amount of a loss deducted under subparagraph i of paragraph l of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base of that interest.

613.2. For the purposes of sections 600, 600.0.3, 600.0.4, 602.1, 603 to 605.2, 608 to 613.10 and 727 to 737, the at-risk amount of a taxpayer, in respect of a partnership of which the taxpayer is a limited partner, at any particular time is the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the amount determined under section 613.3:

(a) the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of his partnership interest at that time, computed in accordance with section 613.5, where applicable;

(b) where the particular time is the end of the fiscal period of the partnership, the aggregate of

i. the taxpayer's share of the income of the partnership from a particular source for that fiscal period, computed under the method described in subparagraph i of paragraph i of section 255, and

ii. the amount referred to in subparagraph viii of paragraph i of section 255 in respect of the taxpayer for that fiscal period.

613.3. The amount referred to in section 613.2 is equal to the aggregate of the following amounts:

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount owing at the particular time to the partnership, or to a person or partnership not dealing at arm's length with the partnership, by the taxpayer or by a person or partnership not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer, other than any amount deducted under subparagraph i.3 of paragraph l of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base, or under Title VIII of Book VI in computing the cost, to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's partnership interest at that time; and

(b) any amount or benefit that the taxpayer or a person not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer is entitled, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to receive or to obtain, whether by way of reimbursement, compensation, revenue guarantee, proceeds of disposition, loan or any other form of indebtedness, or in any other form or manner whatever, granted or to be granted for the purpose of reducing the impact, in whole or in part, of any loss that the taxpayer may sustain because the taxpayer is a member of the partnership or holds or disposes of an interest in the partnership, except to the extent that the amount or benefit is referred to in paragraph e of section 399, paragraph h of section 412 or paragraph e of section 418.6 in respect of the taxpayer, or the entitlement arises

i. by virtue of a contract of insurance with an insurance corporation dealing at arm's length with each member of the partnership under which the taxpayer is insured against any claim arising as a result of a liability incurred in the ordinary course of carrying on the partnership business;

ii. (subparagraph repealed);

iii. as a consequence of the death of the taxpayer;

iv. (subparagraph repealed);

v. (subparagraph repealed);

vi. in respect of an amount not included in the at-risk amount of the taxpayer in respect of the partnership determined without reference to this paragraph; or

vii. by reason of an excluded obligation, within the meaning of the regulations made under section 359.1, in relation to a share issued to the partnership by a corporation.

613.4. For the purposes of sections 613.2 and 613.3,

(a) the amount or benefit to which the taxpayer referred to in section 613.2, or a person not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer, is at any time entitled and that is provided by way of an agreement or other arrangement under which the taxpayer or the person has a right, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, otherwise than as a consequence of the death of the taxpayer, to acquire other property in exchange for all or any part of the taxpayer's interest in the partnership referred to in that section shall not be considered to be less than the fair market value of the other property at that time; and

(b) the amount or benefit to which the taxpayer or the person is at any time entitled and that is provided by way of a guarantee, security or similar covenant in respect of any loan or other obligation of the taxpayer or the person shall not be considered to be less than the aggregate of the unpaid amount of the loan or obligation at that time and all other amounts outstanding in respect of the loan or obligation at that time.

1988, c. 4, s. 40; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 64.

613.5. For the purposes of sections 613.2 to 613.4, where a taxpayer has acquired his partnership interest at any time from a transferor other than the partnership, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of that interest shall be computed as if the cost to him of the interest were the lesser of

(a) his cost otherwise determined, and

(b) the greater of the adjusted cost base of that interest to the transferor immediately before that time, and nil.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, where the adjusted cost base to the transferor cannot be determined, it is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of the amounts determined in respect of the taxpayer under paragraphs a and b of section 613.3 immediately after that time.

613.6. For the purposes of sections 600, 600.0.3, 600.0.4, 602.1, 603 to 605.2, 608 to 613.10 and 727 to 737, a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership at a particular time is a limited partner of the partnership at that time if the member's partnership interest is not an exempt interest, within the meaning assigned by section 613.7, at that time and if, at that time or within three years after that time,

(a) by operation of any law governing the partnership arrangement, the liability of the member as a member of the partnership is limited, except by operation of a provision of a statute of Canada or a province that limits the member's liability only for debts and other obligations of the partnership, or any member of the partnership, arising from the misconduct or faults or omissions or negligent acts that another member of the partnership or an employee, agent or mandatary, or representative of that member or of the partnership commits in the course of the partnership's business while the partnership is a limited liability partnership referred to in that provision;

(b) the member or a person not dealing at arm's length with the member is entitled, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to receive an amount or to obtain a benefit that would be described in paragraph b of section 613.3 if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs ii, as it applies before being struck out, and vi thereof;

(c) where the member who owns the interest is a corporation, partnership or trust, one of the reasons for the existence of the member can reasonably be considered to be to limit the liability of any person with respect to that interest, and cannot reasonably be considered to be to permit any person who has an interest in the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, to carry on that person's business, other than an investment business, in the most effective manner; or

(d) one of the main reasons for the existence of an agreement or other arrangement for the disposition of an interest in the partnership can reasonably be considered to be to attempt to avoid the application of this section to the member.

613.7. For the purposes of section 613.6, an exempt interest in a partnership at any time means a prescribed partnership interest or an interest in a partnership that was actively carrying on business on a regular and a continuous basis immediately before 26 February 1986 and continuously thereafter until that time or that was earning income from the rental or leasing of property immediately before 26 February 1986 and continuously thereafter until that time, where there has not after 25 February 1986 and before that time been a substantial contribution of capital to the partnership or a substantial increase in the indebtedness of the partnership and, for this purpose, an amount will not be considered to be substantial where

(a) the amount was used by the partnership to make an expenditure required to be made pursuant to the terms of a written agreement entered into by it before 26 February 1986, or to repay a loan, debt or contribution of capital that had been received or incurred in respect of any such expenditure;

(b) the amount was raised pursuant to the terms of a final prospectus, preliminary prospectus or registration statement filed before 26 February 1986 with a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the securities legislation of Canada or of any province, and, where required by law, accepted for filing by such public authority; or

(c) the amount was used for the activity that was carried on by the partnership on 25 February 1986 but was not used for a significant expansion of the activity.

1988, c. 4, s. 40; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 53, s. 88.

613.8. For the purposes of section 613.7, the following rules apply:

(a) a partnership in respect of which paragraph b of section 613.7 applies shall be considered to have been actively carrying on a business on a regular and a continuous basis immediately before 26 February 1986 and continuously thereafter until the earlier of the closing date, if any, stipulated in the document referred to in paragraph b of section 613.7, and 1 January 1987; and

(b) an expenditure shall not be considered to have been required to be made pursuant to the terms of an agreement where the obligation to make the expenditure is conditional in any way on the consequences under this Part relating to the expenditure and the condition has not been satisfied or waived before 12 June 1986.

1988, c. 4, s. 40; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

613.9. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 613.3, where at any time an amount owing by a taxpayer or a person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length is repaid and it is established, by subsequent events or otherwise, that the repayment was made as part of a series of loans or other transactions and repayments, the amount owing is deemed not to have been repaid.

1988, c. 4, s. 40.

613.10. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 613.2, where at any time a taxpayer makes a contribution of capital to a partnership and the partnership or a person or partnership with whom the partnership does not deal at arm's length makes a loan to the taxpayer or to a person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length or repays the contribution of capital, and it is established, by subsequent events or otherwise, that the loan or repayment, as the case may be, was made as part of a series of loans or other transactions and repayments, the contribution of capital is deemed not to have been made to the extent of the loan or repayment, as the case may be.

1988, c. 4, s. 40; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER III

CONTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY

1972, c. 23.

614. Where at a particular time after 1971 a partnership acquires property from a taxpayer who is, immediately after such acquisition, a member of the partnership, it is deemed to acquire it at its fair market value at that time and the member is deemed to dispose of it for proceeds equal to such value.

Despite any other provision of this Part, other than section 93.3.1 and the third paragraph, where a taxpayer disposes of any property (other than an eligible derivative, within the meaning of section 85.8, of the taxpayer if subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 85.7 applies to the taxpayer) that is a capital property, Canadian resource property, foreign resource property or inventory to a partnership that, immediately after the disposition, is a Canadian partnership of which the taxpayer is a member, and the taxpayer and all the other members of the partnership make a valid election for the purposes of subsection 2 of section 97 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the disposition or, where that election cannot be made because of subsection 21.2 of section 13 of that Act, make an election, in the prescribed form referred to in the first paragraph of section 520.1, the following rules apply:

(a) sections 520.1, 520.2, 521.2, 522 and 523 to 526 and paragraph a of section 528 apply in respect of the disposition as if the references therein to section 518 were references to this paragraph, and replacing therein

i. except in sections 525.1 and 525.2, the words “and the corporation” and “and by the corporation” respectively by the words “and all the other members of the partnership” and “and by all the other members of the partnership”,

ii. the words “a share of the capital stock of the corporation” and “a right to receive any such share” respectively by the words “an interest in the partnership” and “a right to receive any such interest”,

iii. the words “shareholder of the corporation” by the words “member of the partnership”,

iv. except in the second paragraph of section 522 and in section 526, any other occurrence of the word “corporation” by the word “partnership”, and

v. in the portion of subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 520.1 before subparagraph i, the words “the taxation year which, of the taxation years of those persons, ends the latest” by the words “that taxation year of the taxpayer or the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made, whichever year or period in the latter case ends later”;

*(a.1) (subparagraph repealed);*

(b) in computing, after the disposition, the adjusted cost base of the taxpayer’s interest in the partnership immediately after the disposition, the taxpayer shall

i. add the amount by which the taxpayer’s proceeds of disposition of the property exceed the fair market value at the time of the disposition, of the consideration other than an interest in the partnership, received by the taxpayer for the property, and

ii. deduct the amount by which the fair market value, at the time of the disposition, of the consideration other than an interest in the partnership, received by the taxpayer for the property exceeds the fair market value of the property at that time; and

(c) where the taxpayer so disposes of any taxable Canadian property or any taxable Québec property as consideration for an interest in the partnership, the interest is deemed to be also, at any time that is within 60 months after the disposition, a taxable Canadian property or a taxable Québec property, as the case may be.

The second paragraph does not apply in respect of a disposition of a property by a taxpayer to a partnership if

(a) as part of a transaction or event or series of transactions or events that includes the disposition

i. control of a taxable Canadian corporation is acquired by another taxable Canadian corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the “subsidiary” and the “parent”, respectively), ii. the subsidiary is amalgamated with one or more other corporations in the course of an amalgamation to which section 550.9 applies or is wound up in accordance with Chapter VII of Title IX, and

iii. the parent designates an amount in accordance with paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 88 of the Income Tax Act in respect of an interest in a partnership;

(b) the disposition of the property occurs after the acquisition of control of the subsidiary;

(c) the property is a capital property whose disposition may not be the subject of a valid election for the purposes of subsection 2 of section 97 of the Income Tax Act because of subsection 21.2 of section 13 of that Act but could, in the absence of this paragraph, be the subject of an election under the second paragraph given the inapplicability of section 93.3.1 in respect of the disposition; and

(d) the subsidiary is the taxpayer or has, before the disposition of the property, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, an interest in the taxpayer.

1972, c. 23, s. 460; 1975, c. 22, s. 170; 1984, c. 15, s. 132; 1986, c. 19, s. 133; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 153; 1997, c. 85, s. 98; 2000, c. 5, s. 136; 2002, c. 40, s. 43; 2003, c. 9, s. 40; 2004, c. 8, s. 128; 2005, c. 1, s. 122; 2009, c. 5, s. 195; 2011, c. 6, s. 138; 2011, c. 34, s. 32; 2015, c. 21, s. 209; 2019, c. 14, s. 162; 2020, c. 16, s. 90; 2021, c. 18, s. 48.

614.1. Except for the purposes of this section, where a property is disposed of to a partnership before 26 March 1997 by a taxpayer, the second paragraph of section 614 and Divisions I to III of Chapter IV of Title IX, as they read in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997 and not as they read in respect of the disposition, apply in respect of the disposition where

(b) it may not reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of an excess amount is attributable to the difference between the cost amount of the property to the taxpayer, immediately before the disposition, for the purposes of this Part and the cost amount of the property to the taxpayer, at that time, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), where that excess amount is

i. the amount by which the taxpayer's income for the taxation year in which the disposition is made is reduced by reason of the application of the second paragraph of section 614 in respect of the disposition, exceeds the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's income for that year, established for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act, is reduced by reason of the application of subsection 2 of section 97 of that Act in respect of the disposition, or

ii. the amount by which the cost amount of the property to the partnership, immediately after the disposition, for the purposes of this Part, exceeds the cost amount of the property to the partnership established at that time for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act.

However, the first paragraph does not apply where the disposition is of property in respect of which section 522, as it reads in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997, would apply if

(a) the disposition had been made on 26 March 1997;

(b) where the election referred to in the second paragraph of section 614, as that paragraph reads in respect of property disposed of on 26 March 1997, was not made in respect of the disposition, the election had been made for an amount agreed on equal to the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition; and

(c) an amount had been agreed on in respect of the property in the prescribed form for the purposes of that section 522, and was equal to the amount agreed on in its respect in the election made under the second paragraph of section 614, as that paragraph reads in respect of the disposition, or to the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition if no election were made.

617. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where the second paragraph of section 614 applies to depreciable property the capital cost of which, to the taxpayer who disposed of it to the partnership, exceeds the proceeds of its disposition:

(a) the capital cost of the property, to the partnership, is deemed to be equal to the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the partnership as depreciation for the taxation years preceding the acquisition of that property by it.

1972, c. 23, s. 463; 1974, c. 18, s. 24; 1979, c. 18, s. 50; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

617.1. Where the second paragraph of section 614 has applied in respect of the disposition of any property by an individual to a partnership, the cost of the property to the individual was included in computing an amount determined under section 75.2.1 or 75.3 in respect of the individual, the property is depreciable property of the partnership, and the amount, in this section referred to as the "individual's original cost", that would be the cost of the property to the individual immediately before its disposition if this Act were read without reference to section 75.5 exceeds the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost to the partnership of the property is deemed to be equal to the individual's original cost; and

(b) the amount by which the individual's original cost exceeds the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property is deemed to have been allowed to the partnership as depreciation in respect of the property for taxation years that end before the time of disposition.

CHAPTER IV

DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY

1972, c. 23.

DIVISION I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

618. For the purposes of this Part, where, but for this section, at any time after 31 December 1971 a partnership would be dissolved, the following rules apply:

(a) until such time as all the partnership property and any property substituted therefor has been distributed to the persons entitled by law to receive it, the partnership is deemed to continue to exist, and each person who was a member of the partnership is deemed to still be a member of the partnership;

(b) the right of each such person to share in that property is deemed to be an interest in the partnership; and

(c) notwithstanding section 261, where at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership, in respect of an interest in the partnership, the aggregate of all amounts required by section 257, to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to a taxpayer of the interest at that time exceeds the aggregate of the cost to the taxpayer of the interest determined for the purpose of computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of that interest at that time and all amounts required by section 255 to be added to the cost to the taxpayer of the interest in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of that interest at that time, the amount of the excess is deemed to be a gain of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes that time from a disposition at that time of that interest and, for the purposes of Title VI.5.1 of Book IV, that interest is deemed to have been disposed of by the taxpayer at that time.

1972, c. 23, s. 464; 1977, c. 26, s. 66; 1996, c. 39, s. 168; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

619. Subject to sections 529 to 533 and 620 to 631, a partnership disposing, at a particular time after 1971, of property to a taxpayer who is, immediately before such time, one of its members, is deemed to have received therefrom proceeds equal to its fair market value at that time and the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at that same value.

1972, c. 23, s. 465; 1975, c. 22, s. 171; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

619.1. For the purposes of sections 622, 623, 628 and 629, a leasehold interest in a depreciable property and an option to acquire a depreciable property are deemed to be depreciable properties.

2020, c. 16, s. 91.

DIVISION II

DISSOLUTION OF THE PARTNERSHIP

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

620. The rules provided in this division apply where, at a particular time after 1971, a Canadian partnership is dissolved and its property is distributed to persons who were members thereof immediately before that time.

The rules referred to in the first paragraph apply only if each of those persons has in each such property, immediately after that time, an undivided right equal, when expressed as a percentage, to the person's undivided right, when so expressed, in each other property of the partnership and if all those persons make a valid election for the purposes of subsection 3 of section 98 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the property.

The percentage of the undivided right of each member of the partnership shall be referred to, in this division, as his share.

1972, c. 23, s. 466; 1975, c. 22, s. 172; 1984, c. 35, s. 16; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 85, s. 100; 2020, c. 16, s. 92; 2021, c. 36, s. 71.

620.1. Where the rules provided for in this division apply in respect of the dissolution of a partnership, the prescribed form must be sent to the Minister.

In addition, where the form is not sent to the Minister on or before the date that is the earliest of the filing-due dates for the persons referred to in section 620 in respect of the dissolution, for the taxation year in which the dissolution occurred, those persons incur a penalty equal to the lesser of

(a) 0.25%, for each month or part of a month during the period from the earliest date of those filing-due dates until the day on which the form is sent to the Minister, of the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts of money and the fair market value of partnership property received by those persons as consideration for the disposition of their interests in the partnership at the time the partnership is dissolved, exceeds the aggregate of the proceeds of disposition determined in respect of each of those persons under section 621; and

(b) the lesser of $5,000 and the product obtained by multiplying $100 by the number of months each of which is a month all or part of which is during the period referred to in subparagraph a.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to give effect to the rules provided for in this division in respect of the dissolution of partnerships.

1997, c. 85, s. 101; 2000, c. 39, s. 37.

621. Each person contemplated in section 620 is deemed to receive, as proceeds of disposition of his interest in the partnership, an amount equal to the greater of:

(a) the adjusted cost base of his interest in the partnership, immediately before the particular time; and

(b) the amount of any money received by him on the dissolution of the partnership and of his share of the cost amount, to the partnership, of each of its properties, immediately before their distribution.

1972, c. 23, s. 467; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

622. The cost to each person to whom section 620 applies of an undivided right in each property of the partnership is deemed to be equal to that person's share of the cost amount to the partnership of the property immediately before its distribution, plus, where the property is a non-depreciable capital property and the amount determined under paragraph a of section 621 in respect of that person exceeds the aggregate determined under paragraph b of section 621 in respect of that person, the portion of such excess designated by that person.

623. The amount designated under section 622 by a person contemplated in section 620 shall not exceed the excess of his share of the fair market value of the property concerned, immediately after its distribution, over his share of the cost amount of that property, to the partnership, immediately before its distribution.

Likewise, the aggregate of such designated amounts shall not exceed, in the case of non-depreciable capital property, the excess contemplated in section 622.

1972, c. 23, s. 469; 1988, c. 18, s. 52; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2019, c. 14, s. 164.

624. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where depreciable property of a prescribed class is distributed and the share of a person contemplated in section 620 in the capital cost of that property to the partnership exceeds the cost, to the person, of the person's undivided right in that property, as determined under section 622, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost, to the person, of the person's undivided right in the property is deemed to be equal to the person's former share of the capital cost of such property to the partnership; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the person as depreciation for the taxation years before the acquisition by the person of the undivided right.

1972, c. 23, s. 470; 1979, c. 18, s. 51; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2020, c. 16, s. 94.

624.1. (Repealed).

1994, c. 22, s. 215; 1996, c. 39, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 141; 2005, c. 1, s. 124; 2019, c. 14, s. 165.

625. The partnership contemplated in section 620 is deemed to dispose of each of its properties for proceeds equal to the cost amount of the property, to such partnership, immediately before its distribution.

1972, c. 23, s. 471; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

DIVISION III

BUSINESS CARRIED ON AS SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP

1972, c. 23.

626. (1) The rules provided in this division apply where, at a particular time after 1971, a Canadian partnership is dissolved and, within three months after that time, one only of the persons who were members of the partnership immediately before such time carries on itself the business formerly carried on by the partnership.

(2) However, the rules contemplated in subsection 1 do not apply unless such person, whether an individual, a trust or a corporation, uses, in the business, any property that was partnership property immediately before that time and that was received by him as proceeds of disposition of his interest in the partnership.

1972, c. 23, s. 472; 1975, c. 22, s. 173; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

627. The person contemplated in section 626 is deemed to receive, as consideration for the disposition of his interest in the partnership, an amount equal to the greater of:

(a) the aggregate of the adjusted cost base of his interest in the partnership immediately before the particular time, and the adjusted cost base to him of each other interest in the partnership deemed under section 632 to have been acquired by him at the particular time; and

(b) the aggregate of the cost amount, to the partnership, immediately before the particular time, of each property so received by that person and of the amount of any other proceeds from the disposition of his interest in the partnership.

628. The cost to a person to whom section 626 applies of a property so received is deemed to be equal to the cost amount to a partnership of the property immediately before the particular time, plus, where the property is a non-depreciable capital property of that person and the aggregate determined under paragraph a of section 627 exceeds the aggregate determined under paragraph b of section 627, the portion of such excess designated by that person.

629. The amount designated under section 628 shall not exceed the excess of the fair market value of the property concerned, immediately after the particular time, over its cost amount to the partnership immediately before that time.

Likewise, the aggregate of such designated amounts shall not exceed, in the case of non-depreciable capital property, the excess contemplated in section 628.

1972, c. 23, s. 475; 1973, c. 17, s. 69; 1988, c. 18, s. 54; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2019, c. 14, s. 167.

630. For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where property received by a person contemplated in section 626 is depreciable property of a prescribed class and where its capital cost to the partnership exceeds its capital cost, to such person, as determined under section 628,

(a) the capital cost to him of the property is deemed to be the capital cost of the property to the partnership; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to that person as depreciation for the taxation years before its acquisition by him.

1972, c. 23, s. 476; 1979, c. 18, s. 52; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

630.1. (Repealed).

1994, c. 22, s. 217; 1996, c. 39, s. 170; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 143; 2005, c. 1, s. 126; 2019, c. 14, s. 168.

631. The partnership contemplated in section 626 is deemed to have disposed of each of the properties referred to therein for proceeds equal to the cost amount of the property, to such partnership, immediately before the particular time.

1972, c. 23, s. 477; 1982, c. 5, s. 134; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

632. Where, at the particular time referred to in section 626, all other persons who were members of the partnership immediately before that time dispose of their interests in the partnership to the person referred to in the said section, such person is deemed to acquire at that time partnership interests from those other persons and not partnership property.

DIVISION IV

BUSINESS CONTINUED BY A NEW PARTNERSHIP

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

633. Where a Canadian partnership is dissolved at a particular time after 1971 and, at or before that time, all of its property has been transferred to another Canadian partnership all the members of which were members of the dissolved partnership, such new partnership is deemed to be a continuation of the dissolved partnership and any member's interest in the new partnership is deemed to be a continuation of his interest in the dissolved partnership.

1972, c. 23, s. 478; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

DIVISION V

DISPOSITION OF FARMING LAND

1972, c. 23.

634. Any taxpayer who was a member of a partnership at the end of a taxation year of the partnership in which it disposed of land used in a farming business may deduct, in computing his income for his taxation year in which the taxation year of the partnership ended, subject to section 635.1, 1/2 of the aggregate of amounts each of which is an amount equal to the taxpayer's loss from the farming business for such taxation year or any preceding taxation year ending after 31 December 1971.

1972, c. 23, s. 479; 1990, c. 59, s. 215; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 144.

635. The taxpayer shall not make the deduction provided for in section 634 except to the extent that such loss:

(a) is not deductible in computing his income for the year under sections 205 to 207;

(b) was not deducted in computing his taxable income for his taxation year in which the partnership's taxation year in which the land was disposed of ended or for any previous taxation year;

(c) does not exceed his share of the aggregate of the following amounts, to the extent that those amounts are included in computing the loss of the partnership from the farming business for its taxation year ending in the year:

(1) taxes, other than income or profits taxes or taxes imposed by reference to the transfer of the property, paid by the partnership in its taxation year ending in the year or payable by it in respect of that taxation year to a province or a Canadian municipality in respect of the property, and

(2) interest paid by the partnership in its taxation year ending in the year or payable by it in respect of that taxation year, pursuant to a legal obligation to pay interest on borrowed money used to acquire the property or on any amount as consideration payable for the property; and

(d) does not exceed the amount obtained by subtracting from, subject to section 635.1, twice the taxpayer's taxable capital gain from the disposition of the land contemplated in section 634 the aggregate of his losses from the farming business for taxation years preceding the year which must be included in computing the amount deductible under this division in respect of the taxpayer.

1972, c. 23, s. 480; 1985, c. 25, s. 105; 1990, c. 59, s. 216; 1995, c. 49, s. 150; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 145.

635.1. Where the taxation year of the taxpayer includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the following rules apply:

(a) the reference to the fraction "1/2" in section 634 shall be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the taxpayer for the year; and

(b) the reference to the word "twice" in paragraph d of section 635 shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the taxpayer for the year.

2003, c. 2, s. 146.

CHAPTER V

DISPOSITION OF AN INTEREST IN A PARTNERSHIP

1972, c. 23; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

636. The rules provided for in paragraphs a to c of section 645 apply where, by virtue of the death of an individual, a taxpayer acquires a property that was an interest in a partnership immediately before the individual's death, other than an interest to which section 639 to 644 applied, and the taxpayer is not a member of the partnership and does not become a member of such partnership by reason of such acquisition.

637. If, as part of a transaction or event or series of transactions or events, a taxpayer disposes of an interest in a particular partnership and an interest in the partnership is acquired by a person or partnership described in any of paragraphs a to d of section 637.1, the taxpayer's taxable capital gain from the disposition of the interest is deemed, despite section 231, to be equal to the total of

(a) subject to the second paragraph, 1/2 of the portion of the taxpayer's capital gain for the year from the disposition that can reasonably be attributed to the increase in the value of a property of the particular partnership that is capital property (other than depreciable property) held directly or indirectly by the particular partnership through one or more other partnerships; and

(b) the whole of the remaining portion of such capital gain.

However, where the taxation year of the taxpayer includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the reference to the fraction "1/2" in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, as it read in respect of that taxation year, is to be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the taxpayer for the year.

1972, c. 23, s. 481; 1984, c. 15, s. 134; 1990, c. 59, s. 217; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 147; 2015, c. 21, s. 210; 2020, c. 16, s. 95.

637.1. Subject to section 637.2, section 637 applies in respect of a disposition of a partnership interest by a taxpayer if the interest is acquired by

(a) a person exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1;

(b) a person not resident in Canada;

(c) another partnership to the extent that the interest can reasonably be considered to be held, at the time of its acquisition by the other partnership, indirectly through one or more partnerships, by a person that is

i. a person exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1,

ii. a person not resident in Canada, or

iii. a trust resident in Canada (other than a mutual fund trust) if

(1) an interest as a beneficiary under the trust is held, directly or indirectly through one or more other partnerships, by a person exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1 or by a trust (other than a mutual fund trust), and

(2) the fair market value of all the interests as beneficiaries under the trust held by persons referred to in subparagraph 1 exceeds 10% of the fair market value of all the interests as beneficiaries under the trust; or

(d) a trust resident in Canada (other than a mutual fund trust) to the extent that the trust can reasonably be considered to have a beneficiary that is

i. a person exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1,

ii. a partnership, if

(1) an interest in the partnership is held, whether directly or indirectly through one or more other partnerships, by one or more persons exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1 or by one or more trusts (other than mutual fund trusts), and

(2) the fair market value of all the interests in the partnership held by persons referred to in subparagraph 1 exceeds 10% of the fair market value of all the interests in the partnership, or

iii. another trust (other than a mutual fund trust), if

(1) at least one beneficiary under the other trust is a person exempt from tax under sections 980 to 999.1, a partnership or a trust (other than a mutual fund trust), and

(2) the fair market value of all the interests as beneficiaries under the other trust held by the persons referred to in subparagraph 1 exceeds 10% of the fair market value of all the interests as beneficiaries under the other trust.

637.2. Section 637 does not apply in respect of a taxpayer's disposition of a partnership interest to a partnership or trust described in paragraph c or d of section 637.1 if the extent to which section 637 would, but for this section, apply to the taxpayer's disposition of the interest because of that paragraph c or d does not exceed 10% of the taxpayer's interest.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a disposition to a trust under which the amount of the income or capital to be distributed at any time in respect of any interest as a beneficiary under the trust depends on the exercise by any person or partnership of, or the failure by any person or partnership to exercise, a power to appoint.

2015, c. 21, s. 211.

637.3. Section 637 does not apply in respect of a taxpayer's disposition of a partnership interest to a person not resident in Canada if

(a) property of the partnership is used, immediately before and immediately after the acquisition of the interest by that person, in carrying on a business in an establishment situated in Canada; and

(b) the fair market value of all the property referred to in paragraph a is not less than 90% of the fair market value of all property of the partnership.

2015, c. 21, s. 211.

637.4. The rules of the second paragraph apply in respect of a taxpayer's particular interest in a partnership if

(a) it may be reasonable to conclude that one of the purposes of a dilution, reduction or alteration of the particular interest was to avoid the application of section 637 in respect of the particular interest; and

(b) as part of a transaction or event or series of transactions or events that includes the dilution, reduction or alteration of the particular interest, there is

i. an acquisition of an interest in the partnership by a person or partnership described in any of paragraphs a to d of section 637.1, or

ii. an increase in, or alteration of, an interest in the partnership held by a person or partnership described in any of paragraphs a to d of section 637.1.

For the purposes of section 637,

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of an interest in the partnership at the time of the dilution, reduction or alteration;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have a capital gain from the disposition equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the particular interest immediately before the time of the dilution, reduction or alteration exceeds the fair market value of the particular interest immediately after that time; and

(c) the person or partnership referred to in subparagraph b of the first paragraph is deemed to have acquired an interest in the partnership as part of the transaction or event or series of transactions or events that includes the disposition referred to in subparagraph a.

2015, c. 21, s. 211.

638. A taxpayer shall include, in computing his gain from the disposition of an interest in a partnership, for a taxation year, in addition to the amount determined under section 234, the excess of the amounts to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base of his interest in the partnership, immediately before the disposition, under section 257, over the aggregate of the cost of his interest in the partnership, determined for the purposes of computing the adjusted cost base of that interest at that time, and the amounts required by section 255 to be added to that cost in such computation at that time.

638.0.1. Where, as a result of an amalgamation or merger, an interest in a partnership owned by a predecessor corporation has become property of the new corporation formed as a result of the amalgamation or merger and the predecessor corporation was not related to the new corporation, the predecessor corporation is deemed to have disposed of the interest in the partnership to the new corporation immediately before the amalgamation or merger for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base to the predecessor corporation of the interest in the partnership at the time of the disposition and the new corporation is deemed to have acquired the interest in the partnership from the predecessor corporation immediately after that time at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition.

638.1. Notwithstanding the second paragraph of section 231, the capital loss of a taxpayer from the disposition at any time of an interest in a partnership is deemed to be equal to the amount of the loss otherwise determined minus the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount by which the taxpayer's share of the partnership's loss, in respect of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is property of a particular partnership at that time, would be reduced under section 741.2 if the fiscal period of every partnership that includes that time had ended immediately before that time and the particular partnership had disposed of the share immediately before the end of that fiscal period for proceeds equal to its fair market value at that time.

638.2. A taxpayer who pays an amount at any time in a taxation year is deemed to have a capital loss from a disposition of property for the year if

(a) the taxpayer disposed of an interest in a partnership before that time or, because of section 636, acquired before that time a right to receive property of a partnership;

(b) that time is after the disposition or acquisition;

(c) the amount would have been described in subparagraph i of paragraph i of section 255 had the taxpayer been a member of the partnership at that time; and

(d) the amount is paid pursuant to a legal obligation of the taxpayer to pay the amount.

2009, c. 5, s. 196.

CHAPTER VI

RESIDUAL INTEREST IN A PARTNERSHIP

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

639. This chapter applies to a taxpayer who would otherwise have ceased at any time after 1971 to be a member of a partnership.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

640. Subject to sections 428 to 451, Title VI.5 of Book IV and Chapter I of Title I.1 of Book VI, and notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, the taxpayer referred to in section 639 is deemed not to have disposed of and to continue to have an interest in the partnership, in this chapter referred to as a "residual interest", until such time as all his rights to receive any property as consideration for his interest in the partnership immediately before the time that he ceased to be a member of the partnership are satisfied in full.

For the purposes of this section, a right to receive any property does not include a right to a share of the income or loss of a partnership under a agreement referred to in section 608.

641. Despite section 640, a taxpayer is deemed not to have disposed of the taxpayer's residual interest before the end of the partnership's fiscal period in which the taxpayer ceased to be a member of the partnership even if all of the taxpayer's rights described in that section have been satisfied in full before the end of that fiscal period.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2019, c. 14, s. 169.

642. Paragraph c of section 618 applies to the residual interest of a taxpayer at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1996, c. 39, s. 171; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

643. A taxpayer who holds a residual interest is deemed not to be a member of the partnership:

(a) except for the purposes of sections 714 and 752.0.10.11, if he holds such interest by virtue of section 641; or

(b) except for the purposes of sections 530 to 533, if he holds such interest otherwise than as provided in paragraph a.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1993, c. 64, s. 39; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

644. Where a partnership has been dissolved, or would have been dissolved but for section 618, at a time when a taxpayer had rights referred to in section 640 in respect of that partnership and the members of another partnership agree to satisfy all or part of those rights, such other partnership is, for the purposes of section 640, deemed to be a continuation of the original partnership.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

645. Where by virtue of the death of an individual a taxpayer acquires a property that is an interest in a partnership to which, immediately before the individual's death, sections 639 to 644 applied:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to acquire a right to receive partnership property and not to acquire an interest in the partnership;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to acquire the right referred to in paragraph a at a cost equal to the amount deemed to be the proceeds of the disposition of the interest in the partnership to the deceased individual under section 436 or subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 440; and

(c) section 254 does not apply to such right.

1975, c. 22, s. 178; 1994, c. 22, s. 218; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

TITLE XII

TRUSTS AND THEIR BENEFICIARIES

1972, c. 23.

CHAPTER I

GENERALITIES

1972, c. 23.

646. In this Part, unless the context indicates a different meaning and subject to the third paragraph, a trust, wherever it is created, or a succession, in this Title referred to as a "trust", also includes the trustee or other legal representative having ownership or control of the trust property.

Likewise, a beneficiary shall include every person having a beneficial interest in a trust.

However, except for the purposes of this section, subparagraph v of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 248, subparagraph g of the second paragraph of that section and section 646.1, an arrangement under which a trust can reasonably be considered to act as agent or mandatary for all of the beneficiaries under the trust in respect of all of the dealings with all of the trust's property, is deemed not to be a trust, unless the trust is described in any of paragraphs a to d of the third paragraph of section 647.

646.0.1. For the purposes of this Title, a succession that is a graduated rate estate, of an individual at a particular time, is the succession that arose on and as a consequence of the individual's death and that meets the following conditions:

(a) the particular time is no more than 36 months after the death;

(b) the succession is at the particular time a testamentary trust;

(c) the individual's Social Insurance Number (or if the individual had not, before the death, been assigned a Social Insurance Number, such other information as is acceptable to the Minister) is provided in the succession's fiscal return under this Part for its taxation year that includes the particular time and for each of its earlier taxation years that ended after 31 December 2015;

(d) the succession designates itself as the succession that is the graduated rate estate of the individual in its fiscal return under this Part for its first taxation year that ends after 31 December 2015; and

(e) no other succession designates itself as the succession that is the graduated rate estate of the individual in a fiscal return under this Part for a taxation year that ends after 31 December 2015.

Where a succession is not resident in Québec on the last day of its first taxation year that begins after 31 December 2015 and it is, at a particular time, a succession that is a graduated rate estate, within the meaning of section 248 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), the following rules apply:

(a) it is deemed to be a succession that is a graduated rate estate at that time for the purposes of this Part; and

(b) paragraph b of the definition of "taxation year" in section 1 is to be read as follows:

"(b) in the case of a succession that is a graduated rate estate, the particular period for which the succession's accounts are made up for purposes of assessment under the Income Tax Act; and".

2017, c. 1, s. 148; 2024, c. 11, s. 58.

646.1. Notwithstanding section 7.11.1 and for the purposes of subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 454.2, section 646, subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 and paragraph e of section 692.5, a person or partnership is deemed not to be a beneficiary under a trust at a particular time where the person or partnership is beneficially interested in the trust at that time solely because of

(a) a right that may arise as a consequence of the terms of the will of an individual who, at that time, is a beneficiary under the trust;

(b) a right that may arise as a consequence of the law governing the intestacy of an individual who, at that time, is a beneficiary under the trust;

(c) a right as a shareholder under the terms of the shares of the capital stock of a corporation that, at that time, is a beneficiary under the trust;

(d) a right as a member of a partnership under the terms of the partnership agreement, where, at that time, the partnership is a beneficiary under the trust; or

(e) any combination of rights described in paragraphs a to d.

2003, c. 2, s. 149; 2009, c. 5, s. 197.

647. A trust is, for the purposes of this Part and as regards its property, deemed to be an individual, without affecting the liability of the trustee or legal representative for their own income tax.

However, where there are several trusts most of the property of which has been received from one person and the income of which, according to the terms governing such trusts, will ultimately accrue to the same beneficiary or same group or class of beneficiaries, the trustees whom the Minister designates are deemed to be one individual.

For the purposes of sections 653 to 656.2, 659 and 660 and paragraph b of section 657 at any time, a trust does not include a unit trust or a particular trust described in the fourth paragraph and, for the purposes of sections 653 to 656.2, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663.1, 663.2, 665, 665.1, 684 to 688.2, 690.0.1 and 691 to 692.0.1 and paragraph b of section 657, a trust does not include any of the following trusts:

(a) an amateur athlete trust, an employee trust, an employee life and health trust, a trust described in paragraph c.4 of section 998 or a trust governed by a foreign retirement arrangement, a registered pension plan, a pooled registered pension plan, a profit sharing plan, a registered supplementary unemployment benefit plan, a registered retirement savings plan, a deferred profit sharing plan, a registered education savings plan, a registered disability savings plan, an employee benefit plan, a registered retirement income fund, a tax-free savings account or a first home savings account;

(a.1) a trust, other than a trust described in subparagraph a or d, a trust to which section 53 or 58 applies or a trust prescribed for the purposes of section 688, all or substantially all of the property of which is held for the purpose of providing benefits to individuals each of whom is provided with benefits in respect of, or because of, an office or employment or former office or employment of any individual;

(b) a segregated fund trust referred to in section 851.2, a trust referred to in section 851.25 or an RCA trust within the meaning of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 890.1;

(c) a trust each of the beneficiaries under which was at all times after it was created a trust referred to in subparagraph a or b, other than a trust referred to in section 851.25, or a person who is a beneficiary of the trust only because of being a beneficiary under a trust referred to in either of those subparagraphs, other than a trust referred to in section 851.25;

(d) a cemetery care trust or a trust governed by an eligible funeral arrangement.

The particular trust referred to in the third paragraph is a trust all interests in which have vested indefeasibly at the time referred to in that paragraph, and that is not

(a) an alter ego trust, a joint spousal trust, a post-1971 spousal trust or a trust to which subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 applies;

(b) (subparagraph repealed);

(c) a trust that, in its fiscal return under this Part for its first taxation year ending after 31 December 1992, has elected that this paragraph not apply;

(d) a trust that is at that time resident in Canada where the total fair market value at that time of all interests in the trust held at that time by beneficiaries under the trust who at that time are not resident in Canada exceeds 20% of the total fair market value at that time of all interests in the trust held at that time by beneficiaries under the trust;

(e) a trust under the terms of which, at that time, all or part of a person's interest in the trust is to be terminated with reference to a period of time, including a period of time determined with reference to the person's death, otherwise than as a consequence of terms of the trust under which an interest in the trust is to be terminated as a consequence of a distribution to the person, or the person's succession, of trust property if the fair market value of the property to be distributed is required to be proportional to the fair market value of that interest immediately before the distribution; or

(f) a trust that, before that time and after 17 December 1999, has made a distribution to a beneficiary in respect of the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust, if the distribution can reasonably be considered to have been financed by a liability of the trust and one of the reasons for incurring the liability was to avoid taxes otherwise payable under this Part as a consequence of the death of an individual.

648. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 485; 1975, c. 22, s. 180; 1986, c. 15, s. 92; 1989, c. 5, s. 76.

649. For the purposes of this Part, a trust is a unit trust if, at a particular time, it is an inter vivos trust in which the interest of each beneficiary is described by reference to units of the trust, and

(a) the issued units of the trust representing a value of not less than 95% of the fair market value of all the issued units, determined without regard to any voting rights which may be attached to such units, are

i. units which provide that the trust must accept, at the demand of the holder of such units and at prices determined and payable in accordance with the conditions attached to such units, the surrender, in whole or in part, of the fully paid units, and

ii. units qualified in accordance with prescribed conditions relating to their redemption by the trust;

(b) it meets the following conditions:

i. throughout the taxation year in which the particular time occurs, in this paragraph referred to as the "current year", the trust was resident in Canada,

ii. throughout the period or periods, in this paragraph referred to as the "relevant periods", that are in the current year and throughout which the conditions under paragraph a are not satisfied in respect of the trust, its only undertaking is

(1) the investing of its funds in property, other than immovable property or a right in immovable property,

(2) the acquiring, holding, maintaining, improving, leasing or managing of any immovable property, or a right in immovable property, that is capital property of the trust, or

(3) any combination of the activities described in subparagraphs 1 and 2,

iii. throughout the relevant periods at least 80% of its property consists of any combination of

(1) shares,

(2) any property that, under the terms or conditions of which or under an agreement, is convertible into, is exchangeable for or confers a right to acquire, shares,

(3) cash,

(4) bonds, hypothecary claims, mortgages, debentures, notes and other similar obligations,

(5) marketable securities,

(6) immovable property situated in Canada and rights in such property, and

(7) rights in or to any rental or royalty computed by reference to the volume or value of production from a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas in Canada, from an oil or gas well in Canada or from a mineral resource in Canada,

iv. one of the following conditions is met:

(1) not less than 95% of its income for the current year, determined without reference to sections 262 and 295.1 and paragraph a of section 657, is derived from, or from the disposition of, investments described in subparagraph iii, or

(2) not less than 95% of its income for each of the relevant periods, determined without reference to sections 262 and 295.1 and paragraph a of section 657 and as though each of those periods were a taxation year, is derived from, or from the disposition of, investments described in subparagraph iii,

v. throughout the relevant periods, not more than 10% of its property consists of bonds, securities or shares of capital stock of any one corporation or debtor other than the Government of Québec, the Government of Canada, the government of another province or a Canadian municipality, and

v.1. where the trust would not be a unit trust at the particular time if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph and subparagraph iii were read without reference to subparagraph 6, the units of the trust are listed at any time in the current year or in the following taxation year on a designated stock exchange located in Canada; or

vi. (subparagraph repealed);

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(d) the following conditions are met:

i. the fair market value of the property of the trust at the end of the year 1993 was primarily attributable to immovable property, or a right in immovable property,

ii. the trust was a unit trust throughout any calendar year before the year 1994, and

iii. the fair market value of the property of the trust at the particular time is primarily attributable to property described in paragraph a or b of the definition of "qualified investment" in section 204 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), immovable property, or a right in immovable property, or any combination of those properties.

649.1. "Personal trust" means a trust (other than a trust that is, or was at any time after 31 December 1999, a unit trust) that is

(a) a succession that is a graduated rate estate; or

(b) a trust in which no beneficial interest was acquired for consideration payable directly or indirectly to the trust or to any person or partnership that has made a contribution to the trust by way of transfer, assignment or other disposition of property.

651. For the purposes of the second paragraph of sections 440 to 441.2, paragraph c of section 454.1, the definition of "pre-1972 spousal trust" in section 652.1 and subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653, where a trust has been created by a taxpayer, no person is deemed to have received or otherwise obtained or to be entitled to receive or otherwise obtain enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust solely because

(a) the trust made a payment, or a provision for payment, of any duty by reason of the taxpayer's death or the death of the taxpayer's spouse who is a beneficiary under the trust, in respect of any property of, or interest in, the trust or any tax in respect of any income of the trust; or

(b) a particular individual inhabits, at a particular time, a housing unit that is, or is in respect of, property that is owned at the particular time by the trust, if

i. the property is described in the definition of "principal residence" in section 274.0.1 for the trust's taxation year that includes the particular time, and

ii. the particular individual is the taxpayer who created the trust or is the taxpayer's spouse, former spouse or child.

1973, c. 17, s. 73; 1990, c. 59, s. 220; 1994, c. 22, s. 222; 2003, c. 2, s. 153; 2004, c. 21, s. 86; 2021, c. 14, s. 53.

651.1. Except as otherwise provided in this Part and without restricting the application of sections 316.1, 456 to 458, 462.1 to 462.24, 467, 467.1, Division III of Chapter II.1 of Title I of Book V and section 1034.0.0.2, an amount included under any of sections 659 and 661 to 663 in computing the income for a taxation year of a beneficiary of a trust is deemed to be income of the beneficiary for the year from a property that is an interest in the trust and not from any other source, and an amount deductible in computing the amount that would, but for paragraphs a and b of section 657 and section 657.1, be the income of a trust for a taxation year is not to be deducted by a beneficiary of the trust in computing the beneficiary's income for a taxation year.

651.2. Where at a particular time the terms that govern a trust are varied, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to the second paragraph, for the purposes of sections 653 to 656.2, the trust is, at and after that time, deemed to be the same trust as, and a continuation of, the trust immediately before that time;

(b) for the purposes of the definition of "personal trust" in section 1, paragraph n of section 257, section 686 and the definition of "excluded right or interest" in section 785.0.1, no interest of a beneficiary under the trust before its terms were varied is considered to be consideration for the interest of the beneficiary in that trust whose terms were varied.

Subparagraph a of the first paragraph does not affect the application of subparagraph a.1 of the first paragraph of section 653.

2003, c. 2, s. 154; 2004, c. 8, s. 131.

651.3. For the purposes of the definition of "personal trust" in section 1, paragraph n of section 257, section 686 and the definition of "excluded right or interest" in section 785.0.1, the following rules apply:

(a) an interest in a trust is not deemed to be acquired for consideration solely because it was acquired in satisfaction of any right as a beneficiary under the trust to enforce payment of an amount by the trust; and

(b) where all the beneficial interests in a trust acquired by way of the transfer, assignment or other disposition of property to that trust were acquired by any of the persons described in the second paragraph, any beneficial interest in that trust acquired by such a person is deemed to be acquired for no consideration.

The person to which subparagraph b of the first paragraph refers is

(a) one person; or

(b) two or more persons who would be related to each other if

i. a trust and another person were related to each other, where the other person is a beneficiary under the trust or is related to a beneficiary under the trust, and

ii. a trust and another trust were related to each other, where a beneficiary under the trust is a beneficiary under the other trust or is related to a beneficiary under the other trust.

2003, c. 2, s. 154; 2004, c. 8, s. 132; 2017, c. 1, s. 150.

652. For the purposes of subparagraph i.1 of paragraph n of section 257, sections 597.0.2 and 597.0.5, paragraph a of section 657 and sections 657.1.2, 663, 663.4 and 667, an amount is deemed not to have become payable to a beneficiary in a taxation year unless it was paid in the year to the beneficiary or the beneficiary was entitled to enforce payment of it in that year.

CHAPTER II

DEEMED DISPOSITION AND PAYMENT

1972, c. 23; 1994, c. 22, s. 223.

652.1. In this Title,

"alter ego trust" means a trust to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 would apply if that subparagraph were read without reference to subparagraph i and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii;

"excluded property" has the meaning assigned by the second paragraph of section 691.1;

"exempt property" of a taxpayer at any time means property any income or gain from the disposition of which by the taxpayer at that time would not cause an increase in the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part because the taxpayer is not resident in Canada or because of a provision contained in a tax agreement;

"joint spousal trust" means a trust to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 would apply if that subparagraph were read without reference to subparagraph i and subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii;

"post-1971 spousal trust" means a trust that would be described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 if that subparagraph were read without reference to subparagraph ii;

"pre-1972 spousal trust" at a particular time means a trust that was created by the will of an individual who died before 1 January 1972, or created before 18 June 1971 by an individual during the individual's lifetime, that, throughout the period beginning at the time it was created and ending at the earliest of 1 January 1993, the day on which the individual's spouse died and the particular time, was a trust under which the individual's spouse was entitled to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the spouse's death, but does not include a trust under which a person other than the individual's spouse received or otherwise obtained enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust before the end of that period.

1994, c. 22, s. 224; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 141; 2003, c. 2, s. 155; 2021, c. 14, s. 54.

652.2. (Repealed).

1994, c. 22, s. 224; 1997, c. 14, s. 95; 2003, c. 2, s. 156.

653. A trust is, at the end of each of the following days, deemed to dispose of each property of the trust (other than exempt property) that is capital property or land included in the inventory of a business of the trust and to reacquire the property immediately after that day:

(a) the day on which

i. the spouse of the individual who created the trust died if the terms of the deed creating it entitled the spouse to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the spouse's death and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust, or

ii. the individual died or, if it is later, the day on which the individual's spouse died, if the trust is a trust described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the second paragraph and the terms of the deed creating it

(1) entitled the individual to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the individual's death and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust, or

(2) entitled the individual and the individual's spouse to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before their deaths and to receive or otherwise obtain, to the exclusion of any other person, enjoyment of the income or capital of the trust;

(a.1) where the trust is a pre-1972 spousal trust on 1 January 1993 and the spouse referred to in the definition of "pre-1972 spousal trust" in section 652.1 in respect of the trust was, in the case of a trust created by the will of an individual, alive on 1 January 1976, and, in the case of a trust created by an individual during the individual's lifetime, alive on 26 May 1976, the day that is the later of 1 January 1993 and the day on which that spouse dies;

(a.2) where the trust distributes an amount in respect of a beneficiary as the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust, it can reasonably be considered that the distribution was financed by a liability of the trust and one of the reasons for incurring the liability was to avoid taxes otherwise payable under this Part as a consequence of the death of an individual, the day on which the distribution is made, determined as if a day ends for the trust immediately after the time at which each distribution is made by the trust to a beneficiary in respect of the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust;

(a.3) where property, other than property described in the fourth paragraph, has been transferred by an individual after 17 December 1999 to the trust in circumstances in which section 454 applied, it can reasonably be considered that the property was so transferred in anticipation that the individual would subsequently cease to be resident in Canada and the individual subsequently ceases to be resident in Canada, the first day after that transfer during which the individual ceases to be resident in Canada, determined as if a day ends for the trust immediately after each time at which the individual ceases to be resident in Canada;

(a.4) where the trust is a trust to which property was transferred by a taxpayer who is an individual, other than a trust, in circumstances in which sections 454 to 462.0.2 or section 692.8 applied, the transfer did not result in a change in beneficial ownership of that property and no person, other than the taxpayer, or partnership has any absolute or contingent right as a beneficiary under the trust, determined with reference to section 646.1, the day on which the taxpayer dies;

(b) the day of the twenty-first anniversary of the latest of 1 January 1972, the day on which the trust was created and, where applicable, the day determined under any of subparagraphs a, a.1 and a.4 as those subparagraphs applied from time to time after 31 December 1971;

(c) the day of the twenty-first anniversary of the day, other than a day determined under any of subparagraphs a to a.4, of any deemed disposition of such property under this section.

Subparagraph a of the first paragraph applies only where the trust contemplated therein is

(a) a trust that was created by the will of an individual who died after 31 December 1971 and that, at the time it was created, was a trust described in that subparagraph a;

(b) a trust that was created by the will of an individual who died after 31 December 1971 to which property was transferred in circumstances to which section 435 or subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 440 applied and that, immediately after the property was indefeasibly vested in the trust as a consequence of the individual's death, was a trust described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph;

(c) a trust that was created after 17 June 1971 by an individual during his lifetime and that, at any time after 31 December 1971, was a trust described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph; or

(d) a trust, other than a trust the terms of which are described in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph that elects in its fiscal return filed under this Part for its first taxation year that this subparagraph not apply, that was created after 31 December 1999 by an individual during the individual's lifetime and that, at any time after that date, was

i. a trust described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, or

ii. a trust that was created by a taxpayer who had attained 65 years of age.

However, subparagraph a of the first paragraph does not apply in respect of a trust described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph where the spouse who was the beneficiary of that trust died before 21 December 1991.

The property to which subparagraph a.3 of the first paragraph refers is

(a) an immovable situated in Canada;

(b) a Canadian resource property;

(c) a timber resource property;

(d) a capital property used in a business carried on through an establishment in Canada;

(e) a property included in Class 14.1 of Schedule B to the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1) in respect of a business carried on through an establishment in Canada;

(f) a property described in the inventory of a business carried on through an establishment in Canada; or

(g) a prescribed property.

1972, c. 23, s. 489; 1977, c. 26, s. 68; 1984, c. 15, s. 138; 1986, c. 19, s. 134; 1994, c. 22, s. 225; 1997, c. 31, s. 61; 2003, c. 2, s. 157; 2004, c. 21, s. 87; 2005, c. 1, s. 128; 2009, c. 5, s. 200; 2019, c. 14, s. 170; 2021, c. 14, s. 55.

654. The trust is deemed to have disposed of each property contemplated in section 653, at the time determined under that section, for proceeds equal to its fair market value at that time, determined with reference to section 450.2, and to have reacquired the property immediately thereafter at a cost or a capital cost, as the case may be, equal to the proceeds of disposition.

1972, c. 23, s. 490; 1984, c. 15, s. 139; 1994, c. 22, s. 225; 2003, c. 2, s. 158.

1972, c. 23, s. 491; 1977, c. 26, s. 69; 1994, c. 22, s. 226.

656. Notwithstanding section 654, where the capital cost to the trust of depreciable property of a prescribed class immediately before the deemed disposition thereof under section 653 exceeds the cost thereof to the trust as determined under section 654, for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 to 130.1 and of the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 as those sections and regulations apply to such property after that time,

(a) the capital cost to the trust of the property on its deemed reacquisition under section 653 is deemed to be the same as before the deemed disposition thereof under that section; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the trust as depreciation in respect of the property in computing the trust's income for the taxation years that ended before the deemed reacquisition under section 653 of the property by the trust.

1972, c. 23, s. 492; 1979, c. 18, s. 54; 1994, c. 22, s. 227; 1995, c. 49, s. 152.

656.1. For the purposes of sections 653 to 656,

(a) the words "at the end of a taxation year" and "of a prescribed class of a taxpayer" in section 94 shall be read respectively "at the particular time a trust is deemed, under section 653, to have disposed of its depreciable property of a prescribed class" and "of that class", and

(b) for the purpose of computing the excess referred in section 94, at the end of the taxation year of the trust that included the day on which the trust is deemed, under section 653, to have disposed of its depreciable property of a prescribed class, any amount that was included on that day in computing the trust's income for the year under the said section 94, as it must be read pursuant to paragraph a, is deemed to be an amount included in computing the trust's income under sections 93 to 104 for a preceding taxation year.

656.2. Where a trust owns a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property, other than an exempt property, at the end of a day determined under section 653 in respect of the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of determining the amounts under paragraphs a, e and e.1 of section 330 and sections 371, 374, 411, 412, 418.1.3 to 418.1.5, 418.5, 418.6 and 418.12, the trust is deemed

i. to have a taxation year that ends at the end of that day and a new taxation year that begins immediately after that day, and

ii. to have disposed, immediately before the end of the taxation year so deemed to end, of each of those Canadian resource properties and foreign resource properties for proceeds that became receivable at that time equal to its fair market value at that time and to have reacquired, at the beginning of the new taxation year, each such property for an amount equal to that fair market value; and

(b) for the particular taxation year of the trust that included that day, the trust shall

i. include in computing its income for the particular taxation year the amount, if any, determined under paragraph e of section 330 in respect of the taxation year deemed to end in accordance with subparagraph i of paragraph a and the amount so included is, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 411, deemed to have been included in computing its income for a preceding taxation year, i.1. include in computing its income for the particular taxation year any amount determined under paragraph e.1 of section 330 in respect of the taxation year deemed to end in accordance with subparagraph i of paragraph a and the amount so included is, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 418.1.3, deemed to have been included in computing its income for a preceding taxation year, and

ii. deduct in computing its income for the particular taxation year the amount, if any, determined under sections 371 and 374 in respect of the taxation year deemed to end in accordance with subparagraph i of paragraph a and the amount so deducted is, for the purposes of paragraph a of section 371, deemed to have been deducted for a preceding taxation year.

1986, c. 19, s. 135; 2004, c. 8, s. 133.

656.3. Every trust that holds an interest in a NISA Fund No. 2 that was transferred to it in circumstances to which the second paragraph of section 441.1 applied is deemed, at the end of the day on which the spouse referred to in that paragraph dies, to have been paid an amount out of the fund equal to the balance at the end of that day in the fund so transferred.

656.3.1. Every trust that holds an interest in a farm income stabilization account that was transferred to it in circumstances to which the second paragraph of section 441.2 applied is deemed, at the end of the day on which the spouse referred to in that paragraph dies, to have been paid an amount out of the account equal to the balance at the end of that day in the account so transferred.

656.9. Where capital property, land included in inventory, Canadian resource property or foreign resource property is transferred at a particular time by a trust (in this section referred to as the "transferor trust") to another trust (in this section referred to as the "transferee trust") in circumstances in which subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 248 or section 688 or 692.8 applies, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to paragraphs b to b.3, for the purposes of sections 653 to 656.3.1 after the particular time,

i. the first day, in this section referred to as the "disposition day", that ends at or after the particular time that would, but for subparagraphs a.2 and a.3 of the first paragraph of section 653, be determined in respect of the transferee trust is deemed to be the earliest of

(1) the first day ending at or after the particular time that would be determined in respect of the transferor trust under section 653 without regard to the transfer and any transaction or event occurring after the particular time,

(2) the first day ending at or after the particular time that would otherwise be determined in respect of the transferee trust under section 653 without regard to any transaction or event occurring after the particular time,

(3) where the transferor trust is a joint spousal trust, a post-1971 spousal trust or a pre-1972 spousal trust and the spouse referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 or in the definition of "pre-1972 spousal trust" in section 652.1, is alive at the particular time, the first day that ends at or after the particular time,

(3.1) where the transferor trust is an alter ego trust, a trust to which subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 applies or a joint spousal trust, and the taxpayer referred to in subparagraph a or a.4 of that first paragraph, as the case may be, is alive at the particular time, the first day that ends at or after the particular time, and

(4) where the disposition day would, but for the application of this section to the transfer, be determined in respect of the transferee trust under paragraph a of section 656.4, and the particular time is after the day that would, but for section 656.4, be determined in respect of the transferee trust under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 653, the first day ending at or after the particular time, and

ii. where the disposition day determined in respect of the transferee trust under subparagraph i is earlier than the day referred to in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i in respect of the transferee trust, sections 653 to 656.3.1 do not apply to the transferee trust on the day referred to in the said subparagraph 2 in respect of the transferee trust;

(b) where the transferor trust is a trust, in this paragraph referred to as an "eligible trust", that is a post-1971 spousal trust or a pre-1972 spousal trust, and the spouse referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph and the second paragraph of section 653 or in the definition of "pre-1972 spousal trust" in section 652.1 is alive at the particular time, paragraph a does not apply in respect of the transfer where the transferee trust is also an eligible trust;

(b.1*)* paragraph a does not apply in respect of the transfer where

i. the transferor trust is an alter ego trust,

ii. the taxpayer referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 is alive at the particular time, and

iii. the transferee trust is an alter ego trust;

(b.2*)* paragraph a does not apply in respect of the transfer where

i. the transferor trust is a joint spousal trust,

ii. either the taxpayer referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653, or the taxpayer's spouse referred to in that subparagraph, is alive at the particular time, and

iii. the transferee trust is a joint spousal trust;

(b.3*)* paragraph a does not apply in respect of the transfer where

i. the transferor trust is a trust to which subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 applies,

ii. the taxpayer referred to in subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 is alive at the particular time, and

iii. the transferee trust is a trust to which subparagraph a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 applies; and

(c) for the purposes of section 656.4, unless a day ending before the particular time has been determined under subparagraph a.1 or b of the first paragraph of section 653, or would, but for section 656.4, have been so determined, a day determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a is deemed to be a day determined under the said subparagraph a.1 or b, as the case may be, in respect of the transferee trust.

1994, c. 22, s. 228; 2003, c. 2, s. 160; 2004, c. 21, s. 90; 2021, c. 14, s. 56.

CHAPTER III

DEDUCTIONS

1972, c. 23.

657. Subject to sections 657.1.1 to 657.2, a trust may deduct, in computing its income for a taxation year, the following amounts:

(a) an amount that the trust claims as a deduction not exceeding the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph i exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph ii or iv, as the case may be:

i. the part of the amount that would be its income for the year, but for this paragraph and paragraph b, that became payable in the year to a beneficiary or was included because of section 662 in computing the income of a beneficiary,

ii. if the trust is a trust for which a day is to be determined in accordance with subparagraph a or a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 by reference to a particular death or later death, as the case may be, that has not occurred before the beginning of the year, the aggregate of

(1) the part of the amount that would be its income for the year, but for this paragraph and paragraph b, that became payable in the year to, or that was included under section 662 in computing the income of, a beneficiary (other than a beneficiary whose death is the particular death or later death), and

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that is included, because of the application of any of sections 92.5.2 and 653 to 656.3, in computing the amount that, but for this paragraph and paragraph b, would be the trust's income for the year—if the year is the year in which the particular death or later death, as the case may be, occurs and section 663.0.1 does not apply in respect of the trust for the year—and that is not included in computing the amount determined in accordance with subparagraph 1 for the year, and

ii.1. (subparagraph repealed),

iii. (subparagraph repealed),

iv. if the trust is a SIFT trust for the year, the amount by which the particular amount determined under subparagraph i in relation to the trust for the year exceeds the amount by which the particular amount exceeds its non-portfolio earnings for the year, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 1129.70; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts determined in relation to the trust for the year under section 659;

(c) (paragraph repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 493; 1973, c. 17, s. 74; 1975, c. 22, s. 183; 1977, c. 26, s. 70; 1984, c. 15, s. 140; 1986, c. 15, s. 93; 1990, c. 59, s. 221; 1994, c. 22, s. 229; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 64; 2003, c. 2, s. 161; 2004, c. 21, s. 91; 2006, c. 13, s. 42; 2009, c. 5, s. 202; 2015, c. 21, s. 216; 2015, c. 36, s. 36; 2017, c. 1, s. 152; 2017, c. 29, s. 84.

657.1. Notwithstanding paragraph a of section 657,

(a) where that section applies to an employee trust, the amount that may be deducted by the trust under that paragraph a is equal to the amount by which the amount that would, but for this section and that paragraph a, be its income for the year exceeds the amount by which the aggregate of its income for the year from a business exceeds the aggregate of its losses for the year from a business;

(b) where that section applies to a trust governed by an employee benefit plan or a trust the taxable income of which for the year is subject to tax under this Part because of section 921.1 or 961.16.1, the amount that may be deducted by such a trust under that paragraph a is equal to the part of the amount that, but for this section and that paragraph a, would be the income of the trust for the year, to the extent that that part is paid in the year to a beneficiary;

(c) where that section applies to a trust deemed by section 851.25 to exist in respect of a congregation that is a part of a religious organization, the amount that may be deducted by such a trust under that paragraph a is equal to such part of its income as became payable in the year to a beneficiary; and

(d) where that section applies to an employee life and health trust, the amount that may be deducted by such a trust under that paragraph a is equal to the amount that became payable by the trust in the year as a designated employee benefit (as defined in section 869.1).

657.1.0.1. If a trust, in its fiscal return for a taxation year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary under the trust, in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of that Act, the amount that the trust may deduct under paragraph a of section 657 in computing its income for the year may in no case be greater than the total obtained by adding the amount determined under the second paragraph to

(a) if the trust deducts a particular amount for the year under subsection 6 of that section 104 in computing its income for the purposes of that Act, the amount by which that particular amount exceeds the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for those subsections 13.1 and 13.2, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for the year for the purposes of that Act because of subsection 13 of that section 104 or subsection 2 of section 105 of that Act, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for sections 663.1 and 663.2, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for the year because of section 662 or 663; and

(b) zero, if subparagraph a does not apply.

The amount to which the first paragraph refers is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for sections 663.1 and 663.2, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for the year because of section 662 or 663, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for subsections 13.1 and 13.2 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for the year for the purposes of that Act because of subsection 13 of that section 104 or subsection 2 of section 105 of that Act.

657.1.1. No deduction may be made under paragraph a of section 657 in computing the income for a taxation year of a trust in respect of such part of an amount that would otherwise be its income for the year as became payable in the year to a beneficiary who was, at any time in the year, a designated beneficiary of the trust as that expression applies for the purposes of section 210.3 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) unless, throughout the year, the trust was resident in Canada.

1994, c. 22, s. 230.

657.1.2. A trust that is deemed, because of section 595, to be resident in Canada for a taxation year for the purpose of computing the trust's income for the year may not deduct, under paragraph a of section 657, in computing its income for the year, an amount greater than the amount determined in respect of the trust for the year in accordance with subsection 7.01 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act(R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)).

2015, c. 36, s. 37.

657.1.3. No deduction may be made under paragraph a of section 657, for a taxation year, in computing the income of a succession that arose on and as a consequence of an individual's death in respect of a payment to the extent that the payment is a gift in respect of which an amount is deducted by the individual in computing the individual's tax payable for a taxation year under any of sections 752.0.10.6, 752.0.10.6.1 and 752.0.10.6.2.

2017, c. 29, s. 85.

657.2. Where it is reasonable to consider that one of the main purposes for the existence of any term, condition, right or other attribute of an interest in a trust, other than a personal trust, is to give a beneficiary a percentage interest in the property of the trust that is greater than his percentage interest in the income of the trust, no amount may be deducted by the trust in computing its income under paragraph a of section 657, except by reason of section 657.1.

657.3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, where a taxpayer acquires a right to or to acquire an interest in a trust, or a right to or to acquire a property of a trust, and it is reasonable to consider that one of the main purposes of the acquisition is to avoid the application of section 657.2 in respect of the trust, there shall be included in computing the income of the taxpayer for the taxation year in which he disposes of the right, otherwise than pursuant to the exercise thereof, the interest or the property, the amount by which the proceeds of disposition of the right, interest or property, as the case may be, exceeds its cost amount to the taxpayer.

1988, c. 18, s. 56.

657.4. A trust shall, in computing its income for a taxation year, deduct tax paid by it for the year under Part XII.2 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement).

1990, c. 59, s. 223.

CHAPTER IV

PREFERRED BENEFICIARY

1972, c. 23.

658. In this Title,

"accumulating income" of a trust for a taxation year means the amount that would be the income of the trust for the year if that amount were computed

(a) without reference to subparagraphs a and a.1 of the first paragraph of section 653, sections 656.2 to 656.3.1, paragraph b of section 657 and section 691;

(b) as if the trust were deducting, in computing its income for the year under paragraph a of section 657, the greatest amount it would, but for section 657.1.0.1, be entitled to deduct for the year under that paragraph;

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) without reference to section 92.5.2, except where that section applies to an amount paid to a trust described in the second paragraph of section 441.1 and before the death of the spouse referred to in that paragraph;

(f) without reference to section 92.5.3.1, except where that section applies to an amount paid to a trust described in the second paragraph of section 441.2 and before the death of the spouse referred to in that paragraph;

"preferred beneficiary" under a trust for a taxation year of the trust means a beneficiary under the trust at the end of the year who is resident in Canada at that time if

(a) the beneficiary is

i. an individual in respect of whom subparagraphs a to c of the first paragraph of section 752.0.14 apply for the individual's taxation year, in this definition referred to as the "beneficiary's year", that ends in the taxation year of the trust, or

ii. an individual

(1) who attained the age of 18 years before the end of the beneficiary's year, was a dependant of another individual for the beneficiary's year and was dependent on the other individual because of an impairment in mental or physical functions, and

(2) whose income, computed without reference to section 659, for the beneficiary's year does not exceed the amount used for that year under clause B of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of the definition of "preferred beneficiary" in subsection 1 of section 108 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement); and

(b) the beneficiary is

i. the settlor of the trust,

ii. the spouse or former spouse of the settlor of the trust, or

iii. a child, grandchild or great grandchild of the settlor of the trust or the spouse of any such person;

"settlor"

(a) in relation to a testamentary trust, means the individual referred to in section 677; and

(b) in relation to an inter vivos trust,

i. if the trust is created by the transfer, assignment or other disposition of property thereto by not more than one individual and the fair market value of that property and of the property subsequently disposed of to the trust by the same individual exceeds the fair market value, at the time of disposition, of property subsequently disposed of to the trust by any other person, means that individual, and

ii. if the trust is created by the transfer, assignment or any other disposition of property made jointly by an individual and his spouse and by no other person and the rule provided for in subparagraph i applies to that disposition, means that individual and his spouse.

In the first paragraph, a dependant of an individual for a taxation year means a person who, during the year, is described in paragraph f of section 752.0.1.

1972, c. 23, s. 496; 1984, c. 15, s. 142; 1985, c. 25, s. 106; 1990, c. 59, s. 224; 1994, c. 22, s. 231; 1997, c. 31, s. 65; 2000, c. 5, s. 143; 2003, c. 2, s. 163; 2004, c. 21, s. 92; 2005, c. 1, s. 129; 2005, c. 38, s. 81; 2006, c. 13, s. 44; 2006, c. 36, s. 44.

659. If a trust and a preferred beneficiary under the trust for a taxation year of the trust make, in respect of the year, a valid election for the purposes of subsection 14 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), the lesser of the amount determined for the purposes of that subsection in respect of the beneficiary in relation to the trust for the year, in this section referred to as the "designated amount", and the proportion of the amount attributable to the preferred beneficiary in respect of the trust for the year that the designated amount is of the aggregate of all amounts determined for the purposes of that subsection in respect of the preferred beneficiaries under the trust in relation to the trust for the year, is to be included in computing the income of the beneficiary for the beneficiary's taxation year in which the taxation year of the trust ends and is not to be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for a subsequent taxation year.

659.1. Where section 659 applies in respect of a taxation year, the trust and the preferred beneficiary having made, in respect of the year, a valid election under that section shall send to the Minister, on or before the trust's filing-due date for the year, a copy of every document sent to the Minister of Revenue of Canada in connection with that election.

Where, as a consequence of the operation of subsection 3.2 of section 220 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), the time for making a valid election referred to in section 659 is extended or such an election that was made is amended or rescinded, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust and the preferred beneficiary having made the election shall notify the Minister in writing and attach to the notice a copy of every document to that effect sent by the trust and the preferred beneficiary to the Minister of Revenue of Canada; and

(b) the trust incurs, jointly with the preferred beneficiary, a penalty equal to $100 for each complete month in the period beginning on the trust's filing-due date for the year and ending on the day on which the notice referred to in subparagraph a is sent to the Minister, up to $5,000.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties under this Part shall be made as are necessary by the Minister for any taxation year to take into account the election or the amended or rescinded election referred to in the second paragraph.

1999, c. 83, s. 56; 2000, c. 5, s. 293; 2009, c. 5, s. 203.

659.2. (Repealed).

2000, c. 5, s. 144; 2017, c. 1, s. 154.

660. For the purposes of section 659, the allocable amount for a preferred beneficiary under a trust in respect of the trust for a taxation year is

(a) where the trust is, at the end of the year, an alter ego trust, a joint spousal trust, a post-1971 spousal trust or a pre-1972 spousal trust and a beneficiary, referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653 or in the definition of "pre-1972 spousal trust" in section 652.1, is alive at the end of the year, an amount equal to the trust's accumulating income for the year, if the preferred beneficiary is a beneficiary so referred to, and, in any other case, nil;

(b) where paragraph a does not apply and the preferred beneficiary's interest in the trust is not solely contingent on the death of another beneficiary who has a capital interest in the trust and who does not have an income interest in the trust, the trust's accumulating income for the year; and

(c) in any other case, nil.

1972, c. 23, s. 498; 1973, c. 17, s. 76; 1975, c. 22, s. 185; 1977, c. 26, s. 71; 1978, c. 26, s. 111; 1994, c. 22, s. 232; 1995, c. 49, s. 236; 1997, c. 31, s. 66; 2003, c. 2, s. 164.

660.1. (Repealed).

1994, c. 22, s. 233; 2009, c. 5, s. 204; 2017, c. 1, s. 155.

660.2. (Repealed).

2004, c. 21, s. 93; 2017, c. 1, s. 155.

CHAPTER V

RULES RESPECTING THE COMPUTATION OF INCOME OF A BENEFICIARY

1972, c. 23.

661. A taxpayer shall include, in computing his income for a taxation year, the value of all benefits received by him in the year under a trust, irrespective of when it was created, except to the extent that the value of such benefits is otherwise required to be included in computing his income for a taxation year, or has been deducted under paragraph n of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base of his interest in the trust or would be so deducted if that paragraph applied in respect of such interest and were read without reference to subparagraph 3 of subparagraph i.1 of the said paragraph.

1972, c. 23, s. 499; 1990, c. 59, s. 225.

662. A reasonable amount, according to the circumstances, paid in a taxation year by a trust out of its own income for outlays, maintenance and taxes respecting a property which, under the trust arrangement, must be maintained for the use of a usufructuary for life or a beneficiary, must be included in computing the income of the latter from the trust for that year.

1972, c. 23, s. 500.

663. A beneficiary of a trust shall include, in computing his income for a particular taxation year,

(a) in the case of a trust, other than a trust referred to in subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 647, such part of the amount that, but for paragraphs a and b of section 657, would be the trust's income for the trust's taxation year that ended in the particular year as became payable in the trust's taxation year to the beneficiary; and

(b) in the case of a trust governed by an employee benefit plan to which the beneficiary has contributed as an employer, such part of the amount that, but for paragraphs a and b of section 657, would be the trust's income for its taxation year that ended in the particular year as was paid to the beneficiary in that taxation year of the trust;

(c) (paragraph repealed).

663.0.1. If an individual's death occurs on a day in a particular taxation year of a trust and the death is the death or later death referred to in any of subparagraphs a, a.1 and a.4 of the first paragraph of section 653 in respect of the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the particular taxation year is deemed to end at the end of that day and a new taxation year of the trust is deemed to begin immediately after that day;

(b) subject to the second paragraph, the trust's income (determined without reference to section 657) for the particular taxation year is, despite section 652, deemed to have become payable in the year to the individual and not to have become payable to another beneficiary or to be included under section 662 in computing the individual's income; and

(c) in respect of the particular taxation year

i. subparagraph ii of paragraph b of the definition of "balance-due day" in section 1 is to be read as if "the taxation year" were replaced by "the calendar year in which the taxation year ends",

ii. paragraph d of subsection 2 of section 1000 is to be read as if "its taxation year" were replaced by "the calendar year in which its taxation year ends", and

iii. the second paragraph of section 1086R57 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1) is to be read as if "end of the taxation year" were replaced by "end of the calendar year in which the taxation year ends".

Subparagraph b of the first paragraph does not apply in respect of the trust for the particular year, unless

(a) the individual is resident in Canada immediately before the death;

(b) the trust is, immediately before the death, a testamentary trust that is a post-1971 spousal trust created by the will of a taxpayer who died before 1 January 2017; and

(c) the trust and the legal representative administering the succession of the individual that is a graduated rate estate have made a valid election under subparagraph iii of paragraph b.1 of subsection 13.4 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) to have paragraph b of that subsection 13.4 apply in respect of the trust for the particular year.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subparagraph iii of paragraph b.1 of subsection 13.4 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act.

2017, c. 1, s. 156; 2017, c. 29, s. 86.

663.1. Subject to section 671.7, where a trust, in its fiscal return for a taxation year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in accordance with subsection 13.1 of section 104 of that Act, designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary under the trust, the lesser of the amount so designated and the amount determined under the second paragraph in respect of the beneficiary for the year, is deemed, for the purposes of sections 662 and 663, not to have been paid or to have become payable in the year to or for the benefit of the beneficiary or out of income of the trust.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph is, in respect of a beneficiary under a trust for a taxation year of the trust, determined by the following formula:

$$(A / B) \times (C - D - E).$$

For the purposes of the formula contemplated in the second paragraph,

(a) A is the beneficiary's share of the income of the trust for the year, computed without reference to this Act;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a beneficiary's share of the income of the trust for the year, computed without reference to this Act;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for this section and section 663.2, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust for the year by reason of section 662 or 663;

(d) D is the amount deducted under paragraph a of section 657 in computing the income of the trust for the year;

(e) E is the amount determined by the trust for the year and used as the value of C for the purposes of the formula contemplated in the second paragraph of section 663.2 or, if no amount is so determined, nil.

A trust that designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary, in accordance with the first paragraph, in respect of a taxation year shall notify the Minister in writing on or before its filing-due date for the year.

1990, c. 59, s. 227; 1999, c. 83, s. 57; 2004, c. 21, s. 94.

663.2. Subject to section 671.7, where a trust, in its fiscal return for a taxation year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in accordance with subsection 13.2 of section 104 of that Act, designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary under the trust, the lesser of the amount so designated and the amount determined under the second paragraph in respect of the beneficiary for the year, is deemed, for the purposes of sections 662 and 663, except where section 663 applies for the purposes of section 668, not to have been paid or to have become payable in the year to or for the benefit of the beneficiary or out of income of the trust, and, except for the purposes of section 668 as it applies for the purposes of sections 668.0.1 to 668.2, shall reduce the amount of the taxable capital gain of the beneficiary otherwise included in computing the beneficiary's income for the year by reason of section 668.

The amount referred to in the first paragraph is, in respect of a beneficiary under a trust for a taxation year of the trust, determined by the following formula:

$(A / B) \times C$.

In the formula in the second paragraph,

(a) A is the amount designated by the trust for the year in respect of the beneficiary under section 668;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which has been designated for the year under section 668 in respect of a beneficiary under the trust;

(c) C is the amount determined by the trust and used in computing each of the amounts determined for the year in respect of its beneficiaries under the second paragraph, not exceeding the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that, but for this section and section 663.1, would be included in computing the income of a beneficiary under the trust by reason of section 662 or 663 for the year exceeds the amount deducted under paragraph a of section 657 in computing the income of the trust for the year;

(d) where B is an amount equal to zero, the fraction of which it is the denominator is deemed to be equal to the fraction that would be established if A were the amount attributed by the trust for the year to the beneficiary under subsection 21 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act and if B were the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount attributed for the year to a beneficiary under the trust under that subsection 21.

A trust that designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary, in accordance with the first paragraph, in respect of a taxation year shall notify the Minister in writing on or before its filing-due date for the year.

663.2.1. Where a designation referred to in section 663.1 or 663.2 and made by a trust in its fiscal return filed for a taxation year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2, as the case may be, of section 104 of that Act, is invalid for the purposes of that Act under subsection 13.3 of section 104 of that Act, section 663.1 or 663.2, as the case may be, does not apply in respect of the designation for the year.

2017, c. 1, s. 157.

663.3. For the purposes of section 663, an amount referred to in subsection 31 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) regarding a beneficiary under a trust in respect of a taxation year of the trust is deemed to be income of the trust for the year that has become payable by the trust to the beneficiary at the end of that year.

1990, c. 59, s. 227.

663.4. If an amount (in this section referred to as the "SIFT trust's non-deductible distributions amount for the taxation year") is determined under subparagraph iv of paragraph a of section 657 for a taxation year, in relation to a SIFT trust, the following rules apply:

(a) each beneficiary under the SIFT trust to whom at any time in the year an amount became payable by the trust is deemed to have received at that time a taxable dividend that was paid at that time by a taxable Canadian corporation;

(b) the amount of a dividend that, in accordance with subparagraph a, is deemed to have been received by a particular beneficiary at any time in a taxation year is equal to the amount determined by the formula

A/B × C; and

(c) the amount of a dividend described in subparagraph a in relation to a beneficiary under the SIFT trust is deemed for the purposes of section 663 not to have become payable to the beneficiary.

In the formula in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount that became payable at the time determined under that subparagraph b by the SIFT trust to the particular beneficiary;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that became payable at any time in the taxation year by the SIFT trust to a beneficiary; and

(c) C is the SIFT trust's non-deductible distributions amount for the taxation year.

2009, c. 5, s. 205.

664. Notwithstanding section 652, any part of the amount that, but for paragraphs a and b of section 657, would be the income of a trust for a taxation year throughout which it was resident in Canada is, for the purposes of paragraph a of section 657 and section 663, deemed to have become payable to an individual in the year if

(a) that part of the amount has not become payable in the year;

(b) that part of the amount was held in trust for an individual who did not attain 21 years of age before the end of the year;

(c) the right to that part of the amount vested in the individual at or before the end of the year otherwise than because of the exercise by any person of, or the failure of any person to exercise, any discretionary power; and

(d) the right to that part of the amount is not subject to any future condition, other than a condition that the individual survive to an age not exceeding 40 years.

1972, c. 23, s. 502; 1990, c. 59, s. 228; 1997, c. 31, s. 67.

665. A taxpayer who has included in computing his income for a taxation year, under section 663 or 684, an amount in respect of his income interest in the trust may deduct, for the same year, except to the extent that an amount in respect thereof has been deducted in computing his taxable income pursuant to section 738 or 845, the lesser of such amount and the excess of the cost of his interest over the aggregate of the amounts deductible as such under this section in computing his income for previous taxation years.

665.1. The cost to a taxpayer of an income interest of the taxpayer in a trust is deemed to be nil unless any part of the interest was acquired by the taxpayer from a person who was the beneficiary in respect of the interest immediately before its acquisition by the taxpayer, or the cost of any part of the interest would be determined not to be nil under paragraph c of section 785.1 or subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 785.2.

666. A portion of a taxable dividend received by a trust, in a particular taxation year of the trust, on a share of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation, is deemed, for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 497, the third and fourth paragraphs of section 686 and sections 738 to 745, not to have been received by the trust and is deemed, for the purposes of this Part, to be a taxable dividend on the share received by a taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year in which the particular year ends if

(a) an amount equal to that portion is designated by the trust, in respect of the taxpayer, in the trust's fiscal return filed under this Part for the particular year and may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement, to be part of the amount that, because of any of sections 659, 661 and 662 or paragraph a of section 663, was included in computing the income for that taxation year of the taxpayer;

(b) the taxpayer is in the particular year a beneficiary under the trust;

(c) the trust is, throughout the particular year, resident in Canada; and

(d) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount designated, under this section, by the trust in respect of a beneficiary under the trust in the trust's fiscal return filed under this Part for the particular year is not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable dividend, received by the trust in the particular year, on a share of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation.

667. For the purposes of subparagraph 3 of subparagraph i.1 of paragraph n of section 257, the third and fourth paragraphs of section 686 and sections 741.2, 742, 742.2 and 744.2, the portion of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a dividend, other than a taxable dividend, paid to a trust in a taxation year throughout which it was resident in Canada, in respect of a share of the capital stock of a corporation resident in Canada, that may reasonably be considered, having regard to the circumstances and the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement, to be part of an amount that became payable in the year to a beneficiary under the trust shall be designated by the trust, in its fiscal return for the year, in respect of the beneficiary.

1972, c. 23, s. 505; 1990, c. 59, s. 230; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 5, s. 145; 2001, c. 7, s. 70.

668. For the purposes of sections 28 and 727 to 737, except as they apply to Title VI.5 of Book IV, an amount of a trust's net taxable capital gains for a particular taxation year of the trust is deemed to be a taxable capital gain, for the taxation year of a taxpayer in which the particular year ends, from the disposition by the taxpayer of capital property if

(a) the amount is designated by the trust, in respect of the taxpayer, in the trust's fiscal return filed under this Part for the particular year and may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement, to be part of the amount that, because of any of sections 659, 661 and 662 or paragraph a of section 663, was included in computing the income for that taxation year of the taxpayer;

(b) the taxpayer is

i. in the particular year, a beneficiary under the trust, and

ii. resident in Canada, unless the trust is, throughout the particular year, a mutual fund trust;

(c) the trust is, throughout the particular year, resident in Canada; and

668.0.1. (Repealed).

1990, c. 59, s. 232; 2015, c. 21, s. 217.

668.0.2. A trust that has filed its fiscal return for its taxation year that includes 22 February 1994 may subsequently designate an amount under section 668 for that year, or amend or revoke a designation made under that section for that year where the designation, amendment or revocation

(a) is made solely because of an increase or decrease in the net taxable capital gains of the trust for the year that results from an election or revocation to which section 726.9.8, 726.9.9 or 726.9.10 applies; and

(b) is filed with the Minister, with an amended fiscal return for the year, when the election or revocation referred to in subparagraph a is filed with the Minister.

A designation, amendment or revocation made in accordance with the first paragraph for the taxation year referred to in that paragraph that affects an amount determined in respect of a beneficiary under section 668.1 may be made only where the trust

(a) designates an amount, or amends or revokes a designation made, under section 668.1 for that year in respect of the beneficiary; and

(b) files the designation, amendment or revocation referred to in subparagraph a with the Minister when required by subparagraph b of the first paragraph.

Where a trust designates an amount, or amends or revokes a designation, under section 668 or 668.1 in accordance with this section, the designation or amended designation, as the case may be, is deemed to have been made in the trust's fiscal return for the trust's taxation year that includes 22 February 1994, and the designation that was revoked is deemed, other than for the purposes of this section, never to have been made.

2000, c. 5, s. 146.

668.1. Where, for the purposes of section 668, a personal trust or a trust referred to in section 53 designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary in respect of its net taxable capital gains for a taxation year (in this section and section 668.2 referred to as the "designation year"), the following rules apply:

(a) the trust shall in its fiscal return filed under this Part for the designation year designate an amount in respect of its eligible taxable capital gains for the designation year in respect of the beneficiary equal to the amount determined in respect of the beneficiary under each of subparagraphs i and ii of paragraph b;

(b) the beneficiary is deemed, for the purposes of sections 28, 462.8 to 462.10 and 727 to 737, as they apply for the purposes of Title VI.5 of Book IV, and Divisions III and IV of Chapter II.1 of Title I of Book V, to have disposed of a capital property referred to in subparagraph i or ii if a capital gain is determined under either of those subparagraphs in respect of the beneficiary for the beneficiary's taxation year in which the designation year ends and to have a taxable capital gain for that taxation year

i. from a disposition of capital property that is qualified farm or fishing property of the beneficiary equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$(A \times B \times C)/(D \times E);$$

ii. from a disposition of capital property that is a qualified small business corporation share of the beneficiary equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$(A \times B \times F)/(D \times E);$$

iii. (subparagraph repealed);

(c) for the purposes of Title VI.5 of Book IV, the capital property referred to in paragraph b is deemed to have been disposed of by the beneficiary in the beneficiary's taxation year in which the designation year ends.

1987, c. 67, s. 130; 1990, c. 59, s. 233; 1996, c. 39, s. 174; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2003, c. 2, s. 167; 2007, c. 12, s. 69; 2009, c. 15, s. 97; 2017, c. 29, s. 87; 2020, c. 16, s. 97.

668.2. For the purposes of the formulas in subparagraphs i and ii of paragraph b of section 668.1,

(a) A is the lesser of

i. the amount by which the aggregate of amounts designated under section 668 for the designation year by the trust exceeds the aggregate of the amounts determined in relation to the trust under section 663.2 for the designation year, and

ii. the trust's eligible taxable capital gains for the designation year;

(b) B is the amount by which the amount designated under section 668 for the designation year by the trust in respect of the beneficiary exceeds the amount determined in relation to the trust in respect of the beneficiary under section 663.2 for the taxation year;

(c) C is the amount that would be determined under paragraph b of section 28 for the designation year in respect of the trust's capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were, at the time they were disposed of, qualified farm properties, qualified fishing properties or qualified farm or fishing properties of the trust;

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under paragraph b for the designation year in respect of a beneficiary under the trust;

(e) E is the aggregate of the amounts determined under paragraphs c and f for the designation year in respect of the beneficiary; and

(f) F is the amount that would be determined under paragraph b of section 28 for the designation year in respect of the trust's capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were, at the time they were disposed of, qualified small business corporation shares of the trust, other than qualified farm properties, qualified fishing properties or qualified farm or fishing properties;

(g) (subparagraph repealed).

668.3. For the purposes of sections 668 to 668.2, the net taxable capital gains of a trust for a taxation year are the amount determined by the formula

A + B - C - D.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the trust for the year from the disposition of a capital property that was held by the trust immediately before the disposition;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed under section 668 to be a taxable capital gain of the trust for the year;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the allowable capital loss (other than an allowable business investment loss) of the trust for the year from the disposition of a capital property; and

(d) D is the net capital losses deducted by the trust under section 729 in computing its taxable income for the year.

1987, c. 67, s. 130; 1989, c. 5, s. 78; 1990, c. 59, s. 234; 2015, c. 21, s. 218.

668.4. For the purposes of sections 668.1 and 668.2,

"eligible taxable capital gains" of a trust for a taxation year means the lesser of

(a) its annual gains limit, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 726.6, for the year; and

(b) the amount by which its cumulative gains limit, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 726.6, at the end of the year, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts designated under sections 668.1 and 668.2 by the trust in respect of beneficiaries for taxation years before that year;

"qualified farm or fishing property" of an individual has the meaning assigned by subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6;

"qualified farm property" of an individual has the meaning assigned by subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.6, as it read before being struck out;

"qualified fishing property" of an individual has the meaning assigned by subparagraph a.0.1 of the first paragraph of section 726.6, as it read before being struck out;

"qualified small business corporation share" of an individual has the meaning assigned to it by section 726.6.1.

669.1. Where a trust, in a taxation year in which it is resident in Canada and is a succession that is the graduated rate estate of an individual, receives a pension benefit or a benefit out of or under a foreign retirement arrangement and designates, in its fiscal return for the year under this Part, an amount in respect of a beneficiary under the trust equal to such portion (in this section referred to as the "beneficiary's share") of the benefit as was designated by the trust exclusively in respect of the beneficiary and as may reasonably be considered (having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement) to be part of the amount that, by reason of section 663, was included in computing the income of the beneficiary for a particular taxation year, the beneficiary's share of the benefit is deemed, for the purposes of section 752.0.8, to be a payment described in subparagraph i of paragraph a of that section that is included in computing the beneficiary's income for the particular taxation year where the benefit is an amount described in that subparagraph i and the beneficiary is the spouse of the individual.

669.2. The amount received by the succession that is a graduated rate estate of an individual on or after the individual's death in recognition of the individual's service in an office or employment is deemed to be an amount received by a particular beneficiary under the succession at a particular time on or after the individual's death in recognition of the individual's service in an office or employment and, except for the purposes of this section, not to have been received by the succession to the extent that the amount may reasonably be considered (having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement) to be paid or payable at the particular time to the particular beneficiary.

669.3. For the purposes of sections 657 and 663, the amount designated by a trust in its fiscal return filed under this Part for a taxation year beginning before 1 January 2007 throughout which it was resident in Canada which does not exceed the amount determined in accordance with section 669.4 is deemed to have become payable by the trust to its beneficiaries in the year according to the share designated in the fiscal return for each of the beneficiaries.

The first paragraph does not apply unless the designated shares referred to in that paragraph are reasonable having regard to the portions of the income of the trust for the year determined without reference to the provisions of this Act which are included in computing the income of the beneficiaries for the year.

669.4. For the purposes of the first paragraph of section 669.3, the amount that may be designated by a trust under that section in respect of a taxation year shall not exceed the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times C / D.$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that

i. is not deductible in computing the trust's income for the year, but that would be deductible were it not for section 144, or

ii. is required to be included in computing the trust's income for the year under section 89 or 425 or because of an amount designated under section 669.3 by another trust;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that

i. is deductible in computing the trust's income for the year under section 145, otherwise than because of the membership of the trust in a partnership, or

ii. is not included in computing the trust's income for the year, but that would be deductible were it not for section 486;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a portion of the trust's income for the year, determined without reference to the provisions of this Act, that is payable in the year to a beneficiary of the trust or that is required to be included in computing the income of such a beneficiary for the year under section 662; and

(d) D is the trust's income for the year, determined without reference to the provisions of this Act.

669.5. If a testamentary trust receives, in a taxation year, an amount under an income-averaging annuity contract respecting income from artistic activities, that amount is deemed, for the purposes of paragraphs c and d.1 of section 312 and section 1129.68, to be an amount received at a particular time by a particular beneficiary under the trust, and not to have been received by the trust, to the extent that the amount may reasonably be considered, having regard to the circumstances and the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement, to be paid or payable at the particular time to the particular beneficiary.

671. For the purposes of this section and sections 146.1, 671.1 and 772.2 to 772.13, an amount in respect of a trust's income for a particular taxation year of the trust from a source situated in a foreign country, is deemed to be income of a taxpayer, for the taxation year of the taxpayer in which the particular year ends, from that source if

(a) the amount is designated by the trust, in respect of the taxpayer, in the trust's fiscal return filed under this Part for the particular year and may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement, to be part of the amount that, because of section 659 or paragraph a of section 663, was included in computing the income for that taxation year of the taxpayer;

(b) the taxpayer is in the particular year a beneficiary under the trust;

(c) the trust is, throughout the particular year, resident in Canada; and

(d) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount designated, under this section in respect of that source, by the trust in respect of a beneficiary under the trust in the trust's fiscal return filed under this Part for the particular year is not greater than the trust's income for the particular year from that source.

671.1. A taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a trust is deemed, for the purposes of this section and sections 146.1 and 772.2 to 772.13, to have paid to the government of a foreign country or political subdivision of a foreign country, as business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, for a particular taxation year in respect of a particular source situated in that country, the amount determined by the formula

A × B / C.

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount that, but for section 671.3, would be the business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, paid by the trust to the government of the foreign country or political subdivision of the foreign country in respect of the particular source for a taxation year, referred to in this paragraph as "that year", of the trust that ends in the particular year;

(b) B is the amount deemed, because of a designation made in accordance with section 671 for that year by the trust, to be the taxpayer's income from the particular source; and

(c) C is the trust's income for that year from the particular source.

1995, c. 63, s. 48.

671.2. For the purposes of sections 772.2 to 772.13, there shall be deducted in computing a trust's income from a particular source for a taxation year the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed, because of a designation under section 671 by the trust for the year, to be income of beneficiaries under the trust from that source.

1995, c. 63, s. 48.

671.3. For the purposes of sections 146.1 and 772.2 to 772.13, there shall be deducted in computing the business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, paid by a trust to the government of a foreign country or political subdivision of a foreign country in respect of a particular source situated in that country for a taxation year the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed, because of a designation under section 671 by the trust for the year, to be paid by beneficiaries under the trust as business-income tax or non-business-income tax, as the case may be, in respect of that source.

1995, c. 63, s. 48.

671.4. In sections 671 to 671.3, "business-income tax" and "non-business-income tax" have the meanings assigned by section 772.2.

1995, c. 63, s. 48.

CHAPTER V.1

BENEFICIARY UNDER A DESIGNATED TRUST

2004, c. 21, s. 96.

671.5. In this chapter,

"designated beneficiary" under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust means a tax-liable beneficiary under the designated trust for the year or, if a beneficiary under the designated trust is a partnership, a tax-liable member of the partnership for the partnership's fiscal period in which the designated trust's taxation year ends, who has for the year, with any person or partnership with whom the beneficiary or the member is not dealing at arm's length, a share of the aggregate of the income interests in the designated trust that is an amount of $5,000 or more, or a share of the aggregate of the income interests in the designated trust or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust that corresponds to at least 10% of the aggregate of the income interests or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust;

"designated trust" means a trust that is resident in Canada but outside Québec on the last day of a taxation year, but does not include a unit trust or a trust described in any of paragraphs a to e.1 of the definition of "trust" in subsection 1 of section 108 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.));

"tax-liable beneficiary" under a designated trust for a particular taxation year of the designated trust means a beneficiary under the designated trust who is

(a) an individual who is resident in Québec on the last day of the individual's taxation year in which the particular taxation year ends; or

(b) a corporation that has an establishment in Québec at any time in the corporation's taxation year in which the particular taxation year ends;

"tax-liable member" of a partnership for a fiscal period of the partnership in which ends a taxation year of a designated trust of which the partnership is a beneficiary, means a member of the partnership who is

(a) an individual who is resident in Québec on the last day of the individual's taxation year in which the fiscal period ends; or

(b) a corporation that has an establishment in Québec at any time in the corporation's taxation year in which the fiscal period ends.

For the purposes of the definitions of "tax-liable beneficiary" and "tax-liable member" in the first paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) if an individual dies or ceases to be resident in Canada in a taxation year, the last day of the individual's taxation year is the day of the individual's death or the last day on which the individual was resident in Canada; and

(b) if an individual to whom the first paragraph of section 25 applies is a beneficiary under a designated trust or a member of a partnership that is a beneficiary under a designated trust, the individual is not a tax-liable beneficiary under the designated trust or a tax-liable member of the partnership, as the case may be, even though the individual is deemed to be resident in Québec on the last day of a taxation year for the purposes of the second paragraph of section 25.

2004, c. 21, s. 96; 2011, c. 6, s. 141.

671.6. For the purposes of this chapter, the Minister may determine that a beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust, or a member of a partnership that is a beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust, is a designated beneficiary under the designated trust for the year, if the Minister is of the opinion that the share, for the year, of the aggregate of the income interests or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust of the beneficiary or member, or of the aggregate of the income interests or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust of any person or partnership with whom or with which the beneficiary or member is not dealing at arm's length, has been reduced by reason of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events.

2004, c. 21, s. 96.

671.7. Where a designated trust, in its fiscal return for a taxation year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of that Act, designates an amount in respect of a beneficiary under the designated trust who is a designated beneficiary for the year or a partnership at least one member of which is a designated beneficiary for the year, the presumption in the first paragraph of section 663.1 or 663.2 does not apply in respect of the amount so designated in respect of that designated beneficiary or does not apply in respect of the amount that may reasonably be considered to relate to the share of the designated beneficiary who is a member of the partnership in the amount so designated in respect of that partnership.

2004, c. 21, s. 96.

671.8. Every tax-liable beneficiary under a designated trust for a particular taxation year of the designated trust and, if the beneficiary under the designated trust for the particular year is a partnership, every tax-liable member of the partnership for a fiscal period of the partnership in which the particular year ends shall enclose with the fiscal return the beneficiary or the member is required to file under section 1000 or would be required to file under that section if tax were payable by the beneficiary or the member under this Part for the tax-liable beneficiary's taxation year in which the particular year ends or for the tax-liable member's taxation year in which the fiscal period ends, as the case may be, an information return, in the prescribed form, containing

(a) the name of the designated trust;

(b) the name and address of the trustee under the designated trust for the particular year; and

(c) the date from which the beneficiary is such a beneficiary under the designated trust.

Where the beneficiary referred to in the first paragraph has, for the particular year, with any person or partnership with whom or with which the beneficiary is not dealing at arm's length, a share of the aggregate of the income interests in the designated trust that is an amount of $5,000 or more, or a share of the aggregate of the income interests in the designated trust or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust that corresponds to at least 10% of the aggregate of the income interests in the designated trust or of the aggregate of the capital interests in the designated trust, the information return referred to in that paragraph shall also contain the following information, for the particular year and for the four taxation years preceding the particular year:

(a) any former address of the trustee under the designated trust for the particular year; and

(b) the name and address of any trustee preceding the trustee under the designated trust for the particular year.

2004, c. 21, s. 96; 2011, c. 6, s. 142.

671.9. Every designated beneficiary under a designated trust for a particular taxation year of the designated trust shall enclose with the fiscal return the designated beneficiary is required to file under section 1000 for the designated beneficiary's taxation year in which the particular year ends, or would be required to so file if tax were payable by the designated beneficiary under this Part for the designated beneficiary's taxation year in which the particular year ends, an information return, in prescribed form, in which the designated beneficiary indicates the amounts that are paid to the designated beneficiary or became payable in the particular year by the designated trust, or that are paid for the benefit of the designated beneficiary, and that were designated by the designated trust in its fiscal return filed for the particular year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of that Act.

Every designated beneficiary who is a member of a partnership that is a beneficiary under the designated trust for a particular taxation year of the designated trust, shall enclose with the fiscal return the designated beneficiary is required to file under section 1000 for the designated beneficiary's taxation year in which ends the fiscal period of the partnership in which the particular year ends, or would be required to so file if tax were payable by the designated beneficiary under this Part for the designated beneficiary's taxation year in which ends the partnership's fiscal period in which the particular year ends, an information return, in prescribed form, in which the designated beneficiary indicates the designated beneficiary's share of the amounts that are paid or became payable in the particular year by the designated trust to the partnership of which the designated beneficiary is a member, or that are paid for the benefit of the designated beneficiary, and that were designated by the designated trust in its fiscal return filed for the particular year under Part I of the Income Tax Act, in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of that Act.

671.10. Every designated beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust who omits to include an amount, under section 662 or 663, in computing the designated beneficiary's income for a particular taxation year, in relation to an amount designated by the designated trust in its fiscal return filed for the year under Part I of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of that Act, incurs a penalty equal to the greater of $100 and 25% of the amount by which

(a) the tax that would have been payable by the designated beneficiary for the particular year under this Act if

i. the designated beneficiary's taxable income for the particular year, determined on the basis of the information provided in the fiscal return filed by the designated beneficiary for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year, were computed by adding that portion of the amount determined in the second paragraph that may reasonably be attributed to that omission, and

ii. the designated beneficiary's tax payable for the particular year were computed by subtracting from the aggregate of all deductions from the tax otherwise payable by the designated beneficiary for the particular year the portion of any such deduction as may reasonably be attributed to that omission, and by adding to that aggregate any amount not deducted from the tax otherwise payable by the designated beneficiary for the particular year and that is deductible under Book V, if the amount that entitles the designated beneficiary to that deduction is wholly applicable to an amount that was not reported by the designated beneficiary in the fiscal return filed by the designated beneficiary for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year and that were required to be included in computing the designated beneficiary's income for the particular year, under section 662 or 663, in relation to an amount designated by a designated trust in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act; exceeds

(b) the tax that would have been payable by the designated beneficiary for the particular year under this Act had it been determined on the basis of the information provided in the designated beneficiary's fiscal return filed for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year.

The amount to which subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers in respect of a designated beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust is the aggregate of

(a) the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts that were not indicated by the designated beneficiary in the fiscal return filed by the designated beneficiary for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year and that were required to be included in computing the designated beneficiary's income for the particular year, under section 662 or 663, in relation to an amount designated by the designated trust in accordance with subsection 13.1 or 13.2 of section 104 of the Income Tax Act, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts that were not deducted by the designated beneficiary in computing the designated beneficiary's taxable income for the particular year indicated by the designated beneficiary in the fiscal return, were deductible in computing the designated beneficiary's taxable income under this Act and were wholly applicable to the amounts that were required to be so included therein; and

(b) the amount by which the aggregate of amounts, other than those provided for in sections 727 to 737, deducted by the designated beneficiary in computing the designated beneficiary's taxable income for the particular year indicated by the designated beneficiary in the fiscal return for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year exceeds the aggregate of amounts, other than those provided for in sections 727 to 737, deductible in computing the designated beneficiary's taxable income for the particular year under this Act.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the taxable income of a designated beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust, determined on the basis of information provided in the designated beneficiary's fiscal return for the purposes of this Act in respect of the particular year, is deemed not to be less than zero.

However, the penalty provided for in the first paragraph does not apply where the designated beneficiary under a designated trust for a taxation year of the designated trust incurs in respect of the omission the penalty provided for in section 1049.

CHAPTER VII

TESTAMENTARY TRUST

1972, c. 23.

677. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of this Part, the rules provided in this chapter apply to a testamentary trust.

For the purposes of this chapter, “testamentary trust”, in a taxation year, means a trust that arose upon and as a consequence of the death of an individual, including a trust referred to in section 7.4.1, but does not include

(a) a trust created by a person other than the individual;

(b) a trust created after 12 November 1981 if, before the end of the taxation year, property was contributed to the trust otherwise than by an individual on or after his death, and as a consequence thereof;

(c) a trust created before 13 November 1981 if after 28 June 1982 property has been contributed to the trust otherwise than by an individual on or after his death and as a consequence thereof, or if before the end of the taxation year, the fair market value of the property owned by the trust that was contributed to the trust otherwise than by an individual on or after his death and as a consequence thereof and the property owned by the trust that was substituted for such property exceeds the fair market value of the property owned by the trust that was contributed by an individual on or after his death and as a consequence thereof and the property owned by the trust that was substituted for such property, and for the purposes of this paragraph, the fair market value of any property shall be determined as at the time it was acquired by the trust; and

(d) a trust that, at any time after 20 December 2002 and before the end of the taxation year, incurs a debt or any other obligation owed to, or guaranteed by, a beneficiary or any other person or partnership, which beneficiary, person or partnership is referred to in this subparagraph as the "specified party", with whom a beneficiary under the trust does not deal at arm's length, other than a debt or other obligation

i. incurred by the trust in satisfaction of the specified party's right as a beneficiary under the trust

(1) to enforce payment of an amount of the trust's income or capital gains payable at or before that time by the trust to the specified party, or

(2) to otherwise receive any part of the capital of the trust,

ii. owed to the specified party, if the debt or other obligation arose because of a service, not including any transfer or loan of property, rendered by the specified party to, for or on behalf of the trust,

iii. owed to the specified party, if

(1) the debt or other obligation arose because of a payment made by the specified party for or on behalf of the trust,

(2) in exchange for the payment and in full settlement of the debt or other obligation, the trust transfers property, the fair market value of which is not less than the principal amount of the debt or other obligation, to the specified party within 12 months after the payment was made or, if written application has been made to the Minister by the trust within that 12-month period, within any longer period that the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances, and

(3) it is reasonable to conclude that the specified party would have been willing to make the payment if the specified party dealt at arm's length with the trust, unless the trust is the individual's succession and that payment was made within the first 12 months after the individual's death or, if written application has been made to the Minister by the succession within that 12-month period, within any longer period that the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances, or

iv. incurred by the trust before 24 October 2012 if, in full settlement of the debt or other obligation, the trust transfers property, the fair market value of which is not less than the principal amount of the debt or other obligation, to the person or partnership to whom the debt or other obligation is owed within 12 months after 26 June 2013 or, if written application has been made to the Minister by the trust within that 12-month period, within any longer period that the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances.

677.1. For the purposes of section 677, property is not considered to be contributed to a trust as a result of

(a) a qualifying expenditure (within the meaning of section 118.04 or 118.041 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) of a beneficiary under the trust; or

(b) an amount paid to, or on behalf of, the trust by another trust where

i. the trust is an individual's succession that is a graduated rate estate (determined without regard to the amount paid and this section),

ii. subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 663.0.1 applies to the other trust, for a taxation year that ends at a time determined by reference to the death of the individual referred to in subparagraph i, because of an election referred to in subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 663.0.1 and made by the other trust and the legal representative administering the individual's succession,

iii. the amount is paid on account of the tax payable by the individual referred to in subparagraph i, for the individual's taxation year that includes the day on which the individual dies, under this Part, Part I of the Income Tax Act or the law of another province in which the individual was resident immediately before the individual's death, that imposes a tax on the taxable income of individuals resident in that province, and

iv. the amount paid does not exceed the amount by which the tax payable referred to in subparagraph iii exceeds the amount that would have been payable on account of that tax if subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 663.0.1 had not applied to the other trust in respect of the taxation year referred to in subparagraph ii.

680. The income of a person for a taxation year from a succession that is a graduated rate estate is deemed to be the aggregate of the person's benefits from or under the succession for any taxation year of the succession that ended in the year, determined under the provisions of this Title except for sections 683 to 692.

1972, c. 23, s. 512; 1973, c. 17, s. 77; 2017, c. 1, s. 161.

681. Where an individual with an income from a trust that is a succession that is a graduated rate estate died after the end of a taxation year of the trust and before the end of the calendar year during which that taxation year ended, his income from the trust for the period commencing immediately after the end of the taxation year of the trust and ending at the time of death shall be included in computing the individual's income for the year in which he died unless his legal representative has elected otherwise, in which case the legal representative shall file a separate fiscal return under this Part for the period comprised between the end of the taxation year of the trust and the date of the death and pay the tax for the period under this Part as if

(a) the individual were another person;

(b) the period were a taxation year;

(c) that other person's only income for the period were the individual's income from the trust for that period; and

(d) subject to sections 693.1, 752.0.26 and 776.1.5.0.19, that other person were entitled to the deductions to which the individual was entitled under sections 725 to 725.5, 752.0.0.1 to 752.0.13.3, 752.0.14 to 752.0.18.15, 776.1.5.0.17 and 776.1.5.0.18 for the period in computing the individual's taxable income or the individual's tax payable under this Part, as the case may be, for the period.

CHAPTER VIII

DISPOSITION OF AN INTEREST

1972, c. 23.

683. In this chapter,

"capital interest" of a taxpayer in a trust means all rights of the taxpayer as a beneficiary under the trust, and after 31 December 1999 includes a right, other than a right acquired before 1 January 2000 and disposed of before 1 March 2000, to enforce payment of an amount by the trust that arises as a consequence of any such right, but does not include an income interest in the trust;

"eligible offset" at any time of a taxpayer in respect of all or part of the taxpayer's capital interest in a trust is the portion of any debt or obligation that is assumed by the taxpayer and that can reasonably be considered to be applicable to property distributed at that time as consideration for the interest or part of the interest, as the case may be, if the distribution is conditional upon the assumption by the taxpayer of the portion of the debt or obligation;

"income interest" of a taxpayer in a trust means a right, whether immediate or future and whether absolute or contingent, of the taxpayer as a beneficiary under a personal trust to, or to receive, all or any part of the income of the trust and, after 31 December 1999, includes a right, other than a right acquired before 1 January 2000 and disposed of before 1 March 2000, to enforce payment of an amount by the trust that arises as a consequence of any such right.

684. A taxpayer who disposes in a taxation year of an income interest of the taxpayer in a trust shall, if section 685 does not apply, include in computing the taxpayer's income for the year the amount by which the proceeds of disposition exceed, where that interest includes a right to enforce payment of an amount by the trust, the amount in respect of that right that has been included in computing the taxpayer's income for a taxation year because of section 663.

The disposition referred to in the first paragraph is deemed not to give rise to any capital gain or capital loss, to the taxpayer, and the cost of any property received by the taxpayer as consideration is the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition.

1972, c. 23, s. 516; 2003, c. 2, s. 169.

685. Any trust distributing, at a particular time, any property owned by it to a beneficiary in satisfaction of all or any part of his income interest in the trust, is deemed to dispose of such property at its fair market value at that time.

1972, c. 23, s. 517; 1973, c. 17, s. 79; 2001, c. 7, s. 71.

686. In computing a taxpayer's taxable capital gain from the disposition of property that is all or any part of the taxpayer's capital interest in a personal trust or a prescribed trust, the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the property immediately before the disposition is deemed to be equal to the greater of

(a) the adjusted cost base, otherwise determined, to the taxpayer of the property immediately before that time; and

(b) the amount by which the cost amount to the taxpayer of the property immediately before that time exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph b.1 of section 257 in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the property immediately before the disposition.

The presumption referred to in the first paragraph does not apply where any part of such interest has ever been acquired for consideration and, at the time of disposition, the trust is not resident in Canada.

Where a taxpayer other than a mutual fund trust disposes of all or any part of the capital interest in a trust, the taxpayer's loss from the disposition is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount of that loss otherwise determined exceeds the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was received or would, but for section 666, have been received by the trust on a share of the capital stock of a corporation before the disposition, and, where the trust is a unit trust, after 31 December 1987, and

i. where the taxpayer is a corporation,

(1) was a taxable dividend that was designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of the taxpayer, to the extent that the amount of the dividend was deductible because of sections 738 to 745 or section 845 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any taxation year, or

(2) was an amount designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the taxpayer,

ii. where the taxpayer is another trust, was an amount designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust in respect of the taxpayer, and

iii. where the taxpayer is not a corporation, trust or partnership, was an amount designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the taxpayer; exceeds

(b) the portion of the aggregate determined in accordance with subparagraph a that may reasonably be considered to have resulted in a reduction, under this paragraph, of the taxpayer's loss otherwise determined from a previous disposition of an interest in the trust.

Where a partnership disposes of all or any part of the capital interest in a trust, the share of a person, other than another partnership or a mutual fund trust, of any loss of the partnership from the disposition is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount of that loss otherwise determined exceeds the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that was received or would, but for section 666, have been received by the trust on a share of the capital stock of a corporation before the disposition, and, where the trust is a unit trust, after 31 December 1987, and

i. where the person is a corporation,

(1) was a taxable dividend that was designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of the partnership, to the extent that the amount of the dividend was deductible because of sections 738 to 745 or section 845 in computing the person's taxable income for any taxation year, or

(2) was a dividend designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the partnership and was an amount received by the person,

ii. where the person is an individual other than a trust, was a dividend designated under section 667 by the trust in respect of the partnership and was an amount received by the person, and

iii. where the person is another trust, was a dividend designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust in respect of the partnership and was an amount received by the person, or that would have been received by the person if this Part were read without reference to section 666; exceeds

Where all or part of a capital interest in a trust is disposed of by a taxpayer and the capital interest is not a capital property of the taxpayer, despite section 690, its cost amount is deemed to be the amount by which the amount that would, if this Part were read without reference to this paragraph and section 690, be its cost amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is an amount in respect of the capital interest that has become payable to the taxpayer before the disposition and that would be described in subparagraph i.1 of paragraph n of section 257 if its subparagraph 3 were read without reference to ", that is, subject to section 257.4, equal to the amount designated by the trust to be payable to the taxpayer under section 668".

687. The cost to a taxpayer of a capital interest in a personal trust or a prescribed trust is deemed to be

(a) where the taxpayer elects under section 726.9.2 in respect of the interest and the trust does not elect under that section in respect of any property of the trust, equal to the taxpayer's cost of the interest determined under subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2; and

(b) in any other case, nil, unless

i. any part of the interest was acquired by the taxpayer from a person who was the beneficiary in respect of the interest immediately before its acquisition by the taxpayer, or

ii. the cost of any part of the interest would be determined not to be nil under sections 242 to 247.1, as they read before 1 January 1993, subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 736 and the third paragraph of that section, paragraph c of section 785.1 or subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 785.2.

1975, c. 22, s. 189; 1984, c. 15, s. 154; 2000, c. 5, s. 147; 2003, c. 2, s. 171; 2009, c. 5, s. 215.

687.1. For the purposes of sections 83 to 85.6, the fair market value at any time of a capital interest in a trust is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of

(a) the amount that would, if this Part were read without reference to this section, be its fair market value at that time; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is an amount in respect of the capital interest that became payable to the taxpayer before that time and that would be described in subparagraph i.1 of paragraph n of section 257 if its subparagraph 3 were read without reference to ", that is, subject to section 257.4, equal to the amount designated by the trust to be payable to the taxpayer under section 668".

2015, c. 24, s. 92.

688. Subject to sections 688.0.0.1, 688.0.0.2 and 691 to 692, if at a particular time a property of a personal trust or a prescribed trust is distributed (otherwise than as a SIFT trust wind-up event) by the trust to a taxpayer who was a beneficiary under the trust and there is a resulting disposition of all or any part of the taxpayer's capital interest in the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to dispose of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to its cost amount to the trust immediately before that time;

(b) the taxpayer is, subject to section 688.2, deemed to acquire the property at a cost equal to the total of its cost amount to the trust immediately before that time and the specified percentage of the amount by which the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the capital interest or part thereof immediately before that time, determined without reference to the first paragraph of section 686, exceeds the cost amount to the taxpayer of the capital interest or part thereof immediately before that time;

(c) the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of all or part, as the case may be, of the capital interest in the trust disposed of by the taxpayer on the distribution are deemed to be equal to the amount by which the cost at which the taxpayer would be deemed under paragraph b to acquire the property if the specified percentage referred to in that paragraph were 100% exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an eligible offset at that time of the taxpayer in respect of the capital interest or part thereof;

(d) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or under section 130.1, where the property distributed was depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust and the amount that was the capital cost to the trust of such property exceeds the cost at which, in accordance with sections 688, 689, 691 and 692, the taxpayer is deemed to acquire the property, the following rules apply:

i. the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer is deemed to be the capital cost of the property to the trust, and

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer as depreciation in respect of the property for the taxation years preceding the acquisition by him of the property;

(d.1) (subparagraph repealed);

(e) (subparagraph repealed).

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, the specified percentage is

(a) where the property is capital property other than depreciable property, 100%;

(b) (subparagraph repealed);

(c) in any other case, 50%.

1972, c. 23, s. 519; 1973, c. 17, s. 81; 1975, c. 22, s. 190; 1977, c. 26, s. 76; 1979, c. 18, s. 55; 1990, c. 59, s. 242; 1993, c. 16, s. 246; 1994, c. 22, s. 239; 1996, c. 39, s. 177; 2000, c. 5, s. 148; 2001, c. 7, s. 73; 2003, c. 2, s. 172; 2005, c. 1, s. 133; 2009, c. 5, s. 216; 2010, c. 25, s. 52; 2011, c. 6, s. 143; 2015, c. 21, s. 221; 2019, c. 14, s. 175.

688.0.0.1. If a trust makes a distribution of a property to a beneficiary under the trust in full or partial satisfaction of the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust and makes a valid election under subsection 2.001 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of the distribution of property, section 688 does not apply to the distribution if

(a) the trust is resident in Canada at the time of the distribution;

(b) the property is taxable Canadian property; or

(c) the property is capital property used in, or property included in the inventory of, a business carried on by the trust through an establishment in Canada immediately before the time of the distribution.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2.001 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

2003, c. 2, s. 173; 2005, c. 1, s. 134; 2009, c. 5, s. 217; 2019, c. 14, s. 176.

688.0.0.2. If a trust that is not resident in Canada makes a distribution of a property, other than a property described in subparagraph b or c of the first paragraph of section 688.0.0.1, to a beneficiary under the trust in full or partial satisfaction of the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust, and the beneficiary makes a valid election under subsection 2.002 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of the distribution of property, the following rules apply:

(a) section 688 does not apply to the distribution; and

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 686, the cost amount of the interest to the beneficiary is deemed to be nil.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2.002 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

2003, c. 2, s. 173; 2009, c. 5, s. 218.

688.0.1. If, at any time, a property is distributed by a personal trust to a taxpayer in circumstances in which section 688 applies, the property would, if the trust had so designated the property under section 274.0.1, be a principal residence, within the meaning of that section, of the trust for a taxation year, and the trust makes a valid election under subsection 2.01 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in respect of the distribution of property, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property immediately before the particular time that is immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the property at that time; and

(b) the trust is deemed to have reacquired the property at the particular time-a-cost equal to that fair market value.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subsection 2.01 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1993, c. 16, s. 247; 1994, c. 22, s. 240; 2001, c. 7, s. 74; 2003, c. 2, s. 174; 2005, c. 23, s. 55; 2009, c. 5, s. 219.

688.1. Where at a particular time a property of a trust is distributed by the trust to a beneficiary under the trust, there would, if this Part were read without reference to subparagraphs d and e of the second paragraph of section 248, be a resulting disposition of all or any part of the beneficiary's capital interest in the trust, in this section referred to as the "former interest", and the rules in Title I.2 of Book VI and in sections 569.0.2, 688 and 688.4 do not apply in respect of the distribution, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to dispose of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time;

(b) the beneficiary is deemed to acquire the property at a cost equal to the proceeds referred to in subparagraph a;

(c) unless the trust is a mutual fund trust, the beneficiary's proceeds of disposition of the portion of the former interest disposed of by the beneficiary on the distribution are deemed to be equal to the amount by which the proceeds referred to in subparagraph a, other than the portion of the proceeds that is a payment to which subparagraph d or e of the second paragraph of section 248 applies, exceed the amount determined under the second paragraph;

(d) notwithstanding subparagraphs a to c, where the trust is not resident in Canada at that time, the property is not described in subparagraph b or c of the first paragraph of section 688.0.0.1 and, but for this subparagraph, there would be no income, loss, taxable capital gain or allowable capital loss of a taxpayer in respect of the property by reason of the application of section 467 to the disposition at that time of the property, the following rules apply:

i. the trust is deemed to dispose of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to the cost amount of the property,

ii. the beneficiary is deemed to acquire the property at a cost equal to the fair market value of the property, and

iii. the beneficiary's proceeds of disposition of the portion of the former interest disposed of by the beneficiary on the distribution are deemed to be equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the property exceeds the aggregate of

(1) the portion of the amount of the distribution that is a payment to which subparagraph d or e of the second paragraph of section 248 applies, and

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an eligible offset at that time of the taxpayer in respect of the former interest; and

(e) where the trust is a mutual fund trust, the distribution occurs in a taxation year of the trust before its taxation year 2003, the trust has elected under section 688.1.1 for the year and the trust so elects in respect of the distribution in prescribed form filed with the Minister with the trust's fiscal return for the year, the following rules apply:

i. this section shall be read without reference to subparagraph c and the second paragraph, and

ii. the beneficiary's proceeds of disposition of the portion of the former interest disposed of by the beneficiary on the distribution are deemed to be equal to the amount determined under subparagraph a.

The amount to which subparagraph c of the first paragraph refers is equal to the aggregate of

(a) where the property referred to in the first paragraph is not a Canadian resource property or foreign resource property, an amount equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the property at the time referred to in that first paragraph exceeds the aggregate of

i. the cost amount to the trust of the property immediately before that time, and

ii. the portion, if any, of the excess that would be determined under this subparagraph a if it were read without reference to this subparagraph that is a payment to which subparagraph d or e of the second paragraph of section 248 applies; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an eligible offset at that time of the beneficiary in respect of the former interest.

1990, c. 59, s. 243; 2000, c. 5, s. 149; 2001, c. 7, s. 75; 2003, c. 2, s. 175; 2009, c. 5, s. 220; 2010, c. 25, s. 53; 2023, c. 19, s. 39.

688.1.1. If a trust that is resident in Canada for a taxation year makes in the taxation year one or more distributions of property in circumstances in which section 688.1 applies, the following rules apply:

(a) the income of the trust for the year, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 657, is to be computed, for the purposes of that paragraph a and section 663, without regard to all of those distributions to persons not resident in Canada, including a partnership other than a Canadian partnership, except for distributions of cash denominated in Canadian currency, if the trust makes a valid election under subsection 2.11 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 to have paragraph a of that subsection 2.11 apply in relation to all of those distributions; and

(b) the income of the trust for the year, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 657, is to be computed, for the purposes of that paragraph a and section 663, without regard to all of those distributions, except for distributions of cash denominated in Canadian currency, if the trust makes a valid election under subsection 2.11 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act after 19 December 2006 to have paragraph b of that subsection 2.11 apply in relation to all of those distributions.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under paragraph a or b of subsection 2.11 of section 107 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

2003, c. 2, s. 176; 2009, c. 5, s. 221; 2015, c. 21, s. 222.

688.1.2. An election made under section 688.1.1 by a mutual fund trust is deemed, for the trust's 2003 and subsequent taxation years, not to have been made if

(a) the election is made after 20 December 2000 and applies to any taxation year that ends before 1 January 2003; and

(b) the proceeds of disposition of a beneficiary's interest in the trust have been determined under subparagraph e of the first paragraph of section 688.1.

2003, c. 2, s. 176.

688.2. Where at any time before 1 January 2005 a trust referred to in paragraph c, d or e of the definition of "flow-through entity" in the first paragraph of section 251.1 distributes property to a beneficiary under the trust as consideration for all or a portion of the beneficiary's interests in the trust and the beneficiary files with the Minister an election in respect of the property on or before the beneficiary's filing-due date for the taxation year that includes that time, the beneficiary shall include in the cost to the beneficiary of a particular property, other than money, received by the beneficiary as part of the distribution of property the least of

(a) the amount by which the beneficiary's exempt capital gains balance, within the meaning of section 251.1, in respect of the trust for the beneficiary's taxation year that includes that time exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. an amount by which a capital gain is reduced under Chapter II.1 of Title IV in the year because of the beneficiary's exempt capital gains balance in respect of the trust,

ii. subject to the second paragraph, twice an amount by which a taxable capital gain is reduced under Chapter II.1 of Title IV in the year because of the beneficiary's exempt capital gains balance in respect of the trust, or

iii. an amount included in the cost to the beneficiary of another property received by the beneficiary at or before that time in the year because of this section;

(b) the amount by which the fair market value of the particular property at that time exceeds the adjusted cost base to the trust of the particular property immediately before that time; and

(c) the amount designated in respect of the particular property in the election.

Where the beneficiary's taxation year includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000 or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the reference to the word "twice" in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the beneficiary for the year.

2000, c. 5, s. 150; 2001, c. 7, s. 76; 2003, c. 2, s. 177; 2010, c. 25, s. 54.

688.3. The rules in section 688.4 apply in respect of a trust's distribution of property to a taxpayer if

(a) the distribution is a SIFT trust wind-up event to which section 569.0.2 does not apply;

(b) the property is a share and all the shares distributed on any SIFT trust wind-up event of the trust are of a single class of shares of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation; and

(c) where the trust is a SIFT wind-up entity, the distribution occurs no more than 60 days after the first SIFT trust wind-up event of the trust or, if it is earlier, the first distribution to the trust that is a SIFT trust wind-up event of another trust.

2010, c. 25, s. 55.

688.4. The rules to which section 688.3 refers, in relation to a trust's distribution of property, are as follows:

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base to the trust of the property immediately before the distribution;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of the taxpayer's interest as a beneficiary under the trust for proceeds of disposition equal to the cost amount to the taxpayer of the interest immediately before the distribution;

(c) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to

i. if, at all times at which the trust makes a distribution that is a SIFT trust wind-up event, the taxpayer is the only beneficiary under the trust and is a SIFT wind-up entity or a taxable Canadian corporation, the adjusted cost base to the trust of the property immediately before the distribution, and

ii. in any other case, the cost amount to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's interest as a beneficiary under the trust immediately before the distribution;

(d) if the taxpayer's interest as a beneficiary under the trust was immediately before the disposition taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the property is deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the distribution, taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, as the case may be; and

(e) if a liability of the trust becomes as a consequence of the distribution a liability of the corporation described in paragraph b of section 688.3 in respect of the distribution, and the amount payable by the corporation on the maturity of the liability is equal to the amount that would have been payable by the trust on its maturity,

i. the transfer of the liability by the trust to the corporation is deemed not to have occurred, and

ii. the liability is deemed to have been issued by the corporation at the time at which, and under the same agreement as that under which, it was issued by the trust, and not to have been issued by the trust.

2010, c. 25, s. 55; 2011, c. 6, s. 144.

689. (Repealed).

690. In this Title, notwithstanding the definition of "cost amount" in section 1, the cost amount to a taxpayer at a particular time of a capital interest or part of a capital interest in a trust, other than a trust that is a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, means, except for the purposes of section 688.4 and of Chapter X,

(a) where the trust distributes to the taxpayer money or other property, in satisfaction of all or part of the taxpayer's capital interest, the aggregate of

i. the money so distributed,

ii. all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the trust, immediately before the distribution, of each such other property;

*(a.1)* where the particular time is immediately before the time that is immediately before the time of the taxpayer's death and sections 653 to 656.1 deem the trust to dispose of property at the end of the day that includes the particular time, the amount that would be determined under subparagraph b if the taxpayer had died on a day that ended immediately before the time that is immediately before the particular time; and

(b) in any other case, the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times (C / D).$$

For the purposes of the formula set forth in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of

i. all money of the trust on hand immediately before that time,

ii. all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the trust, immediately before that time, of each other property;

iii. (subparagraph repealed);

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of any debt owing by the trust immediately before that time;

(c) C is the fair market value, at that time, of the capital interest or any part thereof in the trust;

(d) D is the fair market value, at that time, of all capital interests in the trust.

690.0.1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where a person or partnership, in this section referred to as the "vendor", has disposed of property and would, but for this section, have had a loss from the disposition, the vendor's loss otherwise determined in respect of the disposition shall be reduced by such portion thereof as may reasonably be considered to have accrued during a period in which the following conditions are met:

(a) the property or property for which it was substituted was held by a trust; and

(b) either

i. the trust was not resident in Canada and the property or property for which it was substituted was not taxable Canadian property of the trust, or

ii. neither the vendor nor a person that would, but for the definition of "controlled" in section 21.0.1, be affiliated with the vendor had a capital interest in the trust.

690.1. Where a trust governed by an employee benefit plan has distributed, at a particular time, property owned by it to a taxpayer who was a beneficiary under the trust in satisfaction of all or any part of the taxpayer's interest in the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to its cost amount to the trust immediately before that time;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to the greater of its fair market value at that time and the adjusted cost base of his interest in the trust or part thereof, as the case may be, immediately before that time;

(c) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of his interest in the trust or any part thereof, as the case may be, for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base to him of that interest or part thereof, as the case may be, immediately before the particular time;

(d) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where the property distributed was depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust and the amount that was the capital cost to the trust of that property exceeds the cost at which the taxpayer is deemed by paragraph b to have acquired the property,

i. the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer is deemed to be the capital cost of the property to the trust;

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer as depreciation in respect of the property for taxation years preceding the acquisition by him of the property.

1982, c. 5, s. 140; 1990, c. 59, s. 245; 2001, c. 7, s. 78.

690.2. If at a particular time any property of an employee trust, an employee life and health trust or a trust described in subparagraph a.1 of the third paragraph of section 647 is distributed by the trust to a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under the trust as consideration for all or any part of the taxpayer's interest in the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at the particular time;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to the proceeds determined in paragraph a in respect thereof;

(c) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of his interest in the trust or part thereof, as the case may be, for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base to him of the interest or part thereof, as the case may be, immediately before the particular time;

(d) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where the property distributed was depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust and the amount that was the capital cost of that property to the trust exceeds the cost at which, in accordance with paragraph b, the taxpayer is deemed to acquire the property, the following rules apply:

i. the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer is deemed to be the capital cost of the property to the trust;

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer as depreciation in respect of the property for taxation years preceding the acquisition by him of the property.

1982, c. 5, s. 140; 1990, c. 59, s. 245; 2001, c. 7, s. 79; 2003, c. 2, s. 180; 2011, c. 6, s. 145.

690.3. Where a trust governed by a retirement compensation arrangement has distributed, at a particular time, property owned by it to a taxpayer who was a beneficiary under the trust in satisfaction of all or any part of the taxpayer's interest in the trust, the following rules apply:

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at the particular time;

(b) the trust is deemed to have paid to the taxpayer as a distribution an amount equal to the proceeds determined in respect of the property under paragraph a;

(c) the taxpayer is deemed to have acquired the property at a cost equal to the proceeds determined in respect of the property under paragraph a;

(d) the taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of his interest in the trust or part thereof, as the case may be, for proceeds of disposition equal to the adjusted cost base to him of that interest or part thereof, as the case may be, immediately before the particular time;

(e) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, 130 and 130.1 and the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130, where the property distributed was depreciable property of a prescribed class of the trust and the amount that was the capital cost to the trust of that property exceeds the cost at which the taxpayer is deemed by paragraph c to have acquired the property

i. the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer is deemed to be the capital cost of the property to the trust;

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer as depreciation in respect of the property for taxation years preceding the acquisition by him of the property.

1989, c. 77, s. 73; 1990, c. 59, s. 246; 2001, c. 7, s. 80.

691. Notwithstanding section 688, the rules set out in section 688.1 apply at any time to property distributed to a beneficiary by a trust described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph and the second paragraph of section 653 where

(a) the beneficiary is not

i. in the case of a post-1971 spousal trust, the spouse referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653,

ii. in the case of an alter ego trust, the taxpayer referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653, and

iii. in the case of a joint spousal trust, the taxpayer or spouse referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653; and

(b) the property is distributed on or before the earlier of

i. a reacquisition, in respect of any property of the trust, that occurs immediately after the day described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 653, and

ii. the cessation of the trust's existence.

1972, c. 23, s. 522; 1977, c. 26, s. 77; 1984, c. 15, s. 155; 1986, c. 19, s. 138; 1994, c. 22, s. 241; 2001, c. 7, s. 81; 2003, c. 2, s. 181; 2015, c. 21, s. 225.

691.1. Despite section 688, the rules set out in section 688.1 apply where any particular property of a particular personal trust or a particular prescribed trust (other than an excluded property of the particular trust) is distributed by the particular trust to a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under the particular trust and where

(a) the distribution was made as consideration for all or any part of the taxpayer's capital interest in the particular trust;

(b) section 467 was applicable, or would have been applicable if it were read without reference to "while the transferor is resident in Canada" and if section 467.1, as it read in its application before 21 March 2013, were read without reference to its paragraph c.2, or section 597.0.6 was applicable, or would have been applicable if the first paragraph of that section were read without reference to its subparagraph a, at a particular time in respect of any property of

i. the particular trust, or

ii. a trust the property of which included a property that, through one or more dispositions to which section 692.8 applied, became a property of the particular trust, and the property was not, at any time after the particular time and before the distribution, the subject of a disposition for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the property at the time of the disposition;

(c) the taxpayer is neither

i. the person, other than a trust described in subparagraph ii of paragraph b, who directly or indirectly transferred the particular property, or a property for which the particular property was substituted, to the particular trust, nor

ii. an individual in respect of whom section 454 would be applicable on the transfer of capital property by the person described in subparagraph i; and

(d) the person described in subparagraph i of paragraph c was in existence at the time the particular property was distributed.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, "excluded property" of a trust means property owned by the trust at, and distributed by the trust after, the end of 31 December 2016, if

(a) the trust was not, in its first taxation year that begins after 31 December 2016, a trust described in subparagraph c.1 of the second paragraph of section 274.0.1; and

(b) the property is a property that would be the trust's principal residence (within the meaning of section 274.0.1) for the taxation year in which the distribution occurs if

i. the second paragraph of section 274.0.1 were read without reference to its subparagraph c.1, and

ii. the trust designated the property, in accordance with section 274.0.1, as its principal residence for the taxation year.

691.2. Despite section 688, the rules set out in section 688.1 apply at any time to property distributed after 20 December 2002 to a beneficiary by a personal trust or a trust prescribed for the purposes of section 688, if

(a) at a particular time before 21 December 2002 there was a qualifying disposition, within the meaning assigned by section 692.5, of the property, or of other property for which the property is substituted, by a particular partnership or a particular corporation to a trust; and

(b) the beneficiary is neither the particular partnership nor the particular corporation.

2009, c. 5, s. 229.

692. Despite section 688, the rules set out in section 688.1 apply if a property, other than a property referred to in the second paragraph, is distributed by a trust to a taxpayer not resident in Canada, including a partnership other than a Canadian partnership, as consideration for all or part of the taxpayer's capital interest in the trust.

The property to which the first paragraph refers is

(a) a share of the capital stock of a non-resident-owned investment corporation; or

(b) a property referred to in any of subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 785.2;

(c) (subparagraph repealed);

(d) (subparagraph repealed);

(e) (subparagraph repealed);

(f) (subparagraph repealed);

(g) (subparagraph repealed);

(h) (subparagraph repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 523; 1977, c. 26, s. 78; 1990, c. 59, s. 248; 1994, c. 22, s. 242; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 83; 2003, c. 2, s. 183; 2004, c. 8, s. 134; 2009, c. 5, s. 230.

692.0.1. Where, solely by reason of the application of section 692, subparagraphs a to c of the first paragraph of section 688 do not apply to a distribution in a taxation year of taxable Canadian property by a trust, for the purposes of sections 1025, 1026 and 1026.0.2 to 1026.2, the first, second and third paragraphs of section 1038 and any regulations made under those provisions, the aggregate of the taxes payable by the trust under this Part for the year is deemed to be the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of the taxes payable by the trust under this Part for the year, determined without reference to the specified tax consequences for the year; and

(b) the amount that would be determined under paragraph a if section 692 did not apply to each distribution in the year of taxable Canadian property to which the rules set out in section 688 do not apply solely by reason of the application of section 692.

2003, c. 2, s. 184; 2015, c. 21, s. 227.

CHAPTER IX

ENVIRONMENTAL TRUSTS

1996, c. 39, s. 178; 2000, c. 5, s. 293.

692.1. Where a taxpayer is a beneficiary under an environmental trust in a taxation year of the trust, in this section referred to as the "trust's year", that ends in a particular taxation year of the taxpayer, the following rules apply:

(a) subject to paragraph b, the taxpayer's income, non-capital loss and net capital loss for the particular year shall be computed as if the amount of the income or loss of the trust for the trust's year from any source in Canada or from sources in another place were the income or loss of the taxpayer from that source in Canada or from sources in that other place for the particular year, to the extent of the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of such income or loss; and

(b) if the taxpayer is not resident in Canada at any time in the particular year and an income or loss described in paragraph a or an amount to which paragraph z or z.1 of section 87 applies would not otherwise be included in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the income, the loss or the amount shall be attributed to the carrying on of business in Canada by the taxpayer through a fixed place of business located in the province in which the site to which the trust relates is situated.

1996, c. 39, s. 178; 2000, c. 5, s. 152.

692.2. Where property of an environmental trust is transferred at any time to a beneficiary under the trust in satisfaction of all or any part of the beneficiary's interest as a beneficiary under the trust,

(a) the trust is deemed to have disposed of the property at that time and to have received proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at that time; and

(b) the beneficiary is deemed to have acquired the property at that time at a cost equal to its fair market value at that time.

1996, c. 39, s. 178; 2000, c. 5, s. 293; 2001, c. 7, s. 84.

692.3. Where a trust ceases at a particular time to be an environmental trust,

(a) (paragraph repealed);

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(b.1) for the purposes of sections 736, 736.0.2, 736.0.3.1 and 999.1, the trust is deemed to cease at that time to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income;

(c) each beneficiary under the trust immediately before the particular time is deemed to receive at that time from the trust, as a beneficiary under an environmental trust, an amount equal to the portion of the fair market value of the properties of the trust at the particular time that can reasonably be considered to be the beneficiary's interest in the trust; and

(d) each beneficiary under the trust is deemed to acquire at the particular time an interest in the trust at a cost equal to the amount deemed by paragraph c to be received by the beneficiary from the trust.

1996, c. 39, s. 178; 2000, c. 5, s. 293; 2017, c. 1, s. 164.

692.4. Sections 661 to 663, 665, 665.1, 684 to 689, 690.0.1 and 691 to 692 do not apply to a trust with respect to a taxation year during which it is an environmental trust.

1996, c. 39, s. 178; 2000, c. 5, s. 293.

CHAPTER X

QUALIFYING DISPOSITION

2003, c. 2, s. 185.

692.5. In this chapter, "qualifying disposition" means a disposition of property made by a person or partnership before 21 December 2002 and a disposition of property made by an individual after 20 December 2002, the person, partnership or individual being in this section referred to as the "contributor", as a result of a transfer of the property to a particular trust if

(a) the disposition does not result in a change in the beneficial ownership of the property;

(b) the proceeds of disposition would, but for sections 422 to 424, 427.4, 454 to 462.0.2 and this chapter, not be determined under any provisions of this Part;

(c) the particular trust is resident in Canada at the time of the transfer;

(d) (paragraph repealed);

(e) unless the contributor is a trust, there is immediately after the disposition no absolute or contingent right of a person or partnership, other than the contributor or, where the property is co-owned, each of the joint contributors, as a beneficiary, determined with reference to section 646.1, under the particular trust;

(f) the contributor is not an individual, other than a trust described in any of subparagraphs a to d of the third paragraph of section 647, if the particular trust is described in any of those subparagraphs;

(g) the disposition is not part of a series of transactions or events

i. that begins after 17 December 1999 and that includes the subsequent acquisition, for a particular consideration given to a personal trust, of a capital interest or an income interest in the trust,

ii. that begins after 17 December 1999 and that includes the disposition of all or part of a capital interest or an income interest in a personal trust, other than a disposition solely as a consequence of a distribution from a trust to a person or partnership as consideration for all or part of that interest, or

iii. that begins after 5 June 2000 and that includes the transfer to the particular trust of property as consideration for the acquisition of a capital interest in the particular trust, if the property can reasonably be considered to have been received by the particular trust in order to fund a distribution, other than a distribution that is proceeds of disposition of a capital interest in the particular trust;

(h) the disposition is not, and is not part of, a transaction that occurs after 17 December 1999 and that includes the giving to the contributor, for the disposition, of any consideration, other than consideration that is an interest of the contributor as a beneficiary under the particular trust or that is the assumption by the particular trust of debt for which the property can, at the time of the disposition, reasonably be considered to be security;

(i) section 454 does not apply to the disposition and would not apply to the disposition if no election had been made under that section and if sections 454 to 462.0.2 were read without reference to section 454.2; and

(j) if the contributor is an amateur athlete trust, a cemetery care trust, an employee trust, an employee life and health trust, a trust deemed by section 851.25 to exist in respect of a congregation that is a constituent part of a religious organization, a segregated fund trust within the meaning of section 851.2, a trust described in paragraph c.4 of section 998 or a trust governed by an eligible funeral arrangement, a profit sharing plan, a registered education savings plan, a registered disability savings plan, a registered supplementary unemployment benefit plan or a tax-free savings account, the particular trust is the same type of trust.

692.6. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 692.5, the following rules apply:

(a) except where paragraph b applies, where a trust, in this paragraph and in section 692.7 referred to as the "transferor trust", in a period that does not exceed one day, disposes of one or more properties in the period to one or more other trusts, there is deemed to be no resulting change in the beneficial ownership of those properties if

i. the transferor trust receives no consideration for the disposition, and

ii. as a consequence of the disposition, the value of each beneficiary's beneficial ownership at the beginning of the period under the transferor trust in each particular property of the transferor trust, or group of two or more properties of the transferor trust that are identical to each other, is the same as the value of the beneficiary's beneficial ownership at the end of the period under the transferor trust and the other trust or trusts in each particular property, or in property that was immediately before the disposition included in the group of identical properties referred to above; and

(b) where a trust, in this paragraph referred to as the "transferor", governed by a registered retirement savings plan or a registered retirement income fund transfers a property to a trust, in this paragraph referred to as the "transferee", governed by a registered retirement savings plan or a registered retirement income fund, the transfer is deemed not to result in a change in the beneficial ownership of the property if the annuitant of the plan or fund that governs the transferor is also the annuitant of the plan or fund that governs the transferee.

2003, c. 2, s. 185.

692.7. For the purpose of applying paragraph a of section 692.6 in respect of a transfer by a transferor trust of property that includes a share and money, the other trust or trusts referred to in that section may receive, in lieu of a transfer of a fractional interest in a share that would otherwise be required, a disproportionate amount of money or interest in the share, the value of which does not exceed the lesser of $200 and the fair market value of the fractional interest.

2003, c. 2, s. 185.

692.8. Where at a particular time there is a qualifying disposition of property by a person or partnership, in this section referred to as the "transferor", to a trust, in this section referred to as the "transferee trust", the following rules apply:

(a) the transferor's proceeds of disposition of the property are deemed to be

i. where the transferor makes a valid election under subparagraph i of paragraph a of subsection 3 of section 107.4 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) after 19 December 2006 in relation to the disposition, the greater of the cost amount to the transferor of the property immediately before the particular time and the amount specified in respect of the property in the election in accordance with that subparagraph i, and

ii. in any other case, the cost amount to the transferor of the property immediately before the particular time;

(b) the transferee trust's cost of the property is deemed to be the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph a in respect of the qualifying disposition exceeds the amount by which the transferor's loss otherwise determined from the qualifying disposition would be reduced by reason of section 638.1, the third and fourth paragraphs of section 686 or sections 741 to 744.2, if the amount determined under subparagraph a were equal to the fair market value of the property at the particular time;

(c) for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, Chapter III of Title III and any regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or under section 130.1, if the property was depreciable property of a prescribed class of the transferor and its capital cost to the transferor exceeds the cost at which the transferee trust is deemed by this section to have acquired the property, the following rules apply:

i. the capital cost of the property to the transferee trust is deemed to be the amount that was the capital cost of the property to the transferor, and

ii. the excess is deemed to have been allowed as depreciation to the transferee trust in respect of the property for taxation years that ended before the particular time;

(d) (subparagraph repealed);

(e) if, as a result of a transaction or event, the property was deemed to be taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the transferor under this subparagraph, subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 280.6, subparagraph d of the first paragraph of section 301, any of sections 521, 538 and 540.4, paragraph b of section 540.6, section 554, subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 614 or paragraph d of section 688.4, the property is also deemed to be, at any time that is within 60 months after the transaction or event, taxable Québec property or taxable Canadian property of the transferee trust;

(f) where the transferor is a segregated fund trust, within the meaning of section 851.2, the following rules apply:

i. section 851.14 does not apply in respect of a disposition of interest in the transferor that occurs in connection with the qualifying disposition, and

ii. for the purpose of computing the amount referred to in section 851.14 in respect of a subsequent disposition of an interest in the transferee trust where the interest is deemed to exist in connection with a life insurance policy, the acquisition fee, within the meaning of section 851.17, in respect of the policy shall be determined as if each amount referred to in sections 851.17 and 851.18 in respect of the policyholder's interest in the transferor had been determined in respect of the policyholder's interest in the transferee trust;

(g) if the transferor is a trust to which property was transferred by an individual, other than a trust, the following rules apply:

i. where section 454 applied in respect of the property so transferred and it is reasonable to consider that the property was so transferred in anticipation of the individual ceasing to be resident in Canada, for the application of subparagraph a.3 of the first paragraph of section 653 and this subparagraph to a disposition by the transferee trust after the particular time, the transferee trust is deemed after the particular time to be a trust to which the individual had transferred property in anticipation of the individual ceasing to be resident in Canada and in circumstances to which section 454 applied, and

ii. for the purposes of paragraph j of the definition of "excluded right or interest" in section 785.0.1 and the application of this subparagraph to a disposition by the transferee trust after the particular time, where the property so transferred was transferred in circumstances to which this section would apply if section 692.5 were read without reference to paragraphs h and i thereof, the transferee trust is deemed after the particular time to be a trust an interest in which was acquired by the individual as a consequence of a qualifying disposition;

(h) if the transferor is a trust, other than a personal trust or a trust prescribed for the purposes of section 688, the transferee trust is deemed to be neither a personal trust nor a trust prescribed for the purposes of section 688;

(i) if the transferor is a trust and a taxpayer disposes of all or part of a capital interest in the transferor because of the qualifying disposition and, as a consequence, acquires a capital interest or part of it in the transferee trust, the following rules apply:

i. the taxpayer is deemed to dispose of the capital interest or part of it in the transferor for proceeds equal to the cost amount to the taxpayer of that interest or part of it immediately before the particular time, and

ii. the taxpayer is deemed to acquire the capital interest or part of it in the transferee trust at a cost equal to the amount by which the cost amount referred to in subparagraph i exceeds the amount by which the taxpayer's loss otherwise determined from the disposition referred to in subparagraph i would be reduced by reason of the third and fourth paragraphs of section 686, if the proceeds under that subparagraph were equal to the fair market value of the capital interest or part of it in the transferor immediately before the particular time;

(j) where the transferor is a trust, a taxpayer's beneficial ownership in the property ceases to be derived from the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor because of the qualifying disposition and no part of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor was disposed of because of the qualifying disposition, there shall, immediately after the particular time, be added to the cost otherwise determined of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferee trust, the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times [(B - C)/B] - D;$$

(k) where subparagraph j applies to the qualifying disposition in respect of a taxpayer, the amount that would be determined under that subparagraph in respect of the qualifying disposition if the amount determined under subparagraph d of the second paragraph were nil shall, immediately after the particular time, be deducted in computing the cost otherwise determined of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor;

(l) where subparagraphs i and j do not apply in respect of the qualifying disposition, the transferor is deemed to acquire the capital interest or part of it in the transferee trust that is acquired as a consequence of the qualifying disposition

i. where the transferee trust is a personal trust, at a cost equal to nil, and

ii. in any other case, at a cost equal to the excess referred to in subparagraph b in respect of the qualifying disposition; and

(m) for the purposes of section 684, where the transferor is a trust and a taxpayer disposes of all or part of an income interest in the transferor because of the qualifying disposition and, as a consequence, acquires an income interest or a part of an income interest in the transferee trust, the taxpayer is deemed not to dispose of any part of the income interest in the transferor at the particular time.

In the formula provided for in subparagraph j of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the cost amount to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor immediately before the particular time;

(b) B is the fair market value immediately before the particular time of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor;

(c) C is the fair market value at the particular time of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor, determined as if the only property disposed of at the particular time were the particular property; and

(d) D is the lesser of

i. the amount by which the cost amount to the taxpayer of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor immediately before the particular time exceeds the fair market value of the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor immediately before the particular time, and

ii. the maximum amount by which the taxpayer's loss from a disposition of a capital interest otherwise determined would be reduced by reason of the third and fourth paragraphs of section 686 if the taxpayer's capital interest in the transferor had been disposed of immediately before the particular time.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to an election made under subparagraph i of paragraph a of subsection 3 of section 107.4 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to an election made under this section before 20 December 2006.

692.9. Where a capital interest in a trust is held by a beneficiary at any time, the interest is vested indefeasibly at that time, the trust is not described in any of subparagraphs a to d of the third paragraph of section 647 and interests under the trust are not ordinarily disposed of for consideration that reflects the fair market value of the net assets of the trust, the fair market value of the interest at that time is deemed to be not less than the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times (C / D).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the total fair market value of all properties of the trust at the time referred to in the first paragraph;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a debt owing by the trust at the time referred to in the first paragraph or the amount of any other obligation of the trust to pay any amount that is outstanding at that time;

(c) C is the fair market value at the time referred to in the first paragraph of the interest referred to in the first paragraph, determined without reference to this section; and

(d) D is the total fair market value at the time referred to in the first paragraph of all interests as beneficiaries under the trust, determined without reference to this section.

BOOK IV

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

1972, c. 23.

TITLE I

RULE OF APPLICATION

1972, c. 23.

693. A taxpayer may, for purposes of computing his taxable income for a taxation year, deduct the amounts provided for by this Book.

However, the taxpayer shall apply the provisions of this Book in the following order: Title I.0.0.1, sections 694.0.1, 694.0.2, 737.17, 737.18.12, 726.29 and 726.43 to 726.43.2, Titles V, VI.8, V.1, VI.2, VI.3, VI.3.1, VI. 3.2, VI.3.2.1, VI.3.2.2, VI.3.2.3, VII, VII.0.1, VI.5 and VI.5.1, and sections 725.1.2, 737.16, 737.18.10, 737.18.11, 737.18.17.5, 737.18.17.17, 737.18.40, 737.18.44, 737.21, 737.22.0.0.3, 737.22.0.0.7, 737.22.0.3, 737.22.0.4.7, 737.22.0.7, 737.22.0.10, 737.22.0.13, 737.25, 737.28, 726.28 and 726.42.

693.1. Where a separate fiscal return with respect to an individual is filed under any of sections 429, 681 and 1003 for a particular period and another fiscal return under this Part with respect to the same individual is filed for a period ending in the calendar year in which the particular period ends, for the purpose of computing the taxable income under this Part of the individual in such fiscal returns, the aggregate of all deductions claimed in all such returns under sections 725 to 725.5 shall not exceed the aggregate of the deductions that could be claimed thereunder for the year with respect to the individual if no separate fiscal returns were filed under sections 429, 681 and 1003.

693.2. In this Book, except Title VI.11, the following rules apply in respect of a taxpayer if one or more partnerships (each of which is in this section referred to as an "interposed partnership") are interposed between the taxpayer and a given partnership, for a given fiscal period of the given partnership:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to be a member of a particular partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period of the particular partnership and that particular fiscal period is deemed to end in the taxpayer's taxation year in which ends the fiscal period of the interposed partnership of which the taxpayer is directly a member, if

i. the particular fiscal period is that which ends in the fiscal period (in this section referred to as the "interposed fiscal period") of the interposed partnership that is a member of the particular partnership at the end of that particular fiscal period, and

ii. the taxpayer is a member, or deemed to be a member under this subparagraph a, of the interposed partnership described in subparagraph i at the end of the interposed partnership's interposed fiscal period; and

(b) the taxpayer's share in an amount in respect of the given partnership for the given fiscal period is deemed to be equal to the proportion of that amount represented by the proportion obtained by multiplying the agreed proportion in respect of the taxpayer for the interposed fiscal period of the interposed partnership of which the taxpayer is directly a member, by

i. if there is only one interposed partnership, the agreed proportion in respect of the interposed partnership for the given partnership's given fiscal period, or

ii. if there is more than one interposed partnership, the result obtained by multiplying together all proportions each of which is the agreed proportion in respect of an interposed partnership for the particular fiscal period of the particular partnership referred to in subparagraph a of which the interposed partnership is a member at the end of that particular fiscal period.

If the first paragraph applies for the purpose of determining an amount that a corporation may deduct under Title V because of section 714, subparagraph b of that paragraph is to be read as follows:

"(b) the proportion of the taxpayer's share in the given partnership for the given fiscal period is deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the proportion of the taxpayer's share in the interposed partnership of which the taxpayer is directly a member for the interposed partnership's interposed fiscal period, by

i. if there is only one interposed partnership, the proportion of the interposed partnership's share in the given partnership for the given fiscal period, or

ii. if there is more than one interposed partnership, the result obtained by multiplying together all proportions each of which is the proportion of an interposed partnership's share in the particular partnership referred to in subparagraph a of which the interposed partnership is a member at the end of the particular partnership's particular fiscal period for that particular fiscal period."

2009, c. 15, s. 102; 2017, c. 29, s. 92; 2021, c. 14, s. 59.

693.3. Section 693.2 does not apply in respect of a taxpayer, in relation to a given partnership, if the Minister is of the opinion that the interposition, between the taxpayer and the given partnership, of one or more other partnerships is part of an operation or transaction or of a series of operations or transactions, one of the purposes of which is to cause the taxpayer to be able to deduct, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year under a provision of this Book, an amount greater than the amount that the taxpayer could have so deducted for that taxation year, but for that interposition.

693.4. In this Book, except Titles V, VI.3 and VI.9, where a Minister other than the Minister of Revenue or a body replaces or revokes a certificate, qualification certificate or other similar document that has been issued to a person or a partnership, the following rules apply in respect of the document, unless a more specific similar rule applies to it:

(a) the replaced document is null as of the date of its coming into force or of its deemed coming into force and the new document is deemed, unless it provides otherwise, to come into force as of that date and to have been issued at the time the replaced document was issued or is deemed to have been issued; and

(b) the revoked document is null as of the effective date of the revocation and is deemed not to have been issued, obtained or held as of that date.

Where a document is, without being replaced, amended by the revocation or replacement of any of its parts or in any other manner, the document before the amendment and the document as amended are deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be separate documents the first of which (referred to as the "replaced document") has been replaced by the second (referred to as the "new document").

Where, in the circumstances described in the second paragraph, a document is amended only for a part of its period of validity, the new document is deemed to describe both the situation prevailing before the amendment, as proven by the content of the replaced document, and the new situation, as proven by the content of the new document.

2012, c. 8, s. 59.

693.5. Where the amount of $400,000 referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7.1 is to be used for a taxation year subsequent to the taxation year 2014, it must be adjusted annually in such a manner that the amount used for that taxation year is equal to the total of the amount that, but for the fifth paragraph, would have been used for the preceding taxation year and the product that is obtained by multiplying that amount so used by the factor determined by the formula

(A/B) - 1.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the Consumer Price Index for the 12-month period that ended on 30 September of the taxation year preceding that for which an amount is to be adjusted; and

(b) B is the Consumer Price Index for the 12-month period preceding the period described in subparagraph a.

For the purposes of the second paragraph, the Consumer Price Index for a 12-month period is equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the aggregate of each monthly Consumer Price Index for that period for Canada established by Statistics Canada under the Statistics Act (R.S.C.1985, c. S-19) by 12.

If an index established in accordance with the third paragraph or the factor determined by the formula in the first paragraph has more than three decimal places, only the first three decimal digits are retained and the third is increased by one unit if the fourth is greater than 4.

If the amount that results from the adjustment provided for in the first paragraph is not a multiple of $1, it must be rounded to the nearest multiple of $1 or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher of the two.

2015, c. 24, s. 93; 2020, c. 16, s. 98.

694. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of a taxpayer for a taxation year, any deduction granted to the taxpayer under a provision of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a preceding taxation year in respect of which the taxpayer was not subject to tax under this Part, is deemed to have been also granted to the taxpayer under the corresponding provision of this Part in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that preceding year.

1977, c. 26, s. 79; 1984, c. 15, s. 156; 2001, c. 53, s. 91; 2010, c. 25, s. 59.

TITLE I.0.0.1

INCLUSION OF CERTAIN AMOUNTS

2006, c. 36, s. 47; 2009, c. 15, s. 103.

694.0.0.1. An individual shall include, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(a) an amount received in the year by the individual as a benefit under section 4 of the Universal Child Care Benefit Act, enacted by section 168 of the Budget Implementation Act, 2006 (S.C. 2006, c. 4), if the individual does not have a spouse at the end of 31 December of the year or if the income for the year of the individual's spouse at the end of 31 December of the year is equal to or greater than the individual's income for the year; or

(b) an amount received in the year by the individual's spouse at the end of 31 December of the year as a benefit under section 4 of the Universal Child Care Benefit Act, if the spouse's income for the year is greater than the individual's income for the year.

Despite the first paragraph, the individual is not required to include, in computing taxable income for the year, if the individual so elects, the portion of the amount referred to in the first paragraph that relates to one or more preceding taxation years that are eligible taxation years of the individual (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular portion"), if the total of the particular portion and of the particular portion described in the first paragraph of section 725.1.2 that the individual elects to deduct in computing taxable income for the year, if applicable, is not less than $300.

For the purposes of the second paragraph, "eligible taxation year" of an individual means a taxation year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, other than a taxation year that ends in a calendar year in which the individual became a bankrupt.

2006, c. 36, s. 47; 2009, c. 5, s. 234; 2010, c. 25, s. 60.

694.0.0.2. For the purposes of the first paragraph of section 694.0.0.1, if an individual has a spouse at the end of 31 December of a taxation year and the individual or the spouse became a bankrupt in the year, section 779 does not apply for the purpose of determining the individual's or the spouse's income for the year.

2009, c. 5, s. 235.

694.0.0.3. An individual shall, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, include an amount received by the individual in the year as a payment under a registered disability savings plan, to the extent provided for in section 905.0.14.

2009, c. 15, s. 104.

TITLE I.0.1

DEDUCTED AMOUNTS TO BE INCLUDED IN COMPUTING INCOME

1997, c. 85, s. 104.

694.0.1. An individual shall, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, include the portion, relating to one or more preceding taxation years that are eligible taxation years of the individual, of the aggregate of all amounts deducted by the individual in computing the individual's income for the year under section 336.0.3 or 336.0.4, if the total of that portion is at least $300.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, "eligible taxation year" of an individual means a taxation year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, other than a taxation year that ends in a calendar year in which the individual became a bankrupt or a taxation year included, in whole or in part, in an averaging period determined in respect of the individual for the purposes of Division II of Chapter II of Title I of Book V, as it read before being repealed.

694.0.2. Despite section 7.19, a taxpayer shall, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year, include any amount deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year as a repayment of a particular amount the taxpayer included in computing the taxpayer's income for a preceding taxation year, to the extent that the particular amount has been deducted in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that preceding taxation year.

CHARITABLE GIFTS AND OTHER DEDUCTIONS

1972, c. 23; 1993, c. 16, s. 250; 1995, c. 49, s. 236; 2015, c. 21, s. 229.

710. Subject to section 711.1, a corporation may deduct in computing its taxable income for a taxation year such of the following amounts as the corporation claims:

(a) subject to section 711, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift, other than a gift the eligible amount of which is included in the aggregate described in any of paragraphs c to e, made by the corporation in the year, in any of the five preceding taxation years, if the gift was made in a taxation year that ended before 24 March 2006, or in any of the 20 preceding taxation years, if the gift is made in a taxation year that ends after 23 March 2006, to a qualified donee;

(a.1) (paragraph repealed);

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(c) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift the fair market value of which is certified by the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks and the object of which is any of the properties described in section 710.0.1, other than a gift the eligible amount of which is included in the aggregate described in paragraph d or e, made by the corporation in the year, in any of the five preceding taxation years, if the gift was made in a taxation year that ended before 24 March 2006, or in any of the 20 preceding taxation years, if the gift is made in a taxation year that ends after 23 March 2006,

i. in the case of a property described in paragraph a or b of section 710.0.1, to a qualified donee that is

(1) a registered charity (other than a private foundation) whose mission in Québec, at the time of the gift, consists mainly, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, in the conservation of the ecological heritage and that is, in the opinion of that Minister, an appropriate donee in the circumstances,

(2) a municipality in Québec that is, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, an appropriate donee in the circumstances,

(2.1) a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Québec and that is, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, an appropriate donee in the circumstances, or

(3) the State or Her Majesty in right of Canada, and

ii. in the case of a property described in paragraph c or d of section 710.0.1, to any of the following entities that, except in the case provided for in subparagraph 3, is a qualified donee:

(1) a registered charity (other than a private foundation) one of the main missions of which, at the time of the gift, consists, in the opinion of the Minister of the Environment of Canada, in the conservation and protection of Canada's environmental heritage and that is, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, an appropriate donee in the circumstances,

(2) the State or Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province, other than Québec,

(2.1) a municipality in Canada or a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada that is, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, an appropriate donee in the circumstances,

(3) the United States or any state of that country, or

(4) a municipality in the United States or a municipal or public body performing a function of government in the United States that is, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, an appropriate donee in the circumstances;

(d) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift, other than a gift the eligible amount of which is included in the aggregate described in paragraph e, made by the corporation in the year, in any of the five preceding taxation years, if the gift was made in a taxation year that ended before 24 March 2006, or in any of the 20 preceding taxation years, if the gift is made in a taxation year that ends after 23 March 2006, to

i. an institution or a public authority referred to in subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 232, where the object of the gift is a cultural property described in that paragraph, or

ii. a museum established under the Act respecting the Montréal Museum of Fine Arts (chapter M-42) or the National Museums Act (chapter M-44), a certified archival centre or a recognized museum, if the object of the gift is a cultural property described in subparagraph c of the third paragraph of section 232, unless it is also described in subparagraph a of that third paragraph; and

(e) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift the object of which is a musical instrument, made by the corporation in the year or in any of the 20 preceding taxation years to any of the following entities, if it is situated in Québec:

i. an elementary or secondary educational institution to which the Education Act (chapter I-13.3) or the Education Act for Cree, Inuit and Naskapi Native Persons (chapter I-14) applies,

ii. a college governed by the General and Vocational Colleges Act (chapter C-29),

iii. a private educational institution accredited for purposes of subsidies under the Act respecting private education (chapter E-9.1),

iv. an educational institution at the university level within the meaning of the Act respecting educational institutions at the university level (chapter E-14.1), and

v. an institution providing instruction in music and forming part of the network of the Conservatoire de musique et d'art dramatique du Québec.

2009, c. 15, s. 106; 2019, c. 14, s. 181.

710.0.1. The property to which paragraph c of section 710 refers is

(a) land situated in Québec which, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, has undeniable ecological value;

(b) a personal servitude which has a term of not less than 100 years or a real servitude granted for the benefit of land belonging to an entity referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3 of subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 710 and encumbering the whole or part of land situated in Québec which, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, has undeniable ecological value;

(c) land situated in a region bordering on Québec which, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, has undeniable ecological value, the preservation and conservation of which is important to the protection and development of Québec's ecological heritage; and

(d) a personal servitude which has a term of not less than 100 years or a real servitude granted for the benefit of land belonging to an entity referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 2.1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph c of section 710 and encumbering the whole or part of land situated in a region bordering on Québec which, in the opinion of the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, has undeniable ecological value, the preservation and conservation of which is important to the protection and development of Québec's ecological heritage.

710.0.1.1. For the purposes of paragraphs c and d of section 710.0.1, a region bordering on Québec is a province or a state of the United States sharing a common border with Québec.

2003, c. 9, s. 44.

710.0.2. For the purpose of applying subparagraph ii of paragraph c of section 422 and sections 710 to 716.0.11 in respect of a gift made by a taxpayer and referred to in paragraph c of section 710, the fair market value of the gift at the time the gift was made or, for the purposes of section 716, the fair market value otherwise determined of the gift at that time and, subject to section 716, the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property that is the subject of the gift, are deemed to be the amount determined by the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks to be

(a) where the subject of the gift is land, the fair market value of the gift; or

(b) where the subject of the gift is a servitude referred to in paragraph b or d of section 710.0.1, the greater of its fair market value otherwise determined and the amount by which the fair market value of the land encumbered by the servitude has been reduced as a result of the making of the gift of the servitude.

710.1. For the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph d of section 710, the fair market value of a cultural property described in subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 232 is deemed to be the fair market value determined by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board or, where an appeal has been instituted under subsection 1 of section 33.1 of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter C-51), the fair market value deemed to have been determined by the Board, for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), under subsection 2 of that section 33.1.

1993, c. 16, s. 252; 1997, c. 85, s. 105; 1999, c. 83, s. 65; 2003, c. 9, s. 46.

710.2. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of paragraph d of section 710, the fair market value of a cultural property referred to therein is deemed to be the fair market value determined by the Conseil du patrimoine culturel du Québec.

1993, c. 19, s. 25; 1997, c. 85, s. 105; 1999, c. 83, s. 273; 2011, c. 21, s. 232.

710.2.1. For the purposes of subparagraph ii of paragraph c of section 422 and sections 710 to 716.0.11, where at any time the Canadian Cultural Export Review Board or the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, as the case may be, determines or redetermines an amount to be the fair market value of a property that is the subject of a gift described in paragraph a of section 710 made by a taxpayer within the two-year period that begins at that time, the last amount so determined or redetermined within the period is deemed to be the fair market value of the property at the time the gift was made and, subject to section 716, to be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property.

710.2.1.1. Despite section 710.2.1, for the purposes of paragraph a of section 422, subparagraph ii of paragraph c of that section and sections 710 to 716.0.11, where the Minister of Culture and Communications determines an amount to be the fair market value of a property that is the subject of a gift made by a taxpayer on or before the day that is two years after the time that amount is determined and referred to in paragraph a of section 710, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount so determined is deemed to be the fair market value of the property at the time of the gift or, for the purposes of section 716, its fair market value otherwise determined at that time; and

(b) subject to section 716, the amount so determined is deemed to be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property.

2015, c. 21, s. 231.

710.2.2. A corporation may request, by notice in writing to the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks, a determination of the fair market value of a property it disposes of or proposes to dispose of and that would, if the disposition were made and the certificates described in section 712.0.2 were issued by the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks in respect of the property, be a gift described in paragraph c of section 710.

2003, c. 2, s. 189; 2006, c. 3, s. 35.

710.2.3. The Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks shall with all due dispatch make a determination in accordance with section 710.0.2 of the fair market value of the property that is the subject of the request referred to in section 710.2.2 and give notice of the determination in writing to the corporation that has disposed of, or that proposes to dispose of, the property.

However, no such determination shall be made if the request is received by the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks after three years after the end of the corporation's taxation year in which the disposition occurred.

2003, c. 2, s. 189; 2006, c. 3, s. 35.

710.2.4. Where the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks has, in accordance with section 710.2.3, notified a corporation of the amount determined to be the fair market value of a property it has disposed of or proposes to dispose of, the following rules apply:

(a) on receipt of a written request made by the corporation on or before the day that is 90 days after the day that the corporation was so notified, the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks shall with all due dispatch confirm or redetermine the fair market value;

(b) the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks may, on that Minister's own initiative, at any time redetermine the fair market value;

(c) in the cases referred to in paragraphs a and b, the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks shall notify the corporation in writing of that Minister's confirmation or redetermination; and

(d) any such redetermination is deemed to replace all preceding determinations and redeterminations of the fair market value of the property from the time at which the first such determination was made.

2003, c. 2, s. 189; 2006, c. 3, s. 35.

710.2.5. Where the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks determines in accordance with section 710.2.3 the fair market value of a property, or redetermines that fair market value in accordance with section 710.2.4, and the property has been disposed of to a qualified donee described in paragraph c of section 710, the Minister shall issue to the person who made the disposition a certificate that states the fair market value of the property so determined or redetermined.

Where the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks has issued more than one certificate in respect of the same property, the last certificate is deemed to replace all preceding certificates from the time at which the first certificate was issued.

2003, c. 2, s. 189; 2006, c. 3, s. 35.

710.2.6. A corporation may request, by notice in writing to the Minister of Culture and Communications, a determination of the fair market value of a property (other than a cultural property described in the third paragraph of section 232) it disposes of or proposes to dispose of and that would, if the disposition were made and the documents referred to in section 716.0.1.3 were issued by the Minister of Culture and Communications in respect of the property, be a gift described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 or in section 716.0.1.2.

2015, c. 21, s. 232.

710.2.7. The Minister of Culture and Communications shall with all due dispatch make a determination of the fair market value of a property that is the subject of a request referred to in section 710.2.6 and give notice of the determination in writing to the corporation that has disposed of, or that proposes to dispose of, the property.

However, no such determination is made if the request is received by the Minister of Culture and Communications more than three years after the end of the corporation's taxation year in which the disposition occurred.

2015, c. 21, s. 232.

710.2.8. Where the Minister of Culture and Communications has, in accordance with section 710.2.7, notified a corporation of the amount determined to be the fair market value of a property it has disposed of or proposes to dispose of, the following rules apply:

(a) on receipt of a written request made by the corporation on or before the day that is 90 days after the day that the corporation was so notified, the Minister of Culture and Communications shall with all due dispatch confirm or redetermine the fair market value;

(b) the Minister of Culture and Communications may, on that Minister's own initiative, at any time redetermine the fair market value;

(c) in the cases referred to in paragraphs a and b, the Minister of Culture and Communications shall notify the corporation in writing of the confirmation or redetermination; and

(d) any such redetermination is deemed to replace all preceding determinations and redeterminations of the fair market value of the property from the time at which the first such determination was made.

2015, c. 21, s. 232.

710.2.9. Where the Minister of Culture and Communications determines the fair market value of a property in accordance with section 710.2.7, or redetermines that fair market value in accordance with section 710.2.8, and the property has been the subject of a gift described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 or in section 716.0.1.2, that Minister shall issue to the corporation who made the disposition a certificate that states the fair market value of the property so determined or redetermined and send a copy of that certificate to the donee and the Minister.

Where the Minister of Culture and Communications has issued more than one certificate in respect of the same property, the last certificate is deemed to replace all preceding certificates from the time at which the first certificate was issued.

2015, c. 21, s. 232.

710.3. Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, the Minister shall make such assessments, reassessments or additional assessments of tax, interest or penalties payable under this Part for any taxation year as are necessary to give effect

(a) to a certificate issued under section 105 of the Cultural Heritage Act (chapter P-9.002) or to a decision of a court resulting from a contestation under section 107 of that Act;

(b) to a certificate issued under subsection 1 of section 33 of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. C-51) or to a decision of a court resulting from an appeal under subsection 1 of section 33.1 of that Act; or

(c) to a certificate issued under section 710.2.5 or 710.2.9 or to a decision of a court resulting from a contestation under section 93.1.15.2 or 93.1.15.3 of the Tax Administration Act (chapter A-6.002).

710.4. For the purposes of this Title, the following rules apply:

(a) the gift of the bare ownership of a work of art or a cultural property described in the third paragraph of section 232 and made in the course of a recognized gift with reserve of usufruct or use is deemed to be, subject to section 714.1, the gift of a work of art or of such a cultural property ; and

(b) the fair market value of a recognized gift with reserve of usufruct or use, in relation to a work of art or a cultural property described in the third paragraph of section 232, is deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the amount of the fair market value of the work of art or of the cultural property, as the case may be, otherwise determined with reference to sections 710.1, 710.2, 710.2.1, 710.2.1.1, 714.2 and 716 by the appropriate percentage determined in section 710.5.

2003, c. 9, s. 47; 2015, c. 21, s. 234.

710.5. The percentage to which section 710.4 refers in respect of a recognized gift with reserve of usufruct or use is

(a) 87% where the duration of the usufruct or right of use provided for in the deed of gift granting it is 10 years or less;

(b) 74% where the duration of the usufruct or right of use provided for in the deed of gift granting it is more than 10 years and 20 years or less; and

(c) 61% in any other case.

2003, c. 9, s. 47.

711. The deduction allowed by paragraph a of section 710 shall not exceed the lesser of the corporation's income for the year and the amount determined by the formula

$$0.75 \times A + 0.25 \times (B + C + D).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the corporation's income for the year computed before any deduction under section 800;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to that proportion of the corporation's taxable capital gain for the year in respect of a gift made by the corporation in the year and in respect of which gift an eligible amount is described in paragraph a of section 710 for the year, that the eligible amount of the gift is of the corporation's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a taxable capital gain of the corporation for the year, by reason of the application of section 234.0.1, from a disposition of a property in a preceding taxation year; and

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined in respect of the corporation's depreciable property of a prescribed class and equal to the lesser of

i. the amount included under section 94 in respect of the class in computing the corporation's income for the year, and

ii. the aggregate of the amounts determined in respect of a disposition that is the making of a gift of a property of the class by the corporation in the year and in respect of which gift an eligible amount is described in paragraph a of section 710 for the year, each of which is equal to the lesser of

(1) that proportion of the amount by which the proceeds of disposition of the property exceed any outlays made or expenses incurred by the corporation for the purpose of making the disposition, that the eligible amount of the gift is of the corporation's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift, and

(2) that proportion of the capital cost to the corporation of the property that the eligible amount of the gift is of the corporation's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift.

1972, c. 23, s. 533; 1975, c. 22, s. 200; 1982, c. 5, s. 142; 1986, c. 19, s. 141; 1993, c. 16, s. 253; 1993, c. 19, s. 26; 1993, c. 64, s. 44; 1995, c. 1, s. 51; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1999, c. 83, s. 66; 2005, c. 23, s. 58; 2009, c. 5, s. 237.

711.1. For the purpose of determining the amount deductible under section 710 in computing the taxable income of a corporation for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) an amount relating to a gift is deductible only to the extent that it exceeds amounts in respect of the gift deducted in computing the corporation's taxable income for preceding taxation years; and

(b) no amount in respect of a gift made in a particular taxation year is deductible under any of paragraphs a to e of section 710 until amounts deductible under that paragraph in respect of gifts made in taxation years preceding the particular year have been deducted.

1999, c. 83, s. 67; 2006, c. 36, s. 49.

711.2. Despite section 563, if control of a particular corporation is acquired at any time by a person or group of persons, the following rules apply:

(a) no amount is deductible under any of paragraphs a to e of section 710 in computing any corporation's taxable income for a taxation year that ends at or after that time in respect of a gift made by the particular corporation before that time; and

(b) no amount is deductible under any of paragraphs a to e of section 710 in computing any corporation's taxable income for a taxation year that ends at or after that time in respect of a gift made by any corporation at or after that time if the property that is the subject of the gift was acquired by the particular corporation under an arrangement under which it was expected that control of the particular corporation would be so acquired by a person or group of persons, other than a qualified donee that received the gift, and that the gift would be so made.

2005, c. 38, s. 86; 2006, c. 36, s. 50.

712. No corporation may deduct, for a taxation year, an amount under section 710, unless the making of the gift is proven by

(a) a receipt for the gift filed with the Minister that meets the prescribed requirement and contains in a clear and unalterable manner the prescribed statement and the prescribed information; and

(b) in the case of a gift described in subparagraph i of paragraph d of section 710, the certificate issued under subsection 1 of section 33 of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter C-51).

1972, c. 23, s. 534; 1978, c. 26, s. 123; 1982, c. 5, s. 142; 1994, c. 22, s. 244; 2003, c. 2, s. 191.

712.0.0.1. An organization or a donee shall meet the prescribed requirements in respect of a spoiled receipt form.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, "donee", "receipt form" and "organization" have the meaning assigned by the regulations made under section 712.

1994, c. 22, s. 245.

712.0.1. No corporation may deduct, for a taxation year, an amount under section 710 in respect of a gift of a property described in subparagraph ii of paragraph d of that section unless it files with the Minister, together with the fiscal return it is required to file under section 1000 for the year, a certificate issued by the Conseil du patrimoine culturel du Québec stating that the property was acquired by a museum established under the Act respecting the Montréal Museum of Fine Arts (chapter M-42) or the National Museums Act (chapter M-44), a certified archival centre or a recognized museum, in accordance with its acquisition and conservation policy and with the directives of the Ministère de la Culture et des Communications, and specifying the fair market value of the property determined in accordance with section 710.2 and, if applicable, section 710.4.

712.0.2. No corporation may deduct, for a taxation year, an amount under paragraph c of section 710 in respect of a gift unless it files with the Minister, along with the fiscal return it is required to file under section 1000 for the year, the following certificates issued by the Minister of Sustainable Development, Environment and Parks:

(a) the certificate certifying that

i. in the case of a gift whose object is a property described in paragraph a or b of section 710.0.1, the land referred to in that paragraph a or the land encumbered with a servitude referred to in that paragraph b, as the case may be, has undeniable ecological value and, where such is the case, that the mission in Québec of a charity referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 710 consists mainly, at the time of the gift, in the conservation of the ecological heritage, and

ii. in the case of a gift whose object is a property described in paragraph c or d of section 710.0.1, the land referred to in that paragraph c or the land encumbered with a servitude referred to in that paragraph d, as the case may be, has undeniable ecological value, the preservation and conservation of which is important to the protection and development of Québec's ecological heritage and, where such is the case, that a charity referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of paragraph c of section 710 is an appropriate donee in the circumstances; and

(b) the certificate relating to the fair market value of the gift referred to in that paragraph c.

1995, c. 1, s. 52; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1999, c. 36, s. 160; 1999, c. 83, s. 68; 2003, c. 2, s. 192; 2003, c. 9, s. 49; 2006, c. 3, s. 35; 2010, c. 25, s. 61.

712.1. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 164; 1986, c. 19, s. 142; 1993, c. 64, s. 46.

713. (Repealed).

1972, c. 23, s. 535; 1984, c. 15, s. 164; 1993, c. 64, s. 46.

713.1. Notwithstanding section 710, no amount may be deducted by a corporation in respect of a gift of property that is a certified Québec film or a Québec film production, within the meaning assigned to those terms by the regulations under section 130, if the gift is made by the corporation within a period of three years commencing on the day on which the property is acquired by it.

1992, c. 1, s. 34; 1993, c. 64, s. 47; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

714. For the purposes of this Title, where a corporation is a member of a partnership at the end of the fiscal period of such partnership, the eligible amount of a gift made in the name of the partnership is deemed to be the eligible amount of a gift made by the corporation during its taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership ends, up to the proportion of its share in such partnership.

1972, c. 23, s. 536; 1993, c. 64, s. 48; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2009, c. 5, s. 238; 2019, c. 14, s. 183.

714.1. For the purposes of this Title, where at any time a corporation makes a gift of a work of art referred to in the second paragraph to a donee referred to in any of paragraphs b to e and g to j of the definition of "qualified donee" in section 999.2 or in any of subparagraphs i, iv and v of paragraph a of the definition of "qualified donee" in subsection 1 of section 149.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) and whose registration as a qualified donee has not been revoked by the Minister of National Revenue, other than such a donee who acquires the work of art in connection with its primary mission, the corporation is deemed, in respect of that work of art, not to have made a gift unless the donee disposes of the work of art on or before 31 December of the fifth calendar year following the year that includes that time.

The work of art to which the first paragraph refers is a print, an etching, a drawing, a painting, a sculpture or any work of a similar nature, a tapestry or hand-woven carpet or hand-made appliqué, a lithograph, a rare folio, a rare manuscript or a rare book, a stamp or a coin.

This section does not apply where a corporation makes a gift of a work of art referred to in section 716.0.1.2 to a donee described in subparagraph c of the second paragraph of that section.

714.2. If, at any given time, a corporation makes a gift of a work of art referred to in section 714.1 to a donee referred to in that section, the lesser of the amount that may reasonably be considered as the consideration for the disposition by the donee of the work of art and its fair market value at the time of the disposition, is deemed, for the purposes of section 710, to be the fair market value for the purpose of computing the eligible amount of the gift at the given time and, for the purposes of section 716, to be the fair market value of the capital property at the given time.

1995, c. 63, s. 50; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2009, c. 5, s. 239.

715. (Repealed).

1973, c. 17, s. 84; 1993, c. 64, s. 49.

716. The rule set out in the second paragraph applies if, at any time, a corporation makes a gift of a capital property to a qualified donee or, if the corporation is not resident in Canada, a gift of an immovable property situated in Canada to a prescribed donee who provides an undertaking, in a form satisfactory to the Minister, to the effect that the property will be held for use in the public interest, the corporation designates, after 19 December 2006 and in accordance with subsection 3 of section 110.1 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), an amount in respect of the gift, and, at that time, the fair market value of the capital property or immovable property exceeds

(a) in the case of a depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the undepreciated capital cost of that class at the end of the taxation year of the corporation that includes that time, determined without reference to the proceeds of disposition determined in respect of the property under the second paragraph, and the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the property immediately before that time; and

(b) in any other case, the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the capital property or immovable property immediately before that time.

The lesser of the fair market value of the capital property or immovable property otherwise determined and the greatest of the following amounts, is deemed to be both the corporation's proceeds of disposition of the capital property or immovable property and, for the purposes of section 7.21, the fair market value of the gift:

(a) in the case of a gift made after 20 December 2002, the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift;

(b) the amount determined under subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph in respect of the capital property or immovable property; and

(c) the amount designated in respect of the gift in accordance with subsection 3 of section 110.1 of the Income Tax Act.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation made under subsection 3 of section 110.1 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to a designation made under this section before 20 December 2006.

1973, c. 17, s. 84; 1986, c. 15, s. 104; 1987, c. 67, s. 137; 1993, c. 64, s. 50; 1994, c. 22, s. 246; 1995, c. 1, s. 53; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1999, c. 83, s. 70; 2003, c. 2, s. 193; 2009, c. 5, s. 240; 2012, c. 8, s. 64.

716.0.1. Where a corporation makes a gift of a work of art referred to in section 714.1 in a taxation year, referred to in this section as the "gift year", to a donee referred to in section 714.1, the corporation may, on or before its filing-due date for a subsequent taxation year, referred to in this section as the "year of disposition", that includes 31 December of the calendar year in which the donee disposed of the work of art, file with the Minister for a taxation year referred to in the second paragraph an amended fiscal return in which the corporation shall take into account the tax consequences of that disposition in respect of an amount relating to that taxation year.

The taxation year to which the first paragraph refers is a taxation year of the corporation for which it filed a fiscal return pursuant to section 1000 and that is previous to the year of disposition but after the fourth taxation year of the corporation that precedes the gift year.

Notwithstanding sections 1010 to 1011, the Minister shall, where the corporation has filed an amended fiscal return in accordance with the first paragraph, make such assessment, reassessment or additional assessment of the tax, interest and penalties payable by the corporation under this Part as is necessary for any taxation year to give effect to the disposition referred to in the first paragraph.

1995, c. 63, s. 51; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 69.

716.0.1.1. For the purpose of determining the amount that is deductible under paragraphs a and d of section 710 in computing the taxable income of a corporation for a taxation year, the eligible amount of a gift described in the second paragraph is to be increased by 1/4 of that amount.

The gift to which the first paragraph refers is

(a) a gift of a work of art to a Québec museum; or

(b) any of the following gifts if the fair market value of the property that is the subject of the gift is determined under any of sections 710.1, 710.2, 710.2.1 and 710.2.1.1:

i. unless it is described in subparagraph a, a gift of a work of public art that meets the following conditions:

(1) it is made to the State, except an educational institution that is a mandatary of the State, or

(2) a certificate has been issued by the Minister of Culture and Communications in respect of the work for the purposes of this section,

ii. a gift of an eligible immovable if a qualification certificate has been issued by the Minister of Culture and Communications in respect of the building for the purposes of this section, or

iii. a gift of an eligible immovable to any of the following entities that acquires the building with a view to carrying on all or part of its activities in it:

(1) a registered charity operating in Québec in the field of arts or culture,

(2) a registered cultural or communications organization, or

(3) a registered museum.

For the purposes of subparagraphs ii and iii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph, an eligible immovable means a building situated in Québec, including the land subjacent to it and such portion of any contiguous land as can reasonably be regarded as contributing to the use and enjoyment of the building.

2001, c. 51, s. 40; 2009, c. 5, s. 241; 2015, c. 21, s. 236.

716.0.1.2. For the purpose of determining the amount that is deductible under paragraphs a and d of section 710 in computing the taxable income of a corporation for a taxation year, the eligible amount of a gift of a work of public art described in the second paragraph is to be increased by 1/2 of that amount if the fair market value of the work is determined under any of sections 710.1, 710.2, 710.2.1 and 710.2.1.1.

The gift to which the first paragraph refers is the gift of a work of public art in respect of which a certificate has been issued by the Minister of Culture and Communications for the purposes of this section and that is made to

(a) an educational institution that is a mandatary of the State;

(b) a school service centre governed by the Education Act (chapter I-13.3) or a school board governed by the Education Act for Cree, Inuit and Naskapi Native Persons (chapter I-14); or

(c) a registered charity whose mission is teaching and that is

i. an educational institution established under an Act of the Parliament of Québec, other than an institution described in subparagraph a,

ii. a college governed by the General and Vocational Colleges Act (chapter C-29),

iii. a private educational institution accredited for subsidies purposes under the Act respecting private education (chapter E-9.1), or

iv. a university-level educational institution referred to in any of paragraphs 1 to 11 of section 1 of the Act respecting educational institutions at the university level (chapter E-14.1).

2015, c. 21, s. 237; 2020, c. 1, s. 282.

716.0.1.3. No corporation is entitled to an increase of the eligible amount of a gift for a taxation year, in relation to a gift described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 or in section

716.0.1.2, unless it files with the Minister, together with the fiscal return it is required to file under section 1000 for the year, the following documents issued by the Minister of Culture and Communications:

(a) in relation to a gift of a work of public art,

i. in respect of which subparagraph 1 of subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 applies, a copy of any certificate relating to the fair market value of the work, or

ii. in respect of which subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 or section 716.0.1.2 applies, a copy of the certificate relating to the work and of any certificate relating to the fair market value of the work; or

(b) in relation to the gift of an eligible immovable,

i. in respect of which subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 applies, a copy of the qualification certificate relating to the building and of any certificate relating to the fair market value of the immovable, or

ii. in respect of which subparagraph iii of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 716.0.1.1 applies, a copy of any certificate relating to the fair market value of the immovable.

2015, c. 21, s. 237.

716.0.1.4. For the purpose of determining the amount deductible under paragraph a of section 710 in computing the taxable income of a corporation for a taxation year, the eligible amount of the following gifts made to a registered charity that is a prescribed charity is to be increased by 1/2 of that amount:

(a) a gift made by a recognized farm producer of an eligible agricultural product produced by such a producer; or

(b) a gift of an eligible food product made by a corporation carrying on a food processing business or by a corporation that is a member of a partnership carrying on such a business.

In this section, "recognized farm producer" has the meaning that would be assigned by the definition of that expression in the first paragraph of section 752.0.10.1 if that definition were read as if "an individual" were replaced, wherever it appears, by "a corporation", and "eligible agricultural product" and "eligible food product" have the meaning assigned by that section.

2015, c. 36, s. 39; 2017, c. 1, s. 167.

716.0.2. The definitions of "excepted gift" and "non-qualifying security" in the first paragraph of section 752.0.10.1, the third paragraph of that section and sections 752.0.10.16 to 752.0.10.18 apply in respect of a corporation as if the references therein to "an individual" were read as references to "a corporation", as if the reference therein to "752.0.10.12" were read as a reference to "716" and as if a non-qualifying security of a corporation included a share, other than a share listed on a designated stock exchange, of the capital stock of the corporation.

716.0.3. If, but for this section, a corporation, other than a corporation that was a predecessor corporation in an amalgamation to which section 544 applied or a corporation that was wound up in a winding-up to which Chapter VII of Title IX of Book III applied, would be deemed under section 752.0.10.16 to have made a gift after the corporation ceased to exist, for the purposes of this Title, the corporation is deemed to have made the gift in its last taxation year.

Any amount of interest payable under this Part must be determined as if the presumption provided in the first paragraph did not apply.

1999, c. 83, s. 71.

716.0.4. Subject to sections 716.0.6 and 716.0.7, if a corporation has granted an option to a qualified donee in a taxation year, no amount in respect of the option is to be included in computing an amount under any of paragraphs a to e of section 710 in respect of the corporation for any year.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.5. Section 716.0.6 applies if

(a) an option to acquire a property of a corporation is granted to a qualified donee;

(b) the option is exercised so that the property is disposed of by the corporation and acquired by the qualified donee at a particular time; and

(c) either

i. the amount that is 80% of the fair market value of the property at the particular time is greater than or equal to the aggregate of

(1) the consideration received by the corporation from the qualified donee for the property, and

(2) the consideration received by the corporation from the qualified donee for the option, or

ii. the corporation establishes to the satisfaction of the Minister that the granting of the option or the disposition of the property was made by the corporation with the intention to make a gift to the qualified donee.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.6. If this section applies because of section 716.0.5, the following rules apply despite paragraph a of section 296:

(a) the corporation is deemed to have received proceeds of disposition of the property equal to the property's fair market value at the particular time referred to in paragraph b of section 716.0.5; and

(b) there shall be included in the aggregate referred to in paragraph a of section 710, for the corporation's taxation year that includes the particular time, the amount by which the property's fair market value exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraphs 1 and 2 of subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 716.0.5.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.7. If an option to acquire a particular property of a corporation is granted to a qualified donee and the option is disposed of by the qualified donee (otherwise than by the exercise of the option) at a particular time, the following rules apply:

(a) the corporation is deemed to dispose of a property at the particular time

i. the adjusted cost base of which to the corporation immediately before the particular time is equal to the consideration paid by the qualified donee for the option, and

ii. the proceeds of disposition of which are equal to the lesser of the fair market value of the particular property at the particular time and the fair market value of any consideration (other than a non-qualifying security of a person) received by the qualified donee for the option; and

(b) there shall be included in the aggregate referred to in paragraph a of section 710 for the corporation's taxation year that includes the particular time the amount by which the proceeds of disposition as determined by subparagraph ii of paragraph a exceed the consideration paid by the qualified donee for the option.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.8. Section 716.0.9 applies if a qualified donee has issued to a corporation a receipt referred to in section 712 in respect of a transfer of a property (in this section and section 716.0.9 referred to as the "original property") and a property (in this section and sections 716.0.9 to 716.0.11 referred to as the "particular property") that is

(a) the original property is later transferred to the corporation (unless that later transfer is reasonable consideration or remuneration for property acquired by or services rendered to a person); or

(b) any other property that may reasonably be considered compensation for or a substitute for, in whole or in part, the original property, is later transferred to the corporation.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.9. If this section applies because of section 716.0.8, the following rules apply:

(a) irrespective of whether the transfer of the original property by the corporation is a gift, the corporation is deemed not to have disposed of the original property at the time of that transfer nor to have made a gift;

(b) if the particular property is identical to the original property, the particular property is deemed to be the original property; and

(c) if the particular property is not the original property,

i. the corporation is deemed to have disposed of the original property at the time that the particular property is transferred to the corporation for proceeds of disposition equal to the greater of the fair market value of the particular property at that time and the fair market value of the original property at the time that it was transferred by the corporation to the qualified donee, and

ii. if, but for paragraph a, the transfer of the original property by the corporation would be a gift, the corporation is deemed to have, at the time of that transfer, transferred to the qualified donee a property that is the subject of a gift having a fair market value equal to the amount by which the fair market value of the original property at the time of that transfer exceeds the fair market value of the particular property at the time that it is transferred to the corporation.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.10. If section 716.0.9 applies in respect of a transfer of a particular property to a corporation and that particular property has a fair market value greater than $50, the transferor must, in respect of that transfer, file a return containing prescribed information with the Minister not later than 90 days after the day on which the particular property was transferred and provide a copy of the return to the corporation.

2012, c. 8, s. 66.

716.0.11. If section 716.0.9 applies in respect of a transfer of a particular property to a corporation, the Minister may, despite sections 1010 to 1011, make any assessment, reassessment or additional assessment of tax, interest or penalties payable under this Part by a person for any taxation year to the extent that the assessment, reassessment or additional assessment can reasonably be regarded as relating to the transfer of the particular property.

725. An individual may deduct any amount he includes in computing his income for the year that is

(a) an amount exempt from income tax in Québec or Canada because of a provision contained in a tax agreement with a country other than Canada;

(a.0.1*)* 35% of the total of all benefits (in this paragraph referred to as "U.S. social security benefits") to which paragraph 5 of Article XVIII of the Convention between Canada and the United States of America with respect to Taxes on Income and on Capital as set out in Schedule I to the Canada-United States Tax Convention Act, 1984 (S.C. 1984, c. 20) applies, if

i. the individual has, continuously during a period that begins before 1996 and ends in the year, been resident in Canada, and has received U.S. social security benefits in each taxation year that ends in that period, or

ii. in the case where the benefits are payable to the individual in respect of a deceased person,

(1) the individual was, immediately before the person's death, the person's spouse,

(2) the individual has, continuously during a period that begins at the time of the person's death and ends in the year, been resident in Canada,

(3) the person was, in respect of the taxation year in which the person died, an individual described in subparagraph i, and

(4) in each taxation year that ends in the period described in subparagraph i, the individual, the deceased person, or both of them, received U.S. social security benefits;

(a.1) an amount received as an income replacement indemnity or as compensation for the loss of financial support under a public compensation plan;

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(b.1) (paragraph repealed);

(c) a social assistance payment made on the basis of a means, needs or income test, that is a payment other than a payment received as financial assistance under the Individual and Family Assistance Act (chapter A-13.1.1) or as similar government assistance and that is included in computing the individual's income because of section 311.1 or because of section 317 as a supplement or allowance received under the Old Age Security Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. O-9) or in respect of any similar payment made under a law of a province;

(c.0.1) an amount received as a scholarship, fellowship or bursary, or a prize for achievement in a field of endeavour ordinarily carried on by the individual, that is included under paragraph g of section 312;

(c.1) an amount received by the individual from the Minister of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology as a postdoctoral research fellowship under the Fellowship for Excellence and included as such under paragraph h of section 312;

(c.2) an amount received by the individual under a program referred to in paragraph e.3 or e.4 of section 311, a program established under the Department of Employment and Social Development Act (S.C. 2005, c. 34) or a prescribed program, if the amount

i. is financial assistance for the payment of tuition fees of the individual, that are not included in computing an amount deductible under section 752.0.18.10 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for any taxation year, and

ii. is not otherwise deductible in computing the individual's taxable income for the year;

(d) income from employment with an international organization, namely the United Nations or any specialized agency that is brought into relationship with the United Nations in accordance with Article 63 of the Charter of the United Nations, except, where the following conditions are met, the portion of such income that is attributable to employment duties performed in Québec by the individual:

i. the international organization, or any other international governmental organization in the service of which the individual was employed, was established in Québec at any time in the year, and

ii. the income is not covered for the year by an agreement between the international organization, or other international governmental organization, and the Government of Québec concerning the exemption from tax under this Part on such income;

(d.1) the lesser of

i. the employment income earned by the individual as a member of the Canadian Forces, or as a police officer, while serving on a mission recognized for the purposes of clause A of subparagraph v of paragraph f of subsection 1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), and

ii. the employment income that would have been earned by the individual while serving on the mission referred to in subparagraph i if the individual had been paid at the maximum rate of pay that applied, during the mission, to a Lieutenant-Colonel (General Service Officers) of the Canadian Forces; or

(e) income situated on a reserve or on premises, if the individual is an Indian.

725.0.1. For the purposes of this section, paragraph e of section 725 and section 725.0.2,

"band" means

(a) a band within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Indian Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. I-5);

(b) a band within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Naskapi and the Cree-Naskapi Commission Act (S.C. 1984, c. 18);

(c) a designated corporation within the meaning of section 2 of the Indians and Bands on certain Indian Settlements Remission Order made by Order in Council P.C. 1992-1052 dated 14 May 1992, as amended by Order in Council P.C. 1994-2096 dated 14 December 1994, under the Financial Administration Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. F-11); or

(d) a Band within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Sechelt Indian Band Self-Government Act (S.C. 1986, c. 27);

"council of the band" means

(a) in the case of a band referred to in paragraph a of the definition of "band", a council of the band within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Indian Act;

(b) in the case of a band referred to in paragraph b of the definition of "band", a council within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Naskapi and the Cree-Naskapi Commission Act; or

(c) in the case of a Band referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "band", a Council within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Sechelt Indian Band Self-Government Act;

"Indian" means an Indian within the meaning of the Indian Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. I-5);

"premises" means a place in Québec used exclusively for purposes of negotiation between the Government and an agency representing Indians of Québec and so designated by the Government;

"reserve" means

(a) a reserve within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Indian Act;

(b) Category IA land or Category IA-N land within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Naskapi and the Cree-Naskapi Commission Act (S.C. 1984, c. 18);

(c) the Hunter's Point, Kitcisakik and Pakuashipi Indian settlements and an Indian settlement within the meaning of section 2 of the Indians and Bands on certain Indian Settlements Remission Order made by Order in Council P.C. 1992-1052 dated 14 May 1992, as amended by Order in Council P.C. 1994-2096 dated 14 December 1994, under the Financial Administration Act, or within the meaning of section 1 of the Indians and Bands on Certain Indian Settlements Remission Order (1997) made by Order in Council P.C. 1997-1529 dated 23 October 1997 under that Act; and

(d) Sechelt lands within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 2 of the Sechelt Indian Band Self-Government Act (S.C. 1986, c. 27).

1997, c. 85, s. 108; 1999, c. 83, s. 73; 2006, c. 13, s. 49; 2006, c. 36, s. 54; I.N. 2022-04-01.

725.0.2. For the purposes of paragraph e of section 725, the income of an Indian from an office or employment that the Indian performs for an employer who both resides on a reserve and is described in the second paragraph is deemed to be an income situated on a reserve if the duties of that Indian related to that office or employment form part of the non-commercial activities of the employer that are intended solely for the greater welfare of the Indians living on the reserve.

The employer to which the first paragraph refers is

(a) a band that owns a reserve;

(b) a council of the band representing one or more bands referred to in subparagraph a; or

(c) an Indian organization that falls within the jurisdiction of one or more bands described in subparagraph a or of one or more councils of the band described in subparagraph b and that is exclusively devoted to the social, cultural, educational or economic development of Indians the majority of whom live on a reserve.

If the income of an Indian from an office or employment is deemed, under the first paragraph, to be income situated on a reserve, any other amount received by that Indian and related to that office or employment is also, for the purposes of paragraph e of section 725, deemed to be situated on a reserve.

1997, c. 85, s. 108; 1999, c. 83, s. 74; 2006, c. 36, s. 55.

725.0.3. A corporation may deduct an amount that it includes in computing its income for the year under paragraph g of section 312 and that is an amount received as a prize for achievement in a field of endeavour ordinarily carried on by the corporation.

2009, c. 15, s. 107.

TITLE V.0.1

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF TAX

1990, c. 59, s. 250.

725.1.1. A taxpayer may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year, an amount equal to the amount deductible by him for the year in computing his taxable income for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) under paragraph k of subsection 1 of section 110 of the said Act.

1990, c. 59, s. 250; 1991, c. 25, s. 84.

TITLE V.0.2

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF A RETROACTIVE PAYMENT

1997, c. 85, s. 109.

725.1.2. An individual, other than a trust, may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, if the individual so elects, the portion, relating to one or more preceding taxation years that are eligible taxation years of the individual, of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount described in the second paragraph that the individual includes in computing the individual's income for the year (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular portion"), if the total of the particular portion and of the particular portion described in the second paragraph of section 694.0.0.1 that the individual elects not to include in computing taxable income for the year, if applicable, is at least $300.

The amount to which the first paragraph refers is an amount received in the year as, or in lieu of, full or partial payment of

(a) income from an office or employment, under the terms of a court judgment, arbitration award or a contract by which the parties put an end to a lawsuit;

(a.1) an amount received because of the loss of all or part of the income from an office or employment, in accordance with an insurance plan, that is referred to in section 43;

(b) a benefit under the Labour Adjustment Benefits Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. L-1), the Unemployment Insurance Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. U-1), the Employment Insurance Act (S.C. 1996, c. 23), the Act respecting parental insurance (chapter A-29.011) or under the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan (chapter R-9) or a similar plan within the meaning of that Act;

(c) an amount that is a support amount as defined in the first paragraph of section 312.3 or an amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 312.5 in respect of an amount deducted for a taxation year preceding the taxation year 1998 or a taxation year subsequent to the taxation year 2002;

(c.1) an earnings loss benefit, a supplementary retirement benefit or a career impact allowance payable under Part 2 of the Veterans Well-being Act (S.C. 2005, c. 21);

(d) an amount paid in accordance with a distribution plan, approved on 4 December 1995 by a judgment of the Superior Court of Québec, in respect of the pension fund surplus of the Consolidated Retirement Plan for Employees of Singer Company of Canada Limited (Sewing Division), if the amount is paid to the individual as a member, within the meaning of section 965.0.1, of the pension fund or by reason of the death of the individual's spouse who was a member of the pension fund;

(d.1) an amount of adjustment in compensation paid in accordance with sections 176.27 to 176.29 of the Act respecting municipal territorial organization (chapter O-9); or

(e) any other amount, other than income from an office or employment, that would be, in the opinion of the Minister, an additional undue tax burden on the individual were the individual to include it in computing income for the year in which it is received by the individual.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, "eligible taxation year" of an individual means a taxation year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, other than a taxation year that ends in a calendar year in which the individual became a bankrupt or a taxation year included in an averaging period determined in respect of the individual for the purposes of Division II of Chapter II of Title I of Book V, as it read before being repealed.

For the purposes of the first paragraph in respect of an amount described in subparagraph d of the second paragraph that an individual receives in a particular taxation year, the proportion of the amount that the number of preceding taxation years that are subsequent to the taxation year 1985 is of that number of taxation years, plus one, is deemed to relate to one or more taxation years preceding the particular year.

725.1.3. In this Title,

"consolidated financial statements" has the meaning assigned by subsection 1 of section 233.8 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.));

"qualified corporation" for a particular calendar year means a corporation that meets the following conditions:

(a) in the particular calendar year, the corporation operates a business in Québec and has an establishment in Québec;

(b) the assets shown in its financial statements submitted to the shareholders or, if such financial statements have not been prepared, or have not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, that would be shown had such financial statements been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, for its taxation year that ended in the calendar year that precedes the particular calendar year or, if the corporation is in its first fiscal period, at the beginning of its first fiscal period, were less than $50,000,000; and

(c) an amount is deemed, under any of Divisions II, II.1, II.2.1, II.3 and II.3.0.1 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, to have been paid to the Minister by the qualified corporation for its taxation year that ended in the particular calendar year or for any of its three preceding taxation years;

"qualifying person" has the meaning assigned by section 47.18;

"security" has the meaning assigned by section 47.18;

"specified corporation" for a particular calendar year means a corporation in respect of which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is wages paid or deemed to be paid by the corporation in the year, for the purpose of determining the amount payable by the corporation for the year as the contribution provided for in section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5), is at least $10,000,000.

"specified person", at a particular time, means a qualifying person that meets the following conditions:

(a) it is not a Canadian-controlled private corporation;

(b) where it is a member of a group that annually prepares consolidated financial statements, the total consolidated group revenue — reflected in the group's last consolidated financial statements presented to the shareholders or unitholders of the member of the group that would be the ultimate parent entity, within the meaning of subsection 1 of section 233.8 of the Income Tax Act, of the group if the group were a multinational enterprise group, within the meaning of that subsection — before that time exceeds $500,000,000; and

(c) where paragraph b does not apply, it has gross revenue in excess of $500,000,000 based on

i. the amounts reflected in the qualifying person's financial statements presented to the qualifying person's shareholders or unitholders for the qualifying person's last fiscal period that ended before that time,

ii. where subparagraph i does not apply, the amounts reflected in the qualifying person's financial statements presented to the qualifying person's shareholders or unitholders for the qualifying person's last fiscal period that ended before the end of the fiscal period referred to in subparagraph i, or

iii. where subparagraph i does not apply and if no financial statements are presented as provided for in subparagraph ii, the amounts that would have been reflected in the qualifying person's financial statements for the qualifying person's last fiscal period that ended before that time, if such statements had been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles;

"vesting year" in respect of a security to be acquired under an agreement means

(a) where the agreement specifies the calendar year in which a taxpayer's right to acquire the security first becomes exercisable (otherwise than because of an event that is not reasonably foreseeable at the time the agreement is entered into), that calendar year; or

(b) in any other case, the calendar year in which the right to acquire the security would become exercisable if the agreement had specified that all identical rights to acquire securities become exercisable on a pro rata basis over the period that

i. begins on the day that the agreement was entered into, and;

ii. ends on the day that is 60 months after the day the agreement is entered into or, if it is earlier, on the last day that the right to acquire the security could become exercisable under the agreement.

2009, c. 15, s. 108; 2019, c. 14, s. 186; 2022, c. 23, s. 40.

725.1.4. For the purposes of paragraph b of the definition of "qualified corporation" in section 725.1.3, the following rules apply in computing the assets of such a corporation at the time referred to in that paragraph:

(a) the amount of the surplus reassessment of its property and the amount of its incorporeal assets are to be subtracted, to the extent that the amount shown in their respect exceeds the expenditure made in their respect; and

(b) if all or part of an expenditure made in respect of incorporeal assets consists of shares of the corporation's capital stock, all or part of the expenditure, as the case may be, is deemed to be nil.

2009, c. 15, s. 108.

725.1.5. For the purposes of the definition of "qualified corporation" in section 725.1.3, the assets of a corporation that is associated in a taxation year with one or more other corporations are equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the assets of the corporation and those of each corporation associated with it, determined in accordance with that definition and section 725.1.4, exceeds the aggregate of the amount of investments the corporations own in each other and the balance of accounts between the corporations.

2009, c. 15, s. 108.

725.1.6. For the purposes of paragraph b of the definition of "qualified corporation" in section 725.1.3 and sections 725.1.4 and 725.1.5, if a corporation or another corporation with which it is associated reduces its assets by any transaction in a taxation year and, but for that reduction, the corporation would not be a qualified corporation, the assets are deemed not to have been so reduced unless the Minister decides otherwise.

2009, c. 15, s. 108.

725.2. An individual may deduct an amount equal to 25% of the amount of the benefit the individual is deemed to have received in a taxation year under section 49 or any of sections 50 to 52.1, in respect of a security, other than a non-qualified security, that a particular qualifying person has agreed to sell or issue under an agreement referred to in section 48, in respect of the transfer or any other disposition of rights under the agreement, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire the security under the agreement, if

(a) where rights under the agreement were not acquired by the individual as a result of the disposition of rights to which section 49.4 applied,

i. the amount payable by the individual to acquire the security under the agreement is not less than the amount by which the fair market value of the security at the time the agreement was made exceeds the amount paid by the individual to acquire the right to acquire the security, and

ii. immediately after the agreement was made, the individual was dealing at arm's length with the following persons:

(1) the particular qualifying person,

(2) each other qualifying person that, immediately after the agreement was made, was an employer of the individual and was not dealing at arm's length with the particular qualifying person, and

(3) the qualifying person of which the individual had, under the agreement, a right to acquire a security;

(b) where rights under the agreement were acquired by the individual as a result of one or more dispositions to which section 49.4 applied,

i. the amount payable by the individual to acquire the security under the agreement is not less than the amount that was included, in respect of the security, in the amount determined under the second paragraph of section 49.4 in respect of the most recent of those dispositions,

ii. immediately after the agreement the rights under which were the subject of the first of those dispositions, in this subparagraph referred to as the "original agreement", was made the individual was dealing at arm's length with

(1) the qualifying person that made the original agreement,

(2) each other qualifying person that, immediately after the agreement was made, was an employer of the individual and was not dealing at arm's length with the qualifying person that made the original agreement, and

(3) the qualifying person of which the individual had, under the original agreement, a right to acquire a security,

iii. the amount that was included, in respect of each particular security that the individual had a right to acquire under the original agreement, in the amount determined under the third paragraph of section 49.4 in respect of the first of those dispositions was not less than the amount by which the fair market value of the particular security at the time the original agreement was made exceeded the amount paid by the individual to acquire the right to acquire the security, and

iv. for the purpose of determining if the condition in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 49.4 was satisfied in respect of each of the particular dispositions following the first of those dispositions, the amount that was included, in respect of each particular security that could be acquired under the agreement the rights under which were the subject of the particular disposition, in the amount determined under the third paragraph of section 49.4 in respect of the particular disposition, was not less than the amount that was included, in respect of the particular security, in the amount determined under the second paragraph of that section in respect of the last of those dispositions preceding the particular disposition;

*(b.1)* the security was acquired under the agreement by the individual or a person not dealing at arm's length with the individual in circumstances described in section 51 or, in the case of a benefit deemed to have been received by the individual under section 52.1, was acquired under the agreement, within the first taxation year of the individual's succession that is a graduated rate estate, by that succession or by

i. a person who is a beneficiary, within the meaning of the second paragraph of section 646, under the individual's succession that is a graduated rate estate, or

ii. a person in whom the rights of the individual under the agreement have vested as a consequence of the death; and

(c) the security

i. is described in clause A or B of subparagraph i.1 of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, 5th (Suppl.)), i.1. in the case of a benefit deemed to have been received by the individual under section 52.1, would have been referred to in clause A of subparagraph i.1 of paragraph d of subsection 1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act if it had been issued or sold to the individual immediately before the death of the individual,

ii. would have been a unit of a mutual fund trust at the time of its sale or issue if those units issued by the trust that were not identical to the security had not been issued,

iii. would have been a unit of a mutual fund trust if it were issued or sold to the individual at the time the individual disposed of rights under the agreement, and those units issued by the trust that were not identical to the security had not been issued, or

iv. in the case of a benefit deemed to have been received by the individual under section 52.1, would have been a unit of a mutual fund trust if it had been issued or sold to the individual immediately before the death of the individual and if those units issued by the trust that were not identical to the security had not been issued.

725.2.0.1. Where section 725.2 applies in respect of a security that a qualifying person has agreed to sell or issue under an agreement referred to in section 48 and the qualifying person was a qualified corporation for the calendar year that includes the time at which the individual to whom that section 725.2 applies acquired rights under the agreement in relation to the acquisition of the security, it is to be read as if "25%" in the portion before paragraph a were replaced by "50%" and without reference to subparagraphs ii to iv of paragraph c.

2009, c. 15, s. 109; 2017, c. 1, s. 169; 2021, c. 14, s. 61.

725.2.0.1.1. Where section 725.2 applies in respect of a security that is a share of the capital stock of a corporation, it is to be read as if "25%" in the portion before paragraph a were replaced by "50%" and without reference to subparagraphs ii to iv of paragraph c if

(a) the share belongs to a class of shares listed on a recognized stock exchange; and

(b) the right to acquire the share under an agreement referred to in section 48 is granted to an employee of a corporation that is a specified corporation for a particular calendar year that includes

i. the time at which the agreement is entered into, or

ii. the time at which the share is acquired.

2019, c. 14, s. 187; 2021, c. 14, s. 62.

725.2.0.2. Where section 725.2 applies to an individual for a particular taxation year in respect of the transfer or disposition of rights under an agreement referred to in section 48 as regards a security of a particular qualifying person, it is to be read without reference to its paragraph b.1 if

(a) the particular qualifying person made a valid election under subsection 1.1 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1, (5th Suppl.)) in relation to the transfer or disposition; and

(b) the individual encloses a prescribed form containing prescribed information with the fiscal return the individual is required to file for the particular year under section 1000, or would be required to so file if tax were payable under this Part by the taxpayer.

2011, c. 34, s. 34.

725.2.1. For the purposes of section 725.2, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount payable by an individual to acquire a security under an agreement referred to in section 48 shall be determined without reference to any change in the value of a currency of a country other than Canada, relative to Canadian currency, occurring after the agreement was made;

(b) the fair market value of a security at the time an agreement in respect of the security was made shall be determined on the assumption that all specified events associated with the security referred to in the second paragraph that occurred after the agreement was made and before the sale or issue of the security or the disposition of the taxpayer's rights under the agreement in respect of the security, as the case may be, occurred immediately before the agreement was made; and

(c) for the purpose of determining the amount that was included, in respect of a security that a qualifying person has agreed to sell or issue to an individual, in the amount determined under the second paragraph of section 49.4 for the purpose of determining if the condition in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of that section was satisfied in respect of a particular disposition, all specified events associated with the security referred to in the second paragraph that occurred after the particular disposition and before the sale or issue of the security or the individual's subsequent disposition of rights under the agreement in respect of the security, as the case may be, are deemed to have occurred immediately before the particular disposition.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the following events are specified events associated with a security:

(a) where the security is a share of the capital stock of a corporation, any subdivision or consolidation of shares of the capital stock of the corporation, any reorganization of share capital of the corporation and any stock dividend of the corporation; and

(b) where the security is a unit of a mutual fund trust, any subdivision or consolidation of the units of the trust, and an issuance of units of the trust as payment, or in satisfaction of a person's right to enforce payment, out of the trust's income, determined before the application of paragraph a of section 657 and section 657.1, or out of the trust's capital gains.

1993, c. 16, s. 259; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 53, s. 95; 2003, c. 2, s. 195.

725.2.2. Subject to section 725.2.3, an individual may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, where the individual disposes of a security acquired in the year by the individual under an agreement referred to in section 48 by making a gift of the security to a qualified donee, an amount in respect of the disposition of the security equal to 1/2 of the lesser of the benefit deemed by section 49 to have been received by the individual in the year in respect of the acquisition of the security and the amount that would have been that benefit had the value of the security at the time of its acquisition by the individual been equal to the value of the security at the time of the disposition if

(a) the security is a security described in any of subparagraphs i to v of paragraph a of section 231.2;

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(c) the gift is made in the year and on or before the day that is 30 days after the day on which the individual acquired the security; and

(d) the individual is entitled to a deduction under section 725.2 in respect of the acquisition of the security.

725.2.3. Where an individual, in exercising a right to acquire a security that a qualifying person has agreed to sell or issue to the individual under an agreement referred to in section 48, directs a broker or dealer appointed by the qualifying person, or by another qualifying person that does not deal at arm's length with the qualifying person, to immediately dispose of the security and pay all or a portion of the proceeds of disposition of the security to a qualified donee, the following rules apply:

(a) if the payment is a gift, the individual is deemed, for the purposes of section 725.2.2, to have disposed of the security to the qualified donee at the time the payment is made; and

(b) the amount deductible under section 725.2.2 by the individual in respect of the disposition of the security is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B / C.$$

In the formula provided for in subparagraph b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount that would be deductible under section 725.2.2 in respect of the disposition of the security if this section were read without reference to subparagraph b of the first paragraph;

(b) B is the amount of the payment; and

(c) C is the amount of the proceeds of disposition of the security.

2003, c. 2, s. 196.

725.2.4. If the amount payable by an individual to acquire a security from a qualifying person under an agreement referred to in section 48 is reduced at a particular time and the conditions set out in the second paragraph are satisfied, the following rules apply:

(a) rights (in this section referred to as the "old rights") under the agreement immediately before the particular time are deemed to have been disposed of by the individual immediately before the particular time;

(b) rights (in this section referred to as the "new rights") under the agreement at the particular time are deemed to be acquired by the individual at the particular time; and

(c) the individual is deemed to receive the new rights as consideration for the disposition of the old rights.

The conditions to which the first paragraph refers are as follows:

(a) the individual could not, but for this section, deduct an amount under section 725.2 if the individual acquired the security under the agreement immediately after the particular time; and

(b) the individual could deduct an amount under section 725.2 if the individual

i. disposed of the old rights immediately before the particular time,

ii. acquired the new rights at the particular time as consideration for the disposition of the old rights, and

iii. acquired the security under the agreement immediately after the particular time.

2009, c. 15, s. 111.

725.3. An individual may deduct an amount equal to 25% of the amount of the benefit he is deemed to have received in the year under section 49, by virtue of section 49.2, in respect of a share acquired by him after 22 May 1985, if

(a) the individual has not disposed of the share otherwise than as a consequence of his death or exchanged the share within two years after the date he acquired it; and

(b) the individual has not deducted an amount under section 725.2 in respect of the benefit deemed received in computing his taxable income for the year.

1987, c. 67, s. 141; 1988, c. 18, s. 123; 1990, c. 59, s. 252; 2003, c. 2, s. 197; 2004, c. 21, s. 104; 2005, c. 23, s. 62.

725.3.1. Where section 725.3 applies in respect of a share that an individual has acquired under an agreement referred to in section 48 and entered into with a corporation that was a qualified corporation for the calendar year that includes the time at which the individual acquired rights under the agreement in relation to the acquisition of the share, it is to be read as if "25%" in the portion before paragraph a were replaced by "50%".

2009, c. 15, s. 112; 2017, c. 1, s. 171.

725.4. A taxpayer may deduct an amount equal to 1/2 of the amount the taxpayer has included under paragraph b of section 218 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year in respect of a share received after 22 May 1985, unless the amount is exempt from income tax in Québec or Canada because of a provision contained in a tax agreement with a country other than Canada.

1987, c. 67, s. 141; 1988, c. 18, s. 123; 1990, c. 59, s. 253; 2001, c. 53, s. 96; 2003, c. 2, s. 198.

725.5. An individual may deduct an amount equal to 1/2 of the amount he has included under section 888.1 in computing his income for the year.

1987, c. 67, s. 141; 1988, c. 18, s. 123; 1990, c. 59, s. 254; 2003, c. 2, s. 199.

725.5.1. A taxpayer may deduct an amount equal to the amount of the benefit an individual is deemed to have received in the year in relation to an employment the individual holds with the taxpayer under section 49 or any of sections 50 to 52.1, in respect of a non-qualified security that the taxpayer (or a qualifying person that does not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer) has agreed to sell or issue under an agreement with the individual, if

(a) the taxpayer is a qualifying person;

(b) at the time the agreement was entered into, the individual was an employee of the taxpayer;

(c) the amount is not claimed as a deduction in computing the taxable income of another qualifying person;

(d) an amount would have been deductible in computing the taxable income of the individual under section 725.2 if the security were not a non-qualified security;

(e) in the case of an individual who is not resident in Canada throughout the year, the benefit deemed to have been received by the individual under section 49 or any of sections 50 to 52.1 was included in computing the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year; and

(f) the notification requirements provided for in section 725.5.9 are met in respect of the security.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.2. Section 725.5.3 applies to a taxpayer in respect of an agreement if

(a) a particular qualifying person agrees to sell or issue securities of the particular qualifying person (or of another qualifying person that does not deal at arm's length with the particular qualifying person) to the taxpayer under the agreement;

(b) at the time the agreement is entered into (in this section and section 725.5.3 referred to as the "relevant time"), the taxpayer is an employee of the particular qualifying person or of another qualifying person that does not deal at arm's length with the particular qualifying person; and

(c) at the relevant time, any of the following persons is a specified person:

i. the particular qualifying person,

ii. the other qualifying person referred to in paragraph a, or

iii. the other qualifying person referred to in paragraph b.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.3. Where, because of section 725.5.2, this section applies to a taxpayer in respect of an agreement, the securities to be sold or issued under the particular agreement, for each vesting year of those securities, are deemed to be non-qualified securities for the purposes of this Title in the proportion determined by the formula

A/B.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount determined by the formula

C + D − $200,000; and

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the fair market value at the relevant time of each security under the agreement that has that same vesting year.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the second paragraph,

(a) C is the value of B in the formula in the first paragraph; and

(b) D is the lesser of

i. $200,000, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount represented by B in the formula in the first paragraph in respect of securities that have that same vesting year under agreements (other than the particular agreement) entered into at or before the relevant time with the particular qualifying person referred to in section 725.5.2 (or another qualifying person that does not deal at arm's length with the particular qualifying person), other than

(1) designated securities referred to in section 725.5.4,

(2) old securities within the meaning of section 49.4,

(3) securities where the right to acquire those securities is an old right within the meaning of section 725.2.4, and

(4) securities in respect of which the right to acquire those securities has expired, or has been cancelled, before the relevant time and in respect of which no amount is deductible under section 725.2 in computing the taxable income of the taxpayer for any year.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.4. Where the particular qualifying person referred to in paragraph a of section 725.5.2 designates, in accordance with subsection 1.4 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), one or more securities to be sold or issued under an agreement as non-qualified securities, those securities are deemed to be non-qualified securities for the purposes of this Title.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.5. For the purposes of this Title, where a taxpayer acquires a security under an agreement and the acquired security could be a security that is not a non-qualified security, the security is to be considered a security that is not a non-qualified security.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.6. Where two or more agreements to sell or issue securities are entered into at the same time and the particular qualifying person referred to in paragraph a of section 725.5.2 designates the order of the agreements, in accordance with subsection 1.42 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), then the agreements are deemed to have been entered into in that order for the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 725.5.3.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.7. Section 725.5.8 applies in respect of a taxpayer's right to acquire a security under an agreement if

(a) section 725.5.3 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the agreement;

(b) the security is not a non-qualified security; and

(c) a payment is made to or for the benefit of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's transfer or disposition of the right.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.8. Where, because of section 725.5.7, this section applies in respect of a taxpayer's right to acquire a security under an agreement, the following rules apply:

(a) no qualifying person may deduct, in computing its income for a taxation year, an amount (other than a designated amount described in subsection 1.2 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the payment referred to in paragraph c of section 725.5.7; and

(b) section 725.2 applies, in respect of the right, without reference to its paragraph b.1.

2022, c. 23, s. 42.

725.5.9. Where a security to be sold or issued under an agreement entered into between an employee and a qualifying person is a non-qualified security, the employer of the employee shall

(a) notify the employee in writing that the security is a non-qualified security no later than 30 days after the day that the agreement is entered into; and

(b) send to the Minister a copy of every document sent to the Minister of Revenue of Canada in accordance with paragraph b of subsection 1.9 of section 110 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) on or before the filing-due date for the taxation year of the qualifying person that includes the date on which the agreement is entered into.

TITLE VI.3.1

CERTIFIED QUÉBEC FILMS

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.1. An individual may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year subsequent to his taxation year 1987, the part or amount, deductible pursuant to the regulations under paragraph a of section 130, of the capital cost of a certified Québec film which he could have deducted, but for section 130.0.1, in computing his income for the year pursuant to paragraph a of the said section.

In this Title, the expression “certified Québec film” has the meaning assigned by the regulations under section 130.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1991, c. 8, s. 12.

726.4.2. An amount deducted by an individual under section 726.4.1 in computing his taxable income for a taxation year is, for the purposes of sections 93 to 104, section 130.1 and the regulations under paragraph a of section 130, deemed to have been deducted for that year in computing his income from a business or property pursuant to paragraph a of section 130.

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.3. An individual who is a member of a partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year in which the fiscal period ends, an amount not exceeding the aggregate

(a) of his portion of the aggregate of amounts deducted by a partnership under paragraph a of section 130 or the second paragraph of section 130.1 in computing its income for a fiscal period in respect of a certified Québec film, to the extent that such portion would, but for section 600.0.1, have reduced his portion of the income of the partnership for that fiscal period as determined under paragraph f of section 600 or would, but for the said section 600.0.1, have caused such portion of income so determined to be nil; and

(b) of his portion of the aggregate of amounts deducted by a partnership under paragraph a of section 130 or the second paragraph of section 130.1 in computing its loss for a fiscal period in respect of a certified Québec film, to the extent that such portion of such amounts has either created or increased such portion of the loss, without exceeding the proportion of the at-risk amount of the individual in respect of the partnership at the end of the fiscal period of the partnership, within the meaning of sections 613.2 to 613.5, that such amounts which have either created or increased such portion of the loss are of the aggregate of all amounts which, but for section 600.0.1, would be his portion of the loss of the partnership for that fiscal period as determined under paragraph g of section 600.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1991, c. 8, s. 13; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.4. An individual shall deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year subsequent to his taxation year 1987, the excess amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 130.1, which concerns a prescribed class including a certified Québec film, which he would have been bound to deduct in computing his income for the year pursuant to the second paragraph of section 130.1 but for the fourth paragraph of that section.

For the purposes of sections 93 to 104, the excess amount is deemed to have been deducted by the individual under paragraph a of section 130 in computing his income for the year from a business or property.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1991, c. 8, s. 14.

726.4.5. An individual may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year subsequent to his taxation year 1987, the amount by which the amounts he could have deducted for the year, but for section 157.4.3, in computing his income, pursuant to sections 157.4 to 157.4.2, exceed any amount deducted under this section in computing his taxable income for a previous taxation year.

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.6. Subject to section 726.4.8, an individual who has acquired as first purchaser a certified Québec film may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year at the end of which he is the owner of the film and which film he has owned without interruption from the acquisition, an amount not exceeding the amount by which the amount obtained by applying the stated percentage, in respect of the film, to the aggregate of all amounts deducted by him in computing his taxable income for that year or a previous taxation year, in respect of the film, pursuant to section 726.4.1 or 726.4.4, exceeds any amount deducted under this section, in respect of the film, in computing his taxable income for a previous taxation year.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1991, c. 8, s. 15.

726.4.7. Subject to section 726.4.8, where an individual is a member of a partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period of the partnership in which it acquired, as first purchaser, a certified Québec film, he may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year in which a fiscal period of the partnership ends and at the end of which period he is a member of the partnership and has been such a member, without interruption, from the end of the particular fiscal period, an amount not exceeding the amount by which his portion of the amount obtained by applying the stated percentage, in respect of the film, to the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the partnership in computing its income for that fiscal period or a previous fiscal period, in respect of the film, pursuant to paragraph a of section 130 or the second paragraph of section 130.1, exceeds any amount deducted by the individual under this section, in respect of the film, in computing his taxable income for a previous taxation year.

For the purposes of this section, the portion of an individual is deemed to be equal to the lesser of

(a) his portion of the profits of the partnership determined without taking account of this paragraph; and

(b) his portion of the profits of the partnership determined in respect of the fiscal period of the partnership in which it acquired the film.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1991, c. 8, s. 16; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.7.1. For the purposes of sections 726.4.6 and 726.4.7, the stated percentage applicable to an individual referred to therein, in respect of a certified Québec film, is

(a) 66 2/3% in the case of any such film

i. described in section 726.4.7.2, or

ii. described in section 726.4.7.3 where the financial commitment of the individual or of the partnership of which he is a member, as the case may be, to the film is more than 55% of the capital cost of the film to the individual or partnership, as the case may be;

(b) 33 1/3% in the case of any such film described in section 726.4.7.3 where the financial commitment of the individual or of the partnership of which he is a member, as the case may be, to the film is more than 45%, but not over 55%, of the capital cost of the film to the individual or partnership, as the case may be;

(c) 0% in the case of any other film described in section 726.4.7.3.

1991, c. 8, s. 17; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.7.2. A certified Québec film is contemplated in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.7.1 where the film is a motion picture film or video tape

(a) that was acquired before 1 January 1990 and the principal taping or photography thereof was commenced before that date or was completed not later than 1 March 1990;

(b) that was acquired after 31 December 1989 pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into by an individual or a partnership, as the case may be, not later than 18 December 1989 or in accordance with a final prospectus, preliminary prospectus or offering memorandum filed with the Commission des valeurs mobilières du Québec not later than 18 December 1989, to the extent that the total amount of funds so collected for the production of the film or tape does not exceed the amount stipulated in this regard in the agreement at the time it was entered into or in the final prospectus, preliminary prospectus or offering memorandum, as the case may be, at the time it was filed with the Commission des valeurs mobilières du Québec;

(c) that was acquired after 31 December 1989 but not later than 31 December 1990, where the following conditions are met:

i. the individual or partnership having acquired the film or tape has paid for it in full not later than 31 December 1990 and, as the case may be, all members of the partnership have done so with their acquired partnership interest or their additional contribution of capital to the partnership in respect of the film or tape;

ii. a favourable ruling, prior to the financing necessary for the production of the film or tape, has been obtained from the Société de développement des entreprises culturelles to the effect that

(1) the film or tape is not a sponsored film, a sports, quiz, variety or public affairs programme, or an advertising, industrial or educational film,

(2) the film or tape is part of a series that includes other certified Québec films that have been acquired before 1 January 1990, and

(3) the film or tape is produced at a fixed cost or at a cost determined on the basis of a formula stipulated in a production option agreement entered into before 1 April 1990 by a licensed radio broadcaster or a genuine distributor of films or video tapes;

(d) the principal taping or photography of which was completed not later than 1 March 1991, which film or tape would be described in paragraph c if subparagraph ii thereof were read as follows:

“ii. the Société de développement des entreprises culturelles has received, not later than 1 March 1990, an application for a ruling and the documents necessary to give such ruling and has given a favourable ruling to the effect that

(1) the film or tape is not a sponsored film, a sports, quiz, variety or public affairs programme, or an advertising, industrial or educational film, and

(2) the film or tape was at a substantially advanced stage on 18 December 1989;".

1991, c. 8, s. 17; 1994, c. 21, s. 50; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.7.3. A certified Québec film referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 726.4.7.1 or in paragraph b or c of the said section is a certified Québec film that is not described in section 726.4.7.2.

1991, c. 8, s. 17.

726.4.7.4. For the purposes of section 726.4.7.1, the financial commitment of an individual or partnership, in this section referred to as an "investor", to a certified Québec film means, subject to the second paragraph, the capital cost of the film to the investor.

Where, in respect of the film, a person or partnership has obtained, is entitled to obtain or can reasonably expect to obtain a benefit or advantage, whether by way of reimbursement, compensation, revenue guarantee or proceeds of disposition of a property exceeding the fair market value of the property, or in any other form or manner whatever, and it may reasonably be considered that the direct or indirect effect of such benefit or advantage is to compensate or indemnify the investor or, as the case may be, one of its members, or to otherwise benefit, in any manner whatever, the investor or, as the case may be, one of its members, the investor's financial commitment to the film means the amount by which the capital cost of the film to the investor exceeds the amount of the benefit or advantage obtained by the person or partnership, or established or stated,

(a) where the investor is an individual, not later than on the closing date of the investment in respect of the financing necessary for the production of the film or, failing that, on the date on which the investor irrevocably acquired the film, or

(b) where the investor is a partnership, not later than the later of the date that would be determined in respect of the film under paragraph a if the investor were an individual and the dates on which, in respect of the film, an individual referred to in section 726.4.7 irrevocably acquired his partnership interest or made an additional contribution of capital to the partnership.

1991, c. 8, s. 17; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.8. Notwithstanding sections 726.4.6 and 726.4.7, no amount may be deducted, in either of the following cases, in computing the taxable income of an individual, for a taxation year, in accordance with those sections in respect of a certified Québec film:

(a) where the individual was allowed a deduction, for the year or a preceding taxation year, in respect of the film under section 726.4.5;

(b) where the part or the amount of the capital cost of the film that was deductible for the year or a preceding taxation year, in accordance with the regulations under paragraph a of subsection 1 of section 20 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement), exceeded 30% of that cost, computed without reference to any additional deduction based on the income from a film and granted in accordance with the latter regulations.

TITLE VI.3.2

ADDITIONAL DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF CERTAIN EXPLORATION EXPENSES INCURRED IN QUÉBEC

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.9. An individual may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding his exploration base relating to certain Québec exploration expenses at the end of the year, computed before any deduction for the year under this section.

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.10. For the purposes of this Title, the exploration base relating to certain Québec exploration expenses of an individual, at any time after 31 December 1987, means an amount equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the amount computed under section 726.4.11:

(a) 33 1/3% of the amount by which

i. the aggregate of the expenses, except those described in section 726.4.12, incurred in Québec by the individual after 30 June 1988 and before that time, and that are

(1) Canadian exploration expenses that would be described in paragraph a, b.1 or c of section 395 if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears except in subparagraph iv of that paragraph b.1, were a reference to "Québec", described in paragraph d of the said section 395 if the reference therein to "expenses described in paragraphs a to b.1 and c to c.2" were replaced by a reference to "expenses that would be described in paragraph a, b.1 or c, if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears except in subparagraph iv of paragraph b.1, were a reference to "Québec"", or described in paragraph e of the said section 395 if the reference therein to "an expense described in paragraphs a to c.1" were replaced by a reference to "any expense that would be described in paragraph a, b.1 or c, if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears except in subparagraph iv of paragraph b.1, were a reference to "Québec"", other than expenses described in paragraph b.1 of section 395 that are incurred before 10 May 1996 or incurred after 9 May 1996 pursuant to an agreement in writing referred to in section 359.1 that was entered into before 10 May 1996 in respect of the issue of a flow-through share, or incurred, directly or indirectly, out of the proceeds of a public issue of shares or interests in a partnership in respect of which the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus was granted before 10 May 1996, or

(2) Canadian development expenses that would be described in paragraph a or a.1 of section 408 if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "Québec", described in paragraph d of the said section 408 if the reference therein to "expense described in paragraphs a to c" were replaced by a reference to "expense that would be described in paragraph a or a.1, if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "Québec"", which are deemed, under paragraph a of section 359.3, to be Canadian exploration expenses of the individual by reason of a renunciation to the individual under section 359.2.1, exceeds

ii. the aggregate of all amounts of assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, which a person, including a partnership, has received, is entitled to receive or becomes, at any time, entitled to receive in respect of an expense referred to in subparagraph i, to the extent that the assistance has not reduced the Canadian exploration expenses of the individual by reason of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2, or, by reason of paragraph a of section 359.2.1, the Canadian development expenses deemed to be Canadian exploration expenses of the individual and is not an amount received, receivable or that became, at any time, entitled to be received under subsection 5 of section 127 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of a flow-through mining expenditure or a flow-through critical mineral mining expenditure, within the meaning assigned to those expressions by subsection 9 of that section 127; and

(b) his "Québec exploration base", within the meaning assigned to that expression by regulation, at that time.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1990, c. 7, s. 22; 1990, c. 59, s. 255; 1991, c. 8, s. 19; 1992, c. 1, s. 37; 1993, c. 64, s. 55; 1995, c. 1, s. 54; 1995, c. 49, s. 160; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 100; 1997, c. 85, s. 330; 1998, c. 16, s. 179; 2002, c. 40, s. 49; 2004, c. 8, s. 138; 2004, c. 21, s. 107; 2005, c. 23, s. 64; 2023, c. 19, s. 40.

726.4.10.1. Where an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 was incurred after 14 May 1992, the reference in the said paragraph a to "33 1/3%" shall, in respect of the expense, read as a reference to "25%".

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense

(a) incurred pursuant to an agreement in writing referred to in section 359.1 that was entered into before 15 May 1992 in respect of the issue of a flow-through share, or

(b) incurred, directly or indirectly, out of the proceeds of a public issue of shares or interests in a partnership in respect of which the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus was granted before 15 May 1992.

1993, c. 19, s. 31; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.10.2. Notwithstanding section 726.4.10.1, where an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 was incurred after 12 June 2003, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that paragraph a shall, in respect of the expense, be replaced by a percentage of 10.42%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense incurred as a result of

(a) an investment made on or before 12 June 2003, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 12 June 2003, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date.

2004, c. 21, s. 108.

726.4.10.3. Despite sections 726.4.10.1 and 726.4.10.2, if an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 was incurred after 30 March 2004, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that paragraph a is to be replaced, in respect of the expense, by a percentage of 25%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense if it was incurred as a consequence of the acquisition of a flow-through share before 31 March 2004.

2005, c. 23, s. 65.

726.4.10.4. Despite sections 726.4.10.1 to 726.4.10.3, if an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 was incurred after 4 June 2014, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that paragraph a is to be replaced, in respect of the expense, by a percentage of 10%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense incurred as a result of

(a) an investment made on or before 4 June 2014, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 4 June 2014, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date.

2015, c. 21, s. 242.

726.4.11. The amount that must be deducted from the aggregate determined under section 726.4.10 at any time referred to therein is equal to the aggregate of

(a) each amount deducted by the individual under section 726.4.9 in computing his taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time and

(b) 33 1/3% of each amount that became receivable by the individual before that time but after 30 June 1988 and in respect of which the consideration given by him was a property other than a property disposed of by the individual to any person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length, a share, depreciable property of a prescribed class or a Canadian resource property, or services, the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as having been an expenditure in respect of which an amount was included, under section 726.4.10, in computing the exploration base relating to certain Québec exploration expenses of the individual or of a person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length.

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.11.1. Where an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as having been an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.10.1 applied, the reference in paragraph b of the said section 726.4.11 to "33 1/3%" shall, in respect of the amount, read as a reference to "25%".

1993, c. 19, s. 32.

726.4.11.2. Notwithstanding section 726.4.11.1, where an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.10.2 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 shall, in respect of the amount, be replaced by a percentage of 10.42%.

2004, c. 21, s. 109.

726.4.11.3. Despite sections 726.4.11.1 and 726.4.11.2, if an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be considered to be an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.10.3 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 is to be replaced, in respect of the amount, by a percentage of 25%.

2005, c. 23, s. 66.

726.4.11.4. Despite sections 726.4.11.1 to 726.4.11.3, if an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual was property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as an expense in respect of which section 726.4.10.4 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.11 is to be replaced, in respect of that amount, by a percentage of 10%.

2015, c. 21, s. 243.

726.4.12. Expenses referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 do not include

(a) any amount included in the Canadian exploration and development overhead expenses of the individual, within the meaning of the regulations;

(b) any amount relating to Canadian exploration expenses or Canadian development expenses that is renounced by a corporation that is not a qualified corporation, effective after 30 June 1988, pursuant to section 359.2 or 359.2.1, as the case may be, in respect of a share;

(c) any amount relating to financing, including expenses incurred before the beginning of the carrying on of a business;

(d) expenses that are Canadian exploration expenses of the individual under paragraph d or e of section 395, to the extent that they refer

i. to expenses incurred after 30 June 1988 and before the time referred to in section 726.4.10, by a partnership that is not a qualified partnership or by a qualified partnership in accordance with an agreement described in that paragraph e entered into with a corporation that is not a qualified corporation, or

ii. to expenses incurred in the period described in subparagraph i by the individual in accordance with an agreement described in that paragraph e with a corporation that is not a qualified corporation;

(d.1) expenses (other than Canadian exploration expenses renounced by a corporation, under section 359.2, in respect of a share) that are incurred after 31 March 2023 and that would be Canadian exploration expenses if the definition of "mineral resource" in section 1 were read as follows:

""mineral resource" means a coal deposit, a bituminous sands deposit or an oil shale deposit;"; or

(e) any prescribed expense.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1990, c. 7, s. 23; 1991, c. 8, s. 20; 1992, c. 1, s. 38; 1993, c. 64, s. 56; 1995, c. 1, s. 55; 1995, c. 49, s. 161; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 290; 1997, c. 85, s. 330; 2002, c. 40, s. 50; 2004, c. 21, s. 110; 2005, c. 23, s. 67; 2023, c. 19, s. 41.

726.4.13. Where an expense incurred before any time is included in the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of an individual and, after that time, a person, including a partnership, becomes entitled to receive assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, in respect of that expense, the assistance must be included in the aggregate referred to in subparagraph ii of that paragraph a in respect of the individual at the time the expense was incurred, to the extent that it has not reduced the amount of the expense by reason of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2 or paragraph a of section 359.2.1.

726.4.14. In this Title, a qualified partnership is a partnership all the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses referred to in paragraph d of section 395 are incurred and throughout the twelve-month period preceding that time, fulfils the following conditions:

(a) neither the partnership nor any of its members operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well;

(b) none of its members is a member of an associated group, within the meaning of section 726.4.17.18.1, a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1990, c. 7, s. 24; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 143; 2015, c. 21, s. 244.

726.4.15. In this Title, a qualified corporation is a corporation all of the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses in respect of which an amount is renounced under section 359.2 or 359.2.1 or at the time the expenses referred to in paragraph e of section 395, as the case may be, are incurred, and throughout the 12-month period preceding that time, fulfils the following conditions:

(a) the corporation does not operate any mineral resource or oil or gas well;

(b) the corporation is not a member of an associated group, within the meaning of section 726.4.17.18.1, a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1990, c. 7, s. 25; 1995, c. 49, s. 163; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 143; 2015, c. 21, s. 245.

726.4.16. For the purposes of this Title and for greater certainty, the operation of a mineral resource or an oil or gas well shall be interpreted as such an operation carried out in reasonable commercial quantities.

1989, c. 5, s. 86.

726.4.17. For the purposes of this Title, where a member of a partnership is deemed to have incurred Canadian exploration expenses under paragraph d of section 395, the expenses are deemed to have been incurred by the member at the time they were incurred by the partnership.

1989, c. 5, s. 86; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

TITLE VI.3.2.1

ADDITIONAL DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF CERTAIN SURFACE MINING EXPLORATION EXPENSES INCURRED IN QUÉBEC

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 14, s. 101; 2023, c. 19, s. 42.

726.4.17.1. An individual may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding his exploration base relating to certain Québec surface mining exploration expenses at the end of the year, computed before any deduction for the year under this section.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 14, s. 290; 2023, c. 19, s. 43.

726.4.17.2. In this Title, the exploration base relating to certain Québec surface mining exploration expenses of an individual, at any time, means an amount equal to the amount by which the amount computed under section 726.4.17.3 is exceeded by 33 1/3% of the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of the expenses, except those described in section 726.4.17.4, incurred in Québec by the individual before that time, and that are

i. Canadian exploration expenses incurred by the individual after 31 December 1988 and that would be described in paragraph c of section 395 if the reference therein to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "Québec", described in paragraph d of the said section 395 if the reference therein to "expenses described in paragraphs a to b.1 and c to c.2" were replaced by a reference to "expenses that would be described in paragraph c, if the reference therein to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "Québec"", or described in paragraph e of the said section 395 if the reference therein to "an expense described in paragraphs a to c.1" were replaced by a reference to "any expense that would be described in paragraph c, if the reference therein to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "Québec"", except any of those expenses that are related to removing overburden and stripping, where such work is more than is needed to obtain indicators of mineralization or for the preliminary sampling thereof, or related to drilling and trenching or digging test pits, where such work constitutes underground exploration work, or

ii. expenses referred to in subparagraph 1 or 2 of subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10, incurred by the individual after 9 May 1996, other than expenses that would be referred to in subparagraph i if that subparagraph were read without reference to ", except any of those expenses that are related to removing overburden and stripping, where such work is more than is needed to obtain indicators of mineralization or for the preliminary sampling thereof, or related to drilling and trenching or digging test pits, where such work constitutes underground exploration work"; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts of assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, which a person, including a partnership, has received, is entitled to receive or becomes, at any time, entitled to receive in respect of an expense referred to in paragraph a, to the extent that the assistance has not reduced the Canadian exploration expenses of the individual by reason of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2 and is not an amount received, receivable or that became, at any time, entitled to be received under subsection 5 of section 127 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of a flow-through mining expenditure or a flow-through critical mineral mining expenditure, within the meaning assigned to those expressions by subsection 9 of that section 127.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1990, c. 59, s. 256; 1991, c. 8, s. 21; 1992, c. 1, s. 39; 1993, c. 64, s. 57; 1995, c. 1, s. 56; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 102; 1997, c. 85, s. 330; 1998, c. 16, s. 180; 2002, c. 40, s. 51; 2004, c. 8, s. 139; 2004, c. 21, s. 111; 2005, c. 23, s. 68; 2023, c. 19, s. 44.

726.4.17.2.1. Where an expense referred to in paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 was incurred after 14 May 1992, the reference in the said section to "33 1/3%" shall read, in respect of the expense, as a reference to "50%".

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense

(a) incurred pursuant to an agreement in writing referred to in section 359.1 that was entered into before 15 May 1992 in respect of the issue of a flow-through share, or

(b) incurred, directly or indirectly, out of the proceeds of a public issue of shares or interests in a partnership in respect of which the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus was granted before 15 May 1992.

1993, c. 19, s. 33; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.17.2.2. Notwithstanding section 726.4.17.2.1, where an expense referred to in paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 was incurred after 12 June 2003, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that section shall, in respect of the expense, be replaced by a percentage of 20.83%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense incurred as a result of

(a) an investment made on or before 12 June 2003, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 12 June 2003 in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date.

2004, c. 21, s. 112.

726.4.17.2.3. Despite sections 726.4.17.2.1 and 726.4.17.2.2, if an expense referred to in paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 was incurred after 30 March 2004, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that section is to be replaced, in respect of the expense, by a percentage of 25%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense if it was incurred as a consequence of the acquisition of a flow-through share before 31 March 2004.

2005, c. 23, s. 69.

726.4.17.2.4. Despite sections 726.4.17.2.1 to 726.4.17.2.3, if an expense referred to in paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 was incurred after 4 June 2014, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in that section is to be replaced, in respect of the expense, by a percentage of 10%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of an expense incurred as a result of

(a) an investment made on or before 4 June 2014, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 4 June 2014, in relation to a flow-through share issued after that date.

2015, c. 21, s. 246.

726.4.17.3. The amount that must be deducted from the amount determined under section 726.4.17.2 at any time referred to therein is equal to the aggregate of

(a) each amount deducted by the individual under section 726.4.17.1 in computing his taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time, and

(b) 33 1/3% of each amount that became receivable by the individual before that time but after 31 December 1988 and in respect of which the consideration given by him was a property other than a property disposed of by the individual to any person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length, a share, depreciable property of a prescribed class or a Canadian resource property, or services, the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as having been an expenditure in respect of which an amount was included, under section 726.4.17.2, in computing the exploration base relating to certain Québec surface mining exploration expenses of the individual or of a person with whom he was not dealing at arm's length.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 14, s. 290; 2023, c. 19, s. 45.

726.4.17.3.1. Where an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as having been an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.17.2.1 applied, the reference in paragraph b of the said section 726.4.17.3 to "33 1/3%" shall, in respect of the amount, read as a reference to "50%".

1993, c. 19, s. 34.

726.4.17.3.2. Notwithstanding section 726.4.17.3.1, where an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.17.2.2 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 shall, in respect of the amount, be replaced by a percentage of 20.83%.

2004, c. 21, s. 113.

726.4.17.3.3. Despite sections 726.4.17.3.1 and 726.4.17.3.2, if an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual is a property or services the cost of which may reasonably be considered to be an expenditure in respect of which section 726.4.17.2.3 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 is to be replaced, in respect of the amount, by a percentage of 25%.

2005, c. 23, s. 70.

726.4.17.3.4. Despite sections 726.4.17.3.1 to 726.4.17.3.3, if an amount referred to in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 in respect of an individual is an amount in respect of which the consideration given by the individual was property or services the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as an expense in respect of which section 726.4.17.2.4 applied, the percentage of 33 1/3% mentioned in paragraph b of section 726.4.17.3 is to be replaced, in respect of that amount, by a percentage of 10%.

2015, c. 21, s. 247.

726.4.17.4. Expenses referred to in paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 do not include

(a) any amount included in the Canadian exploration and development overhead expenses of the individual, within the meaning of the regulations;

(b) any amount relating to Canadian exploration expenses that is renounced by a corporation that is not a qualified corporation, effective after 31 December 1988, pursuant to section 359.2 in respect of a share;

(c) any amount relating to financing, including expenses incurred before the beginning of the carrying on of a business;

(d) expenses that are Canadian exploration expenses of the individual under paragraph d or e of section 395, to the extent that they refer

i. to expenses incurred after 31 December 1988 and before the time referred to in section 726.4.17.2, by a partnership that is not a qualified partnership or by a qualified partnership in accordance with an agreement described in that paragraph e entered into with a corporation that is not a qualified corporation, or

ii. to expenses incurred in the period described in subparagraph i by the individual in accordance with an agreement described in that paragraph e entered into with a corporation that is not a qualified corporation;

(e) expenses (other than Canadian exploration expenses renounced by a corporation, under section 359.2, in respect of a share) that are incurred after 31 March 2023 and that would be Canadian exploration expenses if the definition of "mineral resource" in section 1 were read as follows:

""mineral resource" means a coal deposit, a bituminous sands deposit or an oil shale deposit;".

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1991, c. 8, s. 22; 1992, c. 1, s. 40; 1993, c. 64, s. 58; 1995, c. 1, s. 57; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 290; 1997, c. 85, s. 330; 2002, c. 40, s. 52; 2004, c. 21, s. 114; 2005, c. 23, s. 71; 2023, c. 19, s. 46.

726.4.17.5. Where an expense incurred before a particular time is included in the aggregate determined under paragraph a of section 726.4.17.2 in respect of an individual and, after that time, a person, including a partnership, becomes entitled to receive assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, in respect of that expense, the assistance must be included in the aggregate referred to in paragraph b of that section 726.4.17.2 in respect of the individual at the time the expense was incurred, to the extent that he has not reduced the expense by virtue of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.4.17.6. In this Title, a qualified partnership is a partnership all the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses referred to in paragraph d of section 395 are incurred and throughout the twelve-month period preceding that time, fulfils the following conditions:

(a) neither the partnership nor any of its members operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well;

(b) none of its members is a member of an associated group, within the meaning of section 726.4.17.18.1, a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 143; 2015, c. 21, s. 248.

726.4.17.7. In this Title, a qualified corporation is a corporation all of the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses referred to in paragraph e of section 395 or at the time the expenses in respect of which an amount is renounced under section 359.2, as the case may be, are incurred, and throughout the twelve-month period preceding that time, fulfils the following conditions:

(a) the corporation does not operate any mineral resource or oil or gas well;

(b) the corporation is not a member of an associated group, within the meaning of section 726.4.17.18.1, a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 143; 2015, c. 21, s. 249.

726.4.17.8. For the purposes of this Title and for greater certainty, the operation of a mineral resource or an oil or gas well shall be interpreted as such an operation carried out in reasonable commercial quantities.

1990, c. 7, s. 26.

726.4.17.9. For the purposes of this Title, where a member of a partnership is deemed to have incurred Canadian exploration expenses under paragraph d of section 395, the expenses are deemed to have been incurred by the member at the time they were incurred by the partnership.

1990, c. 7, s. 26; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

TITLE VI.3.2.2

ADDITIONAL DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF CERTAIN ISSUE EXPENSES

1992, c. 1, s. 41.

726.4.17.10. An individual may deduct, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding his issue base relating to certain issue expenses at the end of the year, computed before any deduction for the year under this section.

1992, c. 1, s. 41.

726.4.17.11. For the purposes of this Title, the issue base relating to certain issue expenses of an individual, at any time, means an amount equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the individual under section 726.4.17.10 in computing his taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time:

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to such proportion of the amount that is renounced under section 726.4.17.12 by a corporation in respect of a share issue as is represented by the ratio between, on the one hand, the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of the individual, for a taxation year ending at or before that time, relating to Canadian exploration expenses incurred out of the proceeds of the share issue and, on the other hand, the aggregate described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 726.4.17.12 in respect of the share issue; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to such proportion of the amount that is renounced under section 726.4.17.13 by a partnership in respect of a security issue the proceeds of which have been used to acquire flow-through shares issued by a corporation as is represented by the ratio between, on the one hand, the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of the individual, for a taxation year ending at or before that time, relating to Canadian exploration expenses incurred out of the portion, subscribed by the partnership, of the proceeds of the issue of the flow-through shares and, on the other hand, the aggregate described in subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 726.4.17.13 in respect of the security issue.

However, subject to the third paragraph, the amount that an individual may include for a taxation year, under subparagraph a of the first paragraph, in his issue base relating to certain issue expenses in relation to a share issue, shall in no case be greater than the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of

i. the amount of the consideration paid by the individual to acquire shares at the time of the share issue; and

ii. where the amount, or part of the amount, is an amount included in the issue base by reason of the individual's being a member of a particular partnership, the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the individual's share in the consideration that the particular partnership, or, as the case may be, another partnership, paid to acquire shares at the time of the share issue; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of

i. the amounts renounced by a corporation at or before the end of the year to the individual in respect of the shares contemplated in subparagraph i of subparagraph a under section 359.2 or 359.4, or that may reasonably be expected to be renounced by the corporation after the end of the year to the individual in respect of the said shares under the said sections;

ii. the individual's share and, where applicable, the share of any other person having possessed or able to acquire the individual's interest in the particular partnership contemplated in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a, in the aggregate of the amounts renounced by a corporation at or before the end of the year to a partnership in respect of the shares contemplated in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a under section 359.2 or 359.4, or that may reasonably be expected to be renounced by the corporation after the end of the year to a partnership in respect of the said shares under the said sections; and

iii. the amounts previously included under this section in the individual's issue base in relation to the said share issue.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, where at any time in a taxation year an individual is a limited partner, within the meaning of section 613.6, of a partnership, the following rules apply:

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph by reference to the portion, which is referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 for the year in respect of the individual, of his share of the Canadian exploration expenses incurred by the partnership in a fiscal period thereof ending in the year shall in no case be greater than the amount by which the amount determined for the individual under the second paragraph of section 613.1, in respect of the partnership at the end of that fiscal period, exceeds the aggregate of

i. any amount that may reasonably be expected to be an amount referred to in subparagraph c of the second paragraph of the said section 613.1 for the individual, or for another person having acquired the individual's partnership interest, in respect of the partnership at the end of a subsequent fiscal period thereof; and

ii. all amounts each of which is the individual's share of any loss of the partnership for the fiscal period from a business, other than a farming business, or from property, that may be deducted by the individual in computing his income for the year or included in computing his non-capital loss for the year;

(b) the amount of the reduction, by reason of subparagraph a, of the aggregate described firstly in that subparagraph in respect of the individual for the year is deemed to be a loss of the individual as a limited partner in respect of the partnership for the year.

1992, c. 1, s. 41; 1993, c. 64, s. 59; 1995, c. 1, s. 58; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 14, s. 103; 1998, c. 16, s. 181; 2000, c. 5, s. 293; 2001, c. 7, s. 85.

726.4.17.12. A corporation which makes a public issue of shares, including flow-through shares, the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus of which was granted after 2 May 1991 may renounce, in respect of the share issue, an amount not exceeding the amount determined, in respect of that share issue, by the formula

$(A \times B) / C.$

For the purposes of the formula set forth in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the lesser of

i. the aggregate of the expenses incurred by the corporation, in the course of the share issue and out of the proceeds thereof, at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the reasonable additional expenses the corporation expects to incur after that time, in the course of the share issue and out of the proceeds thereof, and

ii. 15% of the aggregate of the proceeds of the share issue at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the additional proceeds the corporation expects to receive for the additional shares it intends to issue after that time as part of the share issue;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of an individual and incurred, at or before the time the renunciation is made, out of the proceeds of the share issue, or any amount that may reasonably be expected to be such an expense in respect of an individual incurred after that time out of the proceeds of the share issue;

(c) C is the amount by which the aggregate of the proceeds of the share issue at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the additional proceeds the corporation expects to receive for the additional shares it intends to issue after that time as part of the share issue, exceeds the amount used for A.

Any renunciation made by a corporation under the first paragraph in respect of a share issue is valid only if it is made, in prescribed form, on 31 December in the calendar year in which the share issue commenced or within 60 days thereafter.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a public issue of shares in respect of which the application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or the application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, is made after 12 June 2003, in relation to a flow-through share acquired before 31 March 2004.

726.4.17.12.1. Where, after 4 June 2014, a corporation makes a public issue of shares referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.4.17.12, the percentage of 15% mentioned in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of that section is, in respect of the share issue, to be replaced by a percentage of 12%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a public issue of shares following

(a) an investment made on or before 5 June 2014; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 4 June 2014.

2015, c. 21, s. 250.

726.4.17.13. Where a partnership makes a public issue of securities that are interests in the partnership, where the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus of the security issue was granted after 2 May 1991, and where the partnership uses the proceeds of the security issue to acquire flow-through shares issued by a corporation, it may renounce, in respect of the security issue, an amount not exceeding the amount determined, in respect of the security issue, by the formula

$(A \times B) / C.$

For the purposes of the formula set forth in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the lesser of

i. the aggregate of the expenses incurred by the partnership, in the course of the issue of securities and out of the proceeds thereof, at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the reasonable additional expenses the partnership expects to incur after that time, in the course of that security issue and out of the proceeds thereof, and

ii. 15% of the aggregate of the proceeds of the security issue at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the additional proceeds the partnership expects to receive for the additional partnership interests it intends to issue after that time as part of the security issue;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of an individual and incurred, at or before the time the renunciation is made, out of such portion of the proceeds of the flow-through share issue as is subscribed by the partnership at or before that time out of the proceeds of the security issue, or

ii. any amount that may reasonably be expected to be an expense referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of an individual and incurred, after the time the renunciation is made, out of that portion of the proceeds of the flow-through share issue that the partnership subscribed at or before that time, or intends to subscribe after that time, out of the proceeds of the security issue;

(c) C is the amount by which the aggregate of the proceeds of the security issue at or before the time the renunciation is made and, where such is the case, the additional proceeds the partnership expects to receive for the additional partnership interests it intends to issue after that time as part of the security issue, exceeds the amount used for A.

Any renunciation made by a partnership under the first paragraph in respect of a security issue is valid only if it is made, in prescribed form, on 31 December in the calendar year in which the security issue commenced or within 60 days thereafter.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a public issue of securities in respect of which the application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or the application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, is made after 12 June 2003 and the proceeds of which were used by the partnership to acquire flow-through shares before 31 March 2004.

726.4.17.13.1. Where, after 4 June 2014, a partnership makes a public issue of securities referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.4.17.13, the percentage of 15% mentioned in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of that section is, in respect of the security issue, to be replaced by a percentage of 12%.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a public issue of securities following

(a) an investment made on or before 4 June 2014; or

(b) an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus, as the case may be, made on or before 4 June 2014.

2015, c. 21, s. 251.

726.4.17.14. A corporation or partnership may renounce an amount under section 726.4.17.12 or 726.4.17.13, as the case may be, in respect of an expense,

(a) on the one hand, only if the expense is an expense that would be deductible under section 147, but for the second paragraph thereof and sections 147.1 and 147.2, in computing the income of the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, for any taxation year; and

(b) on the other hand, only to the extent that the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, has not deducted the expense in computing its income for any taxation year preceding the year in which the renunciation is made, has not been or cannot reasonably expect to be reimbursed for the expense, has not received or cannot reasonably expect to receive government assistance or non-government assistance, within the meanings assigned by the first paragraph of section 1029.6.0.0.1, in respect of the expense, and has not transferred to another person its right to such a reimbursement or such assistance.

726.4.17.15. Where a corporation renounces an amount under section 726.4.17.12 in respect of a share issue, or where a partnership renounces an amount under section 726.4.17.13 in respect of a security issue, the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, shall file with the Minister, on or before the last day of the month following that in which the renunciation is made, a prescribed form in respect of the renunciation it has so made.

1992, c. 1, s. 41; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

1992, c. 1, s. 41; 1993, c. 16, s. 261; 1995, c. 63, s. 261; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 21, s. 118; 2010, c. 31, s. 175; 2012, c. 8, s. 67.

726.4.17.17. Where the amount that a corporation or partnership purported to renounce, in respect of a share issue or a security issue, under section 726.4.17.12 or 726.4.17.13, as the case may be, in respect of expenses incurred by it in the course of the issue either exceeds the amount it may renounce under that section in respect of the issue or, where upon making the renunciation, it took into account expenses not yet incurred at that time or any other amount not yet received or subscribed at that time, differs from the particular amount it would have been entitled to renounce under the said section in respect of that issue if, at that time, it could have taken into account the expenses actually incurred after that time and other amounts actually received or subscribed after that time, the following rules apply:

(a) the corporation or partnership shall, as the case may be, either reduce the amount so renounced in respect of the issue by the amount of the excess, or alter it to make it equal to the particular amount;

(b) the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, shall file a statement with the Minister indicating the adjustments made in the amount so renounced.

For the purposes of this Title, where the corporation or the partnership fails to comply with subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph within 30 days after notice in writing by the Minister has been forwarded to it that the adjustment as provided in the said subparagraph a is or will be required for the purposes of any assessment of tax under this Part, the Minister may, as the case may be, either reduce the amount purported to be renounced by it in respect of the issue contemplated in the first paragraph by the amount of the excess referred to in that paragraph, or alter it to make it equal to the particular amount referred to in that paragraph.

In either such case, the amount renounced by the corporation or partnership in respect of the issue is deemed, notwithstanding section 726.4.17.12 or 726.4.17.13, as the case may be, to be the amount as reduced or altered, as the case may be, by the corporation or partnership or by the Minister, as the case may be.

1992, c. 1, s. 41; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

TITLE VI.3.2.3

ADDITIONAL DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF CERTAIN EXPLORATION EXPENSES INCURRED IN THE NEAR NORTH AND FAR NORTH OF QUÉBEC

1999, c. 83, s. 77.

726.4.17.18. In this Title,

"associated group" at any time has the meaning assigned by section 726.4.17.18.1;

"northern exploration zone" means a territory situated in Québec, which comprises

(a) the territory situated north of the 49th degree of north latitude and north of the St. Lawrence River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and south of the 55th degree of north latitude; and

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(c) the territory situated north of the 55th degree of north latitude;

"qualified corporation" means a corporation all of the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses in respect of which an amount is renounced under section 359.2 or 359.2.1 are incurred, and throughout the 12-month period preceding that time, fulfills the following conditions:

(a) the corporation does not operate any mineral resource or oil or gas well;

(b) the corporation is not a member of an associated group a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well;

"qualified partnership" means a partnership all the activities of which consist mainly in exploring for minerals, petroleum or gas or developing a mineral resource or an oil or gas well and which, at the time the expenses referred to in paragraph d of section 395 are incurred and, throughout the 12-month period preceding that time, fulfills the following conditions:

(a) neither the partnership nor any of its members operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well;

(b) none of its members is a member of an associated group a member of which operates a mineral resource or an oil or gas well.

1999, c. 83, s. 77; 2002, c. 40, s. 53; 2011, c. 34, s. 35; 2015, c. 21, s. 252; 2017, c. 29, s. 95.

726.4.17.18.1. An associated group at any given time means all the corporations that are associated with each other at that time.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) a business carried on by an individual, other than a trust, is deemed to be carried on by a corporation all the voting shares in the capital stock of which are owned at the given time by the individual;

(b) a partnership is deemed to be a corporation whose taxation year corresponds to the partnership's fiscal period and all the voting shares in the capital stock of which are owned at the given time by each member of the partnership in a proportion equal to the agreed proportion in respect of the member for the partnership's fiscal period that includes that time; and

(c) a trust is deemed to be a corporation all the voting shares in the capital stock of which

i. in the case of a testamentary trust under which one or more beneficiaries are entitled to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the date of death of one or the last surviving of those beneficiaries (in this subparagraph c referred to as the "distribution date") and under which no other person can, before the distribution date, receive or otherwise obtain the enjoyment of any of the income or capital of the trust,

(1) if such a beneficiary's share of the income or capital of the trust depends on the exercise by any person of, or the failure by any person to exercise, a power to appoint, and if the given time occurs before the distribution date, are owned at that time by the beneficiary, or

(2) if subparagraph 1 does not apply and the given time occurs before the distribution date, are owned at that time by such a beneficiary in a proportion equal to the proportion that the fair market value of the beneficial interest in the trust of the beneficiary is of the fair market value of the beneficial interests in the trust of all the beneficiaries,

ii. if a beneficiary's share of the accumulating income or of the capital of the trust depends on the exercise by any person of, or the failure by any person to exercise, a power to appoint, are owned at the given time by the beneficiary, unless subparagraph i applies and that time occurs before the distribution date,

iii. in any case where subparagraph ii does not apply, are owned at the given time by the beneficiary in a proportion equal to the proportion that the fair market value of the beneficial interest in the trust of the beneficiary is of the fair market value of all beneficial interests in the trust, unless subparagraph i applies and that time occurs before the distribution date, and

iv. in the case of a trust referred to in section 467, are owned at the given time by the person referred to in that section from whom property of the trust or property for which property of the trust was substituted was directly or indirectly received.

2015, c. 21, s. 253.

726.4.17.19. A corporation may deduct, in computing its taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding its exploration base relating to certain exploration expenses incurred in a northern exploration zone at the end of the year, computed before any deduction for the year under this section.

1999, c. 83, s. 77.

726.4.17.20. In this Title, the exploration base relating to certain exploration expenses incurred in a northern exploration zone of a corporation, at any time, means an amount equal to the amount by which the amount computed under section 726.4.17.21 is exceeded by 25% of the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of the expenses, except those described in section 726.4.17.22, incurred by the corporation in a northern exploration zone after 31 March 1998 and before that time, and that are

i. Canadian exploration expenses that would be described in paragraph a, b.1 or c of section 395 if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears except in subparagraph iv of that paragraph b.1, were a reference to "the northern exploration zone", or described in paragraph d of that section 395 if the reference therein to "expenses described in paragraphs a to b.1 and c to c.2" were replaced by a reference to "expenses that would be described in paragraph a, b.1 or c, if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears except in subparagraph iv of paragraph b.1, were a reference to "the northern exploration zone" ", or

ii. Canadian development expenses that would be described in paragraph a or a.1 of section 408 if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "the northern exploration zone", or described in paragraph d of that section 408 if the reference therein to "expense described in paragraphs a to c" were replaced by a reference to "expense that would be described in paragraph a or a.1, if the reference in those paragraphs to "Canada", wherever it appears, were a reference to "the northern exploration zone" ", and that are deemed, under paragraph a of section 359.3, to be Canadian exploration expenses of the corporation by reason of a renunciation to the corporation under section 359.2.1; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts of assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, that a person, including a partnership, has received, is entitled to receive or becomes, at any time, entitled to receive in respect of an expense referred to in paragraph a, to the extent that the assistance has not reduced, by reason of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2, the Canadian exploration expenses of the corporation or, by reason of paragraph a of section 359.2.1, the Canadian development expenses deemed to be Canadian exploration expenses of the corporation.

1999, c. 83, s. 77; 2002, c. 40, s. 54; 2004, c. 21, s. 119; 2005, c. 23, s. 74.

726.4.17.21. The amount to which section 726.4.17.20 refers is equal, at any time referred to therein, to the aggregate of

(a) any amount deducted by the corporation under section 726.4.17.19 in computing its taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time, and

(b) 25% of each amount that became receivable by the corporation before that time but after 31 March 1998 and in respect of which the consideration given by the corporation was a property, other than a property disposed of by the corporation to any person with whom the corporation was not dealing at arm's length, a share, depreciable property of a prescribed class or a Canadian resource property, or services, the cost of which may reasonably be regarded as having been an expenditure in respect of which an amount was included, under section 726.4.17.20, in computing the exploration base relating to certain exploration expenses of the corporation or of a person with whom the corporation was not dealing at arm's length, incurred in a northern exploration zone.

1999, c. 83, s. 77.

726.4.17.22. The expenses to which paragraph a of section 726.4.17.20 refers are

(a) any amount included in the Canadian exploration and development overhead expenses of the corporation, within the meaning of the regulations;

(b) any amount relating to Canadian exploration expenses or Canadian development expenses that is renounced by a corporation that is not a qualified corporation, effective after 31 March 1998, under section 359.2 or 359.2.1, as the case may be, in respect of a share;

(c) any amount relating to financing, including expenses incurred before the beginning of the carrying on of a business;

(d) expenses that are Canadian exploration expenses of the corporation under paragraph d of section 395, to the extent that they refer to expenses incurred, after 31 March 1998 and before the time referred to in section 726.4.17.20, by a partnership that is not a qualified partnership;

(e) any prescribed expense; and

(f) expenses that are eligible expenses, within the meaning of section 1029.8.36.167, taken into account in computing an amount that the corporation is deemed to have paid to the Minister for a taxation year under Division II.6.15 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX.

1999, c. 83, s. 77; 2005, c. 1, s. 137.

726.4.17.23. Where an expense incurred before any time is included in the aggregate determined under paragraph a of section 726.4.17.20 in respect of a corporation and, after that time, a person, including a partnership, becomes entitled to receive assistance, within the meaning of paragraph c.0.1 of section 359, in respect of that expense, the assistance shall be included in the aggregate referred to in paragraph b of that section 726.4.17.20 in respect of the corporation at the time the expense was incurred, to the extent that it has not reduced the amount of the expense by reason of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 359.2 or paragraph a of section 359.2.1.

1999, c. 83, s. 77.

726.4.17.24. For the purposes of this Title, the operation of a mineral resource or an oil or gas well shall be interpreted as such an operation carried out in reasonable commercial quantities.

1999, c. 83, s. 77.

726.4.17.25. For the purposes of this Title, where a member of a partnership is deemed to have incurred Canadian exploration expenses under paragraph d of section 395, the expenses are deemed to have been incurred by the member at the time they were incurred by the partnership.

CAPITAL GAINS EXEMPTION

1987, c. 67, s. 142.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION

1987, c. 67, s. 142.

726.6. In this Title, the expression

(a) (subparagraph repealed);

(a.0.1*) (subparagraph repealed);*

(a.0.2*)* "qualified farm or fishing property", of an individual (other than a trust that is not a personal trust) at any time, means a property that is owned at that time by the individual, the spouse of the individual or a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or the individual's spouse and that is

i. an immovable or a fishing boat that was used in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada by

(1) the individual,

(2) where the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary under the trust that is entitled to receive directly from the trust all or part of the income or capital of the trust,

(3) the spouse, a child or the father or mother of an individual referred to in subparagraph 1 or 2,

(4) a corporation, a share of the capital stock of which is a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3, or

(5) a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3,

ii. a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual or the individual's spouse,

iii. an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or the individual's spouse, or

iv. a property included in Class 14.1 of Schedule B to the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1), used in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada by a person or partnership referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 5 of subparagraph i or by a personal trust from which the individual acquired the property;

(a.1*)* "child" means a child within the meaning of subparagraph d of the first paragraph of section 451;

(a.2*)* "investment expense" of an individual for a taxation year means an amount equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the amount included in computing the individual's income for the year under section 313.10 and the amount included in computing the individual's taxable income for the year under section 737.0.1 is exceeded by the aggregate of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted in computing his income for the year from property, except to the extent that the amount was otherwise taken into account in computing his investment expense or his investment income for the year, other than any such amount deducted under

(1) section 147, 160, 163, 176, 176.4 or 178, in respect of borrowed money that was used by the individual, or that was used to acquire property that was used by the individual, to make a payment as consideration for an income-averaging annuity contract, to pay a premium under a registered retirement savings plan or to make a contribution to a registered pension plan, a pooled registered pension plan or a deferred profit sharing plan, or

(2) section 177, the first paragraph of section 360 or section 371, 401, 413, 414, 418.1.10 or 418.7,

ii. the aggregate of

(1) all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 147, paragraph d of section 157 or section 160, 163, 176, 176.4, 178 or 179 in computing his income for the year from a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending in the year, and

(2) all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 147.2 or 176.3 in computing his income for the year in respect of an expense incurred by a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending immediately before the partnership ceased to exist,

iii. the aggregate of

(1) all amounts, other than allowable capital losses, each of which is an amount deducted in computing his income for the year in respect of his share of any loss of a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending in the year, and

(2) all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 733.0.0.1 in computing his taxable income for the year,

iv. 50% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 371, 401, 413, 414, 418.1.10 or 418.7 in computing his income for the year in respect of expenses incurred and renounced under section 359.2, 359.2.1, 359.4 or 359.6 by a corporation or in respect of expenses incurred by a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period of the partnership in which the expense was incurred, other than any such expense that would be referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 726.4.10 if the reference therein to “30 June 1988” were a reference to “31 December 1988”,

v. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of his loss for the year from property or from renting or leasing a rental property within the meaning of section 130R88 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1) or a property described in Class 31 or 32 of Schedule B to the said regulation, if the property was owned by the individual or by a partnership of which he was a member other than a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending in the year, and

vi. the amount by which the aggregate of his net capital losses for other taxation years deducted under section 729 in computing his taxable income for the year exceeds the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph b;

vii. the amount deducted in computing the individual’s income for the year under section 336.6;

(a.3) (subparagraph repealed);

(a.4) (subparagraph repealed);

(a.5) “interest in a family farm or fishing partnership”, of an individual (other than a trust that is not a personal trust) at any time, means a partnership interest owned by the individual at that time if

i. throughout any 24-month period ending before that time, more than 50% of the fair market value of the property of the partnership was attributable to

(1) property that was used by the partnership or any of the persons or partnerships described in the second paragraph, principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada in which the individual, a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph b of the second paragraph or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual or of such a beneficiary was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis,

(2) shares of the capital stock or indebtedness of one or more corporations of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph 4,

(3) a partnership interest in or indebtedness of one or more partnerships of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph 4, or

(4) property described in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3, and

ii. at that time, all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property of the partnership was attributable to property described in subparagraph 4 of subparagraph i;

(b) "annual gains limit" of an individual for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

i. the lesser of

(1) the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses, and

(2) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were properties that, at the time they were disposed of, were qualified farm properties or qualified fishing properties, within the meaning of subparagraphs a and a.0.1, as they read before being struck out, qualified farm or fishing properties and qualified small business corporation shares, exceeds

ii. the aggregate of

(1) the amount by which the individual's net capital losses for other taxation years deducted under section 729 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year exceeds the amount by which the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph i in respect of the individual for the year, and

(2) the individual's allowable business investment losses for the year;

(c) "cumulative gains limit" of an individual at the end of a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

i. the aggregate of all amounts determined under subparagraph i of subparagraph b in respect of the individual for the year or preceding taxation years that end after 31 December 1984, exceeds

ii. the aggregate of

(1) all amounts determined under subparagraph ii of subparagraph b in respect of the individual for the year or preceding taxation years that end after 31 December 1984,

(2) the amount deducted by the individual under subparagraph iii of subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 28 in computing his income for the taxation year 1985,

(3) all amounts deducted by the individual under this Title in computing his taxable income for preceding taxation years, and

(4) the individual's cumulative net investment loss at the end of the year;

(d) "cumulative net investment loss" of an individual at the end of a taxation year means the amount by which

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the investment expense of the individual for the year or a preceding taxation year ending after 31 December 1987, exceeds

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the investment income of the individual for the year or a preceding taxation year ending after 31 December 1987;

(e) "investment income" of an individual for a taxation year means the aggregate of the following amounts:

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing his income for the year from property, other than an amount included under section 113, paragraph c of section 312 or paragraph c.1 of section 312, as that paragraph read for that year before being struck out, including any amount so included under section 94 in respect of a property the income from which would be income from property, except to the extent that the amount was otherwise taken into account in computing his investment income or investment expense for the year,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts, other than taxable capital gains, each of which is an amount included in computing his income for the year in respect of his share of the income of a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending in the year, including his share of all amounts included in computing the income of the partnership under section 94,

iii. 50% of all amounts included in computing his income for the year under paragraphs c to e.1 of section 330,

iv. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of his income for the year from property or from renting or leasing a rental property within the meaning of section 130R88 of the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act or a property described in Class 31 or 32 of Schedule B to the said regulation, if the property was owned by the individual or by a partnership of which he was a member, other than a partnership of which he was a specified member in the fiscal period thereof ending in the year, including any amount included in computing his income for the year under section 94 in respect of a rental property of the individual or the partnership or in respect of a property any income from which would be income from property,

v. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts, other than amounts in respect of an income-averaging annuity contract, an income-averaging annuity contract respecting income from artistic activities or an annuity contract purchased pursuant to a deferred profit sharing plan or a revoked plan, referred to in section 879, included in computing the individual's income for the year under paragraph c of section 312 or paragraph c.1 of section 312, as that paragraph read for the year before being struck out, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts deducted under paragraph f of section 336 in computing the individual's income for the year; and

vi. the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts included under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses in computing his income for the year exceeds the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under subparagraph i of subparagraph b.

The persons and partnerships referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a.5 of the first paragraph are

(a) the individual;

(b) where the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary of the trust;

(c) a spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual or of a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph b;

(d) a corporation, a share of the capital stock of which was a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of the individual, of a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph b or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual or of such a beneficiary; or

(e) a partnership, an interest in which was an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual, of a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph b or of the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual or of such a beneficiary.

726.6.1. In this Title,

"qualified small business corporation share" of an individual, other than a trust that is not a personal trust, at any time, in this definition and the second paragraph referred to as the "determination time", means a share of the capital stock of a corporation that,

(a) at the determination time, is a share of the capital stock of a small business corporation owned by the individual, his spouse or a partnership related to the individual;

(b) throughout the 24 months immediately preceding the determination time, was not owned by anyone other than the individual or a person or partnership related to the individual; and

(c) throughout that part of the 24 months immediately preceding the determination time while it was owned by the individual or a person or partnership related to the individual, was a share of the capital stock of a Canadian-controlled private corporation more than 50% of the fair market value of the assets of which was attributable to

i. assets used principally in a qualified business carried on primarily in Canada by the corporation or by a corporation related to it,

ii. shares of the capital stock or indebtedness of one or more other corporations that are connected, within the meaning of the regulations, with the corporation, if the following conditions are met:

(1) throughout that part of the 24 months immediately preceding the determination time that ends at the time the corporation acquired such a share or indebtedness, the share or indebtedness was not owned by anyone other than the corporation, a person or partnership related to the corporation or a person or partnership related to such a person or partnership, and

(2) throughout that part of the 24 months immediately preceding the determination time while such a share or indebtedness was owned by the corporation, a person or partnership related to it or a person or partnership related to such a person or partnership, it was a share or indebtedness of a Canadian-controlled private corporation more than 50% of the fair market value of the assets of which was attributable to assets described in subparagraph iii, or

iii. assets described in either of subparagraphs i and ii;

"share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation", of an individual (other than a trust that is not a personal trust) at any time, means a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by the individual at that time if

(a) throughout any 24-month period ending before that time, more than 50% of the fair market value of the property owned by the corporation was attributable to

i. property that was used principally in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada in which an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 2 to 4 was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis, by

(1) the corporation,

(2) the individual,

(3) if the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary under the trust,

(4) the spouse, a child or the father or mother of an individual referred to in subparagraph 2 or 3,

(5) another corporation that is related to the corporation and of which a share of the capital stock was a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation of an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 2 to 4, or

(6) a partnership, an interest in which was an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 2 to 4,

ii. shares of the capital stock or indebtedness of one or more corporations of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv,

iii. a partnership interest in or indebtedness of one or more partnerships of which all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv, or

iv. property described in any of subparagraphs i to iii; and

(b) at that time, all or substantially all of the fair market value of the property owned by the corporation was attributable to property described in subparagraph iv of paragraph a.

For the purposes of the definition of "qualified small business corporation share" in the first paragraph,

(a) where, for any period of time in the 24-month period ending at the determination time, all or substantially all of the fair market value of the assets of a particular corporation that is the corporation or another corporation that was connected with the corporation cannot be attributed to assets described in subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the said definition, shares or indebtedness of corporations described in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the said definition, or any combination thereof, the reference in the said subparagraph 2 to "more than 50%" shall, for the particular period of time, be read as a reference to "all or substantially all" in respect of each other corporation that was connected with the particular corporation and, for the purposes of this subparagraph, a corporation is connected with another corporation only where

i. the corporation is connected, within the meaning of the regulations, with the other corporation, and

ii. the other corporation owns shares of the capital stock of the corporation and, for the purposes of this subparagraph, the other corporation is deemed to own the shares of the capital stock of any corporation that are owned by a corporation any shares of the capital stock of which are owned or are deemed by this subparagraph to be owned by the other corporation;

(b) where, at any time in the 24-month period ending at the determination time, the share was substituted for another share, the share shall be considered to have met the requirements of the said definition only where the other share

i. was not owned by any person or partnership other than a person or partnership described in subparagraph b of the said definition throughout the period commencing 24 months before the determination time and ending at the time of substitution, and

ii. was a share of the capital stock of a corporation described in subparagraph c of the said definition throughout that part of the period referred to in subparagraph i during which such share was owned by a person or partnership described in subparagraph b of the said definition;

(c) where, at any time in the 24-month period ending at the determination time, a share referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the said definition was substituted for another share, that share shall be considered to have met the requirements of that subparagraph ii only where the other share

i. was not owned by any person or partnership other than a person or partnership described in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of the said definition throughout the period commencing 24 months before the determination time and ending at the time of substitution, and

ii. was a share of the capital stock of a corporation described in subparagraph c of the said definition throughout that part of the period referred to in subparagraph i during which such share was owned by a person or partnership described in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph ii of that subparagraph c;

(d) a taxpayer is deemed to have disposed of shares that are identical properties in the order in which he acquired them;

(e) in determining whether a corporation is a small business corporation or a Canadian-controlled private corporation at any time, a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20 shall not include a right under a purchase and sale agreement relating to a share of the capital stock of a corporation;

(f) a personal trust is deemed

i. to be related to a person or partnership for any period throughout which the person or partnership was a beneficiary of the trust, and

ii. in respect of a share of the capital stock of a corporation, to be related to the person from whom it acquired the share where, at the time the trust disposed of the share, all of the beneficiaries, other than registered charities, of the trust were related to that person or would have been so related if that person were living at that time;

(g) a partnership is deemed to be related to a person for any period throughout which the person was a member of the partnership;

(g.1) a person who is a member of a partnership that is a member of another partnership is deemed to be a member of the other partnership;

(h) a corporation that acquires shares of a class of the capital stock of another corporation from any person is deemed in respect of those shares to be related to the person where all or substantially all of the consideration received by that person from the corporation in respect of those shares was common shares of the capital stock of the corporation;

(i) shares issued after 13 June 1988 by a corporation to a particular person or partnership are deemed to have been owned immediately before their issue by a person who was not related to the particular person or partnership unless the shares were issued

i. as consideration for other shares,

ii. as part of a transaction or series of transactions in which the particular person or partnership disposed of property to the corporation that consisted of

(1) all or substantially all of the assets used in a qualified business carried on by the particular person or the members of that partnership, or

(2) an interest in a partnership all or substantially all of the assets of which were used in a qualified business carried on by the members of the partnership, or

iii. as payment of a stock dividend; and

(j) where, immediately before the death of an individual, a share would, but for subparagraph a of the said definition, be a qualified small business corporation share of an individual, the share is deemed to be a qualified small business corporation share of the individual if it was a qualified small business corporation share of the individual at any time in the 12-month period immediately preceding the death of the individual.

For the purposes of the definitions of "qualified small business corporation share" and "share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation" in the first paragraph, the fair market value of a net income stabilization account or of a farm income stabilization account is deemed to be nil.

For the purposes of the definitions of "qualified small business corporation share" and "share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation" in the first paragraph, the fair market value of a net income stabilization account or of a farm income stabilization account is deemed to be nil.

1990, c. 59, s. 259; 1993, c. 16, s. 265; 1994, c. 22, s. 248; 1995, c. 49, s. 165; 1996, c. 39, s. 180; 1997, c. 3, s. 31; 2000, c. 5, s. 155; 2004, c. 21, s. 121; 2007, c. 12, s. 74; 2009, c. 5, s. 243; 2017, c. 29, s. 97.

726.6.2. For the purposes of the definition of "small business corporation" in section 1, of subparagraph a.2 of the first paragraph of section 451, of the definitions of "qualified small business corporation share" and "share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation" in the first paragraph of section 726.6.1, and of the second paragraph of section 726.6.1, the following rules apply:

(a) where a person, in this section referred to as the "insured", whose life was insured under an insurance policy owned by a particular corporation, owned particular shares of the capital stock of the particular corporation, any corporation connected with the particular corporation or with which the particular corporation is connected or any other corporation connected with any such corporation or with which any such corporation is connected, within the meaning of the regulations,

i. the fair market value of the life insurance policy is deemed, at any time before the death of the insured, to be its cash surrender value, within the meaning of paragraph d of section 966, at that time, and

ii. the total fair market value of assets described in the second paragraph—other than assets described in subparagraphs i to iii of paragraph c of the definition of "qualified small business corporation share" in the first paragraph of section 726.6.1, subparagraphs i to iii of paragraph a of the definition of "share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation" in that first paragraph, or paragraphs a to c of the definition of "small business corporation" in section 1, as the case may be—of any of those corporations not in excess of the fair market value of the assets immediately after the death of the insured is deemed, until the later of the redemption, acquisition or cancellation referred to in subparagraph b of the second paragraph and the day that is 60 days after the payment of the proceeds under the policy, not to exceed the cash surrender value, within the meaning of paragraph d of section 966, of the life insurance policy immediately before the death of the insured; and

(b) the fair market value of an asset of a particular corporation that is a share of the capital stock or indebtedness of another corporation with which the particular corporation is connected is deemed to be nil.

The assets referred to in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph are

(a) the proceeds, the right to receive the proceeds or attributable to the proceeds of the life insurance policy of which the particular corporation was a beneficiary, and

(b) used, directly or indirectly, within the 24-month period commencing at the time of the death of the insured or, where written application therefor is made by the particular corporation within that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances, to redeem, acquire or cancel the particular shares owned by the insured immediately before the death of the insured.

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, a particular corporation is connected with another corporation only where

(a) the particular corporation is connected, within the meaning of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 726.6.1, with the other corporation; and

(b) the other corporation is not connected, within the meaning of the regulations if the latter were read without reference to subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 739, with the particular corporation.

Subparagraph b of the first paragraph applies only in determining whether a share of the capital stock of another corporation with which the particular corporation referred to in that subparagraph b is connected is a qualified small business corporation share or a share of the capital stock of a family farm or fishing corporation and in determining whether the other corporation is a small business corporation.

726.6.3. For the purposes of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6, at any time, a property owned at that time by an individual, the individual's spouse or a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse will not be considered to have been used in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada, unless

(a) the property or a property for which the property was substituted meets the following conditions:

i. throughout the period of at least 24 months preceding that time, the property was owned by any one or more of

(1) the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

(2) a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm or fishing partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse,

(3) if the individual is a personal trust, the individual from whom the trust acquired the property or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual, or

(4) a personal trust from which the individual or a child or the father or mother of the individual acquired the property, and

ii. either

(1) in at least two years while the property was owned by one or more persons or partnerships referred to in subparagraph i, the property was used principally in a farming or fishing business carried on in Canada in which an individual referred to in subparagraph i, or where the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary under the trust, was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis, and the gross revenue of a person referred to in subparagraph i (in this subparagraph 1 referred to as the "operator") from such a business for the period during which the property was owned by a person or partnership referred to in subparagraph i exceeded the income of the operator from all other sources for that period, or

(2) throughout a period of at least 24 months while the property was owned by one or more persons or partnerships referred to in subparagraph i, the property was used by a corporation described in subparagraph 4 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6 or by a partnership described in subparagraph 5 of that subparagraph i in a farming or fishing business in which an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs 1 to 3 of that subparagraph i was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis; and

(b) (subparagraph repealed);

(c) if the property or a property for which the property was substituted was last acquired by the individual or a partnership before 18 June 1987 or after 17 June 1987 under an agreement in writing entered into before that date,

i. in the year the property was disposed of by the individual, the property was used principally in the course of carrying on a farming business in Canada by

(1) the individual or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of the individual,

(2) a beneficiary described in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6, or the spouse, a child or the father or mother of that beneficiary,

(3) a corporation described in subparagraph 4 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6,

(4) a partnership described in subparagraph 5 of subparagraph i of subparagraph a.0.2 of the first paragraph of section 726.6, or

(5) a personal trust from which the individual acquired the property, or

ii. in at least five years during which the property was owned by any of the persons or partnerships described in subparagraph i, the property was used principally in the course of carrying on a farming business in Canada by any of those persons or partnerships.

Where, at any time, a qualified farm or fishing property is encumbered with a real servitude, the property that results from the establishment of that servitude is considered, at that time, to have been used in the course of carrying on a farming or fishing business in Canada only if the qualified farm or fishing property so encumbered satisfies the conditions set out in subparagraphs a and c of the first paragraph.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTIONS

1987, c. 67, s. 142.

726.7. In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual other than a trust, there shall be deducted, if the individual was resident in Canada throughout the year and disposed of qualified farm or fishing property in the year or a preceding taxation year or disposed of qualified farm property or qualified fishing property before 1 January 2014, an amount equal to the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$[$500{,}000 - (A + B + C + D)] \times E;$$

(b) his cumulative gains limit at the end of the year;

(c) his annual gains limit for the year;

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were properties that, at the time they were disposed of, were qualified farm properties, qualified fishing properties or qualified farm or fishing properties; and

(e) the amount that is allowed as a deduction in computing the individual's taxable income for the year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) under section 110.6 of that Act, in respect of properties referred to in this paragraph or, if the amount that is so allowed as a deduction is equal to the maximum amount that the individual may claim as a deduction in that computation under that section in respect of such properties, the amount that the individual specifies and that is not less than that maximum amount.

In the formula provided for in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended before 1 January 1988 or began after 17 October 2000;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. 3/4 of an amount deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended after 31 December 1987 but before 1 January 1990, other than amounts deducted under this Title for a taxation year in respect of an amount that was included in computing an individual's income for that year by reason of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105, as that subparagraph applied for a taxation year that ended before 28 February 2000, or

ii. 3/4 of an amount deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that began after 28 February 2000 and ended before 17 October 2000;

(c) C is 2/3 of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income

i. for a preceding taxation year that ended after 31 December 1989 but before 28 February 2000, or

ii. in respect of an amount that was included in computing the individual's income for a preceding taxation year that began after 31 December 1987 and ended before 1 January 1990, by reason of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105, as that subparagraph applied for a taxation year that ended before 28 February 2000;

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in relation to an amount deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, the product obtained when that amount is multiplied by the reciprocal of the fraction determined in respect of the individual under subparagraph i of subparagraph e for that preceding taxation year; and

(e) E is

i. in the case of a taxation year that includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000 or that begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the fraction determined by the formula

$[2 \times (F + G)]/H$, and

ii. in any other case, 1.

In the formula provided for in subparagraph i of subparagraph e of the second paragraph,

(a) F is the amount deemed by section 105.3 to be a taxable capital gain of the individual for the year;

(b) G is the amount by which the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 exceeds the amount deemed by section 105.3 to be a taxable capital gain of the individual for the year; and

(c) H is the aggregate of

i. the amount deemed by section 105.3 to be a taxable capital gain of the individual for the year multiplied by

(1) where that amount is the amount referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 105.3, the reciprocal of the fraction obtained by multiplying 3/4 by the fraction in section 105.2 that applies to the individual for the year,

(2) where that amount is the amount referred to in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 105.3 and the year does not end after 27 February 2000 and before 18 October 2000, 2, and

(3) where that amount is the amount referred to in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 105.3 and the year ends after 27 February 2000 and before 18 October 2000, 3/2, and

ii. the excess referred to in subparagraph b multiplied by the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, "qualified farm property" and "qualified fishing property" have the meaning assigned by section 726.6, as it read before subparagraphs a and a.0.1 of the first paragraph of that section were struck out.

For the purposes of subparagraph e of the first paragraph, where section 517.5.5 applies in respect of the disposition in a taxation year of eligible shares of an individual that are described in paragraph a of the definition of that expression in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3 and where subsection 1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act applies in respect of the disposition, the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 if those shares were the only properties referred to in that paragraph b is deemed to have been allowed as a deduction in computing the individual's taxable income for the year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act under section 110.6 of that Act in respect of qualified farm or fishing properties.

Sections 21.4.6 and 21.4.7 apply, with the necessary modifications, in relation to a claim for a deduction made under section 110.6 of the Income Tax Act in respect of properties referred to in the first paragraph.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 260; 1994, c. 22, s. 249; 1996, c. 39, s. 181; 2003, c. 2, s. 200; 2007, c. 12, s. 76; 2009, c. 5, s. 244; 2009, c. 15, s. 115; 2015, c. 24, s. 94; 2017, c. 1, s. 172; 2017, c. 29, s. 101; 2021, c. 36, s. 72.

726.7.0.1. Where the second amount in dollars referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7.1 is, with reference to section 693.5, greater than $500,000 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount of $500,000 in the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 is to be replaced for the year by that greater amount; and

(b) section 726.19.1 is to be read for the year without reference to its third paragraph.

2015, c. 24, s. 95.

726.7.1. An individual other than a trust, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year, shall deduct, if he was resident in Canada throughout the year and disposed in the year or a preceding taxation year and after 17 June 1987 of a share of a corporation that, at the time of disposition, was a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, an amount equal to the least of

(a) the amount that would be determined by the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 in respect of the individual for the year, if that formula were read as if "$500,000" were replaced by "$400,000";

(b) the amount by which his cumulative gains limit at the end of the year exceeds the amount deducted under section 726.7 in computing his taxable income for the year;

(c) the amount by which his annual gains limit for the year exceeds the amount deducted under section 726.7 in computing his taxable income for the year;

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28, to the extent that that amount is not included in computing the amount determined in respect of the individual under subparagraph d of the first paragraph of section 726.7, in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in paragraph b of section 28 were qualified small business corporation shares of the individual; and

(e) the amount that is allowed as a deduction in computing the individual's taxable income for the year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) under section 110.6 of that Act, in respect of qualified small business corporation shares or, if the amount that is so allowed as a deduction is equal to the maximum amount that the individual may claim as a deduction in that computation under that section in respect of such shares, the amount that the individual specifies and that is not less than that maximum amount.

For the purposes of subparagraph e of the first paragraph, where section 517.5.5 applies in respect of the disposition in a taxation year of eligible shares of an individual that are described in paragraph b of the definition of that expression in the first paragraph of section 517.5.3 and where subsection 1 of section 84.1 of the Income Tax Act applies in respect of the disposition, the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 if those shares were the only properties referred to in that paragraph b is deemed to have been allowed as a deduction in computing the individual's taxable income for the year for the purposes of the Income Tax Act under section 110.6 of that Act in respect of qualified small business corporation shares.

Sections 21.4.6 and 21.4.7 apply, with the necessary modifications, in relation to a claim for a deduction made under section 110.6 of the Income Tax Act in respect of qualified small business corporation shares.

726.9. Despite sections 726.7 and 726.7.1, the total amount that may be deducted under this Title in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year must not exceed the amount determined by the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 in respect of the individual for the year.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 263; 1996, c. 39, s. 184; 2003, c. 2, s. 202; 2004, c. 21, s. 123; 2009, c. 15, s. 117; 2017, c. 29, s. 104

726.9.1. For the purposes of subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 726.7 and subparagraph ii of subparagraph c of that paragraph, amounts deducted under this Title in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year that ended before 1 January 1990 are deemed to have first been deducted in respect of amounts that were included in computing the individual's income under this Part for the year because of subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105, as it applied to a taxation year that ended before 28 February 2000, before being deducted in respect of any other amounts that were included in computing the individual's income under this Part for the year.

CHAPTER II.1

ELECTION FOR PROPERTY OWNED BY AN INDIVIDUAL ON 22 FEBRUARY 1994

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

726.9.2. Subject to section 726.9.3, where an individual, other than a trust, or a personal trust, each of which is referred to in this chapter as the "elector", elects in prescribed form to have the provisions of this section apply in respect of

(a) a capital property, other than an interest in a trust referred to in any of paragraphs b to f of the definition of "flow-through entity" in the first paragraph of section 251.1, owned at the end of 22 February 1994 by the elector, the property is deemed, except for the purposes of Division VI of Chapter II of Title II of Book III, sections 218 to 220 and paragraph a of section 725.3,

i. to have been disposed of by the elector at that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the greater of

(1) the amount by which the amount designated in respect of the capital property in the election exceeds the amount that would, if the disposition were a disposition for the purposes of Division VI of Chapter II of Title II of Book III or sections 218 to 220, be included under that division and those sections as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, and

(2) the adjusted cost base to the elector of the capital property immediately before the disposition, and

ii. to have been reacquired by the elector immediately after that time at a cost equal to

(1) where the capital property is an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity, within the meaning assigned by section 251.1, of the elector, the cost to the elector of the property immediately before the disposition referred to in subparagraph i,

(2) where an amount would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph i were a disposition for the purposes of Division VI of Chapter II of Title II of Book III or sections 218 to 220, be included under that division and those sections as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, the lesser of the elector's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph i, and the amount determined by the formula

A − B;

(3) in any other case, the lesser of the amount designated in respect of the capital property in the election, and the amount by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the amount determined by the formula

C − 1.1D;

(b) a business carried on by the elector, otherwise than as a member of a partnership, on 22 February 1994,

i. the amount that would be determined under subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 105 at the end of 22 February 1994 in respect of the elector if the fiscal period of the business ended at that time and all the incorporeal capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business were disposed of by the elector immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount designated in the election in respect of the business is deemed to be a taxable capital gain of the elector for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes that time ends from the disposition of a particular property, and

ii. for the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 106.1, the amount of the taxable capital gain determined under subparagraph i is deemed to have been claimed, by a person who does not deal at arm's length with each particular person or partnership that does not deal at arm's length with the elector, as a deduction under this Title in respect of a disposition at that time of the incorporeal capital property; and

(c) an interest owned at the end of 22 February 1994 by the elector in a trust referred to in any of paragraphs b to f of the definition of "flow-through entity" in the first paragraph of section 251.1, the elector is deemed to have a capital gain for the year from the disposition on 22 February 1994 of property equal to the lesser of

i. the total of amounts designated in elections made under this section by the elector in respect of interests in the trust, and

ii. 4/3 of the amount that would, if all of the trust's capital properties were disposed of at the end of 22 February 1994 for proceeds of disposition equal to their fair market value at that time and that portion of the trust's capital gains and capital losses or its net taxable capital gains, as the case may be, arising from the dispositions as can reasonably be considered to represent the elector's share thereof were allocated to or designated in respect of the elector, be the increase in the annual gains limit of the elector for the 1994 taxation year as a result of the dispositions.

For the purposes of the formulas in subparagraphs 2 and 3 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount by which the fair market value of the capital property at the end of 22 February 1994 exceeds the amount that would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph were a disposition for the purposes of Division VI of Chapter II of Title II of Book III or sections 218 to 220, be included under that division and those sections as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector;

(b) B is the amount that would be determined by the formula in subparagraph 3 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph in respect of the capital property if that subparagraph 3 applied to the property;

(c) C is the amount designated in respect of the capital property in the election; and

(d) D is the fair market value of the capital property at the end of 22 February 1994.

For the purposes of this Title, the elector is deemed to have disposed of the particular property referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the first paragraph at the end of 22 February 1994.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 53, s. 260; 2003, c. 2, s. 203; 2005, c. 1, s. 139.

726.9.3. Section 726.9.2 applies to a property or to a business of an elector only if

(a) where the elector is an individual, other than a trust,

i. its application to all of the properties in respect of which elections were made under that section by the elector or a spouse of the elector and to all the businesses in respect of which elections were made under that section by the elector

(1) would result in an increase in the amount deductible under section 726.8 in computing the taxable income of the elector or a spouse of the elector, and

(2) in respect of each of the taxation years 1994 and 1995, where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of a spouse of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph a of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs b and c of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the elector, and where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph a of section 726.8 for the year in respect of a spouse of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs b and c of section 726.8 for the year in respect of the spouse,

ii. the amount designated in the election in respect of the property exceeds 11/10 of its fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994, or

iii. the amount designated in the election in respect of the business is $1.00 or exceeds 11/10 of the fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994 of all the incorporeal capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, its application to all of the properties in respect of which an election was made under that section 726.9.2 by the elector would result in

i. an increase in the amount deemed by section 668.1 to be a taxable capital gain of an individual, other than a trust, who was a beneficiary under the trust at the end of 22 February 1994 and resident in Canada at any time in the individual's taxation year in which the trust's taxation year that includes that day ends, or

ii. where section 726.19 applies to the trust for the trust's taxation year that includes 22 February 1994, an increase in the amount deductible under that section in computing the trust's taxable income for that year.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 2005, c. 1, s. 140.

726.9.4. Where an elector is deemed by section 726.9.2 to have disposed of a non-qualifying immovable property,

(a) in computing the elector's taxable capital gain from the disposition, there shall be deducted an amount equal to 3/4 of the amount by which the elector's capital gain from the disposition exceeds the elector's eligible immovable property gain from the disposition; and

(b) in determining at any time after the disposition the capital cost to the elector of the property, where it is a depreciable property, and the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property in any other case, other than where the property was at the end of 22 February 1994 an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 251.1, there shall be deducted 4/3 of the amount determined under paragraph a in respect of the property.

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

726.9.5. Where an elector is deemed by subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.9.2 to have reacquired a property, there shall be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property at any time after the reacquisition the amount by which

(a) the amount by which the amount designated in the election under section 726.9.2 in respect of the property exceeds the product obtained by multiplying 1.1 by the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994, exceeds

(b) where the property is an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 251.1, 4/3 of the taxable capital gain that would have resulted from the election if the amount designated in the election were equal to the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994 and, in any other case, the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994.

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

726.9.6. Where an elector is deemed by section 726.9.2 to have disposed of an interest in a partnership, in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the interest immediately before the disposition

(a) there shall be added the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times (C / D) + E;$$ and

(b) there shall be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$(B - A) \times (C / D) - E.$$

For the purposes of the formulas in subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's income, other than a taxable capital gain from the disposition of a property, from a source in Canada or from sources in another place for its fiscal period that includes 22 February 1994, in this paragraph referred to as the "particular period" ;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's loss, other than an allowable capital loss from the disposition of a property, from a source in Canada or from sources in another place for the particular period;

(c) C is the number of days in the period that begins the first day of the particular period and ends on 22 February 1994;

(d) D is the number of days in the particular period; and

(e) E is 4/3 of the amount that would be determined under paragraph b of section 28 in computing the elector's income for the taxation year in which the particular period ends if the elector had no taxable capital gains or allowable capital losses other than those arising from dispositions of property by the partnership that occurred before 23 February 1994.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

726.9.7. An election made under section 726.9.2 shall be filed with the Minister

(a) where the elector is an individual, other than a trust,

i. if the election is in respect of a business of the elector, on or before the individual's filing-due date for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes 22 February 1994 ends, and

ii. in any other case, on or before the day on or before which the individual is required to file his fiscal return under section 1000 for the taxation year 1994; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, on or before 31 March of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the taxation year of the trust that includes 22 February 1994 ends.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 1997, c. 31, s. 70.

726.9.8. Subject to section 726.9.11, an elector may revoke an election made under section 726.9.2 by filing a written notice of the revocation with the Minister on or before 31 December 1997.

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

726.9.9. Where an election made under section 726.9.2 is filed with the Minister after the time prescribed in section 726.9.7, the election is deemed for the purposes of this Title, except section 726.9.12, to have been filed within the time prescribed if it is filed within two years after the expiry of the time limit and if an estimate of the penalty under section 726.9.12 is paid by the elector when the election is filed with the Minister.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 2001, c. 7, s. 86.

726.9.10. Subject to section 726.9.11, an election made under section 726.9.2 in respect of a property or a business is deemed to be amended and the election, as amended, is deemed, for the purposes of this Title, other than section 726.9.12, to have been filed within the time prescribed in section 726.9.7 if an amended election in prescribed form in respect of the property or the business is filed with the Minister on or before 31 December 1997 and an estimate of the penalty under section 726.9.12 is paid by the elector when the amended election is filed with the Minister.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 2000, c. 5, s. 156.

726.9.11. An election made under section 726.9.2 cannot be revoked or amended where the amount designated in the election exceeds the product obtained by multiplying 11/10 by

(a) if the election is in respect of a property other than an interest in a partnership, the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994;

(b) if the election is in respect of an interest in a partnership, the greater of $1 and the fair market value of the property at the end of 22 February 1994; and

(c) if the election is in respect of a business, the greater of $1 and the fair market value at the end of 22 February 1994 of all the incorporeal capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business.

1996, c. 39, s. 186; 2000, c. 5, s. 157; 2005, c. 1, s. 141.

726.9.12. The penalty in respect of an election to which section 726.9.9 or 726.9.10 applies is the amount determined by the formula

$(A \times B) / 300.$

For the purposes of the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the number of months each of which is a month all or part of which is during the period that begins the day after the expiry of the time prescribed in section 726.9.7 and ends the day the election to which section 726.9.9 applies or the amended election to which section 726.9.10 applies, as the case may be, is filed with the Minister; and

(b) B is the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that results from the application of section 726.9.2 to the property or the business in respect of which the election is made exceeds, where section 726.9.10 applies to the election, the aggregate of all amounts each of which would, if this Act were read without reference to sections 726.9.3 and 726.9.10, be the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that resulted from the application of section 726.9.2 to the property or the business.

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

726.9.13. The Minister shall, with all due dispatch, examine each election to which section 726.9.9 or 726.9.10 applies, assess the penalty payable and send a notice of assessment to the elector who made the election, and the elector shall pay forthwith to the Minister the unpaid balance of the penalty.

1996, c. 39, s. 186.

CHAPTER III

SPECIAL RULES OF APPLICATION

1987, c. 67, s. 142.

726.10. For the purposes of sections 726.7 and 726.7.1, an individual is deemed to have been resident in Canada throughout a particular taxation year if the individual was resident in Canada at any time in the particular year and throughout the preceding taxation year or the following taxation year.

726.11. Despite sections 726.7 and 726.7.1, no amount may be deducted under this Title in respect of the capital gain of an individual for a particular taxation year in computing the individual's taxable income for the particular year or any subsequent taxation year, if the individual knowingly or under circumstances amounting to gross negligence

(a) fails to file the individual's fiscal return for the particular year within one year after the individual's filing-due date for the particular year; or

(b) fails to report the capital gain in the fiscal return the individual was required to file for the particular year under section 1000.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 265; 1996, c. 39, s. 188; 1997, c. 31, s. 71; 2004, c. 21, s. 125; 2007, c. 12, s. 79; 2009, c. 15, s. 119; 2015, c. 21, s. 256; 2017, c. 29, s. 106.

726.12. For the purposes of section 726.11, the Minister establishes the facts justifying that the individual may not make a deduction under this Title.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 2007, c. 12, s. 79.

726.13. Despite sections 726.7 and 726.7.1, no amount may be deducted under this Title in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year in respect of a capital gain of the individual for the year, if the capital gain is from the disposition of a property, which disposition is part of a series of transactions or events

(a) that includes a dividend received by a corporation to which dividend section 308.1 does not apply but would apply if this Act were read without reference to section 308.3; or

(b) in which any property is acquired by a corporation or partnership for consideration that is significantly less than the fair market value of the property at the time of acquisition, other than an acquisition as the result of an amalgamation or merger of corporations or the winding-up of a corporation or partnership or a distribution of property of a trust in satisfaction of all or part of a corporation's capital interest in the trust.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 266; 1996, c. 39, s. 189; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2007, c. 12, s. 80; 2009, c. 15, s. 120; 2017, c. 29, s. 107.

726.14. Despite sections 726.7 and 726.7.1, where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of property, no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this Title in computing the individual's taxable income for the year if it may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances, that a significant portion of the capital gain is attributable to the fact that dividends were not paid on a share, other than a prescribed share, or that dividends paid on such a share in the year or in any preceding taxation year were less than 90% of the average annual rate of return on that share for that year.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 267; 1996, c. 39, s. 189; 2007, c. 12, s. 81; 2009, c. 15, s. 121; 2017, c. 29, s. 108.

726.15. For the purposes of section 726.14, the average annual rate of return on a share other than a prescribed share of a corporation for a taxation year is the annual rate of return by way of dividends that a knowledgeable and prudent investor who purchased the share on the day it was issued would expect to receive in that year, other than the first year after the issue, in respect of the share if

(a) there was no delay or postponement of the payment of dividends and no failure to pay dividends in respect of the share;

(b) there was no variation from year to year in the amount of dividends payable in respect of the share other than where the amount of dividends payable is expressed as an invariant percentage of or by reference to an invariant difference between the dividend expressed as a rate of interest and a generally quoted market interest rate; and

(c) the proceeds to be received by the investor on the disposition of the share is the same amount the corporation received as consideration on the issue of the share.

1987, c. 67, s. 142; 1990, c. 59, s. 268.

726.17. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, where it may reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons for an individual acquiring, holding or having an interest in a partnership or trust, other than an interest in a personal trust, or a share of an investment corporation, mortgage investment corporation or mutual fund corporation, or that one of the main reasons for the existence of any terms, conditions, rights or other attributes of the interest or share, as the case may be, is to enable the individual to receive or have allocated to him a percentage of any capital gain or taxable capital gain of the partnership, trust or corporation that is larger than the percentage of the income of the partnership, trust or corporation to which the individual is entitled, the following rules apply:

(a) no amount may be deducted under this Title by the individual in respect of any gain contemplated in this section allocated or distributed to him after 21 November 1985; and

(b) where the individual is a trust, any gain contemplated in this section allocated or distributed to it after 21 November 1985 shall not be included in computing its eligible taxable capital gain within the meaning of section 668.4.

726.19.1. Where an amount is included in computing an individual's income for a particular taxation year because of the second paragraph of section 234 in respect of a disposition of property in a preceding taxation year that, at the time of the disposition, is qualified farm property or qualified fishing property, within the meaning assigned by section 726.6, as it read before subparagraphs a and a.0.1 of the first paragraph of that section were struck out, a qualified small business corporation share or qualified farm or fishing property, the total of all amounts deductible by the individual for the particular year under this Title is reduced by the amount determined by the formula

A - B.

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under this Title by the individual for the particular year or a preceding taxation year, computed without reference to this section; and

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would be deductible under this Title by the individual for the particular year or a preceding taxation year if the individual had not for any preceding taxation year claimed a reserve under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 234 and had claimed, for each taxation year ending before the particular year, the amount that would have been deductible under this Title.

This section does not apply in respect of a disposition of qualified farm or fishing property after 2 December 2014.

TITLE VI.5.1

ADDITIONAL CAPITAL GAINS EXEMPTION IN RESPECT OF CERTAIN RESOURCE PROPERTIES

1993, c. 19, s. 43.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION

1993, c. 19, s. 43.

726.20.1. In this Title,

"eligible taxable capital gain amount" of an individual for a taxation year from the disposition of a resource property, referred to in this definition as the "particular property", means the least of

(a) subject to the third paragraph, the amount by which the amount determined under the second paragraph is exceeded by 1/2 of

i. where the particular property was owned by the individual immediately before the disposition and was a property referred to in paragraph a or b of the definition of "resource property" in respect of the individual, the amount by which the cost to the individual of the particular property, determined without reference, where applicable, to section 419.0.1, exceeds the adjusted cost base to the individual of the particular property immediately before the disposition,

ii. where the particular property was owned by the individual immediately before the disposition and was a property referred to in paragraph c of the definition of "resource property" in respect of the individual that was substituted for another property that was a flow-through share or an interest in a partnership, the amount by which the cost to the individual of the other property, determined without reference, where applicable, to section 419.0.1, exceeds the aggregate of the adjusted cost base to the individual of the other property immediately before the substitution and the capital gain, if any, of the individual from the disposition, at the time of such a substitution, of the other property or of a property substituted for the other property,

iii. where immediately before the disposition the particular property was owned by a particular partnership of which the individual is a member, whether directly or indirectly through another partnership, the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the individual's share of the amount by which the cost to the partnership of the particular property, determined without reference, where applicable, to section 419.0.1, exceeds the adjusted cost base to the partnership of the particular property immediately before the disposition, and

iv. where the particular property was owned by a particular partnership of which the individual is a member, whether directly or indirectly through another partnership, immediately before the disposition and was a property referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "resource property" in respect of the individual that was substituted for another property that was a flow-through share or an interest in a partnership, the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the individual's share of the amount by which the cost to the partnership of the other property, determined without reference, where applicable, to section 419.0.1, exceeds the aggregate of the adjusted cost base to the partnership of the other property immediately before the substitution and the capital gain, if any, of the partnership from the disposition, at the time of such a substitution, of the other property or of a property substituted for the other property;

(b) where paragraph a or d of section 231.2 applies in respect of the disposition of the particular property, the amount that would correspond to the individual's taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition if that section were read without reference to that paragraph and, in any other case, the individual's taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of the particular property; and

(c) subject to the fourth paragraph, nil, where the particular property is property described in section 726.7 or 726.7.1 and the amount by which the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year by the formula provided for in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 exceeds the amount, if any, deducted under Title VI.5 by the individual in computing the individual's taxable income for the year is not nil;

"resource property" of an individual or partnership means capital property owned by the individual or the partnership, as the case may be, that is

(a) a flow-through share issued to the individual or partnership pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into after 14 May 1992, as part of a public share issue, where the flow-through share was issued as part of such an issue, in respect of which the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus was granted after that date, except for a flow-through share that i. was issued following an investment made after 12 June 2003, or following an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus made after 12 June 2003, and

ii. was acquired by the individual or partnership before 31 March 2004;

(b) an interest in a particular partnership acquired by the individual or partnership after 14 May 1992 as part of a public issue of interests in a partnership, where the interest in the particular partnership was acquired as part of such an issue, in respect of which the receipt for the final prospectus or the exemption from filing a prospectus was granted after that date, provided that

i. any of the following conditions is met:

(1) a flow-through share referred to in paragraph a is issued to the particular partnership, or

(2) the particular partnership incurs Canadian exploration expenses or Canadian development expenses after 14 May 1992 otherwise than by reason of the acquisition of a flow-through share, and

ii. where the condition set out in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph i is met, the interest in the particular partnership was not acquired by the individual or partnership before 31 March 2004 following an investment made after 12 June 2003, or following an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus made after 12 June 2003; and

(c) a property, in this paragraph referred to as the "new property", substituted for another property that was a resource property of the individual under paragraph a or b, where

i. the new property was then acquired by the individual through a transaction in respect of which an election referred to in section 518, 614 or 620 was made or in respect of which sections 530 to 533, 536 to 539, 541 to 543.2 or 626 to 632 apply, on the winding-up of a Canadian corporation in respect of which sections 556 to 564.1 and 565 apply, or by reason of an amalgamation within the meaning of section 544, and

ii. the individual has elected, in a letter enclosed with the fiscal return the individual is required to file under section 1000 for the taxation year in which the substitution occurred and containing a description of the other property and the circumstances in which the new property was acquired, on or before the individual's filing-due date for that taxation year, to consider the new property as being a resource property of the individual under this paragraph; and

(d) a property, in this paragraph referred to as the "new property", substituted for another property that was a resource property of the partnership under paragraph a or b, where

i. the new property was then acquired by the partnership through a transaction in respect of which an election referred to in section 529 was made, and

ii. each individual who is a member of the partnership has elected, in a letter enclosed with the fiscal return the individual is required to file under section 1000 for the individual's taxation year in which ends the fiscal period of the partnership in which the substitution occurred and containing a description of the other property and the circumstances in which the new property was acquired, on or before the individual's filing-due date for that taxation year, to consider the new property as being a resource property of the partnership under this paragraph.

The amount to which the portion of paragraph a of the definition of "eligible taxable capital gain amount" in the first paragraph before subparagraph i refers is the aggregate of

(a) any amount that can reasonably be considered as deducted by the individual under this Title in respect of the disposition of the particular property in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that began after 17 October 2000;

(b) any amount that is the quotient obtained when the amount that can reasonably be considered as deducted by the individual under this Title in respect of the disposition of the particular property in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or that began after 28 February 2000 and ended before 17 October 2000, is divided by twice the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for that preceding taxation year; and

(c) 2/3 of any amount that can reasonably be considered as deducted by the individual under this Title in respect of the disposition of the particular property in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended before 28 February 2000.

Where the individual's taxation year includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the following rules apply:

(a) the reference to the fraction "1/2" in the portion of paragraph a of the definition of "eligible taxable capital gain amount" in the first paragraph before subparagraph i shall be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year;

(b) the reference to the word "twice" in subparagraph b of the second paragraph shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year; and

(c) the reference to the fraction "2/3" in subparagraph c of the second paragraph shall be read as a reference to the fraction obtained when the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year is divided by 3/4.

When paragraph c of the definition of "eligible taxable capital gain amount" in the first paragraph applies

(a) to a taxation year that ends after 18 March 2007 and that includes 19 March 2007, it is to be read as follows:

"(c) nil, where the particular property is property described in any of sections 726.7 to 726.7.2 and the amount by which the total of the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year by the formula provided for in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 and, if the particular property was disposed of after 18 March 2007, $125,000, exceeds the amount, if any, deducted under Title VI.5 by the individual in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, otherwise than under section 726.7.3 if the particular property was disposed of before 19 March 2007, is not nil;"; and

(b) to a taxation year that begins after 19 March 2007 in relation to a resource property the disposition of which occurred before that date, it is to be read as follows:

"(c) nil, where the particular property is property described in any of sections 726.7 to 726.7.2 and the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year by the formula provided for in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 726.7 if the formula were read as if "$375,000" was replaced by "$250,000", exceeds the amount, if any, deducted under Title VI.5 by the individual in computing the individual's taxable income for the year is not nil;".

For the purposes of paragraph d of the definition of "resource property" in the first paragraph, if an individual makes an election under subparagraph ii of that paragraph d, the following rules apply:

(a) the election is not valid unless it was made on behalf of the individual and of each other individual who is a member of the partnership and the individual had authority to act for the partnership;

(b) if the election is valid because of subparagraph a, each other individual who is a member of the partnership in the fiscal period is deemed to have made the election; and

(c) despite subparagraph a, an election deemed to have been made by a member under paragraph b is deemed to be a valid election made by that member.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1993, c. 19, s. 43.

726.20.2. An individual other than a trust, in computing his taxable income for a taxation year may deduct, if he was resident in Canada throughout the year and disposed of a resource property, such amount as he may claim not exceeding the least of

(a) subject to the third paragraph, the amount by which the amount determined under the second paragraph is exceeded by 1/2 of the excess amount that would be computed under paragraph a of section 726.4.10 in respect of the individual at the end of the year if

i. the only expenses referred to in that paragraph a were expenses in respect of which section 726.4.10.1 applies, and

ii. the expenses incurred as a consequence of the acquisition, before 31 March 2004, of a flow-through share or of an interest in a partnership following an investment made after 12 June 2003, or an application for a receipt for the preliminary prospectus or an application for an exemption from filing a prospectus made after 12 June 2003, were not referred to in that paragraph a;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible taxable capital gain amount of the individual for the year from the disposition of a resource property;

(c) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were resource properties;

(d) the amount by which the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph b of section 28 in respect of capital gains and capital losses exceeds the aggregate of the amount of the net capital losses of the individual in other taxation years deducted under section 729 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year and the amount deducted under Title VI.5 by the individual in computing the individual's taxable income for the year;

(e) (subparagraph repealed).

The amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers is the aggregate of

(a) any amount that the individual deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that began after 17 October 2000;

(b) any amount that is the quotient obtained when the amount that the individual deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or began after 28 February 2000 and ended before 17 October 2000, is divided by twice the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for that preceding taxation year; and

(c) 2/3 of any amount that the individual deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended before 28 February 2000.

For the purposes of subparagraph c of the first paragraph, where an individual is deemed to have realized, at any time in a taxation year, a capital gain from the disposition of another capital property under section 262.5, the capital gain is deemed to be a capital gain realized by the individual in the year in respect of the disposition of a resource property.

Where the individual's taxation year includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000, or begins after 28 February 2000 and ends before 17 October 2000, the following rules apply:

(a) the reference to the fraction "1/2" in subparagraph a of the first paragraph shall be read as a reference to the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year;

(b) the reference to the word "twice" in subparagraph b of the second paragraph shall be read, with the necessary modifications, as a reference to the fraction that is the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year; and

(c) the reference to the fraction "2/3" in subparagraph c of the second paragraph shall be read as a reference to the fraction obtained by dividing 3/4 by the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for the year.

TITLE VI.8

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF THE COPYRIGHT INCOME OF AN INDIVIDUAL

1995, c. 63, s. 53.

726.26. An individual who in a taxation year is an artist within the meaning of the Act respecting the professional status of artists in the visual arts, film, the recording arts, literature, arts and crafts and the performing arts (chapter S-32.1), may deduct, in computing his taxable income for the taxation year, the lesser of

(a) his copyright income for the year; and

(b) the amount by which $15,000 exceeds an amount equal to one-half of the amount by which the individual's copyright income for the year exceeds $30,000.

In the first paragraph, an individual's copyright income for a taxation year is equal to the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts included in computing the individual's income for the year from rights described in the third paragraph of which the individual is the first owner, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts deducted in computing the individual's income for the year and that may reasonably be considered as relating to expenses incurred to collect the amounts from those rights described in the third paragraph.

The rights to which the second paragraph refers are the following:

(a) copyrights and public lending rights paid under a program administered by the Public Lending Right Commission under the authority of the Canada Council for the Arts, in respect of a work of which the individual is the creator;

(b) copyrights including an exclusive right in respect of a performance of the individual as a performing artist;

(c) the right to be paid equitable remuneration conferred on the individual by the Copyright Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter C-42) for the performance in public or the communication to the public by telecommunication of the sound recording of a performance of the individual as a performing artist; and

(d) the right to receive remuneration for the reproduction for private use of sound recordings conferred on the individual by the Copyright Act.

TITLE VI.9

DEDUCTION FOR QUALIFIED PATRONAGE DIVIDENDS

2004, c. 21, s. 128.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION

2004, c. 21, s. 128.

726.27. In this Title,

"qualified cooperative" for a taxation year means a cooperative or a federation of cooperatives to which a qualification certificate has been issued by the Minister of Economy and Innovation for the purposes of this Title, for which it has not received a notice of revocation at the end of the year;

"qualified patronage dividend" for a taxation year means a patronage dividend allocated in the form of a preferred share received in the year and before 1 January 2026 by a taxpayer who is a member of a cooperative or a federation of cooperatives, or of a partnership that is a member of a cooperative or a federation of cooperatives, and included by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under section 795, if the patronage dividend is allocated by the cooperative or the federation of cooperatives in respect of a taxation year for which it is a qualified cooperative.

726.27.1. For the purposes of the definition of "qualified patronage dividend" in section 726.27, if a partnership receives, at any time before 1 January 2026, a patronage dividend allocated in the form of a preferred share, a taxpayer who is a member of the partnership at the end of the partnership's fiscal period that includes that time is deemed to have received, at that time, and included, under section 795, in computing the taxpayer's income for the year in which the fiscal period ends, the portion of the patronage dividend that is equal to the product obtained by multiplying the agreed proportion in respect of the taxpayer for the fiscal period by the patronage dividend received by the partnership.

2010, c. 25, s. 65; 2013, c. 10, s. 43; 2023, c. 2, s. 18.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2004, c. 21, s. 128.

726.28. A taxpayer may deduct in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year the amount of the taxpayer's qualified patronage dividends for the year, if the taxpayer encloses with the fiscal return the taxpayer is required to file under section 1000 for the year the prescribed form containing the prescribed information.

2004, c. 21, s. 128.

CHAPTER III

AMOUNT TO BE INCLUDED

2004, c. 21, s. 128.

726.29. There shall be included in computing a taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year the amount of a qualified patronage dividend deducted by the taxpayer under section 726.28 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or for a preceding taxation year, where the preferred share relating to the qualified patronage dividend is disposed of in the year by the taxpayer or in the fiscal period ended in the year by the partnership of which the taxpayer is a member at the end of that fiscal period or was a member at the end of the fiscal period ended in the preceding year.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a member of a cooperative or of a federation of cooperatives is deemed to dispose of the preferred shares issued by the cooperative or federation of cooperatives, as the case may be, that are identical properties in the order in which the member acquired them.

The first paragraph does not apply if the disposition by a member of a preferred share issued by a cooperative or a federation of cooperatives results from any of the operations referred to in the fourth paragraph and if, after the operation,

(a) all of the outstanding preferred shares issued by the cooperative or federation of cooperatives, as the case may be, and relating to qualified patronage dividends for a particular taxation year have been exchanged for consideration consisting only of preferred shares or fractions of such shares; and

(b) except in respect of the order of priority for the repayment of shares in the event of a winding-up, the new preferred shares or the fractions of such shares have the same characteristics as do the shares and fractions of shares they replace.

The operations to which the third paragraph refers are the following:

(a) an amalgamation, within the meaning of section 544, an amalgamation by absorption, within the meaning of Division III of Chapter XXI of Title I of the Cooperatives Act (chapter C-67.2), or a winding-up of the cooperative or federation of cooperatives, if, as a consequence of the amalgamation or winding-up, the member receives from another cooperative or federation of cooperatives a new preferred share issued by the other cooperative or federation of cooperatives, as the case may be, to replace the preferred share so disposed of; and

(b) a conversion of the preferred share or a reorganization of the capital stock of the cooperative or federation of cooperatives, if, as a consequence of the conversion or reorganization, the member receives from the cooperative or federation of cooperatives a new preferred share to replace the preferred share so disposed of.

TITLE VI.11

DEDUCTION FOR FOREST PRODUCERS FOR A YEAR SUBSEQUENT TO 2015

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL RULES

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

726.38. In this Title,

"eligible individual" for a taxation year means an individual who is resident in Québec at the end of the year;

"eligible taxpayer" for a taxation year means an eligible individual for the year or a qualified corporation for the year;

"qualified corporation" for a taxation year means a Canadian-controlled private corporation whose paid-up capital attributed to the corporation for the year, determined in accordance with section 726.39, is not greater than $50,000,000;

"recognized commercial activity" in respect of a private forest means the sale of timber to a purchaser having an establishment in Québec, other than a retail sale, derived from the operation of the private forest.

2017, c. 29, s. 112; 2023, c. 19, s. 47.

726.39. The paid-up capital attributed to a corporation for a taxation year that ends in a calendar year is equal to

(a) where the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the taxation year, its paid-up capital determined as provided in section 771.2.1.9 either for its preceding taxation year or, if the corporation is in its first fiscal period, on the basis of its financial statements prepared at the beginning of that fiscal period in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or, if such financial statements have not been prepared, or have not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on the basis of such financial statements that would be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles; and

(b) where the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the taxation year, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for the corporation or any of the other corporations, the amount of its paid-up capital determined as provided in section 771.2.1.9 either for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year or, if such a corporation is in its first fiscal period, on the basis of its financial statements prepared at the beginning of that fiscal period in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or, if such financial statements have not been prepared, or have not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on the basis of such financial statements that would be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

726.40. In this Title, the following rules apply in respect of a taxpayer if one or more partnerships (each of which is in this section referred to as an "interposed partnership") are interposed between the taxpayer and a given partnership that is a certified forest producer under the Sustainable Forest Development Act (chapter A-18.1) in respect of a private forest at the end of a given fiscal period of the given partnership:

(a) the taxpayer is deemed to be a member of a particular partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period of the particular partnership and that particular fiscal period is deemed to end in the taxpayer's particular taxation year in which ends the fiscal period of the interposed partnership of which the taxpayer is directly a member (in this section referred to as the "last interposed partnership"), if

i. the particular fiscal period is that which ends in the fiscal period (in this section referred to as the "interposed fiscal period") of the interposed partnership that is a member of the particular partnership at the end of that particular fiscal period, and

ii. the taxpayer is a member, or deemed to be a member under this paragraph, of the interposed partnership described in subparagraph i at the end of the interposed partnership's interposed fiscal period;

(b) the taxpayer is deemed to be a member of the given partnership at the end of the particular taxation year if

i. the taxpayer is a member of the last interposed partnership throughout the part of the particular taxation year that begins immediately after the end of that interposed partnership's interposed fiscal period, and

ii. in the period described in subparagraph i, the link between the taxpayer and the given partnership did not cease to exist as a result of the interposed partnership ceasing, in the part of the interposed fiscal period of an interposed partnership that begins immediately after the end of the particular fiscal period of the particular partnership referred to in paragraph a of which the interposed partnership was a member at that time, to be a member of that particular partnership;

(c) for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's share in an amount in respect of the given partnership for the given fiscal period, the agreed proportion in respect of the taxpayer for that fiscal period of the given partnership is deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the agreed proportion in respect of the taxpayer for the interposed fiscal period of the last interposed partnership of which the taxpayer is directly a member, by

i. if there is only one interposed partnership, the agreed proportion in respect of the interposed partnership for the given partnership's given fiscal period, or

ii. if there is more than one interposed partnership, the result obtained by multiplying together all proportions each of which is the agreed proportion in respect of an interposed partnership for the particular fiscal period of the particular partnership referred to in paragraph a of which the interposed partnership is a member at the end of that particular fiscal period; and

(d) the taxpayer is deemed to cease to be a member of the given partnership in a taxation year subsequent to the particular year, if any of the following events occurs and, as a result, the link between the taxpayer and that given partnership ceases to exist:

i. at a particular time in that subsequent taxation year, the taxpayer ceases to be a member of the last interposed partnership,

ii. the last interposed partnership ceases, at a particular time in its subsequent fiscal period that ends in that subsequent taxation year, to be a member of the particular partnership whose particular fiscal period ends in that subsequent fiscal period, or

iii. an interposed partnership ceases, at a particular time in its subsequent fiscal period that would be deemed to end in the subsequent taxation year if paragraph a were applied to that interposed partnership for that fiscal period, without reference to the event described in this subparagraph, to be a member of the particular partnership whose particular fiscal period ends in the subsequent fiscal period.

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

726.41. Section 726.40 does not apply in respect of a taxpayer, in relation to a given partnership, if the Minister is of the opinion that the interposition, between the taxpayer and the given partnership, of one or more other partnerships is part of an operation or transaction or of a series of operations or transactions, one of the purposes of which is to cause the taxpayer to be able to deduct, in computing taxable income for a taxation year under this Title, an amount greater than the amount that the taxpayer could have so deducted for that taxation year, but for that interposition.

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

726.42. An eligible taxpayer for a taxation year ending before 1 January 2026 who, at the end of the year, is a certified forest producer under the Sustainable Forest Development Act (chapter A-18.1) in respect of a private forest, or is a member of a partnership that is such a certified forest producer in respect of a private forest at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the year, may deduct in computing taxable income for the year, if the taxpayer encloses the documents described in the third paragraph with the fiscal return the taxpayer is required to file for the year under section 1000, an amount not exceeding the lesser of $170,000 and 85% of the amount determined by the formula

(A − B) + (C − D).

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible taxpayer's income deriving from recognized commercial activities for the year in respect of a private forest;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible taxpayer's loss deriving from recognized commercial activities for the year in respect of a private forest;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible taxpayer's share of the partnership's income deriving from recognized commercial activities for its fiscal period that ends in the year in respect of a private forest; and

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the eligible taxpayer's share of the partnership's loss deriving from recognized commercial activities for its fiscal period that ends in the year in respect of a private forest.

The documents to which the first paragraph refers are

(a) the prescribed form containing prescribed information; and

(b) a copy of the valid qualification certificate issued to the eligible taxpayer or to the partnership, as the case may be, attesting to the eligible taxpayer's or the partnership's capacity as a certified forest producer in respect of the private forest.

For the purposes of subparagraphs c and d of the second paragraph, the share, for a fiscal period of a partnership, of a taxpayer who is a member of the partnership of the income or loss of the partnership deriving from recognized commercial activities for the fiscal period in respect of a private forest is equal to the agreed proportion of the income or loss in respect of the taxpayer for the fiscal period.

2017, c. 29, s. 112; 2019, c. 14, s. 191; 2021, c. 14, s. 64.

CHAPTER III

AMOUNT TO BE INCLUDED

2017, c. 29, s. 112.

726.43. A taxpayer who deducted an amount in computing taxable income for a particular taxation year under section 726.42, all or part of which may reasonably be considered to derive from recognized commercial activities in respect of a private forest carried on before 10 March 2020 (the amount or part of the amount being in this section referred to as the "particular amount"), shall include, in computing taxable income for each taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as an "inclusion year") that is one of the six taxation years that follow the particular year, except a taxation year for which the taxpayer is required to include an amount in computing taxable income under subparagraph a of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2 in respect of the particular amount, an amount at least equal to 10% of the particular amount unless, for the inclusion year, that minimum amount is greater than the excess amount that corresponds to the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included in computing taxable income in respect of the particular amount under this section or subparagraph a of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2 for a taxation year preceding the inclusion year, in which case the taxpayer shall include the excess amount in computing taxable income for the inclusion year.

The taxpayer to which the first paragraph refers shall include, in computing taxable income for the seventh taxation year that follows the particular year, an amount equal to the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included, under this section or subparagraph a of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2, in computing taxable income, in respect of the particular amount, for a preceding taxation year.

726.43.1. A taxpayer who deducted an amount in computing taxable income for a particular taxation year under section 726.42, all or part of which may reasonably be considered to derive from recognized commercial activities in respect of a private forest carried on after 9 March 2020 (the amount or part of the amount being in this section referred to as the "particular amount"), shall include, in computing taxable income for each taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as an "inclusion year") that is one of the nine taxation years that follow the particular year, except a taxation year for which the taxpayer is required to include an amount in computing taxable income under subparagraph b of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2 in respect of the particular amount, an amount at least equal to 10% of the particular amount unless, for the inclusion year, that minimum amount is greater than the excess amount that corresponds to the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included in computing taxable income in respect of the particular amount under this section or subparagraph b of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2 for a taxation year preceding the inclusion year, in which case the taxpayer shall include the excess amount in computing taxable income for the inclusion year.

The taxpayer to which the first paragraph refers shall include, in computing taxable income for the tenth taxation year that follows the particular year, an amount equal to the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included, under this section or subparagraph b of the first or second paragraph of section 726.43.2, in computing taxable income, in respect of the particular amount, for a preceding taxation year.

726.43.2. Where the particular amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43 or 726.43.1 and determined in relation to a taxpayer for a particular taxation year is in respect of a single private forest, the taxpayer shall include, in computing taxable income for a taxation year described in the third paragraph (in this paragraph and the second paragraph referred to as the "year concerned"), an amount equal to

(a) where the particular amount is referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43, the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included, in computing taxable income, in respect of the particular amount, under section 726.43, for a taxation year preceding the year concerned; or

(b) where the particular amount is referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43.1, the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included, in computing taxable income, in respect of the particular amount, under section 726.43.1, for a taxation year preceding the year concerned.

Where the particular amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43 or 726.43.1 and determined in relation to a taxpayer for a particular taxation year is in respect of more than one private forest, the taxpayer shall include, in computing taxable income for a year concerned, an amount equal to

(a) where the particular amount is referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43, the greater of the amount that the taxpayer should include in respect of the particular amount for the year concerned but for this paragraph and the lesser of the proportion, described in the fourth paragraph, of the particular amount and the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included in respect of the particular amount in computing taxable income, under section 726.43 or this paragraph, for a taxation year preceding the year concerned; or

(b) where the particular amount is referred to in the first paragraph of section 726.43.1, the greater of the amount that the taxpayer should include in respect of the particular amount for the year concerned but for this paragraph and the lesser of the proportion, described in the fourth paragraph, of the particular amount and the amount by which the particular amount exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the taxpayer included in respect of the particular amount in computing taxable income, under section 726.43.1 or this paragraph, for a taxation year preceding the year concerned.

A taxation year to which the first or second paragraph refers is, in the case of subparagraph a of that paragraph, one of the six taxation years that follow the particular year or, in the case of subparagraph b of that paragraph, one of the nine taxation years that follow the particular year, and

(a) the taxation year in which the taxpayer disposes of a private forest referred to in that paragraph;

(b) the taxation year in which ends a partnership's fiscal period in which the partnership disposes of a private forest referred to in that paragraph; or

(c) the taxation year in which the taxpayer ceases to be a member of a partnership referred to in section 726.42.

The proportion to which subparagraphs a and b of the second paragraph refer is the proportion that the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount referred to in subparagraph a or c of the second paragraph of section 726.42 for the particular year in relation to a private forest in respect of which any of subparagraphs a to c of the third paragraph applies is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount referred to in subparagraph a or c of the second paragraph of section 726.42 for the particular year in relation to a private forest.

2021, c. 14, s. 66.

726.44. Where an individual deducted a particular amount in computing taxable income for a taxation year under section 726.42, is resident in Canada outside Québec on the last day of a subsequent taxation year and should include an amount under this chapter in computing taxable income for the subsequent year, in respect of the particular amount, if the individual was resident in Québec on the last day of the subsequent year, the individual is deemed, for the purposes of sections 25 and 1088, to be carrying on a business through an establishment in Québec at any time in that subsequent year.

2017, c. 29, s. 112; 2021, c. 14, s. 67.

TITLE VII

LOSSES

1972, c. 23.

727. A taxpayer may deduct, in a particular taxation year, the non-capital losses sustained by the taxpayer

(a) in the seven taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if the losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 1983, but before 23 March 2004;

(b) in the 10 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if the losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 22 March 2004, but before 1 January 2006;

(c) in the 20 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if the losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 2005; and

(d) despite paragraph c, in the seven taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year, if the taxpayer is an employee life and health trust.

1972, c. 23, s. 545; 1978, c. 26, s. 127; 1985, c. 25, s. 118; 2005, c. 38, s. 91; 2006, c. 36, s. 59; 2011, c. 6, s. 151; 2022, c. 23, s. 43.

727.1. Despite section 727, no amount in respect of a loss other than a trust's non-capital loss for a taxation year in which the trust was an employee life and health trust may be deducted in computing the trust's taxable income for another taxation year (in this section referred to as the "specified year") if

(a) the trust was not an employee life and health trust for the specified year; or

(b) the trust is an employee life and health trust that, because of the application of section 869.3, may not deduct an amount under paragraph a of section 657 for the specified year.

2011, c. 6, s. 152.

728. For the purposes of section 727, the "non-capital loss" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means, at a particular time, the amount by which the amount determined under section 728.0.1 in respect of the taxpayer for the year exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the taxpayer's farm loss for the year; and

(b) any amount by which the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of sections 485 to 485.18.

1972, c. 23, s. 546; 1978, c. 26, s. 127; 1979, c. 18, s. 58; 1985, c. 25, s. 118; 1986, c. 19, s. 150; 1993, c. 19, s. 44; 1996, c. 39, s. 194; 2001, c. 53, s. 98; 2006, c. 36, s. 60.

728.0.1. The amount to which section 728 refers is the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of

i. the taxpayer's losses for the year from an office, employment, business or property, i.1. the amount deductible in computing the taxpayer's income for the year as a consequence of the application of paragraph d of section 657.1,

ii. the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year under sections 726.4.1, 726.4.3 to 726.4.7, 726.28 and 729, and Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1, or that the taxpayer could have so deducted for the year under section 726.4.3 if the taxpayer's income had been sufficient for that purpose, and of the amounts deductible in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year under any of sections 725, 725.0.3, 725.1.1, 725.1.2, 725.2 to 725.5.1, 738 to 746 and 845, and

iii. if the particular time referred to in section 728 precedes the taxpayer's eleventh taxation year that follows the year, the taxpayer's allowable business investment losses for the year, exceeds

(b) the amount by which, for the year, in respect of the taxpayer, the total of the aggregate of the amounts determined under paragraphs a and b of section 28, the portion of the amount determined under section 737.0.1 that does not exceed the amount determined under any of paragraphs b, c, c.1, c.2 and d, as the case may be, of the definition of "additional investment expense" in section 336.5 and the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount the taxpayer is required to include in computing the taxpayer's taxable income under section 726.29, exceeds the aggregate of

i. the amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph c of section 28, and

ii. the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's taxable income under sections 725.7.1 and 725.7.2, or that the taxpayer could have so deducted if the taxpayer's income had been sufficient for that purpose, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts the taxpayer is required to include in computing the taxpayer's taxable income under sections 694.0.0.1 and 694.0.0.3.

1986, c. 19, s. 151; 1987, c. 67, s. 143; 1989, c. 5, s. 89; 1990, c. 59, s. 272; 1993, c. 19, s. 45; 1994, c. 22, s. 254; 1997, c. 85, s. 113; 2001, c. 53, s. 99; 2004, c. 21, s. 129; 2005, c. 38, s. 92; 2006, c. 36, s. 61; 2009, c. 15, s. 129; 2011, c. 6, s. 153; 2019, c. 14, s. 192; 2021, c. 18, s. 51; 2022, c. 23, s. 44.

728.0.2. Notwithstanding section 728, the non-capital loss of a corporation for a particular taxation year ending after 30 June 1988, determined for the purposes of computing its taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1 July 1988, is deemed to be equal to the amount by which the amount that would, but for this section, be its non-capital loss for the particular taxation year, exceeds 1/5 of the lesser of

(a) the amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing the corporation's taxable income for the particular taxation year, and

(b) the amount that would, but for this section, be its non-capital loss for the particular year.

1990, c. 59, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

728.0.3. Notwithstanding section 728, the non-capital loss of a corporation for a particular taxation year ending before 1 July 1988, determined for the purposes of computing its taxable income for a taxation year ending after 30 June 1988, is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of

(a) the amount that would, but for this section, be its non-capital loss for the particular taxation year, and

(b) 1/4 of the lesser of

i. the amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing the corporation's taxable income for the particular taxation year, and

ii. the amount that would, but for this section, be its non-capital loss for the particular taxation year.

1990, c. 59, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

728.0.4. For the purposes of sections 734 and 735, any amount deducted in computing a corporation's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1 July 1988 in respect of a non-capital loss for another taxation year ending after 30 June 1988, is deemed to be equal to the aggregate of the amount so deducted and 1/4 of the amount by which the amount so deducted exceeds the amount by which

(a) the amount deductible for the year in respect of the non-capital loss, exceeds

(b) 4/5 of the amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing its taxable income for the other taxation year.

1990, c. 59, s. 273; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

728.1. A taxpayer may deduct, in a particular taxation year, the farm losses sustained by the taxpayer

(a) in the 10 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if the losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 1983, but before 1 January 2006; and

(b) in the 20 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if the losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 2005.

1985, c. 25, s. 118; 2006, c. 36, s. 62.

728.2. In section 728.1, the farm loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount by which the lesser of the following amounts exceeds any amount by which the farm loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of sections 485 to 485.18:

(a) the amount by which all his losses for the year from a farming or fishing business exceed the aggregate of his income for the year from such a business; and

(b) the amount that would be the taxpayer's non-capital loss if section 728 were read without paragraph a thereof.

1985, c. 25, s. 118; 1996, c. 39, s. 195; 2001, c. 53, s. 100.

729. A taxpayer may deduct his net capital losses for the taxation years preceding and the three taxation years following the year.

1972, c. 23, s. 547; 1982, c. 5, s. 143; 1985, c. 25, s. 118; 1987, c. 67, s. 144; 1990, c. 59, s. 274.

729.1. Notwithstanding section 729, the amount that may be deducted by reason of that section in computing the taxable income of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year is the aggregate of

(a) the lesser of

i. the excess contemplated in paragraph b of section 28 for the particular taxation year in respect of the taxpayer, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C;$$

(b) where the taxpayer is an individual, the least of

i. $1,000,

ii. his pre-1986 capital loss balance for the particular taxation year, and

iii. the amount by which the amount claimed as a deduction in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses under section 729 for the particular taxation year exceeds the aggregate of such amounts determined in respect of his net capital losses by the formula set forth in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a, that would be required to be claimed as a deduction under section 729 for the particular taxation year to produce the amount determined under subparagraph a for the particular taxation year; and

(c) the amount that the Minister determines to be reasonable in the circumstances for the particular taxation year, after considering the application to the taxpayer of sections 668.7, 851.16.2, 1106 and 1113 as they read in their application to the taxpayer's last taxation year that began before 1 November 2011.

In the formula in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount claimed as a deduction for the particular taxation year by the taxpayer under section 729 in respect of net capital loss for a taxation year, in this paragraph referred to as the "loss year" ;

(b) B is the fraction that would have been used in respect of the taxpayer for the particular taxation year under section 231 if he had had a capital loss for that year;

(c) C is the fraction required to be used under section 231 in respect of the taxpayer for the loss year.

1990, c. 59, s. 275; 1993, c. 16, s. 272; 2009, c. 5, s. 247; 2017, c. 29, s. 113.

730. In this Title, the net capital loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the aggregate of all amounts by which the net capital loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of sections 485 to 485.18:

(a) the amount by which the amount obtained under subparagraph ii of paragraph b of section 28, for the year, exceeds the amount obtained under subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 28; and

(b) the least of

i. the amount of the allowable business investment losses of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year,

ii. the amount by which the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts relating to that non-capital loss deducted by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the taxation year or for any preceding taxation year or in respect of which the taxpayer has made an election under section 1029.1, as it read for the taxation year in which the non-capital loss was sustained, and

iii. where the taxpayer was subject to a loss restriction event before the end of the year and after the end of the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year, zero.

1972, c. 23, s. 548; 1986, c. 19, s. 152; 1987, c. 67, s. 145; 1989, c. 77, s. 79; 1996, c. 39, s. 196; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 39, s. 42; 2005, c. 38, s. 93; 2017, c. 1, s. 175.

730.1. In this Title, "pre-1986 capital loss balance" of an individual for a particular taxation year means the amount by which the amount determined under section 730.2 in respect of the individual for the particular year exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years that precede the particular year and that ended before 1 January 1988 or began after 17 October 2000;

(b) 3/4 of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years that precede the particular year and that ended after 31 December 1987 but before 1 January 1990, or that began after 28 February 2000 and ended before 17 October 2000;

(c) 2/3 of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years that precede the particular year and that ended after 31 December 1989 but before 28 February 2000; and

(d) any amount that is the quotient obtained by dividing the amount deducted under Titles VI.5 and VI. 5.1 in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year that precedes the particular year and includes 28 February 2000 or 17 October 2000 by twice the fraction in paragraphs a to d of section 231.0.1 that applies to the individual for that taxation year that precedes the particular year.

1987, c. 67, s. 146; 1990, c. 59, s. 276; 1993, c. 19, s. 46; 2003, c. 2, s. 207.

730.2. The amount to which section 730.1 refers is equal to the aggregate of

(a) the amount by which the individual's net capital losses for taxation years ending before 1 January 1985 exceeds the aggregate of amounts claimed by him under this Title, in respect of those losses, in computing his taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year; and

(b) the amount by which the aggregate of amounts claimed by him under this Title in respect of his net capital loss for the taxation year 1985 in computing his taxable income for a taxation year preceding the particular taxation year is exceeded by the lesser of

i. the amount of his net capital loss for the taxation year 1985, and

ii. the excess amount that would represent, in respect of the individual for the taxation year 1985, the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph ii of paragraph b of the first paragraph of section 28 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph i of paragraph b of the first paragraph of section 28 if the individual's taxable capital gains and his allowable capital losses did not include such gains or losses from the disposition of property by him in the year and after 22 May 1985 and if the rules set forth in the second paragraph of section 28 applied for the purposes of computing that last excess amount, the amount deductible by virtue of subparagraph iii of paragraph c of the first paragraph of section 28 in computing his taxable income for the taxation year 1985.

731. A taxpayer may deduct, in a particular taxation year, up to the taxpayer's income for the particular year from all farming businesses carried on by the taxpayer, the restricted farm losses sustained by the taxpayer

(a) in the 10 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if those losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 1983, but before 1 January 2006; and

(b) in the 20 taxation years that precede and in the three taxation years that follow the particular year if those losses are sustained in a taxation year that ends after 31 December 2005.

1972, c. 23, s. 549; 1985, c. 25, s. 119; 2006, c. 36, s. 63.

732. For the purposes of section 731, a loss by a taxpayer resulting from a farming business during a taxation year is deemed, to the extent that such loss is included in the amount of a deduction permitted by sections 634 and 635 in computing his income for a subsequent year, not to be a loss for the purpose of computing his taxable income for that subsequent year or any year subsequent to it.

1972, c. 23, s. 550.

733. A loss by a taxpayer resulting from a farming business during a taxation year is not deductible for the purposes of section 731, when the taxpayer has disposed of the land used in such farming business, to the extent that such loss must be, under paragraph l of section 255, added in computing the adjusted cost base of the taxpayer's land, immediately before the disposition.

733.0.0.1. A taxpayer may deduct his limited partnership losses in respect of a partnership for taxation years preceding the year, but no amount is deductible for the year in respect of a limited partnership loss except to the extent of the amount by which his at-risk amount in respect of the partnership, within the meaning assigned by sections 613.2 to 613.4, at the end of the last fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(a) that part of the amount determined in respect of the partnership which is required by subsection 8 of section 127 of the Income Tax Act (Revised Statutes of Canada, 1985, chapter 1, 5th Supplement) to be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer for the taxation year within the meaning assigned to that expression by the said Act for the purposes of the said subsection;

(b) the taxpayer's share of any losses of the partnership for that fiscal period from a business or property; or

(c) the taxpayer's share of the foreign resource pool expenses, the Canadian exploration expense, the Canadian development expense, and the Canadian oil and gas property expense, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period.

1988, c. 4, s. 54; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 141.

733.0.1. For the purpose of determining the amount of the non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss and limited partnership loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year, the rules in section 70 of the Act respecting international financial centres (chapter C-8.3) also apply.

1986, c. 15, s. 111; 1988, c. 4, s. 55; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1999, c. 86, s. 76; 2022, c. 23, s. 45.

733.0.2. (Repealed).

1999, c. 83, s. 79; 2012, c. 8, s. 71.

733.0.3. For the purpose of determining the amount of the non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss or limited partnership loss for a taxation year of an individual who, for that year, benefited from the deduction provided for in section 737.18.10, income realized by the individual during the individual's exemption period, within the meaning of section 737.18.6, in relation to an employment, or a loss sustained by the individual during such a period is deemed to be nil.

2000, c. 39, s. 44; 2004, c. 21, s. 130.

733.0.4. (Repealed).

2000, c. 39, s. 44; 2021, c. 18, s. 52.

733.0.5. For the purpose of determining the amount of the non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss or limited partnership loss for a taxation year of a corporation that carries on a recognized business in the year or is a member of a partnership that carries on such a recognized business in a fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year, in relation to a major investment project of the corporation or partnership, in respect of which the Minister of Finance issued an annual qualification certificate for the taxation year of the corporation or fiscal period of the partnership, the following rules apply:

(a) where the amount determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17 in respect of the corporation for the year exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph b of that paragraph in its respect for the year,

i. the amount that is the income or portion of the income of the corporation for the year, determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17, is deemed to be nil, and

ii. the amount that is the loss or portion of the loss of the corporation for the year, determined under subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17, is deemed to be nil; and

(b) where the amount determined under subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17 in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph e of that paragraph in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period,

i. the corporation's share of the amount that is the income or portion of the income, determined under subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17 in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period, is deemed to be nil, and

ii. the corporation's share of the amount that is the loss or portion of the loss, determined under subparagraph e of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17 in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period, is deemed to be nil.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a corporation's share of an amount is equal to the proportion of that amount that the corporation's share of the partnership's income for the fiscal period is of the partnership's income for that fiscal period.

In this section, the following rules apply:

(a) "annual qualification certificate", "major investment project" and "recognized business" have the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 737.18.14, as it read before being repealed; and

(b) a reference to section 737.18.17 is a reference to that section as it read before being repealed.

2002, c. 9, s. 12; 2004, c. 21, s. 131; 2019, c. 14, s. 193.

733.0.5.1. For the purpose of determining the amount of the non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss or limited partnership loss for a taxation year of a corporation that carries on a recognized business in the year or is a member of a partnership that carries on such a recognized business in a fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year, in relation to a large investment project of the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, in respect of which a certificate was issued for the corporation's taxation year or the partnership's fiscal period, the following rules apply:

(a) where, in respect of the corporation for the year, the amount determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph b of that paragraph,

i. the amount that is the income or portion of the income, as the case may be, of the corporation for the year, determined under that subparagraph a, is, in the proportion determined in the second paragraph, deemed to be nil, and

ii. the amount that is the loss or portion of the loss, as the case may be, of the corporation for the year, determined under that subparagraph b, is, in the proportion determined in the second paragraph, deemed to be nil; and

(b) where, in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period, the amount determined under subparagraph d of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph e of that paragraph,

i. the corporation's share of the amount that is the income or portion of the income, as the case may be, determined under that subparagraph d in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period, is, in the proportion determined in the second paragraph, deemed to be nil, and

ii. the corporation's share of the amount that is the loss or portion of the loss, as the case may be, determined under that subparagraph e in respect of the partnership for the fiscal period, is, in the proportion determined in the second paragraph, deemed to be nil.

The proportion to which the first paragraph refers is the proportion that the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under section 737.18.17.5 if, for the purposes of section 737.18.17.6, its taxable income for the year otherwise determined were equal to the particular amount that is the total of the amounts determined in accordance with subparagraphs i and ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, is of that particular amount.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, a corporation's share of an amount is equal to the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

In this section, "certificate", "large investment project" and "recognized business" have the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1.

733.1. For the purposes of this Title, a taxpayer's non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss and limited partnership loss for a taxation year during which the taxpayer was not resident in Canada shall be determined as if, in the part of the year throughout which the individual was not resident in Canada, in the case of an individual referred to in any of sections 23, 24 and 25 for the year, and throughout the year, in any other case, the taxpayer had no income other than income described in subparagraphs a to l of the first paragraph of section 1090, the taxpayer's only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from the disposition of taxable Canadian property, other than tax-agreement-protected property, and the taxpayer's only other losses were losses from the duties of an office or employment performed by the taxpayer in Canada and the taxpayer's only other losses from businesses, other than tax-agreement-protected businesses, carried on by the taxpayer in Canada that were attributable, in the manner prescribed for the purposes of section 1090, to an establishment in Canada.

1985, c. 25, s. 120; 1988, c. 4, s. 56; 1994, c. 22, s. 255; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 53, s. 101; 2004, c. 8, s. 142.

734. An amount in respect of a non-capital loss, a farm loss, a restricted farm loss or a limited partnership loss is deductible, and an amount in respect of a net capital loss may be claimed, for a particular taxation year under section 727, 728.1, 729, 731, 733.0.0.1 or 737 only to the extent that it exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the amounts deducted under this Title in respect of that non-capital loss, farm loss, restricted farm loss or limited partnership loss in computing taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year, and

(b) the deduction that was claimed under section 729 in respect of that net capital loss for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year.

1972, c. 23, s. 552; 1985, c. 25, s. 120; 1988, c. 4, s. 57; 1990, c. 59, s. 277; 1993, c. 16, s. 274; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

735. No amount is deductible as a non-capital loss, farm loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss or limited partnership loss under section 727, 728.1, 729, 731, 733.0.0.1 or 737 for any taxation year, as long as the corresponding deductible losses for the previous years have not been deducted.

1972, c. 23, s. 553; 1985, c. 25, s. 120; 1988, c. 4, s. 57; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

735.1. Notwithstanding sections 727 and 728.1, no amount may be deducted by a corporation in computing its taxable income for a taxation year in respect of a non-capital loss or a farm loss, as the case may be, sustained in any preceding taxation year, where an election was made in respect of that loss under section 1029.1, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

1981, c. 12, s. 7; 1985, c. 25, s. 120; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2000, c. 39, s. 45.

736. Despite section 729 and subject to section 736.0.5, where, at any time (in this section referred to as "that time") a taxpayer is subject to a loss restriction event, the following rules apply:

(a) no amount in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year ending after that time; and

(b) no amount in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year ending after that time is deductible in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time.

In addition, where, at that time, the taxpayer neither became nor ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on the taxpayer's taxable income, the following rules apply:

(a) in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer at and after that time of each capital property, other than a depreciable property, owned by the taxpayer immediately before that time, there is to be deducted an amount equal to the amount by which the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the capital property immediately before that time exceeds its fair market value immediately before that time;

(b) each amount required by subparagraph a to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of a property is deemed to be a capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxation year ending immediately before that time from the disposition of the property;

(c) each capital property that is owned by the taxpayer immediately before that time (other than a property in respect of which an amount would, but for this subparagraph, be required under subparagraph a to be deducted in computing its adjusted cost base to the taxpayer or a depreciable property of a prescribed class to which, but for this subparagraph, paragraph a of section 736.0.2 would apply) and that the taxpayer designates after 19 December 2006 in accordance with paragraph e of subsection 4 of section 111 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)) in respect of the loss restriction event, is deemed to have been disposed of by the taxpayer immediately before the time that is immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the lesser of the fair market value of the capital property immediately before that time and the greater of the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the capital property immediately before the disposition and the amount designated by the taxpayer after 19 December 2006, in respect of the loss restriction event, in accordance with that paragraph e in respect of the capital property, and is deemed, subject to the third paragraph, to have been reacquired by the taxpayer at that time at a cost equal to those proceeds of disposition; and

(d) each amount that under subparagraph b or c is a capital loss or gain of the taxpayer from a disposition of a property for the taxation year ending immediately before that time is deemed, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 570, to be a capital loss or gain, as the case may be, of the taxpayer from the disposition of the property immediately before the time that a capital property of the taxpayer in respect of which subparagraph c would be applicable would be deemed by that subparagraph to have been disposed of by the taxpayer.

Despite subparagraph c of the second paragraph and for the purposes of Division II of Chapter II of Title III of Book III, sections 130, 130.1, 142 and 149 and any regulation made under paragraph a of section 130 or section 130.1, where the property is depreciable property of the taxpayer the capital cost of which to the taxpayer immediately before the disposition exceeds the proceeds of disposition determined under that subparagraph c, the following rules apply:

(a) the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer at that time is deemed to be the amount that was its capital cost immediately before the disposition; and

(b) the excess is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer in respect of the property under the regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 in computing the taxpayer's income for taxation years that ended before that time.

For the purposes of subparagraph c of the second paragraph, the taxpayer is deemed to have designated a particular capital property, as well as an amount in its respect, after 19 December 2006 in accordance with paragraph e of subsection 4 of section 111 of the Income Tax Act in respect of the loss restriction event, or to have designated after that date, in respect of that event, in accordance with that paragraph e in respect of a particular capital property, a particular amount different from that designated by the taxpayer after that date, in relation to that event, in accordance with that paragraph e in its respect, if

(a) the taxpayer files an application with the Minister in that respect, in a document containing information that is satisfactory to the Minister, on or before the day that is 90 days after the day on which a notice of assessment of tax payable for the taxation year ending immediately before that time or a notice that no tax is payable for the year is sent to the taxpayer;

(b) it may reasonably be considered that the taxpayer's designation regarding the particular capital property and the amount in its respect, or the change made to the amount designated in respect of the particular capital property, as the case may be, is justified only because of a difference between tax attributes, in particular the adjusted cost base of the particular capital property or the undeducted balance of a deductible loss, for the purposes of Part I of the Income Tax Act and the corresponding tax attributes for the purposes of this Part; and

(c) the Minister is of the opinion that the tax consequences of the application are consistent with the objectives of subparagraph c of the second paragraph, and grants the application.

Chapter V.2 of Title II of Book I applies in relation to a designation made under paragraph e of subsection 4 of section 111 of the Income Tax Act or in relation to a designation made under this section before 20 December 2006.

736.0.0.1. For the purposes of section 736, if at a particular time a taxpayer owes a foreign currency debt in respect of which the taxpayer would have had, if the foreign currency debt had been repaid at that time, a capital loss or gain, the taxpayer is deemed to own at the time (in this section referred to as the "measurement time") that is immediately before the particular time a property

(a) the adjusted cost base of which at the measurement time is equal to the amount determined by the formula

A + B - C; and

(b) the fair market value of which is equal to the amount that would be the amount of principal owed by the taxpayer under the foreign currency debt at the measurement time if that amount were calculated using the exchange rate applicable at the time of the original borrowing.

In the formula in subparagraph a of the first paragraph,

(a) A is the amount of principal owed by the taxpayer under the foreign currency debt at the measurement time, calculated using the exchange rate applicable at that time;

(b) B is the portion of any gain, previously recognized in respect of the foreign currency debt because of this Title, that is reasonably attributable to the amount determined under subparagraph a; and

(c) C is the portion of any capital loss, previously recognized in respect of the foreign currency debt because of this Title, that is reasonably attributable to the amount determined under subparagraph a.

2010, c. 5, s. 56; 2017, c. 1, s. 177.

736.0.0.2. In this Title,

"exchange rate" at a particular time in respect of a foreign currency means the rate of exchange between that currency and Canadian currency quoted by the Bank of Canada on the day that includes the particular time or, if that day is not a working day, on the day that immediately precedes that day, or a rate of exchange acceptable to the Minister;

"foreign currency debt" means a debt obligation denominated in a foreign currency.

2010, c. 5, s. 56; 2021, c. 14, s. 68.

736.0.1. Where, at any time, a taxpayer is subject to a loss restriction event, no amount in respect of a non-capital loss or farm loss for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible by the taxpayer for a taxation year ending after that time.

However, the taxpayer may deduct, for a particular taxation year ending after that time, such portion of a non-capital loss or farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year ending before that time as may reasonably be regarded as the taxpayer's loss from carrying on a business and, where a business was carried on by the taxpayer in that taxation year, such portion of the non-capital loss as may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to an amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that taxation year, if the following conditions are met:

(a) the business was carried on by the taxpayer for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit throughout the particular year; and

(b) the amount that the taxpayer may deduct must not exceed the aggregate of the taxpayer's income for the particular year from the business and, where the taxpayer sold, leased, rented or developed properties or rendered services in the course of carrying on that business before that time, from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties, or the rendering of similar services.

736.0.1.1. Where, at any time, a taxpayer is subject to a loss restriction event, no amount in respect of a non-capital loss or farm loss for a taxation year ending after that time is deductible by the taxpayer for a taxation year ending before that time.

However, the taxpayer may deduct, for a particular taxation year ending before that time, such portion of a non-capital loss or farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year ending after that time as may reasonably be regarded as the taxpayer's loss from carrying on a business and, where a business was carried on by the taxpayer in that taxation year, such portion of the non-capital loss as may reasonably be regarded as being attributable to an amount deductible under section 725.1.1 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that taxation year, if the following conditions are met:

(a) the business was carried on by the taxpayer for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit throughout the taxation year and in the particular year; and

(b) the amount that the taxpayer may deduct must not exceed the taxpayer's income for the particular year from the business and, where the taxpayer sold, leased, rented or developed properties or rendered services in the course of carrying on that business before that time, from any other business substantially all of the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties, or the rendering of similar services.

736.0.1.2. For the purposes of sections 736.0.1 and 736.0.1.1, a taxpayer's business that is at any time an adventure or concern in the nature of trade is deemed to be a business carried on at that time by the taxpayer.

736.0.2. Subject to section 736.0.5, where, at any time, a taxpayer (other than a taxpayer who, at that time, became or ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on the taxpayer's taxable income) is subject to a loss restriction event and the undepreciated capital cost to the taxpayer of depreciable property of a prescribed class immediately before that time would have exceeded, if this Part were read without reference to section 93.4, the aggregate of the fair market value of all the property of that class immediately before that time and the amount in respect of property of that class otherwise allowed under regulations made under paragraph a of section 130 or deductible under the second paragraph of section 130.1 in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year ending immediately before that time, the excess is to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year ending immediately before that time and is deemed to have been allowed to the taxpayer in respect of the property of that class under regulations made under paragraph a of section 130.

1984, c. 15, s. 167; 1989, c. 77, s. 81.

736.0.3.1. Subject to section 736.0.5, where, at any time, a taxpayer, other than a taxpayer who at that time became or ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on the taxpayer's taxable income, is subject to a loss restriction event, no amount may be deducted under section 140 in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxpayer's taxation year ending immediately before that time and each amount that is the greatest amount that would, but for this section, have been deductible under section 140 in respect of a debt owing to the taxpayer immediately before that time is deemed to be a separate debt and is, despite any other provision of this Part, to be deducted as a bad debt under section 141 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year.

In addition, the amount by which the debt exceeds that separate debt is deemed to be a separate debt incurred at the same time and under the same circumstances as the debt was incurred.

1989, c. 77, s. 82; 1995, c. 49, s. 236; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 1997, c. 31, s. 72; 2017, c. 1, s. 179.

736.0.4. Where control of a corporation has been acquired at any time by a person or persons, such portion of the corporation's non-capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time to the extent that it was not deductible in computing the corporation's income for such a year and may be considered such a loss of a subsidiary, within the meaning of section 556, from carrying on a particular business and in respect of which sections 564.2, 564.3 and 564.4 apply, as they read on 12 November 1981, is deemed to be a non-capital loss of the corporation from carrying on the particular business of the subsidiary.

736.0.5. Where a taxpayer is subject to a loss restriction event at a particular time and it can reasonably be considered that the main reason that the taxpayer is subject to the loss restriction event was to cause subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 736 or section 736.0.2 or 736.0.3.1 to apply, the following provisions do not apply with respect to the loss restriction event:

(a) the said subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 736, the said sections 736.0.2 and 736.0.3.1 and subparagraph c of the second paragraph of section 736;

(b) where, but for paragraph a, the said subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 736 would apply, subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 736.

1989, c. 77, s. 83; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2017, c. 1, s. 180.

736.3. Despite section 727, an individual to whom the Minister grants an authorization following an application to that effect may deduct, under that section, in computing the individual's taxable income for a particular taxation year an amount in respect of a non-capital loss sustained by the individual in a taxation year, in this section referred to as the "reimbursement year", subsequent to the third taxation year that follows the particular taxation year, if

(a) the individual deducted in computing the individual's income for the reimbursement year, under section 78.1, an amount paid by or on behalf of the individual as the reimbursement of an amount the individual included in computing the individual's income from an office or employment for the particular taxation year;

(b) the amount for which the application is made does not exceed the portion of the non-capital loss sustained by the individual in the reimbursement year that may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the reimbursement referred to in paragraph a; and

(c) in the Minister's opinion, it is reasonable to expect, by reason of the nature and severity of the individual's disability, that the individual will not earn sufficient income in a taxation year subsequent to the reimbursement year to allow the individual to deduct in computing the individual's taxable income, under section 727, the non-capital loss sustained by the individual in the reimbursement year.

Despite section 1010, the Minister shall make such assessments, reassessments or additional assessments of tax, interest and penalties and such determinations or redeterminations as are necessary for any taxation year to give effect to the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 78; 2011, c. 6, s. 154.

736.4. Despite section 727, an individual may deduct, under that section, in computing the individual's taxable income for a particular taxation year subsequent to the taxation year 2003, an amount in respect of a non-capital loss sustained by the individual in a taxation year (in this section referred to as the "reimbursement year") subsequent to the third taxation year that follows the particular taxation year, if

(a) the individual deducted, in computing the individual's income for the reimbursement year, an amount paid by or on behalf of the individual as the reimbursement of an amount the individual included in computing the individual's income for the particular taxation year;

(b) the reimbursement referred to in subparagraph a results from the determination, in respect of the individual, in the reimbursement year of an amount relating to the particular taxation year that is a covered benefit attributable to a preceding taxation year, within the meaning assigned to that expression by section 766.3.1; and

(c) the amount deducted does not exceed the portion of the non-capital loss sustained by the individual in the reimbursement year that may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the reimbursement referred to in subparagraph a.

Despite section 1010, the Minister shall make such assessments, reassessments or additional assessments of tax, interest and penalties and such determinations and redeterminations as are necessary for any taxation year in order to give effect to the first paragraph.

2011, c. 6, s. 155; 2015, c. 21, s. 259.

737. Where a taxpayer dies in a taxation year, for the purposes of computing his taxable income for that year and the preceding taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) section 729 shall read as follows:

"729. A taxpayer may deduct the taxpayer's net capital losses for all his taxation years not claimed in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any other taxation year."; and

(b) subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 729.1 shall read as follows:

"(b) the amount by which the amount claimed in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses under section 729 for the particular taxation year exceeds the aggregate of

i. all amounts in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses that, using the formula in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a, would be required to be claimed under section 729 for the particular taxation year to produce the amount determined under subparagraph a for the particular taxation year, and

ii. all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under Title Vl.5 or VI.5.1 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year, except to the extent that, where the particular year is the year in which the taxpayer died, the amount claimed under section 729 for the preceding taxation year in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses exceeds the amount so determined under subparagraph i.".

TITLE VII.0.1

ADJUSTMENT IN RESPECT OF AN ADDITIONAL INVESTMENT EXPENSE

2005, c. 38, s. 95.

737.0.1. An individual, other than a trust that is not a personal trust, shall include in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year an amount equal to the amount by which the amount of the individual's additional investment expense for the year exceeds the portion of the individual's investment income for the year in excess of the individual's investment expense for the year.

If the individual benefits for the year from the deduction provided for in section 737.16 or 737.18.10 in respect of an employment, the amount determined under the first paragraph must be determined on the assumption that the rules set out in the second paragraph of section 313.10 apply in respect of the particular amounts otherwise included in the investment expense or investment income of the individual for the year and, with the necessary modifications, in respect of the particular amounts taken into account in computing the amounts otherwise included in the additional investment expense of the individual for the year.

In this section, "additional investment expense", "investment expense" and "investment income" have the meaning assigned by section 336.5.

CHAPTER IV

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

1987, c. 67, s. 150.

737.18. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of the individual referred to in section 737.16 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, the amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and that the individual has included in computing income for the year, shall not include the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's reference period, established under section 69 of the Act respecting international financial centres (chapter C-8.3), in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(b) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, the amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under section 49, as a consequence of the application of section 49.2, in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and that the individual has included in computing income for the year, shall not include the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's reference period, established under section 69 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(c) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.4, the individual shall subtract from the amount included by the individual under paragraph b of section 218 in computing income for the year in respect of a share the individual has received after 22 May 1985, the product obtained by multiplying the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of any of the individual's specified periods, established under the fourth paragraph of section 65 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment that is included in the year, by the percentage determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph of that section 65 in respect of that period;

(d) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.5, the individual shall subtract from the amount included by the individual under section 888.1 in computing income for the year, the product obtained by multiplying the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of any of the individual's specified periods, established under the fourth paragraph of section 65 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment that is included in the year, by the percentage determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph of that section 65 in respect of that period;

(e) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725, the individual shall subtract from the amount included by the individual in computing income for the year, and that is an amount described in any of the paragraphs of that section, the product obtained by multiplying the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of any of the individual's specified periods, established under the fourth paragraph of section 65 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment that is included in the year, by the percentage determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph of that section 65 in respect of that period;

(f) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.1.2, the individual shall subtract from the amount included by the individual in computing income for the year, and that is an amount described in the second paragraph of that section, the product obtained by multiplying the portion of such an amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of any of the individual's specified periods, established under the fourth paragraph of section 65 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment that is included in the year, by the percentage determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph of that section 65 in respect of that period;

(g) (paragraph repealed);

(h) any capital gain realized during any of the individual's specified periods, established under the fourth paragraph of section 65 of the Act respecting international financial centres, in relation to an employment, or any capital loss, including any allowable business investment loss, for such a period is, for the purposes of Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the capital gain or capital loss by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph 1 of the second paragraph of that section 65 in respect of that period.

TITLE VII.2.2

DEDUCTIONS RELATING TO THE CREATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL TRADE ZONE AT MIRABEL

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

737.18.6. In this Title,

"base period" applicable to a corporation or partnership in respect of eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the corporation in a taxation year, or by the partnership in a fiscal period, means

(a) where the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business became effective or is deemed to have become effective, in accordance with section 737.18.9.1, before 1 January 2001, the period beginning on the day after the effective date of the certificate and, subject to subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.9.2 and subparagraph b of that paragraph, ending on the earlier of

i. the day preceding the day when the corporation or partnership ceases to carry on the eligible activities, and

ii. 31 December 2010;

(b) where the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business became effective or is deemed to have become effective, in accordance with section 737.18.9.1, after 31 December 2000 and before 1 January 2004, the period beginning on the day after the effective date of the certificate and, subject to subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.9.2 and subparagraph b of that paragraph, ending on the earlier of

i. the day preceding the day when the corporation or partnership ceases to carry on the eligible activities, and

ii. the day of the tenth anniversary of the effective date of the certificate; and

(c) where the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business became effective or is deemed to have become effective, in accordance with section 737.18.9.1, after 31 December 2003, the period beginning on the day after the effective date of the certificate and, subject to subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.9.2 and subparagraph b of that paragraph, ending on the earlier of

i. the day preceding the day when the corporation or partnership ceases to carry on the eligible activities, and

ii. 31 December 2013;

"eligible activities" of a recognized business carried on by a corporation in a taxation year, or by a partnership in a fiscal period, means the activities shown on the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business and carried on in the international trade zone by the corporation in the year or by the partnership in the fiscal period;

"eligible employer" means a corporation or a partnership that carries on a recognized business;

"exemption period" of an individual who is a foreign specialist for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the later of the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and 10 March 1999, and that, subject to subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.9.2, ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist; and

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.18.6.2 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.18.10, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed, or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.18.6.2 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1;

"foreign specialist" for all or part of a taxation year, means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time after 9 March 1999 but before 2 September 2003, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract that they entered into before 13 June 2003;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year

i. the individual performs employment duties for the eligible employer exclusively or almost exclusively in the international trade zone,

ii. the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer, and

iii. the individual's duties for the eligible employer consist exclusively or almost exclusively in carrying out work relating to activities shown on the certificate issued to the employer in respect of the recognized business carried on by the employer in the international trade zone; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by Investissement Québec for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as a specialist;

"international trade zone" has the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.38;

"recognized business" has the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.38 and by section 1029.8.36.0.38.1.

Where the certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign specialist" was not issued in respect of an individual for the taxation year that includes the particular day that is the later of the day on which the individual began to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and 10 March 1999, the exemption period of the individual in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for which such a certificate has been issued in respect of the individual.

Where an individual holds employment with an eligible employer on 10 March 1999 under a particular contract, but took up employment, as an employee, with that employer before that date, and the particular contract is not deemed to end under the first or second paragraph of section 737.18.7.2, the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph shall be read

(a) with paragraphs a and b replaced by the following paragraphs:

"(a) on 10 March 1999, the individual holds employment with an eligible employer under an employment contract that they entered into before that date;

"(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before 10 March 1999;";

(b) with "from the particular time" in the portion of paragraph c before subparagraph i and in paragraph d replaced by "from 10 March 1999".

2000, c. 39, s. 49; 2001, c. 51, s. 41; 2003, c. 9, s. 54; 2004, c. 21, s. 137; 2005, c. 23, s. 79; 2012, c. 8, s. 73.

737.18.6.1. For the purposes of this Title, where, in a taxation year or a fiscal period, as the case may be, a corporation or a partnership carries on a business in respect of which section 1029.8.36.0.38.1 applies and whose activities are carried on in Québec but outside the international trade zone, the following rules apply:

(a) the activities shown on the certificate referred to in paragraph a of section 1029.8.36.0.38.1 in respect of the recognized business, that are carried on in Québec but outside the international trade zone, are deemed to be activities carried on in the international trade zone;

(b) the individual who, at a particular time after 13 March 2000, holds employment with that corporation or partnership and whose duties consist in carrying out work relating to the activities referred to in paragraph a exclusively or almost exclusively in Québec is deemed, from that time and throughout the period in which the individual actually performs those duties, to carry out work, exclusively or almost exclusively, that is related to the activities shown on the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business and to perform the duties of the individual's employment exclusively or almost exclusively in the international trade zone.

2001, c. 51, s. 42.

737.18.6.2. For the purpose of establishing the exemption period of an individual in relation to an employment, a preceding period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "exemption period" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under any of the sections mentioned in the second paragraph of section 737.19.2 or under the regulations mentioned in that paragraph, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, may reasonably be attributed.

2004, c. 21, s. 138.

737.18.6.3. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign specialist for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider that part of the year to be included in the individual's exemption period in relation to the employment if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign specialist for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 80.

737.18.7. For the purposes of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6, an individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer if

(a) the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2; or

(b) the individual would meet the condition set out in paragraph a if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

2000, c. 39, s. 49; 2004, c. 21, s. 139.

737.18.7.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign specialist working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in the portion of paragraph c before subparagraph i and in paragraph d replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign specialist working for the eligible employer if the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no exemption period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

737.18.7.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract within the meaning of subparagraph a of the third paragraph, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign specialist if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into before 13 June 2003; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no exemption period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.18.10, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in paragraph f of the definition of "foreign specialist" in section 737.18.6, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

Where an individual holds employment with an eligible employer on 10 March 1999 under the original contract, but took up employment, as an employee, with that employer before that date, the following rules apply:

(a) the third paragraph, where it applies for the first time since the original contract is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph, shall be read with the reference to "from the particular time" replaced by a reference to "from 10 March 1999"; and

(b) if the second paragraph applies to the original contract, subparagraph a of the fourth paragraph shall be read as follows:

"(a) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before 10 March 1999;".

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 140.

737.18.7.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 and in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the original contract.

The rule set out in the first paragraph applies, with the necessary modifications, to a new employment contract that is entered into after 12 June 2003 with another eligible employer, who is deemed not to be an employer separate from the eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "first employer", who entered into the original contract, provided that

(a) the other eligible employer

i. controls directly or indirectly the first employer,

ii. is, directly or indirectly, a controlled subsidiary of the first employer, or

iii. as a result of a transaction referred to in section 518 or 566, continues to carry on the business of the first employer in the course of which the individual who entered into the original contract performed the individual's duties as a foreign specialist; and

(b) it may reasonably be considered that, but for the change of employer, the individual who entered into the original contract would have continued to be a foreign specialist working for the first employer until the time when the individual took up employment, as an employee, with the other eligible employer.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.18.7.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 140.

737.18.8. For the purpose of determining, for the purposes of this Title, the income or loss of a corporation for a taxation year, or of a partnership for a fiscal period, from the eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, the income or loss shall be computed as if the activities were the carrying on, by the corporation or partnership, of a separate business.

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

737.18.9. For the purposes of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.6 and despite any provision to the contrary, a certificate that has been issued to a corporation or a partnership in respect of a recognized business is deemed to be valid until the time the certificate is revoked and it is deemed, only as of that time, not to have been issued.

2000, c. 39, s. 49; 2005, c. 23, s. 81; 2005, c. 38, s. 98; 2012, c. 8, s. 74.

737.18.9.1. For the purposes of this Title, where, at a particular time in a taxation year or fiscal period, a corporation or partnership, in this section referred to as the "transferee entity", carries on a business in respect of which Investissement Québec issued a qualification certificate and the business, according to Investissement Québec, is the continuation of a recognized business or part of a recognized business carried on before that time by a corporation or partnership, in this section referred to as the "transferor entity", the effective date of the qualification certificate issued to the transferee entity, in relation to the recognized business, is deemed to be the same as the effective date of the qualification certificate issued to the transferor entity, in relation to the recognized business or part of the recognized business.

2004, c. 21, s. 141; 2005, c. 23, s. 82.

737.18.9.2. For the purposes of this Title, where, at any time after 11 June 2003, control of a corporation that carries on at that time a recognized business or is a member of a partnership that carries on at that time a recognized business is acquired by a person or group of persons, the following rules apply:

(a) where the recognized business is carried on by the corporation,

i. the exemption period of an individual, in relation to an employment the individual holds with the corporation, is deemed to end immediately before that time, and

ii. the base period applicable to the corporation, in respect of the eligible activities of the recognized business, is deemed to end immediately before that time; and

(b) where the recognized business is carried on by the partnership, the base period applicable to the partnership, in respect of the eligible activities of the recognized business, is deemed, for the purpose of computing the amount that the corporation may deduct under section 737.18.11 for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership that includes that time ends and for a subsequent taxation year, to end immediately before that time.

However, the first paragraph does not apply if the acquisition of control

(a) occurs before 1 July 2004 and Investissement Québec certifies that it results from a transaction that was sufficiently advanced on 11 June 2003 and was binding on the parties on that date;

(b) is by a corporation carrying on at that time a recognized business, by a person or group of persons that controls such a corporation, or by a group of persons each member of which is such a corporation or a person who, alone or together with other members of the group, controls such a corporation;

(c) derives from the exercise after 11 June 2003 of one or more rights described in paragraph b of section 20 that were acquired before 12 June 2003; or

(d) derives from the performance after 11 June 2003 of one or more obligations described in the third paragraph of section 21.3.5 that were contracted before 12 June 2003.

2004, c. 21, s. 141; 2005, c. 23, s. 83; 2006, c. 13, s. 53.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTIONS

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

737.18.10. Subject to the third paragraph, an individual who, for all or part of a taxation year, is a foreign specialist who holds employment with an eligible employer, may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, an amount not greater than the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to that employment that is included in the year.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) if the individual is a member of a partnership in a taxation year, the individual's share of the income or loss of the partnership for a fiscal period that ended in the year must be considered to be earned or sustained during the part of the year referred to in that paragraph if the fiscal period ends in that part of the year, and to be earned or sustained during another part of the year if the fiscal period ends in that other part of the year; and

(b) if the individual includes an amount in computing the individual's income for a taxation year under section 313.11, the amount must be considered to be income earned by the individual on the last day of that year.

An individual may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year only if the individual encloses, with the fiscal return the individual is required to file under section 1000 for the year, a copy of the certificate that

(a) was issued to the eligible employer for the year in respect of the individual; and

(b) certifies that the individual is recognized as a specialist for all or part of the year;

(c) (subparagraph repealed).

2000, c. 39, s. 49; 2004, c. 21, s. 142; 2009, c. 5, s. 252; 2012, c. 8, s. 75.

737.18.10.1. Where, at a particular time included in an individual's exemption period in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer, the individual, who was a foreign specialist for all or part of the taxation year that includes the particular time, acquired a right to a security under an agreement referred to in section 48 and, at a later time after the expiration of the exemption period, the individual is deemed to receive a benefit in a particular taxation year by reason of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of the security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire the security under the agreement, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of the first paragraph of section 737.18.10, the individual is deemed, for a part of the particular taxation year that includes the later time, to be a foreign specialist who holds that employment with the eligible employer;

(b) for the purposes of the first paragraph of section 737.18.10 and paragraphs a and b of section 737.18.13 in respect of the amount of the benefit included by the individual in computing the individual's income for the particular taxation year, the later time is deemed to be an exemption period of the individual in relation to that employment;

(c) the third paragraph of section 737.18.10 shall be read with "for the year" in subparagraph a replaced by "for the taxation year that includes the particular time referred to in the portion of section 737.18.10.1 before paragraph a" and without reference to subparagraph b thereof; and

(d) paragraph a of section 737.18.13 is to be read as if "in respect of a security, or the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48" were replaced by "either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement".

2002, c. 40, s. 59; 2004, c. 21, s. 143; 2021, c. 14, s. 71.

737.18.11. Subject to the second paragraph, a corporation that, in a taxation year, carries on a recognized business or is a member of a partnership that, in a fiscal period of the partnership ending in that year, carries on a recognized business, may deduct, in computing its taxable income for the year, an amount not exceeding the part of its income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's income for the year from the eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the corporation, by the proportion that the number of days in the year that are within the base period applicable to the corporation in respect of the eligible activities is of the number of days in the year during which the corporation carries on the eligible activities, or

ii. the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's share of the partnership's income for the fiscal period from the eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the partnership, by the proportion that the number of days in the fiscal period that are within the base period applicable to the partnership in respect of the eligible activities is of the number of days in the fiscal period during which the partnership carries on the eligible activities; exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

i. the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's loss for the year from the eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the corporation, by the proportion that the number of days in the year that are within the base period applicable to the corporation in respect of the eligible activities is of the number of days in the year during which the corporation carries on the eligible activities, or

ii. the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's share of the partnership's loss for the fiscal period from the eligible activities of a recognized business carried on by the partnership, by the proportion that the number of days in the fiscal period that are within the base period applicable to the partnership in respect of the eligible activities is of the number of days in the fiscal period during which the partnership carries on the eligible activities.

A corporation may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing its taxable income for a taxation year only if it encloses, with its fiscal return it is required to file under section 1000 for the year, the prescribed form containing the prescribed information and, in relation to each recognized business carried on by the corporation or the partnership, a copy of the certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the recognized business.

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

CHAPTER III

INCLUSION

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

737.18.12. A corporation that, in a taxation year, carries on a recognized business or is a member of a partnership that, in a fiscal period of the partnership ending in that year, carries on a recognized business, shall include, in computing its taxable income for the year, an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount by which the amount determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.11 exceeds the amount determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph a of that paragraph; and

(b) its income for the year, computed as if the amount determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.11 and the amount determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph b of that paragraph were nil.

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

CHAPTER IV

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2000, c. 39, s. 49.

737.18.13. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.18.10 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, the amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, in respect of a security, or the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48 and which the individual has included in computing the individual's income for the year, shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(b) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, the amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under section 49, as a consequence of the application of section 49.2, in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and which the individual has included in computing the individual's income for the year, shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(c) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.4, the amount included by the individual under paragraph b of section 218 in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of a share the individual has received after 22 May 1985 shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(d) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.5, the amount included by the individual under section 888.1 in computing the individual's income for the year shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(e) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725, the amount included by the individual in computing the individual's income for the year, which is an amount described in any of the paragraphs of that section, shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(f) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.1.2, the amount included by the individual in computing the individual's income for the year, which is an amount described in the second paragraph of that section, shall not include the portion of the amount that is included in the part of the individual's income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be earned in the part of the individual's exemption period in relation to an employment that is included in the year;

(g) where the individual has included in computing the individual's income for the year an amount under sections 487.1 to 487.6 in respect of a benefit received by the individual as a home relocation loan, the individual shall, for the purpose of computing the deduction provided for in section 725.6,

i. subtract, from the amount determined in paragraph a of section 725.6, the portion of that amount that may reasonably be attributed to the part of the year that is included in the individual's exemption period, in relation to an employment,

ii. subtract, from the amount determined in paragraph b of section 725.6, the amount of interest, computed pursuant to that paragraph, for the part of the year that is included in the individual's exemption period, in relation to an employment, and

iii. subtract, from the amount determined in paragraph c of section 725.6, the portion of that amount that may reasonably be considered to have been received in the part of the year that is included in the individual's exemption period, in relation to an employment; and

(h) a capital gain realized during the individual's exemption period, in relation to an employment, or a capital loss, including any allowable business investment loss, for such a period is deemed to be nil for the purposes of Titles VI.5 and VI.5.1.

TITLE VII.2.3.1

DEDUCTION RELATING TO THE CARRYING OUT OF A LARGE INVESTMENT PROJECT

2015, c. 21, s. 260.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL RULES

2015, c. 21, s. 260.

737.18.17.1. In this Title, unless the context indicates otherwise,

"adjusted taxable income" of a corporation for a taxation year means the corporation's adjusted taxable income that is determined for the year in accordance with section 737.18.17.16 or that would be so determined if Title VII.2.3.2 applied to the corporation for the year and section 737.18.17.16 were read as if the necessary modifications were made;

"certificate" for a taxation year of a corporation or a fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, means the certificate that, for the purposes of this Title, is issued by the Minister of Finance, in relation to the large investment project for the corporation's taxation year or the partnership's fiscal period, as the case may be;

"computation method election" applicable to a corporation's taxation year or a partnership's fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means the election that the corporation or partnership makes in relation to the large investment project and to which subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 refers for that year or fiscal period, as the case may be;

"date of the beginning of the tax-free period" in respect of a large investment project of a corporation or a partnership means the date that is specified as such in the first certificate, in relation to the large investment project, or in the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, where it acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project and where the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the project to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate;

"date of the end of the start-up period" of a large investment project of a corporation or partnership means the date that is specified as such either in the first certificate in relation to the large investment project or in the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, where it acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project and where the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the project to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate;

"digital platform" is a computer environment that enables content management or use and that, as an intermediary, enables access to information, services or property supplied or edited by the corporation or partnership operating it or by a third party;

"eligible activities" of a corporation or a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, means, subject to section 737.18.17.4, the activities or part of the activities that are carried on by the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, in the course of carrying on its recognized business in relation to the large investment project and that arise from the project, except

(a) where the large investment project concerns the development of a digital platform, activities relating to the sale of property or the supply of services through that platform; or

(b) in the case of a corporation's large investment project, the activities that

i. are carried on under a contract that is an eligible contract for the purposes of Division II.6.0.1.8 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, or

ii. are eligible activities for the purposes of Division II.6.0.1.9 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX;

"large investment project" of a corporation or a partnership means an investment project in respect of which a qualification certificate has been issued to the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, by the Minister of Finance, for the purposes of this Title;

"last day of the tax-free period" in respect of a large investment project means the last day of the 15-year period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

"maximum annual contribution exemption amount" of a corporation or a partnership for a taxation year or fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means the amount determined, for the year or fiscal period, as the case may be, in respect of the large investment project, by the formula in the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3.1 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5);

"maximum annual tax exemption amount" of a corporation for a taxation year, in relation to a large investment project, means the amount determined for the year, in respect of the large investment project, by the formula in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5.1, where the project is the corporation's project, or in subparagraph ii of that subparagraph b, where the project is that of a partnership of which the corporation is a member at the end of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in that year;

"prior loss attributable to eligible activities" of a corporation for a taxation year or of a partnership for a fiscal period means the amount determined by the formula

A - B;

"recognized business" of a corporation or a partnership in relation to a large investment project means a business or part of a business, carried on in Québec by the corporation or partnership, in connection with which the large investment project was carried out or is in the process of being carried out and in respect of which the corporation or partnership keeps separate accounts in respect of its eligible activities, in relation to the project, unless it made a computation method election in relation to the project;

"tax-free period" of a corporation or a partnership, for a taxation year or a fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means, subject to the third paragraph of section 737.18.17.1.1, the part of the taxation year or fiscal period that is both covered by a certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the large investment project and included in the 15-year period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project or, where the corporation or partnership acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project and the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the project to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, in the part of that 15-year period that begins on the date of acquisition of the recognized business;

"total qualified capital investments", at a particular date, of a corporation or a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, means the aggregate of the expenditures of a capital nature incurred by the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, from the beginning of the carrying out of the large investment project until that date, to obtain goods or services with a view to establishing, in Québec, the recognized business of the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, or with a view to increasing or modernizing the production of such a business, except such expenditures that are related to the purchase or use of land or the acquisition of a business already carried on in Québec.

In the formula in the definition of "prior loss attributable to eligible activities" of a corporation for a particular taxation year or of a partnership for a particular fiscal period, in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. in relation to a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, in respect of the corporation, for a taxation year preceding the particular year, by which the amount determined under subparagraph b of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph a of that second paragraph, and

ii. in relation to a partnership, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, in respect of the partnership, for a fiscal period preceding the particular fiscal period, by which the amount determined under subparagraph e of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph d of that second paragraph; and

(b) B is

i. in relation to a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that reduced, because of C in the formula in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, the amount that would have been otherwise deductible by the corporation, under that section, for a taxation year preceding the particular year, and

ii. in relation to a partnership, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that reduced, because of F in the formula in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, the amount of which a portion would have been otherwise deductible by a corporation that is a member of the partnership, under that section, for a taxation year in which a fiscal period preceding the particular fiscal period of the partnership ends.

For the purpose of applying the definition of "total qualified capital investments" in the first paragraph in respect of a corporation or a partnership in relation to a large investment project that concerns the digital transformation of a business of the corporation or partnership, the expenditures of a capital nature referred to in that definition include only those that are incurred either to acquire digital equipment, software or other components of the technological infrastructure or information system or to adapt the business's equipment to the computing solution.

For the purposes of the third paragraph, a large investment project concerns the digital transformation of a business if it consists in developing and implementing a computing solution, by integrating or upgrading an information system or a technology infrastructure, resulting in organizational changes in the business and changes to its operations.

Where a corporation has made a computation method election applicable to a particular taxation year, in relation to a large investment project, such an election is deemed, for the purpose of applying this Title to the corporation for the particular year or a subsequent taxation year, to have been made in relation to all its other large investment projects as well as in relation to those of a partnership of which the corporation is a member; for that purpose, a certificate issued for the year in relation to another large investment project of the corporation, or for the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the year in relation to a large investment project of the partnership, is deemed, for the purpose of applying subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 to that year, to certify that such an election was made by the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be.

In this Title, the tax assistance limit, in relation to a large investment project, is, except for the purposes of section 737.18.17.12, determined in accordance with section 737.18.17.8 where the tax assistance limit is that of a corporation carrying out the project, section 737.18.17.9 where the tax assistance limit is that of a corporation that is a member of a partnership carrying out the project and section 34.1.0.4 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec where the tax assistance limit is that of such a partnership.

737.18.17.1.1. In this Title, two large investment projects that are covered by the same qualification certificate are deemed to be a single large investment project (referred to as a "deemed large investment project"), except as regards the determination, in respect of each project, of the total qualified capital investments of the corporation or partnership carrying out the projects, the date of the beginning of the tax-free period and the last day of the tax-free period.

Such a rule applies throughout the particular period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the large investment project that began first (in this Title referred to as the "first large investment project") and that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the other large investment project (in this Title referred to as the "second large investment project").

The definition of "tax-free period" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 is, in relation to a deemed large investment project, to be read as follows:

""tax-free period" of a corporation or a partnership, for a taxation year or a fiscal period, in relation to a deemed large investment project, means the part of the taxation year or fiscal period that is both covered by a certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the large investment project and included in the particular period referred to in the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.1.1 or, where the corporation or partnership acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project and the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the project to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, in the part of that particular period that begins on the date of acquisition of the recognized business.

737.18.17.2. For the purposes of this Title, to determine the income or loss of a corporation for a taxation year, or of a partnership for a fiscal period, from its eligible activities in relation to a large investment project, the income or loss is to be computed as if

(a) the eligible activities were the carrying on of a separate business; and

(b) the corporation or partnership were deducting in computing its income for the taxation year or fiscal period and had deducted in computing its income for any preceding taxation year or fiscal period, in relation to the separate business, the maximum amount in respect of any reserve, allowance or other amount.

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, the undepreciated capital cost, on the date described in the third paragraph for the corporation or partnership, in respect of the large investment project, of depreciable property of a prescribed class in relation to the separate business referred to in subparagraph a of the first paragraph, is deemed to include the amount that is the amount by which the total depreciation, within the meaning of paragraph b of section 93, allowed to the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, before that date, in respect of property of that class, exceeds the aggregate of 102 all amounts each of which is an amount that the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, included, under section 94, in respect of property of that class, in computing its income for a taxation year or fiscal period that ended before that date.

The date to which the second paragraph refers is the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the large investment project or, in the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, of the first large investment project, unless the corporation or partnership acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the large investment project and the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the project to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, in which case it is the date of acquisition of the recognized business.

Where a large investment project concerns the development of a digital platform, the income or loss of a corporation or partnership in relation to the project determined in accordance with the first paragraph is only to take into account the income reasonably attributable to the use of the digital platform, which includes the fees and royalties charged by the corporation or partnership for the use of that platform, the part of the subscription fees to that platform that can reasonably be considered to have been paid for its use, except for any part of the fees paid as consideration for services received or property acquired, the amounts paid by a third party to use it as a gateway to the third party's own website, or any other similar amount.

The income or loss of a corporation or partnership from its eligible activities in relation to a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, for a taxation year or fiscal period that ends after the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project (in this section referred to as the "particular day") is deemed to be equal to

(a) where the taxation year or fiscal period includes the particular day, the amount determined by the formula

$$A - \{A \times [B/(B + C)] \times D\}; \text{ or}$$

(b) in any other case, the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times [C/(B + C)].$$

In the formulas in the fifth paragraph,

(a) A is the income or loss of the corporation for the taxation year, or of the partnership for the fiscal period, from its eligible activities in relation to the deemed large investment project, otherwise determined;

(b) B is the total qualified capital investments of the corporation or partnership, in relation to the first large investment project, on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

(c) C is the total qualified capital investments of the corporation or partnership, in relation to the second large investment project, on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project; and

(d) D is the proportion that the number of days in the taxation year or fiscal period that follow the particular day is of the number of days in that taxation year or fiscal period.

2015, c. 21, s. 260; 2019, c. 14, s. 199.

737.18.17.3. Where, at any time, a corporation or a partnership (in this section referred to as the "acquirer") acquired all or substantially all of a recognized business from another corporation or partnership (in this section referred to as the "vendor"), in relation to a large investment project, and the Minister of Finance previously authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the large investment project to the acquirer, according to a qualification certificate issued by that Minister to the acquirer in respect of the project,

(a) the following rules must, if applicable, be taken into consideration for the purposes of this Title:

i. where subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the acquirer or to a corporation that is a member of the acquirer and where the prior loss attributable to eligible activities of the acquirer for a taxation year or fiscal period that ends after that time is to be computed, there shall be added to the amount otherwise represented by A in the formula in the definition of "prior loss attributable to eligible activities" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1, unless it is otherwise included in that amount, the portion that is reasonably attributable to the recognized business of the amount by which the aggregate of the following amounts exceeds the amount represented by C or F in the formula in subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, in respect of the vendor for that taxation year or fiscal period:

(1) the amount, in respect of the vendor for the taxation year or fiscal period, by which the amount determined under subparagraph b or e of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph a or d of that second paragraph, and

(2) the prior loss attributable to eligible activities of the vendor for that taxation year or fiscal period, and

ii. where subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the vendor or to a corporation that is a member of the vendor and where the prior loss attributable to eligible activities of the vendor for a taxation year or fiscal period that ends after that time is to be computed, there shall be added to the amount otherwise represented by B in the formula in the definition of "prior loss attributable to eligible activities" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 the portion of the excess amount determined under subparagraph i, in respect of the acquirer for such a taxation year or fiscal period, or that would be determined under that subparagraph i if it applied to the acquirer;

(b) the following rules must, if applicable, be taken into consideration when determining, for the purposes of subparagraphs a and b or d and e of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, the amount referred to in those subparagraphs in relation to the large investment project:

i. where subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the vendor or to a corporation that is a member of the vendor, the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes that time is deemed to end immediately before that time, and

ii. where subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the acquirer or to a corporation that is a member of the acquirer, the acquirer's taxation year or fiscal period that includes that time is deemed to begin at that time; and

(c) the following rules must, if applicable, be taken into consideration for the purposes of subparagraphs b and c of the third paragraph of section 737.18.17.5.1:

i. where subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the vendor or to a corporation that is a member of the vendor,

(1) the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the day on which that time occurs is deemed to end at the end of that day, and

(2) the last day of the vendor's tax-free period, in respect of the large investment project, is deemed to correspond to the day that includes that time, and

ii. where subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies to the acquirer or to a corporation that is a member of the acquirer, the acquirer's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the day on which that time occurs is deemed to begin at the beginning of that day.

737.18.17.4. If, at a particular time, the activities carried on in Québec by a person or a partnership in relation to a business diminish or cease and it may reasonably be considered that, as a result, a corporation or another partnership begins, after the particular time, to carry on similar activities in the course of carrying on a recognized business, in relation to a large investment project, or increases the scope of similar activities carried on in the course of carrying on such a business, those activities or portions of activities, as the case may be, are, subject to section 737.18.17.3, deemed not to be eligible activities of the corporation or of the other partnership carried on in the course of carrying on the recognized business.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2015, c. 21, s. 260.

737.18.17.5. A corporation that, in a taxation year, carries on a recognized business in relation to a large investment project or is a member of a partnership that carries on such a recognized business in the partnership's fiscal period ending in that year may, subject to the third paragraph, deduct in computing its taxable income for the year, if a certificate has been issued for the year or fiscal period in relation to the large investment project, an amount not exceeding the portion of its income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be equal, as the case may be,

(a) where subparagraph b does not apply, to the lesser of the amount determined in accordance with section 737.18.17.6, in respect of the corporation for the year, and the aggregate of

i. the amount determined by the formula

(A – B) – C, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the amount determined, in respect of such a partnership of which the corporation is a member, by the formula

(D – E) – F; or

(b) if the certificate certifies that the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, has elected to use the alternate computation method provided for in section 737.18.17.5.1, to the lesser of the amount determined in respect of the corporation for the year in accordance with that section and of its adjusted taxable income for that year.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's income for the taxation year from its eligible activities, in relation to a large investment project, by the proportion that the number of days in the corporation's tax-free period for the year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the number of days in the year;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the corporation's loss for the taxation year from its eligible activities, in relation to a large investment project, by the proportion that the number of days in the corporation's tax-free period for the year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the number of days in the year;

(c) C is the prior loss attributable to eligible activities of the corporation for the year;

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the partnership's income for the fiscal period from its eligible activities, in relation to a large investment project, by the proportion that the number of days in the partnership's tax-free period for the fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, is of the number of days in the fiscal period;

(e) E is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the partnership's loss for the fiscal period from its eligible activities, in relation to a large investment project, by the proportion that the number of days in the partnership's tax-free period for the fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, is of the number of days in the fiscal period; and

(f) F is the prior loss attributable to eligible activities of the partnership for the fiscal period.

A corporation may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing its taxable income for a taxation year only if it encloses, with the fiscal return it is required to file under section 1000 for the year,

(a) the prescribed form containing prescribed information; and

(b) in relation to each large investment project referred to in the first paragraph of the corporation or of a partnership of which the corporation is a member,

i. the financial statements relating to the eligible activities of the corporation or partnership, in relation to the large investment project, for the taxation year or fiscal period, as the case may be, unless it made a computation method election in relation to the project,

ii. a copy of the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the large investment project,

iii. a copy of the certificate issued for the corporation's taxation year or the partnership's fiscal period, as the case may be, in relation to the large investment project,

iv. where the large investment project is a project of the partnership, a copy of each agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10 or 737.18.17.10.1 in respect of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the taxation year or in a preceding taxation year, in relation to the project, unless it has already been filed, and

v. where the corporation or partnership acquired or sold all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the large investment project, a copy of the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 in respect of the transfer, unless it has already been filed.

If a particular corporation that carries out one or more large investment projects has not made a computation method election in respect of any of those projects, a partnership of which it is a member is deemed, for the purpose of applying this section and section 737.18.17.1 to a taxation year of the corporation, not to have made a computation method election in respect of any of its large investment projects and, for that purpose, the certificate issued to the partnership for its fiscal period that ends in the year, in relation to a large investment project, is deemed, for the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph, not to certify that the partnership has elected to use the alternate computation method.

For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph, the corporation's share of an amount, for a fiscal period of a partnership, is equal to the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

737.18.17.5.1. The amount to which subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 refers, in respect of a corporation for a particular taxation year, is equal to the aggregate of the following amounts that is multiplied, where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec, by the reciprocal of the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771:

(a) 100/11.5 of the lesser of the corporation's maximum tax holiday amount for the particular year in respect of one or more large investment projects of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that are referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 and the amount determined in its respect for the year under the fourth paragraph; and

(b) 100/3.2 of the amount by which the corporation's maximum tax holiday amount for the particular year in respect of one or more large investment projects of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that are referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the amount determined in its respect for the year under the fourth paragraph.

For the purposes of this section, a corporation's maximum tax holiday amount for a particular taxation year in respect of one or more large investment projects of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, is equal to the lesser of

(a) the tax that would be determined, in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in accordance with subsection 1 of section 771, if its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, or, where the corporation has an establishment outside Québec, the result obtained by multiplying that tax by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for the particular year, in relation to any of those large investment projects,

i. in the case of a large investment project of the corporation, the amount determined by the formula

$(A \times B/C) - D$, or

ii. in the case of a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the amount determined by the formula

$[(A \times B/C) + E] - D$.

In the formulas in the second paragraph,

(a) A is

i. where the large investment project is the corporation's project, the unused portion of the corporation's tax assistance limit for the particular year, in relation to the project, that is determined under the fifth paragraph, or

ii. where the large investment project is that of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the total of

(1) the amount that would be the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the large investment project, determined in accordance with subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 737.18.17.6, for its first taxation year in which a fiscal period of the partnership in respect of which the computation method election in relation to the project applies ends, if the partnership had not made that election, and

(2) if the computation method election applicable to the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the particular year is deemed to have been made by the partnership under the fifth paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 and the particular year is not the year referred to in subparagraph 1, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the amount that was allocated to the corporation for the particular year, or for a preceding taxation year (other than the year referred to in subparagraph 1) in which a fiscal period of the partnership to which the computation method election applies ends, pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10, in relation to the large investment project, in respect of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in that year, or zero if, in respect of that fiscal period, no such agreement has been entered into in relation to the project;

(b) B is the number of days in the period that begins on the first day of the corporation's first taxation year, or of the partnership's first fiscal period, to which the computation method election applies, in relation to the large investment project, or, if it is later, on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project, and that ends on the earlier of

i. the last day of the particular taxation year or of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the particular year, or

ii. the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the large investment project;

(c) C is the number of days in the period that begins on the first day of the corporation's first taxation year, or of the partnership's first fiscal period, to which the computation method election applies, in relation to the large investment project, or, if it is later, on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project, and that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

(d) D is the cumulative value of the corporation's tax assistance for the particular taxation year, in respect of the large investment project, that is determined under the sixth paragraph; and

(e) E is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the amount that was allocated to the corporation, for the particular year or a preceding taxation year, pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10.1, in relation to the partnership's large investment project, in respect of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in that year, or zero if, in respect of that fiscal period, no such agreement has been entered into in relation to the project.

The amount to which subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph refer for a particular taxation year is equal to

(a) the amount by which the tax that would be determined, in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in accordance with subsection 1 of section 771, if its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, exceeds 3.2% of the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the particular year under section 771.2.1.2 if, for the purposes of paragraph b of that section, its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5; or

(b) where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec for the particular year, the product obtained by multiplying the excess amount determined under subparagraph a by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for that year.

The unused portion of a corporation's tax assistance limit for a particular taxation year, in relation to a large investment project, is, subject to the eighth paragraph, either the amount (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular amount") that would be the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit in respect of the large investment project, determined in accordance with subparagraph a of the third paragraph of section 737.18.17.6, for its first taxation year to which the computation method election in relation to the project applies (in this paragraph referred to as the "first taxation year"), if the corporation had not made such an election and subparagraph ii of that subparagraph a were read without reference to "the particular taxation year or", or, in the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, where the first taxation year is not later than the taxation year that includes the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project and where the particular year is not that first year and is referred to in subparagraph a or b, whichever of the following amounts is applicable:

(a) where the particular year begins before the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project and ends on that date or later, the total of the particular amount and the amount determined by the formula

F × G; or

(b) where the particular year begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project or later, the total of the particular amount and the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to that second large project.

The cumulative value of a corporation's tax assistance, for a particular taxation year, in respect of a large investment project, is equal to

(a) in the case of a large investment project of the corporation, the aggregate of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of the large investment project, for a preceding taxation year to which the computation method election in relation to the project applies, equal to the amount determined by the formula

H × I × J,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of the large investment project, for the particular year or a preceding taxation year to which the computation method election in relation to the project applies, equal to the amount determined by the formula

iii. where, at any time in the particular taxation year, the corporation transfers its recognized business in relation to the large investment project to another corporation or a partnership, the amount that was transferred to the other corporation or the partnership pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 in respect of the transfer, and

iv. in the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, either of the following amounts, if any:

(1) where the particular taxation year includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project and ends after that day, the amount determined by the formula

M – [(M × N) + (F × O)], or

(2) where the particular taxation year is subsequent to the year that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project, the amount determined by the formula

M – F; or

(b) in the case of a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of the project, for a preceding taxation year to which the computation method election applies, equal to the amount determined by the formula

H × I × J.

In the formulas in the fifth and sixth paragraphs,

(a) F is the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project;

(b) G is the proportion that the number of days in the part of the particular year that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project is of the number of days in that year;

(c) H is 1, unless the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec for the preceding taxation year, in which case it is the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for the preceding year;

(d) I is the aggregate of

i. 3.2% of the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the preceding taxation year under section 771.2.1.2 if, for the purposes of paragraph b of that section, its taxable income for the preceding year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, exceeds the amount that is determined in its respect for that year under section 771.2.1.2, and

ii. 11.5% of the amount by which the amount deducted by the corporation in computing its taxable income for the preceding year under section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(e) J is the proportion that the corporation's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to a large investment project of the corporation or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 for that year;

(f) K is the aggregate of the amounts that are not payable by the corporation for the taxation year under subparagraph ii of subparagraph d.1 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5);

(g) L is the proportion that the corporation's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the year, in relation to a large investment project of the corporation that is referred to in subparagraph d.1 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec for that year;

(h) M is

i. where the particular taxation year is referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the sixth paragraph, the amount by which the unused portion of the corporation's tax assistance limit, in relation to the deemed large investment project, for the particular year, exceeds the cumulative value of the corporation's tax assistance for that year in respect of the project, determined without reference to that subparagraph 1, or

ii. where the particular taxation year is referred to in subparagraph 2 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the sixth paragraph, the amount by which the unused portion of the corporation's tax assistance limit, in relation to the deemed large investment project, for the first taxation year that follows the year that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project, exceeds the cumulative value of the corporation's tax assistance for that first year in respect of the project, determined without reference to that subparagraph 2;

(i) N is the proportion that the number of days in the part of the particular year that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that year; and

(j) O is the proportion that the number of days in the particular year that follow the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that year.

Where the first taxation year to which the computation method election applies, in relation to a large investment project of a corporation, ends before the date of the end of the start-up period of the large investment project, the unused portion of the corporation's tax assistance limit, in relation to the project, must be increased, for a particular taxation year that is subsequent to that first year, by the amount that is the product obtained by multiplying by 15% the amount that would be the corporation's total qualified capital investments on the date of the end of the start-up period or, if it is earlier, the date of the end of the particular year, if the definition of "total qualified capital investments" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 were read as if "from the beginning of the carrying out of the large investment project" were replaced by "from the time that immediately follows the end of the corporation's first taxation year to which the computation method election applies".

For the purpose of applying subparagraphs b and c of the third paragraph to a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, the following rules must be taken into consideration:

(a) the date of the beginning of the tax-free period that is referred to in those subparagraphs is the date that is determined in respect of the first large investment project; and

(b) the last day of the tax-free period that is referred to in those subparagraphs is the day that is determined in respect of the second large investment project, unless the particular year precedes the year for which a first certificate has been issued in relation to the project, in which case it is the day that is determined in respect of the first large investment project.

2024, c. 11, s. 64.

737.18.17.6. The amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 refers in respect of a corporation for a taxation year is equal, subject to paragraph a of section 737.18.17.7 or 737.18.17.7.1, as the case may be, to the aggregate of the following amounts that is multiplied, if the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec, by the reciprocal of the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771:

(a) the product obtained by multiplying the proportion that is the reciprocal of the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 by the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's tax exemption amount for the year in respect of a large investment project of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, and

ii. the amount that is determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the fifth paragraph, or, where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec, the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771; and

(b) the product obtained by multiplying the proportion that is the reciprocal of the rate determined in respect of the corporation for the year in accordance with the sixth paragraph by the amount by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's tax exemption amount for the year in respect of a large investment project of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 exceeds

i. the amount that is determined in its respect for the year under subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the fifth paragraph, or

ii. where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec, the product obtained by multiplying the amount described in subparagraph i by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771.

For the purposes of this section, a corporation's tax exemption amount for a taxation year in respect of a large investment project of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, is equal to the lesser of the amount that is determined under the fourth paragraph, for the year, in relation to the large investment project and the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit for the year in respect of the project.

The balance of a corporation's tax assistance limit, for a particular taxation year, in respect of a large investment project, is equal to

(a) in the case of a large investment project of the corporation, the amount by which the corporation's tax assistance limit for the particular year, in relation to the project, exceeds the aggregate of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B \times C,$$

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's contribution exemption amount, for the particular taxation year or a preceding taxation year, in respect of the large investment project, determined in accordance with the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5),

iii. where, at any time in the particular taxation year, the corporation transfers its recognized business in relation to the large investment project to another corporation or a partnership, the amount that was transferred to the other corporation or the partnership pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 in respect of the transfer; and

iv. in the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, the aggregate of the following amounts, if any:

(1) the amount determined by the following formula for the taxation year that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project and ends after that day, unless the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit for that year, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to this subparagraph, is less than or equal to the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project:

F – [(F × H) + (G × I)], and

(2) the amount determined by the following formula for the taxation year that follows the taxation year that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project, unless the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit for that year, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to this subparagraph, is less than or equal to the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project:

F – G; or

(b) in the case of a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the amount by which the corporation's tax assistance limit for the particular year, in relation to the large investment project, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

A × B × C.

The amount to which the second paragraph refers, for a taxation year of the corporation, in relation to a large investment project, is determined by the formula

In the formulas in the third and fourth paragraphs,

(a) A is 1, unless the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec for the taxation year, in which case it is the proportion that the corporation's business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for the year;

(b) B is, subject to paragraph b of sections 737.18.17.7 and 737.18.17.7.1, the aggregate of

i. the product obtained by multiplying the rate determined in respect of the corporation for the year in accordance with the sixth paragraph by the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under section 771.2.1.2 if no reference were made to section 771.2.5.1 and if, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 771.2.1.2, its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, exceeds the amount determined in its respect for the year under section 771.2.1.2, and

ii. the product obtained by multiplying the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 by the amount by which the amount that is deducted by the corporation in computing its taxable income for the year under section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(c) C is the proportion that the corporation's tax exemption amount for the year in respect of the large investment project is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's tax exemption amount for the year in respect of a large investment project of the corporation, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 for the year;

(d) D is, subject to paragraph b of sections 737.18.17.7 and 737.18.17.7.1, the aggregate of

i. the product obtained by multiplying the rate determined in respect of the corporation for the year in accordance with the sixth paragraph by the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the year under section 771.2.1.2 if no reference were made to section 771.2.5.1 and if, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 771.2.1.2, its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, exceeds the amount that would be determined in its respect for the year under section 771.2.1.2 if the corporation were to deduct, in computing its taxable income, the amount that, but for this section, would be determined under section 737.18.17.5, and

ii. the product obtained by multiplying the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 by the amount by which the amount that could be deducted in computing the corporation's taxable income for the year under section 737.18.17.5 if no reference were made to this section exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(e) E is

i. in the case of a large investment project of the corporation, the proportion that the amount that A would be in the formula in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, for the taxation year, in respect of the corporation, if the corporation's income referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of that section were derived only from its eligible activities, in relation to the large investment project, is of the total of the amount that A is for the year, in respect of the corporation, and the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the amount that D is in the formula in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of that first paragraph for the fiscal period of a partnership of which the corporation is a member that ends in the year, or

ii. in the case of a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the proportion that the corporation's share of the amount that D would be in the formula in subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5, for the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the taxation year, if the partnership's income referred to in subparagraph d of the second paragraph of that section were derived only from its eligible activities, in relation to the large investment project, is of the total of the amount that A is in the formula in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of that first paragraph for the year, in respect of the corporation, and the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the amount that D is for the fiscal period of a partnership of which the corporation is a member that ends in the year;

(f) F is the balance of the corporation's tax assistance limit for the taxation year referred to in subparagraph 1 or 2 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the third paragraph, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to that subparagraph 1 or 2, as the case may be;

(g) G is the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project;

(h) H is the proportion that the number of days in the part of the year referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the third paragraph that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that year; and

(i) I is the proportion that the number of days in the year referred to in subparagraph 1 of subparagraph iv of subparagraph a of the third paragraph that follow the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that year.

The rate to which subparagraph b of the first paragraph and subparagraph i of subparagraphs b and d of the fifth paragraph refer in respect of a corporation for a taxation year is equal to the amount by which the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 exceeds the percentage determined for the year in its respect under subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 771.0.2.4.

For the purpose of determining the amount referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the third paragraph or in subparagraph b of that paragraph for any preceding taxation year for which section 733.0.5.1 applies to the corporation, subparagraph b of the fifth paragraph is to be read as if

(a) the amount that is deducted by the corporation in computing its taxable income for the year under section 737.18.17.5 were increased by the amount by which its non-capital loss for the year exceeds the amount that would be that loss if it were determined without reference to section 733.0.5.1; and

(b) the corporation's taxable income for the year, determined without reference to section 737.18.17.5, were equal to the amount that, but for this section, would be determined in its respect for the year under section 737.18.17.5.

For the purposes of subparagraph e of the fifth paragraph, the corporation's share of an amount for a partnership's fiscal period is equal to the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

737.18.17.7. Where the corporation described in section 737.18.17.5 for a taxation year is a manufacturing corporation, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 771.1, to which paragraph d.3 of subsection 1 of section 771 applies for the year, section 737.18.17.6, as it reads in its application to a taxation year that begins before 1 January 2017, is to be read

(a) as if "100/8 of" in subparagraph b of the first paragraph were replaced by "the product obtained by multiplying the proportion that is the reciprocal of the difference between the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 and the percentage determined for the year in its respect under section 771.0.2.5 by"; and

(b) as if "8% of" in subparagraph i of subparagraphs b and d of the fifth paragraph were replaced by "the product obtained by multiplying the difference between the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 and the percentage determined for the year in its respect under section 771.0.2.5 by".

737.18.17.7.1. Where the corporation described in section 737.18.17.5 for a taxation year is a primary and manufacturing sectors corporation, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 771.1, to which paragraph d.4 of subsection 1 of section 771 applies for the year, section 737.18.17.6 is to be read as if "subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 771.0.2.4" in the sixth paragraph were replaced by "section 771.0.2.6".

2017, c. 1, s. 184; 2019, c. 14, s. 202.

737.18.17.8. Subject to the second, fourth and fifth paragraphs, a corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to a large investment project is 15% of its total qualified capital investments on the date of the end of the start-up period of the large investment project, unless the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project, in which case it is the amount that was transferred to the corporation pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 in respect of the acquisition.

In the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the project is, for a particular taxation year,

(a) where the particular year ends before the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project, the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project;

(b) where the particular year begins before the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project and ends on or after that date, the amount determined by the formula

$A + (B \times C)$; or

(c) where the particular year begins on or after the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project, the amount determined by the formula

$A + B$.

In the formulas in the second paragraph,

(a) A is the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project;

(b) B is the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project; and

(c) C is the proportion that the number of days in the part of the particular year that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project is of the number of days in that year.

Where the corporation has begun to carry on the recognized business in relation to the large investment project in a taxation year that ends before the date of the end of the start-up period of the project, the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the project, for any taxation year that ends before that date, is to be computed, under the first paragraph, on the date on which that year ends.

Where the corporation has acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the large investment project before the date of the end of the start-up period of the project, the corporation's tax assistance limit in relation to the project, for any taxation year that ends on or after that date, is to be increased by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying by 15% the amount that would be the corporation's total qualified capital investments on the date of the end of the start-up period if the definition of "total qualified capital investments" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 were read as if "from the beginning of the carrying out of the large investment project" were replaced by "from the time the corporation or partnership acquired the recognized business in relation to the large investment project".

2015, c. 21, s. 260; 2019, c. 14, s. 203; 2021, c. 36, s. 75.

737.18.17.9. A corporation's tax assistance limit, in relation to a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, for a particular taxation year in which a fiscal period of the partnership ends is

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount allocated to the corporation, for the particular year or for a preceding taxation year, pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10 in respect of the fiscal period of the partnership that ends in that year, in relation to the large investment project; or

(b) zero, if in respect of any fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the particular taxation year or in a preceding taxation year, no such agreement has been entered into in relation to the large investment project.

Where the presumption provided for in the fourth paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 applies in respect of the partnership for a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the particular taxation year or in a preceding taxation year, the amount that was allocated to the corporation for that year, pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10.1 in respect of that fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, is deemed, for the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph, to have been allocated in accordance with section 737.18.17.10.

737.18.17.10. The agreement to which the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.9 refers in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project of the partnership, is the agreement under which the partnership and all its members agree on an amount in respect of the partnership's tax assistance limit in relation to the large investment project, for the purpose of allocating to each corporation that is a member of the partnership, for the taxation year in which the particular fiscal period ends, its share of the agreed amount, which amount must not be greater than the amount by which the tax assistance limit exceeds the aggregate of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount so agreed on, in respect of a preceding fiscal period of the partnership, in relation to the particular large investment project;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the partnership's contribution exemption amount for a preceding fiscal period, in respect of the large investment project, determined in accordance with the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5);

(c) where, at any time in the particular fiscal period, the partnership transfers its recognized business in relation to the large investment project to a corporation or another partnership, the amount that was transferred to the corporation or the other partnership pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 in respect of the transfer; and

(d) in the case of a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, the aggregate of the following amounts, if any:

i. the amount determined by the following formula for the partnership's fiscal period that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project and ends after that day, unless the excess amount referred to in this paragraph, for that fiscal period, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to this subparagraph, is less than or equal to the partnership's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project:

$A - [(A \times C) + (B \times D)]$, and

ii. the amount determined by the following formula for the partnership's fiscal period that follows the fiscal period that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project, unless the excess amount referred to in this paragraph, for that fiscal period, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to this subparagraph, is less than or equal to the partnership's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project:

A − B.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the excess amount referred to in the first paragraph for the partnership's fiscal period referred to in subparagraph i or ii of subparagraph d of the first paragraph, in respect of the deemed large investment project, determined without reference to that subparagraph i or ii, as the case may be;

(b) B is the partnership's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project;

(c) C is the proportion that the number of days in the part of the fiscal period referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph d of the first paragraph that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that fiscal period; and

(d) D is the proportion that the number of days in the fiscal period referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph d of the first paragraph that follow the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project is of the number of days in that fiscal period.

The share of a corporation that is a member of the partnership of the amount agreed on under an agreement referred to in the first paragraph, in respect of a fiscal period, is the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

2015, c. 21, s. 260; 2019, c. 14, s. 204; 2024, c. 11, s. 67.

737.18.17.10.1. The agreement to which subparagraph e of the third paragraph of section 737.18.17.5.1 refers in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project of the partnership, is the agreement under which the partnership and all its members agree on an amount in respect of the partnership's maximum annual tax assistance amount, for that fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, for the purpose of allocating to each corporation that is a member of the partnership, for its taxation year in which the particular fiscal period ends, its share of the agreed amount, which amount must not be greater than that maximum amount.

A partnership's maximum annual tax assistance amount, for a particular fiscal period of the partnership, in relation to a large investment project, is the amount that would be determined for that fiscal period in respect of the large investment project using the formula in the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3.1 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5), if subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the fifth paragraph of that section were read without reference to "the particular fiscal period or".

The share of a corporation that is a member of the partnership of the amount agreed on pursuant to an agreement referred to in the first paragraph, in respect of a fiscal period, is the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

2024, c. 11, s. 68.

737.18.17.11. Where the amount agreed on, in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10 or 737.18.17.10.1, is greater than the excess amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.10 or the maximum annual tax assistance amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.10.1, the agreed amount is, for the purposes of this Title and section 34.1.0.3 or 34.1.0.3.1 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5), as the case may be, deemed to be equal to that excess amount or maximum amount.

2015, c. 21, s. 260; 2024, c. 11, s. 69.

737.18.17.12. Where, at any time in a particular taxation year or fiscal period, a corporation or a partnership (in this section referred to as the "acquirer") acquired all or substantially all of a recognized business from another corporation or partnership (in this section referred to as the "vendor") in relation to a large investment project, and the Minister of Finance previously authorized the transfer of the carrying out of the large investment project to the acquirer, according to a qualification certificate issued by that Minister to the acquirer in respect of the project, the vendor and the acquirer shall, subject to the third paragraph, enter into an agreement under which an amount in respect of the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the project is transferred to the acquirer, which amount must not be greater than the amount by which the limit, determined in accordance with the second paragraph, exceeds,

(a) where the vendor is a corporation, the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$A \times B \times C$, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the vendor's contribution exemption amount, for a preceding taxation year, in respect of the large investment project, determined in accordance with the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5), or, for a preceding taxation year to which the computation method election in relation to the project applies, the amount determined by the formula

$H \times I$; or

(b) where the vendor is a partnership, the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount agreed on, in respect of a preceding fiscal period of the vendor, in relation to the large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.10 or 737.18.17.10.1 in respect of that fiscal period, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the vendor's contribution exemption amount, for a preceding fiscal period, in respect of the large investment project, determined in accordance with the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.3 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec, or, for a preceding fiscal period to which the computation method election in relation to the project applies, the amount determined by the formula

$H \times I$.

A vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to a large investment project is 15% of its total qualified capital investments on the date of the end of the start-up period of the large investment project or, if it is earlier, on the day that includes the time referred to in the first paragraph, unless the vendor acquired all or substantially all of the recognized business in relation to the project following a previous transfer, in which case it is the amount, subject to the ninth paragraph, that was transferred to the vendor pursuant to the agreement referred to in this section in respect of the acquisition.

Where the recognized business referred to in the first paragraph is operated by the vendor in relation to a deemed large investment project within the meaning of section 737.18.17.1.1, the vendor and the acquirer shall, for the purpose of determining, in accordance with section 737.18.17.8 or section 34.1.0.4 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec, the acquirer's tax assistance limit in relation to the deemed large investment project, agree on one or more of the following amounts in the agreement referred to in the first paragraph:

(a) where the time referred to in the first paragraph is before the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project, an amount in respect of the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project, which amount must not be greater than the amount determined by the formula

D − F;

(b) where the time referred to in the first paragraph is included in the 15-year period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the second large investment project, but is not after the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project, a first amount in respect of the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project, which amount may be equal to zero, and a second amount in respect of the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project, subject to the total of those amounts not being greater than the amount determined by the formula

(D + E) − F; or

(c) in any other case, an amount in respect of the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project, which amount must not be greater than the amount determined by the formula

(D + E) − (F + G).

In the formulas in the first and third paragraphs,

(a) A is 1, unless the vendor has an establishment situated outside Québec for the preceding year, in which case it is the proportion that the vendor's business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for that preceding year;

(b) B is, subject to the seventh and eighth paragraphs, the aggregate of

i. the product obtained by multiplying the rate determined in respect of the corporation for the year in accordance with the sixth paragraph by the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the vendor for the preceding year under section 771.2.1.2 if no reference were made to section 771.2.5.1 and if, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 771.2.1.2, its taxable income for the preceding year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.5, exceeds the amount determined in its respect for the preceding year under section 771.2.1.2, and

ii. the product obtained by multiplying the basic rate determined for the preceding year in respect of the vendor under section 771.0.2.3.1 by the amount by which the amount that the vendor deducts in computing its taxable income for the preceding year under section 737.18.17.5 exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(c) C is

i. where the computation method election in relation to the large investment project does not apply to the preceding year, the proportion that the vendor's tax exemption amount for the preceding year in respect of the project, determined in accordance with the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.6, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the vendor's tax exemption amount for the preceding year, determined in accordance with that second paragraph, in respect of a large investment project of the vendor, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 for that year, or

ii. where the computation method election in relation to the large investment project applies to the preceding year, the proportion that the vendor's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the vendor's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to a large investment project of the vendor, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 for that year;

(d) D is the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project;

(e) E is the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the second large investment project;

(f) F is the amount determined in respect of the deemed large investment project in accordance with subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph for the particular taxation year or fiscal period, as the case may be;

(g) G is the amount by which the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the first large investment project exceeds the amount determined in respect of the deemed large investment project in accordance with subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph for the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the first large investment project;

(h) H is the aggregate of the amounts that are not payable by the vendor, for the preceding taxation year or fiscal period, under subparagraph ii of subparagraph d.1 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec; and

(i) I is the proportion that the vendor's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the preceding taxation year or fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the vendor's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the preceding year or fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project of the vendor that is referred to in subparagraph d.1 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec for that year or fiscal period.

For the purpose of determining the amount referred to in subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph for any preceding taxation year for which section 733.0.5.1 applies to the vendor, subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph is to be read as if

(a) the amount that is deducted by the vendor in computing its taxable income for the preceding year under section 737.18.17.5 were increased by the amount by which its non-capital loss for the preceding year exceeds the amount that would be that loss if it were determined without reference to section 733.0.5.1; and

(b) the vendor's taxable income for the preceding year, determined without reference to section 737.18.17.5, were equal to the amount that, but for section 737.18.17.6, would be determined in its respect for the preceding year under section 737.18.17.5.

The rate to which subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the fourth paragraph refers in respect of a corporation for a taxation year is equal to the amount by which the basic rate determined for the year in respect of the corporation under section 771.0.2.3.1 exceeds the percentage determined for the year in its respect under subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 771.0.2.4.

Where the corporation is a manufacturing corporation, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 771.1, to which paragraph d.3 of subsection 1 of section 771 applies for the preceding taxation year, this section, as it reads in its application to a taxation year that begins before 1 January 2017, is to be read as if "8% of" in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the third paragraph were replaced by "the product obtained by multiplying the difference between the basic rate determined for the preceding year in respect of the vendor under section 771.0.2.3.1 and the percentage determined for the preceding year in its respect under section 771.0.2.5 by

Where the corporation is a primary and manufacturing sectors corporation, within the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 771.1, to which paragraph d.4 of subsection 1 of section 771 applies for the preceding taxation year, the sixth paragraph is to be read as if "subparagraph c of the first paragraph of section 771.0.2.4" were replaced by "section 771.0.2.6".

Where the previous transfer to which the second paragraph refers occurred before the date of the end of the start-up period of the large investment project concerned, the vendor's tax assistance limit in relation to the project is to be increased by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying by 15% the amount that would be its total qualified capital investments on the date of the end of the start-up period or, if it is earlier, on the day that includes the time referred to in the first paragraph, if the definition of "total qualified capital investments" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1 were read as if "from the beginning of the carrying out of the large investment project" were replaced by "from the time the corporation or partnership acquired the recognized business in relation to the large investment project".

737.18.17.13. Where the amount that was transferred to a corporation or a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.12 is greater than the excess amount referred to in the first paragraph of that section, the amount transferred to the corporation or partnership is, for the purposes of this Title and sections 34.1.0.3 and 34.1.0.4 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5), deemed to be equal to the excess amount.

2015, c. 21, s. 260.

TITLE VII.2.3.2

NEW DEDUCTION RELATING TO THE CARRYING OUT OF A LARGE INVESTMENT PROJECT

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL RULES

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.14. In this Title,

"certificate" for a taxation year of a corporation or a fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, means the certificate that, for the purposes of this Title, is issued by the Minister of Finance, in relation to the large investment project, for the corporation's taxation year or the partnership's fiscal period, as the case may be;

"cumulative total eligible expenses" of a corporation at the end of a particular taxation year or of a partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means the lesser of $1,000,000,000 and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B) - (C + D);$$

"date of the beginning of the tax-free period" in respect of a large investment project of a corporation or a partnership means the date that is specified as such in the first certificate, in relation to the large investment project, or in the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, where it acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of the large investment project and where the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of those activities to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate;

"excluded corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation that meets any of the following conditions:

(a) it is exempt from tax for the year under Book VIII;

(b) it would be exempt from tax for the year under section 985, but for section 192; or

(c) more than 25% of its gross revenue for the year derives from activities carried on in one or more excluded sectors of activities;

"excluded expense" of a corporation or a partnership means

(a) an expense incurred with a person with which the corporation or a corporation that is a member of the partnership is not dealing at arm's length;

(b) financing expenses, including borrowing costs; or

(c) the salaries or wages incurred in respect of the employees of the corporation or partnership and the consideration incurred in respect of services rendered to the corporation or partnership, other than salaries, wages or consideration related to the installation of a property;

"excluded partnership" for a fiscal period means a partnership more than 25% of whose gross revenue for the fiscal period derives from activities carried on in one or more excluded sectors of activities;

"excluded sector of activities" means any of the sectors of activities described in section 10.10 of Schedule E to the Act respecting the sectoral parameters of certain fiscal measures (chapter P-5.1);

"investment period" in respect of a large investment project of a corporation or a partnership means the 48-month period that begins on the date that is specified as such in the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in relation to the large investment project;

"large investment project" of a corporation or a partnership means an investment project in respect of which a qualification certificate has been issued to the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, by the Minister of Finance, for the purposes of this Title;

"last day of the tax-free period" in respect of a large investment project means the last day of the 10-year period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

"maximum annual contribution exemption amount" of a corporation or a partnership for a taxation year or fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means the amount determined, for the year or fiscal period, as the case may be, in respect of the large investment project, by the formula in the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.5 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5);

"maximum annual tax exemption amount" of a corporation for a taxation year, in relation to a large investment project, means the amount determined for the year, in respect of the large investment project, by the formula in subparagraph i of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.18, where the project is the corporation's project, or in subparagraph ii of that subparagraph b, where the project is that of a partnership of which the corporation is a member at the end of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in that year;

"qualified corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation (other than an excluded corporation for the year) that, in the year, carries on a business in Québec and has an establishment in Québec;

"qualified partnership" for a fiscal period means a partnership (other than an excluded partnership for the fiscal period) that, in the fiscal period, carries on a business in Québec and has an establishment in Québec;

"qualified property" of a corporation or a partnership, in respect of a large investment project, means a property that

(a) is included in any of the classes of Schedule B to the Regulation respecting the Taxation Act (chapter I-3, r. 1);

(b) is acquired by the corporation or partnership to be used mainly in Québec in the course of carrying out the large investment project;

(c) was not, before its acquisition by the corporation or partnership, used for any purpose or acquired to be used or leased for any purpose whatsoever; and

(d) is not acquired in substitution for a property in respect of which an expense is included in the total eligible expenses in relation to the large investment project;

"tax-free period" of a corporation or a partnership, for a taxation year or a fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project, means the part of the taxation year or fiscal period that is both covered by a certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the large investment project and included in the 10-year period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the project or, where the corporation or partnership acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of the large investment project and the Minister of Finance authorized the transfer of those activities to the corporation or partnership, according to the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership, in relation to the project, in the part of that 10-year period that begins on the date of acquisition;

"territory with high economic vitality" means a municipality mentioned in Schedule I to the Act respecting the Communauté métropolitaine de Montréal (chapter C-37.01) or Schedule A to the Act respecting the Communauté métropolitaine de Québec (chapter C-37.02);

"territory with intermediate economic vitality" means a territory situated in Québec that is neither a territory with high economic vitality nor a territory with low economic vitality;

"territory with low economic vitality" means

(a) one of the following regional county municipalities, subject to the third paragraph:

i. Municipalité régionale de comté d'Antoine-Labelle,

ii. Municipalité régionale de comté d'Avignon,

iii. Municipalité régionale de comté de Bonaventure,

iv. Municipalité régionale de comté de Charlevoix-Est,

v. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Haute-Côte-Nord, vi. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Haute-Gaspésie, vii. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Matanie, viii. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Matapédia, ix. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Mitis,

x. Municipalité régionale de comté de La Vallée-de-la-Gatineau, xi. Municipalité régionale de comté de Maria-Chapdelaine, xii. Municipalité régionale de comté de Maskinongé, xiii. Municipalité régionale de comté de Mékinac, xiv. Municipalité régionale de comté de Papineau, xv. Municipalité régionale de comté de Pontiac,

xvi. Municipalité régionale de comté de Témiscamingue, xvii. Municipalité régionale de comté de Témiscouata, xviii. Municipalité régionale de comté des Appalaches, xix. Municipalité régionale de comté des Basques,

xx. Municipalité régionale de comté des Etchemins, xxi. Municipalité régionale de comté des Sources, xxii. Municipalité régionale de comté du Domaine-du-Roy, xxiii. Municipalité régionale de comté du Golfe-du-Saint-Laurent, or xxiv. Municipalité régionale de comté du Rocher-Percé;

(b) the urban agglomeration of La Tuque, as described in section 8 of the Act respecting the exercise of certain municipal powers in certain urban agglomerations (chapter E-20.001); or

(c) Ville de Shawinigan;

"total eligible expenses" at a particular time, of a corporation or a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, means the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an expense (other than an excluded expense) incurred by the corporation or partnership before that time for the acquisition, in the investment period in respect of the large investment project, of a qualified property in respect of the project, to the extent that the expense is included in the capital cost of the property for a taxation year or a fiscal period, as the case may be, that ends at or before that time and to the extent that it is paid at or before that time.

In the formula in the definition of "cumulative total eligible expenses" in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the total eligible expenses of the corporation or partnership at the end of the particular taxation year or particular fiscal period, as the case may be, in relation to the large investment project;

(b) B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is government assistance or non-government assistance, within the meaning assigned to those expressions by the first paragraph of section 1029.6.0.0.1, that, because of D in the formula, reduced the cumulative total eligible expenses of the corporation for a preceding taxation year or of the partnership for a preceding fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, and that is repaid, pursuant to a legal obligation, at or before the end of the particular taxation year or particular fiscal period, as the case may be;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the greater of the consideration received following the disposition of a qualified property, in respect of the large investment project, before the end of the 730-day period that follows the beginning of its use by the corporation or partnership and of the fair market value of the qualified property at the time of the disposition, unless the disposition results from the loss of the property, of the involuntary destruction of the property by fire, theft or water, or of a major breakdown of the property; and

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is government assistance or non-government assistance, within the meaning assigned to those expressions by the first paragraph of section 1029.6.0.0.1, that the corporation or partnership has received, is entitled to receive or may reasonably expect to receive and that is attributable to an expense included in the total eligible expenses referred to in subparagraph a.

Where this Title applies in respect of the tax-free period of a corporation or a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, that begins, as the case may be,

(a) before 1 April 2023, paragraph a of the definition of "territory with low economic vitality" in the first paragraph is to be read without reference to subparagraphs xvi and xviii; or

(b) before 1 July 2025, paragraph a of the definition of "territory with low economic vitality" in the first paragraph is to be read as if

i. the following subparagraph were inserted after subparagraph i:

"i.1. Municipalité régionale de comté d'Argenteuil,", and

ii. the following subparagraph were inserted after subparagraph xii:

"xii.1. Municipalité régionale de comté de Matawinie,".

For the purposes of subparagraph b of the second paragraph, an amount of assistance is deemed to be repaid at a particular time by a corporation or a partnership, as the case may be, pursuant to a legal obligation, if that amount

(a) reduced, because of D in the formula in the definition of "cumulative total eligible expenses" in the first paragraph, the cumulative total eligible expenses of the corporation for a taxation year or of the partnership for a fiscal period;

(b) was not received by the corporation or partnership; and

(c) ceased at the particular time to be an amount that the corporation or partnership could reasonably expect to receive.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.15. Where, at any time, a corporation or a partnership (in this section referred to as the "acquirer") acquired from another corporation or partnership (in this section referred to as the "vendor") all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of a large investment project and the Minister of Finance previously authorized the transfer of those activities to the acquirer, according to a qualification certificate issued by that Minister to the acquirer in respect of the project, the following rules must be taken into consideration, as the case may be:

(a) for the purposes of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.16, if applicable,

i. where the vendor and the acquirer are corporations, the vendor's non-capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time that is deductible in computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for its taxation year including that time is deemed, according to the proportion provided for in the second paragraph, to be a non-capital loss of the acquirer,

ii. where the vendor is a partnership and the acquirer is a corporation, the non-capital loss that, if throughout its existence the vendor were a corporation whose taxation year corresponded to its fiscal period, would be determined in its respect for a taxation year that ends before that time and would be deductible in computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for its taxation year that includes that time is deemed, according to the proportion provided for in the second paragraph and subject to the third paragraph, to be a non-capital loss of the acquirer, or

iii. the vendor's non-capital loss referred to in subparagraph i or ii is deemed to be reduced, for the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes that time, by the amount determined under subparagraph i or ii, as the case may be, in respect of that loss, for the purpose of computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for a taxation year that ends after that time, where the vendor is a corporation, and for the purpose of applying subparagraph ii in relation to a subsequent transfer of another large investment project of the vendor, where the vendor is a partnership;

(b) for the purposes of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.16, if applicable,

i. where the vendor is a corporation and the acquirer is a partnership, the vendor's non-capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time that is deductible in computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for its taxation year including that time is deemed, according to the proportion provided for in the second paragraph, to be a non-capital loss of the acquirer (in subparagraph iii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.16 referred to as the "deemed non-capital loss"),

ii. where the vendor and the acquirer are partnerships, the non-capital loss that, if throughout its existence the vendor were a corporation whose taxation year corresponded to its fiscal period, would be determined in its respect for a taxation year that ends before that time and would be deductible in computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for its taxation year that includes that time is deemed, according to the proportion provided for in the second paragraph and subject to the third paragraph, to be a non-capital loss of the acquirer (in subparagraph iii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.16 referred to as the "deemed non-capital loss"), or

iii. the vendor's non-capital loss referred to in subparagraph i or ii is deemed to be reduced, for the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes that time, by the amount determined under subparagraph i or ii, as the case may be, in respect of that loss, for the purpose of computing the vendor's adjusted taxable income for a taxation year that ends after that time, where the vendor is a corporation, and for the purpose of applying subparagraph ii in relation to a subsequent transfer of another large investment project of the vendor, where the vendor is a partnership; or

(c) for the purposes of subparagraphs b and c of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.18,

i. the vendor's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the day on which the time occurs is deemed to end at the end of that day,

ii. the vendor's last day of the tax-free period, in relation to the large investment project, is deemed to correspond to the day that includes that time,

iii. the acquirer's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the day on which the time occurs is deemed to begin at the beginning of that day, and

iv. the date of the beginning of the acquirer's tax-free period, in relation to the large investment project, is deemed to correspond to the date of the day that includes that time.

The proportion to which the first paragraph refers is the result obtained by multiplying the proportion that the amount transferred to the acquirer pursuant to the agreement referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.21 is of the excess amount determined under that first paragraph by the proportion that the amount determined under the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.21, in respect of the large investment project the activities of which are transferred (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular amount"), is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the particular amount or the amount that would be determined under that second paragraph in respect of another large investment project of the vendor if it were transferred to the acquirer at the time referred to in the first paragraph, unless the vendor carries out only one large investment project, in which case the latter proportion is equal to 1.

For the purposes of subparagraph ii of subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph, the non-capital loss referred to in that subparagraph ii does not include any portion of the loss that—for a taxation year of a corporation, member of the vendor at the time referred to in the first paragraph, that ends in a fiscal period of the vendor that ends before that time—reduced the corporation's adjusted taxable income.

This section also applies to the transfer of a large investment project, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.1, in relation to which the vendor has made a computation method election within the meaning of that first paragraph.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.16. For the purposes of this Title, the following rules apply:

(a) except where the third paragraph applies, a corporation's adjusted taxable income for a particular taxation year is equal to the amount that would be its taxable income for that year if it were determined without reference to this Title and subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 and if the following rules applied:

i. the adjusted income of a partnership of which the corporation is a member at the end of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the particular year and that holds a certificate, in relation to a large investment project, for the fiscal period is the partnership's income for that fiscal period, and

ii. the corporation's share of the incomes or losses of a partnership of which the corporation is a member at the end of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the particular year but that does not hold such a certificate for that fiscal period is equal to zero,

iii. the corporation's income is computed without taking into account

(1) the amount by which the corporation's taxable capital gains exceed its allowable capital losses,

(2) the amount by which the aggregate of the corporation's incomes that are attributable to a source that is a property exceeds the aggregate of its losses attributable to that source, and

(3) the portion of the aggregate of its losses referred to in subparagraph 2 that reduced the aggregate of the corporation's incomes referred to in that subparagraph, and

iv. the corporation deducts, in computing its income or taxable income for the particular year and for any preceding taxation year, the maximum amount in respect of any reserve, allowance or other amount; and

(b) a partnership's adjusted income for a particular fiscal period is equal to the amount that would be its income for that fiscal period if the following rules applied:

i. the income is computed without taking into account

(1) the amount by which the partnership's taxable capital gains exceed its allowable capital losses,

(2) the amount by which the aggregate of the partnership's incomes that are attributable to a source that is a property exceeds the aggregate of its losses attributable to that source, and

(3) the portion of the aggregate of its losses referred to in subparagraph 2 that reduced the aggregate of the partnership's incomes referred to in that subparagraph,

ii. the income is computed taking into consideration that the partnership deducts, in computing its income for the particular fiscal period or for any preceding fiscal period, the maximum amount in respect of any reserve, allowance or other amount, and

iii. where the partnership is the acquirer referred to in section 737.18.17.15 of a large investment project, Title VII applies for the purpose of determining the amount that is deductible as a deemed non-capital loss of the acquirer, within the meaning of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of that section, in computing the partnership's adjusted income for a fiscal period that ends after the transfer time as if

(1) the partnership were a corporation whose taxation year corresponds to its fiscal period, and

(2) the partnership's adjusted income otherwise determined for any subsequent fiscal period were its adjusted taxable income for that year.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the undepreciated capital cost of depreciable property of a prescribed class to the corporation or partnership, on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of a large investment project of the corporation or partnership that occurs first, is deemed, except to the extent that it may reasonably be considered that the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.2 applied previously in respect of that class, to include the amount that is the amount by which the total depreciation, within the meaning of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 93, allowed to the corporation or partnership, as the case may be, before that date, in respect of the property of that class, exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that the corporation or partnership has included, under section 94, in respect of the property of that class, in computing its income for a taxation year or fiscal period that ended before that date.

Where no qualification certificate has been issued to the corporation by the Minister of Finance in relation to a large investment project at the end of the particular taxation year, but the corporation is a member of a qualified partnership that holds a certificate, in relation to such a project, for its fiscal period that ends in that particular year, the corporation's adjusted taxable income for the particular year is equal to the amount that would be its taxable income for that particular year if the following rules were taken into account:

(a) the taxable income is determined without reference to this Title and subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 and as if the adjusted income of such a partnership for its fiscal period that ends in the particular year were its income for that fiscal period and as if the only incomes and losses of the corporation for the particular year were its share of the incomes and losses of such a partnership for such a fiscal period; and

(b) the taxable income, determined after applying subparagraph a, is reduced for the particular year by the aggregate of all amounts each of which would be a non-capital loss of the corporation for a preceding taxation year that would be deductible in computing its taxable income for the particular year if the only incomes or losses of the corporation for the preceding year were its share of the incomes and losses of such a partnership that are taken into account in computing its income for its fiscal period that ends in that preceding year and if the corporation had deducted, in computing its taxable income for another taxation year preceding the particular year, computed in accordance with this paragraph, the maximum amount deductible in respect of that loss.

For the purpose of applying paragraph f of section 600 in computing the adjusted taxable income of a corporation that is a member of a partnership, the aggregate of all of the partnership's incomes each of which is from a source that is a business, for a fiscal period of the partnership, must, if applicable, be reduced by the deemed non-capital losses referred to in subparagraph iii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph that, for that fiscal period, were deducted from the partnership's adjusted income.

For the purposes of this section, the following rules must be taken into consideration:

(a) a large investment project includes a large investment project in respect of which a computation method election within the meaning of Title VII.2.3.1 has been made; and

(b) the share of a member of a partnership of an amount for a fiscal period is equal to the agreed proportion, in respect of the member for that fiscal period, of that amount.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.17. A qualified corporation that, in a particular taxation year, carries on activities arising from the carrying out of a large investment project or is a member of a qualified partnership that carries on such activities in its fiscal period ending in that year may, subject to the third paragraph, deduct in computing its taxable income for the particular year, if a certificate has been issued for the particular year or the fiscal period in relation to the large investment project, an amount equal to the lesser of the amount by which its adjusted taxable income for the particular year exceeds the amount it deducts in computing its taxable income under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.5 and the aggregate of the following amounts that is multiplied, where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec, by the reciprocal of the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771:

(a) 100/11.5 of the lesser of the amount determined in accordance with the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.18 in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in relation to one or more large investment projects of the corporation or of such a qualified partnership of which it is a member, and the amount determined in its respect for the particular year under the second paragraph; and

(b) 100/3.2 of the amount by which the amount determined in accordance with the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.18 in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in relation to one or more large investment projects of the corporation or of such a qualified partnership of which it is a member, exceeds the amount determined in its respect for the particular year under the second paragraph.

The amount to which subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph refer for a particular taxation year is equal to

(a) the amount by which the tax that would be determined, in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in accordance with subsection 1 of section 771, if its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to this section, exceeds 3.2% of the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the particular year under section 771.2.1.2 if, for the purposes of paragraph b of that section, its taxable income for the year were computed without reference to this section; or

(b) where the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec for the particular year, the product obtained by multiplying the excess amount determined under subparagraph a by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for that year.

A corporation may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing its taxable income for a taxation year only if it encloses, with the fiscal return it is required to file for the year under section 1000,

(a) the prescribed form containing prescribed information; and

(b) in relation to each large investment project referred to in the first paragraph of the corporation or of a partnership of which the corporation is a member,

i. a copy of the qualification certificate issued to the corporation or partnership in respect of the large investment project,

ii. a copy of the certificate issued for the corporation's taxation year or the partnership's fiscal period, as the case may be, in relation to the large investment project,

iii. where the large investment project is such a project of the partnership, a copy of each agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.20 in respect of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in the taxation year or in a preceding taxation year, in relation to the project, unless it has already been filed,

iv. where the corporation or partnership acquired or sold all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of the large investment project, a copy of the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.21 in respect of the transfer, unless it has already been filed, and

v. a copy of the independent auditor's report that the corporation or partnership enclosed with the application for the first certificate relating to the large investment project.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.18. The amount to which subparagraphs a and b of the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.17 refer in respect of a qualified corporation for a particular taxation year, in relation to one or more large investment projects of the corporation or of a qualified partnership of which it is a member, is equal to the lesser of

(a) the tax that would be determined, in respect of the corporation for the particular year, in accordance with subsection 1 of section 771, if its taxable income for the particular year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.17 or, where the corporation has an establishment outside Québec, the result obtained by multiplying that tax by the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for the particular year, in relation to any of those large investment projects,

i. in the case of a large investment project of the corporation, the amount determined by the formula

$(A \times B/C) - D$, or

ii. in the case of a large investment project of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the amount determined by the formula

$E - D$.

In the formulas in subparagraph b of the second paragraph,

(a) A is either the product obtained by multiplying by the rate provided for in section 737.18.17.19, in respect of the large investment project, the corporation's cumulative total eligible expenses in relation to the project at the end of the particular year or, where the corporation acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of the project, subject to the fourth paragraph, the amount that was transferred to the corporation pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.21 in respect of the transfer;

(b) B is the number of days in the period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the large investment project and that ends on the last day of the particular taxation year or, if it is earlier, the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

(c) C is the number of days in the period that begins on the date of the beginning of the tax-free period in respect of the large investment project and that ends on the last day of the tax-free period in respect of the project;

(d) D is

i. where the large investment project is that of the corporation, the aggregate of

(1) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$F \times G \times H,$$

(2) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for the particular taxation year or a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$I \times J, \text{ and}$$

(3) where, at any time in the particular taxation year, the corporation transfers all or substantially all of its activities arising from the carrying out of the large investment project to another corporation or a partnership, the amount that was transferred to the other corporation or the partnership pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.21 in respect of the transfer, or

ii. where the large investment project is that of a partnership of which the corporation is a member, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$F \times G \times H; \text{ and}$$

(e) E is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is either the amount that was allocated to the corporation for the particular year, or for a preceding taxation year, pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.20, in relation to the large investment project, in respect of the partnership's fiscal period that ends in that year, or zero if, in respect of that fiscal period, no such agreement has been entered into in relation to the project.

In the formulas in subparagraph d of the second paragraph,

(a) F is 1, unless the corporation has an establishment situated outside Québec for the preceding taxation year, in which case it is the proportion that its business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for the preceding year;

(b) G is the aggregate of

i. 3.2% of the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the corporation for the preceding taxation year under section 771.2.1.2 if, for the purposes of paragraph b of that section, its taxable income for the preceding year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.17 exceeds the amount that is determined in its respect for that year under section 771.2.1.2, and

ii. 11.5% of the amount by which the amount deducted by the corporation in computing its taxable income for the preceding taxation year under section 737.18.17.17 exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(c) H is the proportion that the corporation's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to a large investment project of the corporation or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.17 for that year;

(d) I is the aggregate of the amounts that are not payable by the corporation for the taxation year under subparagraph d.2 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5); and

(e) J is the proportion that the corporation's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the corporation's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the year, in relation to a large investment project of the corporation, that is referred to in subparagraph d.2 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec for the year.

Where a corporation has acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of a large investment project before the end of the investment period in respect of that project, the amount that was transferred to the corporation pursuant to the agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.21 in respect of the transfer, for any taxation year that ends on or after the day of the transfer, must be increased by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying by the rate provided for in section 737.18.17.19, in respect of the project, the amount that would be the corporation's total eligible expenses, in respect of the large investment project, at the end of the investment period if the definition of "total eligible expenses" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.14 were read as if "in the investment period" were replaced by "in the part of the investment period that follows the day of the transfer".

737.18.17.19. The rate to which sections 737.18.17.18 and 737.18.17.21 refer in respect of a large investment project of a corporation or a partnership is

(a) 25%, where all or substantially all of the expenses that are included, or that may reasonably be expected to be included, in the corporation's total eligible expenses in relation to the large investment project are or will be incurred in respect of qualified property acquired to be used mainly in one or more territories with low economic vitality;

(b) 20%, where paragraph a does not apply and all or substantially all of the expenses that are included, or that may reasonably be expected to be included, in the corporation's total eligible expenses in relation to the large investment project are or will be incurred in respect of qualified property acquired to be used mainly in one or more territories with low economic vitality or territories with intermediate economic vitality; or

(c) 15%, in any other case.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.20. The agreement to which subparagraph e of the second paragraph of section 737.18.17.18 refers in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project of the partnership, is the agreement under which the partnership and all its members agree on an amount in respect of the particular amount determined in relation to the partnership in accordance with the second paragraph of section 34.1.0.5 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5) for the particular fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, for the purpose of allocating to each corporation that is a member of the partnership, for its taxation year in which the particular fiscal period ends, its share of the agreed amount, which amount must not be greater than the amount that would be the partnership's particular amount in relation to the large investment project for the particular fiscal period if subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the third paragraph of that section 34.1.0.5 were read without reference to "the particular fiscal period or".

The share of a corporation that is a member of the partnership of the amount agreed on pursuant to an agreement referred to in the first paragraph, in respect of a fiscal period, is the agreed proportion of that amount in respect of the corporation for the partnership's fiscal period.

Where the amount agreed on, in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership, in relation to a large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in the first paragraph, is greater than the amount referred to in the first paragraph, the agreed amount is, for the purposes of this Title and section 34.1.0.5 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec, deemed to be equal to the amount referred to in the first paragraph.

2024, c. 11, s. 71.

737.18.17.21. Where, at any time in a particular taxation year or fiscal period, a corporation or a partnership (in this section referred to as the "acquirer") acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of a large investment project from another corporation or partnership (in this section referred to as the "vendor") and the Minister of Finance previously authorized the transfer of those activities to the acquirer, according to a qualification certificate issued by that Minister to the acquirer in respect of the project, the vendor and the acquirer shall enter into an agreement under which is transferred to the acquirer an amount not greater than the amount by which the amount determined under the second paragraph exceeds,

(a) where the vendor is a corporation, the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$A \times B \times C$, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding taxation year, in relation to the large investment project, equal to the amount determined by the formula

D × E; or

(b) where the vendor is a partnership, the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount agreed on, in respect of a preceding fiscal period of the vendor, in relation to the large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in section 737.18.17.20 in respect of that fiscal period, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for a preceding fiscal period of the vendor, in relation to the large investment project, the amount determined by the formula

D × E.

The amount to which the first paragraph refers is equal either to the amount obtained by multiplying by the rate provided for in section 737.18.17.19 in respect of the large investment project the vendor's cumulative total eligible expenses in relation to the project at the end of the particular taxation year or of the particular fiscal period, or, where the vendor acquired all or substantially all of the activities arising from the carrying out of the project following a previous transfer, subject to the fifth paragraph, to the amount that was transferred to the vendor pursuant to the agreement referred to in this section in respect of the acquisition.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is 1, unless the vendor has an establishment situated outside Québec for the preceding year, in which case it is the proportion that the vendor's business carried on in Québec is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771 for that preceding year;

(b) B is the aggregate of

i. the product obtained by multiplying by 3.2% the amount by which the amount that would be determined in respect of the vendor for the preceding year under section 771.2.1.2 if, for the purposes of paragraph b of section 771.2.1.2, its taxable income for the preceding year were computed without reference to section 737.18.17.17, exceeds the amount determined in its respect for that year under section 771.2.1.2, and

ii. the product obtained by multiplying by 11.5% the amount by which the amount deducted by the vendor in computing its taxable income for the preceding year under section 737.18.17.17 exceeds the excess amount determined under subparagraph i;

(c) C is the proportion that the vendor's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the vendor's maximum annual tax exemption amount for the preceding year, in relation to a large investment project of the vendor, or of a partnership of which it is a member, that is referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.17 for that year;

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts that are not payable by the vendor for the preceding taxation year or fiscal period under subparagraph d.2 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec (chapter R-5); and

(e) E is the proportion that the vendor's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the preceding taxation year or fiscal period, in relation to the large investment project, is of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the vendor's maximum annual contribution exemption amount for the preceding year or fiscal period, in relation to a large investment project of the vendor that is referred to in subparagraph d.2 of the sixth paragraph of section 34 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec for that year or fiscal period.

Where the amount that was transferred to an acquirer, in relation to a large investment project, pursuant to an agreement referred to in the first paragraph is greater than the excess amount referred to in that paragraph, the amount transferred to the acquirer is, for the purposes of this Title and sections 34.1.0.5 and 34.1.0.6 of the Act respecting the Régie de l'assurance maladie du Québec, deemed to be equal to the excess amount.

Where the previous transfer to which the second paragraph refers occurred before the end of the investment period in respect of a large investment project, the amount that was transferred to the vendor pursuant to the agreement referred to in this section in respect of the acquisition must be increased by an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying by the rate provided for in section 737.18.17.19, in respect of the project, the amount that would be the vendor's total eligible expenses on the last day of the investment period or, if it is earlier, on the day that includes the time referred to in the first paragraph, if the definition of "total eligible expenses" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.17.14 were read as if "in the investment period" were replaced by "in the part of the investment period that follows the time of the transfer".

TITLE VII.2.7

DEDUCTION FOR INNOVATIVE MANUFACTURING CORPORATIONS

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL RULES

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.36.

In this Title, unless the context indicates otherwise,

"cost of labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means the portion of the cost of labour of the corporation for the year, determined in accordance with the definition of that expression in section 5202 of the Income Tax Regulations made under the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)), that may reasonably be attributed to activities carried out in Québec;

"cost of manufacturing and processing labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means the lesser of the cost of labour of the corporation for the year and the amount that would be the cost of manufacturing and processing labour of the corporation for the year, determined in accordance with the definition of that expression in section 5202 of the Income Tax Regulations, if that definition were read without reference to the portion after paragraph b and if the definition of "qualified activities" in that section 5202 were read as if "Canada" were replaced wherever it appears by "Québec";

"manufacturing corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation in respect of which the proportion of the manufacturing and processing activities for the year is at least 50%;

"proportion of the manufacturing and processing activities" of a corporation for a taxation year means the proportion that the cost of manufacturing and processing labour of the corporation for the year is of the cost of labour of the corporation for the year;

"qualified manufacturing corporation" for a taxation year means a manufacturing corporation for the year whose paid-up capital determined for the year in accordance with section 737.18.37 is at least $15,000,000;

"qualified patented part" of a qualified manufacturing corporation for a taxation year means an invention of the corporation if

(a) the corporation has made sustained innovation efforts in relation to the invention;

(b) the invention derives in whole or in part from scientific research and experimental development work undertaken in Québec by the corporation or another corporation associated with it at the time the work was undertaken, or on behalf of the corporation or the other corporation, as the case may be, and the corporation or the other corporation is deemed to have paid an amount to the Minister under any of Divisions II to II.3.0.1 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX in respect of the work; and

(c) the corporation, alone or together with other persons, holds a patent, in respect of the invention, that satisfies the following conditions:

i. it is issued under the Patent Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. P-4) or an Act having the same effect of a jurisdiction other than Canada,

ii. the application by virtue of which the patent is issued is made, after 17 March 2016, in accordance with the requirements of an Act referred to in subparagraph i, and

iii. it is valid throughout the year;

"qualified property" of a qualified manufacturing corporation for a taxation year means property in respect of which the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) it incorporates at least one qualified patented part of the corporation;

(b) it is sold, leased or rented by the corporation in the year;

(c) the corporation keeps a register containing the information necessary to prepare separate accounts, in respect of the property, by virtue of which the corporation designates, in relation to the property, a portion of the corporation's gross revenue for the year from the sale, lease or rental of the property and a portion of the expenses, reserves, allowances and other amounts otherwise deductible by the corporation in computing its income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the property; and

(d) the gross revenue of the corporation for the year from the sale, lease or rental of the property is reasonably attributable to an establishment of the corporation situated in Québec.

A qualified manufacturing corporation is deemed to hold a patent and satisfy the conditions of paragraph c of the definition of "qualified patented part" in the first paragraph, in respect of the patent, for a taxation year if the application for a patent is made, after 17 March 2016, in accordance with the requirements of an Act referred to in subparagraph i of that paragraph c and if a decision by the competent authority regarding the application is pending in the year.

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.37. The paid-up capital of a corporation for a particular taxation year of the corporation that ends in a calendar year is equal,

(a) where the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular year, to the corporation's paid-up capital determined in accordance with section 737.18.38 either for the taxation year that precedes the particular year or, if the corporation is in its first fiscal period, on the basis of its financial statements prepared at the beginning of that fiscal period in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or, if such financial statements have not been prepared, or have not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on the basis of such financial statements that would be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles; and

(b) where the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for the corporation or each of the other corporations, its paid-up capital determined in accordance with section 737.18.38 either for its last taxation year that ends in the preceding calendar year or, if such a corporation is in its first fiscal period, on the basis of its financial statements prepared at the beginning of that fiscal period in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or, if such financial statements have not been prepared, or have not been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on the basis of such financial statements that would be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.38. For the purposes of section 737.18.37, the paid-up capital of a corporation for a taxation year is the corporation's paid-up capital that would be determined for that year in accordance with Book III of Part IV if no reference were made to section 1138.2.6.

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.39. For the purposes of paragraph a of the definition of "qualified patented part" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.36, a corporation has made sustained innovation efforts in relation to an invention if the total of all amounts each of which is an aggregate described in the second paragraph, reduced, where applicable, as provided in section 1029.8.19.13 or 1029.8.19.13.1 and determined in relation to scientific research and experimental development work undertaken in the particular period described in the third paragraph by the corporation or by another corporation with which it is associated in the taxation year in which the work was undertaken, or on behalf of the corporation or of the other corporation, as the case may be, and in respect of which the corporation or the other corporation is deemed to have paid an amount to the Minister under any of Divisions II to II.3.0.1 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX is at least $500,000.

An aggregate to which the first paragraph refers in respect of a corporation for a taxation year included in the particular period described in the third paragraph is

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of wages that are, or of a portion of a consideration that is, referred to in any of subparagraphs a to i of the first paragraph of section 1029.7, determined with reference to subdivisions 2, 4 and 6 of Division II.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX;

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of an expenditure that is referred to in subparagraph a or b of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.6, determined with reference to subdivisions 2, 4 and 6 of Division II.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX;

(c) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of an eligible fee or eligible fee balance, within the meaning assigned to those expressions by section 1029.8.9.0.2, determined with reference to subdivisions 2, 4 and 6 of Division II.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX; or

(d) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of an expenditure that is referred to in any of subparagraphs a to c of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.16.1.4, determined with reference to subdivisions 2, 4 and 6 of Division II.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX.

The particular period to which the first paragraph refers is the five-taxation-year period that precedes the taxation year in which the application referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph c of the definition of "qualified patented part" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.36 is made in relation to the invention referred to in the first paragraph.

2017, c. 29, s. 115; 2021, c. 14, s. 74; 2021, c. 36, s. 77.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.40. Subject to the third paragraph, a qualified manufacturing corporation for a taxation year that begins before 1 January 2021 may deduct in computing its taxable income for the year an amount not exceeding the product obtained by multiplying the annual percentage determined in its respect for the year under section 737.18.42 by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is equal, in respect of a qualified property of the corporation, to the lesser of

(a) the ceiling determined under section 737.18.41 for the year in respect of the qualified property; and

(b) the portion of the particular amount described in the second paragraph, determined in respect of the qualified property for the year, that may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the added value that one or more qualified patented parts of the corporation bring to the property.

The particular amount to which the first paragraph refers, in relation to a qualified property of the corporation for a taxation year, is equal to the amount by which the portion of the corporation's gross revenue for the year from the sale, lease or rental of the property exceeds the portion of the expenses, reserves, allowances and other amounts otherwise deductible by the corporation in computing its income for the year that may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the property, such portions being determined on the basis of the separate accounts relating to the property referred to in paragraph c of the definition of "qualified property" in the first paragraph of section 737.18.36.

A corporation may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing its taxable income for a taxation year only if it encloses, with the fiscal return it is required to file for the year under section 1000,

(a) the prescribed form containing prescribed information; and

(b) in relation to each qualified property of the corporation referred to in the first paragraph, a copy of the register kept by the corporation containing the information necessary to prepare separate accounts in respect of the property for the year.

2017, c. 29, s. 115; 2021, c. 14, s. 75.

737.18.41. The ceiling to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 737.18.40 refers, determined for a taxation year in respect of a qualified property of a corporation, is equal to 50% of the particular amount determined under the second paragraph of section 737.18.40 in relation to that property for the year.

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

737.18.42. The annual percentage determined for a taxation year of a qualified manufacturing corporation is equal to the total of

(a) the proportion of 66.1% that the number of days in the taxation year that precede 1 January 2018 is of the number of days in the taxation year;

(b) the proportion of 65.8% that the number of days in the taxation year that follow 31 December 2017 but precede 1 January 2019 is of the number of days in the taxation year;

(c) the proportion of 65.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that follow 31 December 2018 but precede 1 January 2020 is of the number of days in the taxation year; and

(d) the proportion of 65.2% that the number of days in the taxation year that follow 31 December 2019 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

2017, c. 29, s. 115.

TITLE VII.2.8

INCENTIVE DEDUCTION FOR THE COMMERCIALIZATION OF INNOVATIONS IN QUÉBEC

2021, c. 14, s. 76.

737.18.43. In this Title,

"excluded corporation" for a taxation year means

(a) a corporation that is exempt from tax for the year under Book VIII; or

(b) a corporation that would be exempt from tax for the year under section 985, but for section 192;

"gross revenue from the commercialization of an asset" of a corporation for a taxation year means the portion of the corporation's gross revenue for the year that is reasonably attributable to an establishment of the corporation situated in Québec and that consists of

(a) a payment (in this Title referred to as a "royalty") for the use of or the right to use the asset;

(b) income from the sale, rental or lease of a property incorporating the asset;

(c) income from the provision of a service intrinsically linked to the asset; and

(d) an amount obtained as damages in the context of a remedy of a judicial nature relating to the asset;

"protected invention" of a corporation means an invention that meets either of the following conditions:

(a) the invention is covered by a valid patent or certificate of supplementary protection that was applied for after 17 March 2016 and of which the corporation is the holder under the Patent Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. P-4) or any other Act having the same effect of a jurisdiction other than Canada; or

(b) the invention was the subject of an application for a patent or certificate of supplementary protection by the corporation, after 17 March 2016, in accordance with the requirements of an Act referred to in paragraph a, and a decision regarding the application is pending;

"protected plant variety" of a corporation means a new plant variety, within the meaning of section 2 of the Plant Breeders' Rights Act (S.C. 1990, c. 20), that is originated, discovered or developed and that meets either of the following conditions:

(a) the plant variety is the subject of a valid certificate of plant breeder's rights that was applied for after 10 March 2020 and of which the corporation is the holder under the Plant Breeders' Rights Act or any other Act having the same effect of a jurisdiction other than Canada; or

(b) the plant variety was the subject of an application for a certificate of plant breeder's rights by the corporation, after 10 March 2020, in accordance with the requirements of an Act referred to in paragraph a, and a decision regarding the application is pending;

"protected software" of a corporation means a computer program, within the meaning of section 2 of the Copyright Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 42), in respect of which the following conditions are met:

(a) the corporation is the holder of the copyright on the computer program under the Copyright Act or any other Act having the same effect of a jurisdiction other than Canada; and

(b) the creation date of the computer program is subsequent to 10 March 2020;

"qualified corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation, other than an excluded corporation, that, at a particular time in the year, has an establishment in Québec, carries on a business in Québec and earns income from the commercialization of a qualified intellectual property asset;

"qualified intellectual property asset" of a corporation means an incorporeal property that meets the following conditions:

(a) it is

i. a protected invention of the corporation,

ii. a protected plant variety of the corporation, or

iii. a protected software of the corporation; and

(b) it results from scientific research and experimental development activities that are carried on in whole or in part in Québec and that contribute significantly to the creation, development or improvement of the property.

2021, c. 14, s. 76; 2023, c. 2, s. 19.

737.18.44. A qualified corporation for a particular taxation year may deduct, in computing its taxable income for the particular year, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a particular qualified intellectual property asset of the corporation (in this section referred to as the "particular asset"), an amount determined by the formula

$$\{[A \times (B/C)] - D\} \times E \times F.$$

In the formula in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the corporation's income for the particular year;

(b) B is the corporation's gross revenue from the commercialization of the particular asset for the particular year;

(c) C is the corporation's gross revenue for the particular year;

(d) D is the greater of

i. the amount determined by the formula

$$10\% \times \{G - [(H + I) \times (G/J)]\}, \text{ and}$$

ii. the amount determined by the formula

$$25\% \times [H \times (G/J)];$$

(e) E is, subject to the fourth paragraph, the quotient obtained by dividing by seven the total of all fractions each of which is determined, in respect of a year (in subparagraphs e and f of the third paragraph referred to as a "year concerned") that is either the particular year or any of the six preceding taxation years, by the formula

K/L; and

(f) F is the rate determined by the formula

(M – N)/M.

In the formulas in the second paragraph,

(a) G is the amount by which the gross revenue from the commercialization of the corporation's particular asset for the particular year exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of the particular asset for the particular year, a royalty or an amount obtained as damages in the context of a remedy of a judicial nature;

(b) H is the corporation's income for the particular year;

(c) I is the amount of the expenditures of a current nature deducted in the particular year by the corporation under section 222;

(d) J is the corporation's gross revenue for the particular year;

(e) K is an amount equal to the lesser of the amount determined under subparagraph f for the year concerned and the total of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of wages paid by the corporation and described in subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 1029.7 for the year concerned,

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the portion of a consideration paid by the corporation and referred to in any of subparagraphs b, b.1, d, d.1, f, f.1, h and h.1 of the first paragraph of section 1029.7 for the year concerned,

iii. 50% of the aggregate of all amounts, other than an amount described in subparagraph iv, each of which is the portion of a consideration paid by the corporation and referred to in any of subparagraphs c, e, g and i of the first paragraph of section 1029.7 for the year concerned,

iv. 80% of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the total or partial amount of an expenditure paid by the corporation and described in subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.6 for the year concerned, and

v. the product obtained by multiplying, by the proportion that the business carried on in Québec by the corporation in the year concerned is of the aggregate of its business carried on in Canada or in Québec and elsewhere in the year concerned, as determined under subsection 2 of section 771, half of the aggregate of the amounts that, for the year concerned, are described in neither subparagraph iii nor subparagraph iv but would be described in either of those subparagraphs if all the scientific research and experimental development work undertaken on behalf of the corporation outside Québec had been undertaken in Québec;

(f) L is the greater of $1 and the total of

i. the aggregate of the amounts that would be described in subparagraph i of subparagraph e for the year concerned if all the wages paid by the corporation in respect of scientific research and experimental development work had been paid to employees of an establishment situated in Québec,

ii. the aggregate of the amounts that would be described in subparagraph ii of subparagraph e for the year concerned if all the scientific research and experimental development work undertaken on behalf of the corporation had been undertaken in Québec, and

iii. 50% of the aggregate of the amounts that, for the year concerned, would be described in subparagraph iii or iv of subparagraph e if all the scientific research and experimental development work undertaken on behalf of the corporation had been undertaken in Québec;

(g) M is the basic rate determined in respect of the corporation for the particular year under section 771.0.2.3.1; and

(h) N is 2%.

Where a corporation has incurred an amount described in any of subparagraphs i to iii of subparagraph f of the third paragraph for the first time in the particular year or any of the five preceding taxation years, subparagraph e of the second paragraph is to be read as if "seven" were replaced by the number of taxation years included in the period that begins at the beginning of the taxation year in which the corporation first incurred such an amount and ends at the end of the particular year.

For the purposes of subparagraphs e and f of the third paragraph, the following rules apply:

(a) section 1029.7 is to be read without reference to subparagraphs i and ii of subparagraph b of its third paragraph; and

(b) no reference is to be made to section 230.0.0.5.

A corporation may deduct an amount under the first paragraph in computing its taxable income for a taxation year only if it encloses, with the fiscal return it is required to file for the year under section 1000, the prescribed form containing prescribed information.

TITLE VII.3

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF A FOREIGN RESEARCHER

1988, c. 4, s. 58.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

1988, c. 4, s. 58; 2005, c. 38, s. 105.

737.19. In this Title,

"eligible employer" means a person or partnership who or which carries on a business in Canada, undertakes or causes to be undertaken, on the person's or the partnership's behalf in Québec, scientific research and experimental development related to a business of the person or partnership and who or which is not

(a) a person exempt from tax under section 984 or 985 or that would be exempt from tax under section 985 but for section 192;

(b) an eligible university entity within the meaning of paragraph f of section 1029.8.1, or

(c) an eligible public research centre within the meaning of paragraph a.1 of section 1029.8.1;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign researcher at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid as wages in the year by that employer to undertake scientific research and experimental development in Québec that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign researcher" for all or part of a taxation year, means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract entered into with that employer;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year,

i. the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer, and

ii. the individual's duties for the eligible employer consist exclusively or almost exclusively in carrying on, as an employee, scientific research and experimental development that cannot reasonably be considered to be scientific research and experimental development activities carried on in an eligible university entity within the meaning of paragraph f of section 1029.8.1 or an eligible public research centre within the meaning of paragraph a.1 of that section; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, from the Minister of Economy and Innovation, a certificate certifying that the individual is recognized as a researcher;

"research activity period" of an individual who is a foreign researcher for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign researcher; and

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.19.2 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.21, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed, or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.19.2 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1;

(c) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"specified period" of an individual in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer means

(a) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, any part of the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "research activity period"; and

(b) in any other case, the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment;

"wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where an individual is not a foreign researcher for any part of the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer because the certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph was not obtained in respect of the individual, the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for all or part of which the individual is a foreign researcher.

For the purposes of the definition of "eligible income" in the first paragraph, any benefit that an individual is deemed to receive, in a particular taxation year, in connection with an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, because of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, is considered to be included in the amounts that are paid to the individual as wages in the year by that employer.

737.19.1. In determining, for the purposes of this Title, whether work undertaken by or on behalf of a partnership constitutes scientific research and experimental development, the references in subsection 3 of section 222 to "taxpayer" shall be read as references to "partnership".

2000, c. 5, s. 161.

737.19.2. For the purpose of establishing the research activity period of an individual in relation to an employment, a period preceding the period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "research activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a particular period referred to in the second paragraph to which an amount referred to in the third paragraph may reasonably be attributed.

The particular period to which the first paragraph refers is a period that precedes the research activity period and is established in respect of the individual under any of sections 737.18.6, 737.19, 737.22.0.0.1, 737.22.0.0.5, 737.22.0.1, 737.22.0.4.1 and 737.22.0.5, or section 69 of the Act respecting international financial centres (chapter C-8.3), or regulations made under the first paragraph of section 737.16, as they read for a taxation year beginning on or before 20 December 1999.

The amount to which the first paragraph refers is an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of sections 737.16, 737.18.10, 737.21, 737.22.0.0.3, 737.22.0.0.7, 737.22.0.3, 737.22.0.4.7 and 737.22.0.7.

737.19.3. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign researcher for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the remuneration paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign researcher for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 85.

737.19.4. If, in a taxation year, it is impossible for an individual to carry on, exclusively or almost exclusively, scientific research and experimental development in connection with the employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, otherwise than because of the individual being absent from the individual's employment, and if, were it not for that impossibility, the individual would be a foreign researcher for the part of the year that is included in the period during which the impossibility subsists, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider that the individual is a foreign researcher for that part of the year if the Minister is of the opinion that the impossibility is directly attributable to the measures taken to mitigate the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

2021, c. 36, s. 79.

737.20. For the application of the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 to an individual who is resident in Canada immediately before entering into an employment contract with an eligible employer and immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with that employer, the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer if

i. the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or

ii. the individual would meet the condition set out in subparagraph i if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of sections 737.18.6, 737.19, 737.22.0.0.1, 737.22.0.0.5, 737.22.0.1, 737.22.0.4.1 and 737.22.0.5, section 3.5 of Schedule E to the Act respecting the sectoral parameters of certain fiscal measures (chapter P-5.1), section 19 of the Act respecting international financial centres (chapter C-8.3), as it read before being repealed, or section 737.15, as it read before being repealed; and

(b) a certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 that has been issued in respect of the individual, in relation to a preceding employment contract entered into with any eligible employer, is deemed to be issued to the eligible employer, in relation to the employment contract.

737.20.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign researcher working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in the portion of paragraph c before subparagraph i replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign researcher working for the eligible employer if the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 before subparagraph i were read with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no research activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

2004, c. 21, s. 159.

737.20.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign researcher.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign researcher if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 before subparagraph i were read with the reference to "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" replaced by a reference to "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the original contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no research activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.21, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign researcher" in section 737.19, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 159; 2005, c. 38, s. 107.

737.20.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign researcher" in the first paragraph of section 737.19 is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the employment contract referred to in that definition.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.20.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 159.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1988, c. 4, s. 58.

737.21. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign researcher with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$A \times (B - C)$.

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, or entered into the contract before 13 June 2003 but began to perform the duties of that employment after 1 September 2003, 75%,

i.1. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004,

(1) 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "research activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.19,

(2) 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph c,

(3) 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph c, or

(4) 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph c, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign researcher during that specified period of the individual.

1988, c. 4, s. 58; 2004, c. 21, s. 160; 2005, c. 38, s. 108.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

1988, c. 4, s. 58.

737.22. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.21 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.21 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.21 in respect of that period;

(e) (paragraph repealed).

TITLE VII.3.0.1

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF A FOREIGN RESEARCHER ON A POSTDOCTORAL INTERNSHIP

1999, c. 83, s. 83.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

1999, c. 83, s. 83; 2005, c. 38, s. 110.

737.22.0.0.1. In this Title,

"eligible employer" means an eligible public research centre within the meaning of paragraph a.1 of section 1029.8.1 or an eligible university entity within the meaning of paragraph f of that section;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid as wages in the year by that employer and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" for all or part of a taxation year, means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time after 31 March 1998, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract entered into with that employer after that date;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year,

i. the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer, and

ii. the individual's duties for the eligible employer consist exclusively or almost exclusively in carrying on, as an employee, scientific research and experimental development; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by the Minister of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as a researcher on a postdoctoral internship;

(e) (paragraph repealed);

"research activity period" of an individual who is a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship; and

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.0.1.1 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.22.0.0.3, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed, or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.0.1.1 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1;

(c) if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"specified period" of an individual in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer means

(a) if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, any part of the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "research activity period"; and

(b) in any other case, the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment;

"wages" means the income computed pursuant to Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where the certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph was not issued in respect of an individual for the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, the individual's research activity period in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for which such a certificate was issued in respect of the individual.

737.22.0.0.1.1. For the purpose of establishing the research activity period of an individual in relation to an employment, a preceding period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "research activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under any of the sections mentioned in the second paragraph of section 737.19.2 or under the regulations mentioned in that paragraph, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, may reasonably be attributed.

737.22.0.0.1.2. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the remuneration paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 86; 2021, c. 36, s. 80.

737.22.0.0.1.3. If, in a taxation year, it is impossible for an individual to carry on, exclusively or almost exclusively, scientific research and experimental development in connection with the employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, otherwise than because of the individual being absent from the individual's employment, and if, were it not for that impossibility, the individual would be a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship for the part of the year that is included in the period during which the impossibility subsists, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider that the individual is a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship for that part of the year if the Minister is of the opinion that the impossibility is directly attributable to the measures taken to mitigate the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

737.22.0.0.2. For the purposes of the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1, an individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer if

(a) the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2; or

(b) the individual would meet the condition set out in paragraph a if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

1999, c. 83, s. 83; 2004, c. 21, s. 164.

737.22.0.0.2.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in the portion of paragraph c before subparagraph i and in paragraph d was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship working for the eligible employer if the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no research activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

2004, c. 21, s. 165; 2012, c. 8, s. 85.

737.22.0.0.2.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the original contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no research activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.22.0.0.3, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in section 737.22.0.0.1, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 165; 2005, c. 38, s. 112; 2012, c. 8, s. 86.

737.22.0.0.2.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1 is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the employment contract referred to in that definition.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.2.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 165.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1999, c. 83, s. 83.

737.22.0.0.3. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, or entered into the contract before 13 June 2003 but began to perform the duties of that employment after 1 September 2003, 75%,

i.1. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004,

(1) 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "research activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.1,

(2) 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph c,

(3) 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph c, or

(4) 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph c, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign researcher on a postdoctoral internship during that specified period of the individual.

1999, c. 83, s. 83; 2004, c. 21, s. 166; 2005, c. 38, s. 113.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

1999, c. 83, s. 83.

737.22.0.0.4. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.0.3 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.3 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.3 in respect of that period;

(e) (paragraph repealed).

TITLE VII.3.0.2

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF FOREIGN EXPERTS

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

2000, c. 39, s. 53; 2005, c. 38, s. 115.

737.22.0.0.5. In this Title,

"eligible activity period" of an individual who is a foreign expert for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and that ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign expert;

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.0.5.1 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.22.0.0.7, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed, or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.0.5.1 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1; and

(c) if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"eligible employer" means a person or a partnership who or which carries on a business in Canada, but does not include a person mentioned in section 984 or 985 or an eligible university entity within the meaning of paragraph f of section 1029.8.1, for the period in which the person or partnership undertakes or causes to be undertaken on the person's or partnership's behalf in Québec, as part of a project, scientific research and experimental development related to a business of the person or partnership and for the periods that precede and follow the carrying out of the project;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign expert at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid as wages in the year by that employer and that may reasonably be attributed to the foreign expert's eligible activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign expert" for all or part of a taxation year means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time after 9 March 1999, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract entered into with the eligible employer after that date;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year,

i. the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer, and

ii. the individual performs duties as an employee of the eligible employer exclusively or almost exclusively as part of a scientific research and experimental development project, whether before, during or after the carrying out of the project; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by the Minister of Economy and Innovation for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as an expert;

"specified period" of an individual in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer means

(a) if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, any part of the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "eligible activity period"; and

(b) in any other case, the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment;

"wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where an individual is not a foreign expert for any part of the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, because the certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph was not obtained in respect of the individual, the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for all or part of which the individual is a foreign expert.

For the purposes of the definition of "eligible income" in the first paragraph, any benefit that an individual is deemed to receive, in a particular taxation year, in connection with an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer, because of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, is considered to be included in the amounts that are paid to the individual as wages in the year by that employer.

2000, c. 39, s. 53; 2002, c. 9, s. 14; 2003, c. 29, s. 137; 2004, c. 21, s. 168; 2005, c. 38, s. 116; 2006, c. 8, s. 31; 2012, c. 8, s. 87; 2013, c. 28, s. 141; 2019, c. 29, s. 86.

737.22.0.0.5.1. For the purpose of establishing the eligible activity period of an individual in relation to an employment, a preceding period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "eligible activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under any of the sections mentioned in the second paragraph of section 737.19.2 or under the regulations mentioned in that paragraph, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, may reasonably be attributed.

737.22.0.0.5.2. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign expert for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the remuneration paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign expert for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 87.

737.22.0.0.5.3. If, in a taxation year, it is impossible for an individual to perform duties exclusively or almost exclusively as part of a scientific research and experimental development project in relation to the employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, otherwise than because of the individual being absent from the individual's employment, and if, were it not for that impossibility, the individual would be a foreign expert for the part of the year that is included in the period during which the impossibility subsists, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider that the individual is a foreign expert for that part of the year if the Minister is of the opinion that the impossibility is directly attributable to the measures taken to mitigate the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

2021, c. 36, s. 82.

737.22.0.0.6. For the application of the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 to an individual who entered into an employment contract with an eligible employer, the following rules must be taken into consideration:

(a) the individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer if

i. the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or

ii. the individual would meet the condition set out in subparagraph i if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20; and

(b) where, in relation to taxation years preceding the year 2011, a particular certificate referred to in paragraph d of that definition has been issued in respect of the individual to any eligible employer,

i. the particular certificate is deemed to have been issued for each of the preceding taxation years, and

ii. the particular certificate is deemed to have been issued to the eligible employer in relation to the employment contract, if the contract has been entered into in any of the preceding taxation years.

2000, c. 39, s. 53; 2002, c. 9, s. 15; 2002, c. 40, s. 63; 2004, c. 21, s. 170; 2012, c. 8, s. 88.

737.22.0.0.6.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign expert working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in the portion of paragraph c before subparagraph i and in paragraph d was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign expert working for the eligible employer if the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no eligible activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

737.22.0.0.6.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign expert.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign expert if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and the portion of paragraph c of the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 before subparagraph i and paragraph d of that definition were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the original contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no eligible activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.22.0.0.7, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign expert" in section 737.22.0.0.5, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 171; 2005, c. 38, s. 117; 2012, c. 8, s. 90.

737.22.0.0.6.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign expert" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5 is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the employment contract referred to in that definition.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.6.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 171.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2000, c. 39, s. 53.

737.22.0.0.7. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign expert with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, or entered into the contract before 13 June 2003 but began to perform the duties of that employment after 1 September 2003, 75%,

i.1. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004,

(1) 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "eligible activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.5,

(2) 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph c,

(3) 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph c, or

(4) 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph c, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign expert during that specified period of the individual.

2000, c. 39, s. 53; 2004, c. 21, s. 172; 2005, c. 38, s. 118.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2000, c. 39, s. 53.

737.22.0.0.8. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.0.7 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.7 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.0.7 in respect of that period;

TITLE VII.3.1

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF A FOREIGN SPECIALIST

1997, c. 85, s. 116; 2000, c. 39, s. 54.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

1997, c. 85, s. 116; 2005, c. 38, s. 120.

737.22.0.1. In this Title,

"biotechnology development centre" has the meaning assigned by the first paragraph of section 771.1;

"eligible activity" of an eligible employer for a taxation year means

(a) an eligible activity of the eligible employer for that year within the meaning of

i. the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.28, as it read for the year, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph b of the definition of "eligible employer",

ii. the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.38, as it read for the year, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph c of the definition of "eligible employer", or

iii. the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.46, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph e of the definition of "eligible employer";

(b) a specified activity of the eligible employer for the year within the meaning of section 1029.8.36.0.17, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph d or f of the definition of "eligible employer";

(c) an activity of a recognized business of the eligible employer for that year within the meaning of

i. the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.60, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph g of the definition of "eligible employer", or

ii. the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.72.83, where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph h of the definition of "eligible employer"; or

(d) an activity of a recognized business of the eligible employer for that year within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.72.56 that is a recognized business described

i. in paragraph a of the definition of "recognized business" in that first paragraph, if the eligible employer is a corporation described in paragraph i of the definition of "eligible employer", or

ii. in paragraph b of the definition of "recognized business" in that first paragraph, if the eligible employer is a corporation described in paragraph j of the definition of "eligible employer";

"eligible employer" for a taxation year means

(a) a corporation that would be an exempt corporation within the meaning of sections 771.12 and 771.13 for that year if section 771.12 were read without reference to paragraph e and paragraph d were replaced by the following paragraph:

"(d) the year is comprised in whole or in part in the corporation's eligibility period within the meaning assigned by section 1029.8.36.0.17, without reference to the sixth paragraph, if the definition of "eligibility period" in the first paragraph of that section applies for the purpose of determining the amount referred to in paragraph a of that definition.";

(b) where the taxation year of the corporation begins before 21 December 2001, a qualified corporation within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.28, as it read for that taxation year, that holds an unrevoked certificate issued by Investissement Québec for the purposes of Division II.6.0.1.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, as it read before being repealed, certifying that an eligible activity is carried on by the qualified corporation for that year;

(c) where the taxation year of the corporation begins before 21 December 2001, a qualified corporation within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.38, as it read for that taxation year, that holds an unrevoked certificate issued by Investissement Québec for the purposes of Division II.6.0.1.5 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, as it read before being repealed, certifying that an eligible activity is carried on by the qualified corporation for that year;

(d) a corporation that is

i. where this paragraph applies after 29 March 2001, a specified corporation for the year within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.17, other than a corporation that carries on or may carry on its business in a biotechnology development centre, and

ii. in any other case, a specified corporation within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.17 that is not a corporation referred to in paragraph a for the year and that holds an unrevoked certificate issued by Investissement Québec for the purposes of Division II.6.0.3 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX, certifying that the specified corporation carries out or may carry out in that year a specified activity in a building housing all or any part of a new economy centre;

(e) a qualified corporation within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.46 that holds a valid qualification certificate issued by the Minister of Finance for the purposes of Division II.6.0.1.6 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX;

(f) a specified corporation for the year within the meaning of section 1029.8.36.0.17 that carries on or may carry on its business in a biotechnology development centre;

(g) a qualified corporation, for the calendar year ending in the taxation year, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.0.3.60 that, in that taxation year, carries on a recognized business within the meaning of that paragraph;

(h) a qualified corporation, for the calendar year ending in the taxation year, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.72.83 that, in that taxation year, carries on a recognized business within the meaning of that paragraph;

(i) a qualified corporation, for the calendar year ending in the taxation year, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.72.56 that, in the taxation year, carries on a recognized business, within the meaning of that paragraph, that is described in paragraph a of the definition of "recognized business" in that first paragraph; or

(j) a qualified corporation, for the calendar year ending in the taxation year, within the meaning of the first paragraph of section 1029.8.36.72.56 that, in the taxation year, carries on a recognized business, within the meaning of that paragraph, that is described in paragraph b of the definition of "recognized business" in that first paragraph;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign specialist at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid as wages in the year by that employer and that may reasonably be attributed to the foreign specialist's specialized activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign specialist" for all or part of a taxation year means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract they have entered into in the hiring period of the eligible employer;

(a.1) the individual took up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer before 2 September 2003, except if the eligible employer was, at the time the individual took up employment, a corporation referred to in subparagraph iii of paragraph a of section 771.12 or, where the employment contract was entered into after 30 March 2004, a corporation referred to in paragraph f of the definition of "eligible employer";

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by Investissement Québec for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as a specialist;

(e) (paragraph repealed);

"hiring period" of an eligible employer means

(a) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 771.12, the period that begins on 26 March 1997 and that ends on 12 June 2003;

(b) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 771.12, the period that begins on 10 March 1999 and that ends on 12 June 2003;

(c) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph b or c of the definition of "eligible employer", the period that begins on 15 March 2000 and that ends on the last day of the last taxation year of the corporation that begins before 21 December 2001;

(d) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "eligible employer", the period that begins on 15 March 2000 and that ends on 12 June 2003;

(e) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph e of the definition of "eligible employer", the period that begins on 12 May 2000 and that ends on 12 June 2003;

(f) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in subparagraph iii of paragraph a of section 771.12, the period that begins on 30 March 2001;

(g) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in paragraph f of the definition of "eligible employer", the period that begins on 30 March 2001 and that ends on 12 June 2003 or the period that begins on 31 March 2004; and

(h) where the eligible employer is a corporation referred to in any of paragraphs g to j of the definition of "eligible employer", the period that begins on 20 March 2002 and that ends on 12 June 2003;

"new economy centre" has the meaning assigned by section 771.1;

"specialized activity period" of an individual who is a foreign specialist for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist;

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.1.1 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.22.0.3, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed; or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.1.1 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1; and

(c) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"specified period" of an individual in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer means

(a) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, any part of the individual's specialized activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "specialized activity period"; and

(b) in any other case, the individual's specialized activity period in relation to that employment;

"wages" means the income computed pursuant to Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where the certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph was not issued in respect of an individual for the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, the specialized activity period of the individual in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for which such a certificate has been issued in respect of the individual.

For the purposes of the definition of "eligible income" in the first paragraph, any benefit that an individual is deemed to receive, in a particular taxation year, in connection with an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer, because of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, is considered to be included in the amounts that are paid to the individual as wages in the year by that employer.

1997, c. 85, s. 116; 1998, c. 17, s. 64; 1999, c. 86, s. 99; 2000, c. 39, s. 55; 2001, c. 51, s. 43; 2001, c. 69, s. 12; 2002, c. 9, s. 16; 2003, c. 9, s. 61; 2004, c. 21, s. 174; 2005, c. 23, s. 88; 2005, c. 38, s. 121; 2007, c. 12, s. 84; 2012, c. 8, s. 91.

737.22.0.1.1. For the purpose of establishing the specialized activity period of an individual in relation to an employment, a preceding period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "specialized activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under any of the sections mentioned in the second paragraph of section 737.19.2 or under the regulations mentioned in that paragraph, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, may reasonably be attributed.

2004, c. 21, s. 175.

737.22.0.1.2. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign specialist for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the remuneration paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign specialist for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

737.22.0.1.3. Where, but for this section, a corporation would no longer be an eligible employer for a taxation year because of the revocation of a certificate or a qualification certificate it was issued, the following rules must, for the purposes of this Title, be taken into consideration despite any provision to the contrary:

(a) if the corporation is described in any of paragraphs a and g to j of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, the certificate or qualification certificate is deemed to be valid until the time the certificate or qualification certificate is revoked and it is deemed, only as of that time, not to have been issued; and

(b) if the corporation is described in any of paragraphs b to f of that definition, the certificate is deemed not to have been revoked for that taxation year.

2005, c. 38, s. 122; 2012, c. 8, s. 92.

737.22.0.2. For the purposes of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, an individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer if

(a) the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2; or

(b) the individual would meet the condition set out in paragraph a if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

737.22.0.2.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign specialist working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in paragraphs c and d was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign specialist working for the eligible employer if paragraphs c and d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no specialized activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

737.22.0.2.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign specialist if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and paragraphs c and d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the original contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no specialized activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.22.0.3, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in section 737.22.0.1, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 177; 2005, c. 38, s. 123; 2012, c. 8, s. 94.

737.22.0.2.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 and in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the original contract.

The rule set out in the first paragraph applies, with the necessary modifications, to a new employment contract that is entered into after 12 June 2003 with another eligible employer, who is deemed not to be an employer separate from the eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "first employer", who entered into the original contract, provided that

(a) the other eligible employer is a corporation described in the third paragraph;

(b) the other eligible employer meets any of the following conditions:

i. the other eligible employer controls directly or indirectly the first employer,

ii. the other eligible employer is, directly or indirectly, a controlled subsidiary of the first employer, or

iii. as a result of a transaction referred to in section 518 or 566, the other eligible employer continues to carry on the business of the first employer in the course of which the individual who entered into the original contract performed the individual's duties as a foreign specialist; and

(c) it may reasonably be considered that, but for the change of employer, the individual who entered into the original contract would have continued to be a foreign specialist working for the first employer until the time when the individual took up employment, as an employee, with the other eligible employer.

The corporation to which subparagraph a of the second paragraph refers is

(a) if the first employer is a corporation described in paragraph a of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, a corporation described in subparagraph i or ii of paragraph a of section 771.12;

(b) if the first employer is a corporation described in paragraph d or f of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, any of the following corporations:

i. where the new employment contract is entered into between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, a corporation described in that paragraph d or f, or

ii. where the new employment contract is entered into after 30 March 2004, a corporation described in that paragraph d; or

(c) if the first employer is a corporation referred to in any of paragraphs e, g, h, i and j of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, a corporation described in that paragraph.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.22.0.2.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 177; 2005, c. 23, s. 90.

737.22.0.2.4. For the purposes of this Title, a corporation that would be an eligible employer for a taxation year within the meaning of any of paragraphs g, h, i and j of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1, but for paragraph c of the definition of "qualified corporation" in the first paragraph of any of sections 1029.8.36.0.3.60, 1029.8.36.72.56 and 1029.8.36.72.83, is deemed to be an eligible employer for the corporation's taxation year ending immediately before the acquisition of control described in that paragraph c and to be a corporation described in that paragraph g, h, i or j, as the case may be, for that taxation year.

2004, c. 21, s. 177.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1997, c. 85, s. 116.

737.22.0.3. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign specialist with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the eligible employer is a corporation to which subparagraph iii of paragraph a of section 771.12 applies and the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, or entered into the contract before 13 June 2003 but began to perform the duties of that employment after 1 September 2003, 75%,

i.1. if the eligible employer is a corporation to which subparagraph iii of paragraph a of section 771.12 applies or that is described in paragraph f of the definition of "eligible employer" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1 and the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004,

(1) 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "specialized activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.1,

(2) 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph c,

(3) 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph c, or

(4) 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph c, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign specialist during that specified period of the individual.

1997, c. 85, s. 116; 2000, c. 39, s. 57; 2004, c. 21, s. 178; 2005, c. 38, s. 124.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

1997, c. 85, s. 116.

737.22.0.4. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.3 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.3 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.3 in respect of that period;

(e) (paragraph repealed).

TITLE VII.3.1.1

DEDUCTION RELATING TO FOREIGN SPECIALISTS WORKING FOR FINANCIAL SERVICES CORPORATIONS

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL RULES

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.1. In this Title,

"eligible employer" for a taxation year means a qualified corporation for the year within the meaning of section 1029.8.36.166.65 that holds a certificate for the year, issued by the Minister of Finance, for the purposes of Division II.6.14.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX or a corporation that would be such a qualified corporation for the year but for the expiration of the period of validity specified in the corporation's qualification certificate;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign specialist at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid to the individual as wages in the year by that employer and that may reasonably be attributed to the foreign specialist's specialized activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign specialist" for all or part of a taxation year means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time after 20 March 2012, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract that they entered into after that date but in the period of validity specified in the employer's qualification certificate;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year; and

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by the Minister of Finance for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as a specialist;

"qualification certificate" of a corporation means the qualification certificate issued to the corporation for the purposes of Division II.6.14.4 of Chapter III.1 of Title III of Book IX;

"specialized activity period" of an individual who is a foreign specialist for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist; and

(b) the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"specified period" of an individual, in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer, means any part of the individual's specialized activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph b of the definition of "specialized activity period" ;

"wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where the certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph was not issued in respect of an individual for the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, the specialized activity period of the individual in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for which such a certificate has been issued in respect of the individual.

For the purposes of the definition of "eligible income" in the first paragraph, any benefit that an individual is deemed to receive, in a particular taxation year, in connection with an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer, because of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, is considered to be included in the amounts that are paid to the individual as wages in the year by that employer.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.2. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign specialist for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the wages paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign specialist for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.3. Where, but for this section, a corporation would no longer be an eligible employer for a taxation year because of the revocation of its qualification certificate or of the certificate it was issued for the year, the following rules must, for the purposes of this Title, be taken into consideration despite any provision to the contrary:

(a) the qualification certificate is deemed to be valid until the time it is revoked, and it is deemed, only as of that time, not to have been issued; and

(b) the certificate is deemed not to have been revoked.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.4. For the purposes of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.1, an individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer if

(a) the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2; or

(b) the individual would meet the condition of paragraph a if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.5. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer (in this section referred to as the "original contract"), or a deemed contract referred to in the second paragraph, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign specialist.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign specialist if this section were read without reference to the first paragraph and paragraphs c and d of the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.1 were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract (in this section referred to as the "deemed contract") and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.6. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after the date specified in the second paragraph, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign specialist" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.1 and in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the original contract.

The date to which the first paragraph refers is the date of expiry of the period of validity specified in the qualification certificate of the eligible employer with whom the individual entered into the original contract.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.5.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.7. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign specialist with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph b of the definition of "specialized activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.1,

ii. 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph b,

iii. 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph b, or

iv. 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph b;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in the prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign specialist during that specified period of the individual.

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2013, c. 10, s. 47.

737.22.0.4.8. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.4.7 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.7 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.4.7 in respect of that period;

(e) (paragraph repealed).

TITLE VII.3.2

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF FOREIGN PROFESSORS

2002, c. 40, s. 65.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

2002, c. 40, s. 65; 2005, c. 38, s. 126.

737.22.0.5. In this Title,

"eligible activity period" of an individual who is a foreign professor for all or part of a taxation year, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the period that, subject to the second paragraph, begins on the day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of that employment and that ends on the earlier of

(a) the day preceding the day on which the individual ceases to be a foreign professor;

(b) the day on which that period totals five years, with reference to

i. where the individual began to stay or became resident in Canada after 19 December 2002 by reason of an employment contract entered into after that date, the aggregate of all periods each of which is a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.5.1 that is established in respect of the individual, and

ii. in any other case, the aggregate of all preceding periods each of which is

(1) all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under this definition, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, under section 737.22.0.7, in relation to a preceding employment, may reasonably be attributed, or

(2) a preceding period within the meaning of section 737.22.0.5.1 that is established in respect of the individual since the last time the individual became resident in Canada, other than a period described in subparagraph 1; and

(c) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, the last day of the five-year period that begins,

i. unless subparagraph ii applies, on the day on which the individual first begins to perform the duties of an employment for which the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20, or

ii. if the individual began to perform the duties of the employment referred to in subparagraph i under a contract of employment entered into with a particular corporation or partnership operating an international financial centre established by the individual and if the individual was resident in Canada immediately before the contract of employment was entered into and immediately before the individual took up that employment, on the day, determined without reference to paragraph a of section 8, on which the individual becomes resident in Canada to work on the establishment of that centre;

"eligible employer" means a Québec university;

"eligible income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign professor at any time, in relation to an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, means the aggregate of all amounts paid as wages in the year by that employer and that may reasonably be attributed to the foreign professor's eligible activity period in relation to that employment;

"foreign professor" for all or part of a taxation year means an individual in respect of whom the following conditions are met:

(a) at a particular time after 29 June 2000, the individual takes up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer under an employment contract entered into with the eligible employer after that date;

(b) the individual is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the employment contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(c) the individual works exclusively or almost exclusively for the eligible employer from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year;

(d) the eligible employer has obtained in respect of the individual, for the purposes of this Title, a certificate issued by the Minister of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology for the taxation year and the certificate and, if applicable, all the similar certificates that were obtained in respect of the individual for preceding taxation years certify that, from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year, the individual is recognized as a professor;

(e) (paragraph repealed);

"specified period" of an individual in relation to an employment held by the individual with an eligible employer means

(a) where the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004, any part of the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment that is included in any of the five years of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "eligible activity period"; and

(b) in any other case, the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment;

"wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

Where the certificate referred to in paragraph d of the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph was not issued in respect of an individual for the taxation year that includes the particular day on which the individual begins to perform the duties of an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer, the individual's eligible activity period in relation to that employment begins only on the first day of the first taxation year following the particular day for which such a certificate has been issued in respect of the individual.

2002, c. 40, s. 65; 2004, c. 21, s. 180; 2005, c. 28, s. 195; 2005, c. 38, s. 127; 2012, c. 8, s. 95; 2013, c. 28, s. 140.

737.22.0.5.1. For the purpose of establishing the eligible activity period of an individual in relation to an employment, a preceding period to which subparagraph i of paragraph b of the definition of "eligible activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5 and subparagraph 2 of subparagraph ii of that paragraph b refer means all or part of a preceding period, established in respect of the individual under any of the sections mentioned in the second paragraph of section 737.19.2 or under the regulations mentioned in that paragraph, to which an amount that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, may be attributed.

737.22.0.5.2. If, in a taxation year, an individual is absent from an employment the individual holds with an eligible employer and, were it not for that absence, would be a foreign professor for the part of the year that is included in the individual's period of absence, the Minister may, for the purposes of this Title, consider the remuneration paid by the eligible employer to the individual for that part of the year to be included in the individual's eligible income for the year in relation to the employment, that the eligible employer certifies in prescribed manner, if the Minister is of the opinion that the individual is temporarily absent from the employment for reasons the Minister considers reasonable.

The individual is deemed to be a foreign professor for the part of the year in respect of which the Minister has exercised discretion in the individual's favour in accordance with the first paragraph.

2005, c. 23, s. 91.

737.22.0.6. For the purposes of the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5, an individual is deemed not to be resident in Canada immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer if

(a) the individual may deduct an amount in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual so took up employment or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2; or

(b) the individual would meet the condition set out in paragraph a if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

2002, c. 40, s. 65; 2004, c. 21, s. 182.

737.22.0.6.1. For the purposes of this Title, an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual holds employment with the eligible employer on 1 January 2001; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since 1 January 2001, a foreign professor working for the eligible employer if the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5 were read

i. without reference to paragraph b thereof, and

ii. as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" in paragraphs c and d was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

An individual to whom the fifth paragraph applies is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with an eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b where

(a) the individual enters into an employment contract with the eligible employer after 31 December 2000; and

(b) at a particular time, the individual would be, for the first time since the entering into the contract referred to in subparagraph a, a foreign professor working for the eligible employer if paragraphs c and d of the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5 were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year".

In addition, the individual to whom the first or second paragraph applies is also deemed to begin performing the duties of the employment the individual holds with the eligible employer at the particular time referred to in subparagraph b of that paragraph.

The individual to whom the first paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) has no eligible activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(b) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the taxation year in which the individual has entered into the individual's employment contract or for a preceding taxation year, in relation to a preceding employment, an amount under any of the sections mentioned in the third paragraph of section 737.19.2, or could so deduct such an amount if an employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a qualification certificate or a certificate referred to in any of the sections mentioned in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 737.20.

737.22.0.6.2. For the purposes of this Title, the employment contract that an individual entered into with an eligible employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", or a deemed contract within the meaning of subparagraph a of the third paragraph, is deemed to end at the time when the individual ceases to be a foreign professor.

Where on 1 January 2001 an individual to whom the fourth paragraph applies holds employment with an eligible employer, the employment contract the individual entered into with that employer, in this section referred to as the "original contract", is deemed to have ended before that date.

In addition, where at a particular time an individual would again become a foreign professor if this section were read without reference to the first and second paragraphs and paragraphs c and d of the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5 were read as if "from the particular time to the end of the year or the part of the year" was replaced by "throughout the year or the part of the year", the following rules apply:

(a) the individual is deemed to enter into, with the eligible employer, a new employment contract, in this section referred to as the "deemed contract", and that contract is deemed to be entered into at the particular time; and

(b) the individual is deemed to take up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer at the particular time and is also deemed to begin at that time to perform the duties of that new employment.

The individual to whom the second paragraph refers is the individual who

(a) is not resident in Canada immediately before entering into the original contract or immediately before taking up employment, as an employee, with the eligible employer;

(b) has no eligible activity period that is running on 1 January 2001 in relation to that employment; and

(c) may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year 2001, in relation to that employment, an amount under section 737.22.0.7, or could so deduct such an amount if the eligible employer had not failed to apply, in respect of the individual, for a certificate referred to in the definition of "foreign professor" in section 737.22.0.5, as it read for that preceding taxation year.

The expiry, termination or cancellation of the original contract or any other event having the effect of terminating the original contract also entails the expiry, termination or cancellation, as the case may be, of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, or otherwise terminates such a contract.

The renewal of the original contract also entails the renewal of a deemed contract continuing the original contract, except if the deemed contract is deemed to have ended under the first paragraph.

2004, c. 21, s. 183; 2005, c. 38, s. 128; 2012, c. 8, s. 97.

737.22.0.6.3. For the purposes of this Title, the contract resulting from the renewal, after 12 June 2003, of an employment contract referred to in the definition of "foreign professor" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5 is deemed not to be an employment contract separate from the employment contract referred to in that definition.

The first paragraph does not apply in respect of a contract that is deemed to have ended under the first or second paragraph of section 737.22.0.6.2.

2004, c. 21, s. 183.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2002, c. 40, s. 65.

737.22.0.7. An individual who, at any time, holds employment as a foreign professor with an eligible employer may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, an amount not greater than the aggregate of all amounts each of which is determined, in respect of a specified period of the individual in relation to that employment, by the formula

$$A \times (B - C).$$

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer between 12 June 2003 and 31 March 2004, or entered into the contract before 13 June 2003 but began to perform the duties of that employment after 1 September 2003, 75%,

i.1. if the individual entered into the individual's employment contract with the eligible employer after 30 March 2004,

(1) 100%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the first or second year of the period described in paragraph c of the definition of "eligible activity period" in the first paragraph of section 737.22.0.5,

(2) 75%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the third year of the period described in that paragraph c,

(3) 50%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fourth year of the period described in that paragraph c, or

(4) 25%, if that specified period of the individual is included in the fifth year of the period described in that paragraph c, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(b) B is the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to that employment, that is certified by the eligible employer in prescribed manner and that may reasonably be attributed to that specified period of the individual; and

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts that the individual may deduct in computing the individual's income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to the individual's employment as a foreign professor during that specified period of the individual.

2002, c. 40, s. 65; 2004, c. 21, s. 184; 2005, c. 38, s. 129.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2002, c. 40, s. 65.

737.22.0.8. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.7 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.7 in respect of that period; and

(d) where the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the portion of the individual's eligible income for the year, in relation to an employment, that may reasonably be attributed to any of the individual's specified periods, in relation to that employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by the amount by which 100% exceeds the percentage determined under subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 737.22.0.7 in respect of that period;

(e) (paragraph repealed).

2002, c. 40, s. 65; 2003, c. 9, s. 64; 2004, c. 21, s. 185; 2005, c. 38, s. 130; 2019, c. 14, s. 211; 2021, c. 14, s. 82.

TITLE VII.3.3

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF A FOREIGN WORKER HOLDING A KEY POSITION IN A FOREIGN PRODUCTION

2003, c. 9, s. 65; 2011, c. 1, s. 36.

CHAPTER I

DEFINITIONS

2003, c. 9, s. 65.

737.22.0.9. In this Title,

"eligible individual", for a taxation year, means an individual who was not resident in Canada at any time in the year and who holds a qualification certificate that was issued to the individual by the Société de développement des entreprises culturelles for the purposes of this Title in respect of an eligible production;

"eligible production", in relation to an individual, means the production specified in the qualification certificate referred to in the definition of "eligible individual" that the Société de développement des entreprises culturelles has issued to the individual, and in respect of which, if the qualification certificate certifies that the individual works on the production otherwise than as a producer, the position of producer has been entrusted to another individual who was not resident in Canada at the time the position was entrusted to the other individual.

2003, c. 9, s. 65; 2011, c. 1, s. 37; 2012, c. 8, s. 98.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2003, c. 9, s. 65.

737.22.0.10. An eligible individual who encloses with the fiscal return the eligible individual is required to file for a taxation year under section 1000 a copy of the qualification certificate that was issued to the eligible individual by the Société de développement des entreprises culturelles in respect of an eligible production, may deduct, in computing the eligible individual's taxable income for the year, any amount not greater than the amount by which the aggregate of the amounts included in computing the income for the year for services rendered or to be rendered in Québec in connection with the eligible production, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the eligible individual in computing the eligible individual's income for the year and which may reasonably be attributed to such services.

2003, c. 9, s. 65.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2003, c. 9, s. 65.

737.22.0.11. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an eligible individual referred to in section 737.22.0.10 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) where the eligible individual has included in computing the eligible individual's income for the year an amount that is the benefit the eligible individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the eligible individual's death and of the eligible individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the amount determined in respect of the eligible individual for the year under section 737.22.0.10, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction provided for in section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) where the eligible individual has included in computing the eligible individual's income for the year an amount that is the benefit the eligible individual is deemed to receive under section 49, as a consequence of the application of section 49.2, in respect of a share acquired by the eligible individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the amount determined in respect of the eligible individual for the year under section 737.22.0.10, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction provided for in section 725.3, deemed to be nil;

(c) where the eligible individual has included in computing the eligible individual's income for the year a particular amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the amount determined in respect of the eligible individual for the year under section 737.22.0.10, the particular amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction provided for in either of those paragraphs, deemed to be nil; and

(d) where the eligible individual has included in computing the eligible individual's income for the year a particular amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the amount determined in respect of the eligible individual for the year under section 737.22.0.10, the particular amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction provided for in the first paragraph of section 725.1.2, deemed to be nil.

2003, c. 9, s. 65; 2021, c. 14, s. 83.

TITLE VII.3.4

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF FOREIGN FARM WORKERS

2006, c. 36, s. 64.

CHAPTER I

DEFINITIONS

2006, c. 36, s. 64.

737.22.0.12. In this Title,

"foreign farm worker", for a taxation year, means an individual who was not resident in Canada at any time in the year and who holds a valid work permit issued by the competent Canadian authority under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (Statutes of Canada, 2001, chapter 27) within the framework of a recognized federal program;

"recognized federal program" means any of the following streams of the Temporary Foreign Worker Program of the Government of Canada:

(a) the Seasonal Agricultural Worker Program; and

(b) the Agricultural Stream;

"wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III;

"work income", for a taxation year, of an individual who is a foreign farm worker, in relation to an employment held by the individual in Québec within the framework of a recognized federal program, means the aggregate of all amounts each of which is wages received in the year by the individual because of, or in the course of, that employment.

2006, c. 36, s. 64; 2015, c. 36, s. 40.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

2006, c. 36, s. 64.

737.22.0.13. An individual who is a foreign farm worker for a taxation year may deduct, in computing taxable income for the year, an amount not exceeding 50% of the amount by which the individual's work income for the year, in relation to an employment, exceeds the aggregate of the amounts that the individual may deduct in computing income for the year under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and that may reasonably be attributed to that employment.

2006, c. 36, s. 64.

CHAPTER III

COMPUTATION OF TAXABLE INCOME

2006, c. 36, s. 64.

737.22.0.14. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual referred to in section 737.22.0.13 for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) if the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's work income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, deemed to be nil;

(b) if the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive under section 49 as a consequence of the application of section 49.2 in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and the amount of the benefit is included in the individual's work income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount of the benefit is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, deemed to be nil; and

(c) if the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in paragraph a or e of section 725 and the amount is included in the individual's work income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that paragraph, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by 50%; and

(d) if the individual has included in computing income for the year an amount referred to in subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 725.1.2 and the amount is included in the individual's work income for the year, in relation to an employment, the amount is, for the purpose of computing the deduction under the first paragraph of that section, deemed to be equal to the product obtained by multiplying that amount by 50%.

TITLE VII.5

DEDUCTION FOR EMPLOYMENT OUT OF CANADA

1995, c. 1, s. 69.

CHAPTER I

DEFINITIONS

1995, c. 1, s. 69.

737.24. In this Title,

"basic allowance" of an individual for a period means, in respect of an employment, the part of the out-of-Canada living allowance received by the individual in respect of the employment for that period, which does not exceed one-half of the individual's basic income for that period in respect of that employment;

"basic income" means, in respect of an employment, the income from an employment, computed before any deduction under Chapter III of Title II of Book III and without taking into account any out-of-Canada living allowance or, except in the definition of "basic allowance", the part of any other amount included in computing that income, which corresponds to the deduction granted in respect of that other amount, otherwise than under this Title, in computing the taxable income;

"specified employer" means a person resident in Canada, a corporation that is a foreign affiliate of such a person, or a partnership whose members, resident in Canada, including a corporation controlled by persons resident in Canada, are the owners of interests in that partnership having a fair market value in excess of 10% of the fair market value of all interests in the partnership.

1995, c. 1, s. 69; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1995, c. 1, s. 69.

737.25. An individual resident in Québec in a taxation year who, throughout a period of not less than 30 consecutive days that commenced in the year or a preceding taxation year, performed substantially all the duties of the individual's employment outside Canada may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, the product obtained by multiplying the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under section 737.26 in respect of that period by the percentage specified in respect of the individual for the year under section 737.26.1 where

(a) the individual was employed throughout that period by a specified employer; and

(b) such duties were performed in connection with a contract under which the specified employer carried on business outside Canada with respect to the exploration for or exploitation of petroleum, natural gas, minerals or other similar resources, any agricultural, construction, installation or engineering activity, or any prescribed activity, or for the purpose of obtaining such a contract on behalf of the specified employer.

However, the first paragraph does not apply in respect of an individual who, throughout the period described in the said paragraph, is deemed to have been resident in Québec under paragraph d of section 8 or who performed his duties in the employ of the Government of Canada or the government of a province, or of a municipality, a school board, an educational institution or an establishment providing health services or social services that receives or is entitled to receive financial assistance from a government.

737.26. The amount referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.25 in respect of an individual for a taxation year in respect of a particular period throughout which the individual performed substantially all the duties of the individual's employment outside Canada is the aggregate of

(a) the proportion of the out-of-Canada living allowance in respect of that employment received in the year by the individual in respect of the particular period that the individual's basic allowance in respect of that employment for the particular period is of the individual's total out-of-Canada living allowance in respect of the individual's employment for the particular period; and

(b) the proportion of the aggregate of the basic income from that employment received in the year by the individual in respect of the particular period and the amount by which the out-of-Canada living allowance in respect of that employment received in the year by the individual in respect of the particular period exceeds the amount computed under paragraph a, that the number of consecutive periods of 30 full days, not exceeding 12, worked outside Canada by the individual in respect of that employment during the particular period, is of 12.

For the purposes of the first paragraph and despite the definition of "basic income" in section 737.24, no amount may be included in computing an individual's basic income or regarded as an out-of-Canada living allowance for a taxation year in respect of the individual's employment by an employer

(a) if

i. the employer carries on a business of providing services and does not employ in the business throughout the year more than five full-time employees,

ii. the individual does not deal at arm's length with the employer, or is a specified shareholder of the employer, or, where the employer is a partnership, does not deal at arm's length with a member of the partnership, or is a specified shareholder of a member of the partnership, and

iii. but for the existence of the employer, the individual would reasonably be regarded as an employee of a person or partnership that is not a specified employer; or

(b) if at any time in that portion of the period described in the first paragraph of section 737.25 that is in the year

i. the employer provides the services of the individual to a corporation, trust or partnership with which the employer does not deal at arm's length, and

ii. the fair market value of all the issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation or of all interests in the trust or partnership, as the case may be, that are held, directly or indirectly, by persons who are resident in Canada is less than 10% of the fair market value of all those shares or interests, as the case may be.

1995, c. 1, s. 69; 1998, c. 16, s. 183; 2015, c. 21, s. 262.

737.26.1. The percentage referred to in the first paragraph of section 737.25 in respect of an individual for a taxation year is equal to

(a) 75%, where the taxation year is the year 2013;

(b) 50%, where the taxation year is the year 2014;

(c) 25%, where the taxation year is the year 2015; and

(d) 0%, for a taxation year subsequent to the year 2015.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the percentage specified in any of subparagraphs a to c of that paragraph in respect of an individual is to be replaced by a percentage of 100% where the duties of the individual's employment outside Canada are in connection with a contract that was committed to in writing before 1 January 2013 by a specified employer of the individual.

2015, c. 21, s. 263.

TITLE VII.6

DEDUCTION TO SEAMEN ENGAGED IN THE INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORTATION OF FREIGHT

1997, c. 14, s. 108.

CHAPTER I

INTERPRETATION AND GENERAL

1997, c. 14, s. 108; 2005, c. 38, s. 131.

737.27. In this Title,

"eligible seaman" for a taxation year means an individual who is the employee of an eligible shipowner for the year and in respect of whom a certificate has been issued by the Minister of Transport certifying that the individual is recognized as an eligible seaman in respect of the shipowner for that year;

"eligible shipowner" for a taxation year means a shipowner who, in the year, is a person resident in Canada, a corporation that is a foreign affiliate of such a person or a partnership whose members, resident in Canada, including a corporation controlled by persons resident in Canada, are the owners of interests in that partnership having a fair market value in excess of 10% of the fair market value of all interests in the partnership;

"salaries or wages" means the income computed under Chapters I and II of Title II of Book III.

1997, c. 14, s. 108; 2001, c. 51, s. 44; 2004, c. 21, s. 187; 2012, c. 1, s. 62.

737.27.1. If an individual, in respect of whom the Minister of Transport issued a certificate certifying that the individual was an eligible seaman for a taxation year, acquired, at a particular time of that year that is included in a period specified in the certificate, a right to a security, under an agreement referred to in section 48, from the eligible shipowner whose name appears on the certificate or from a person with whom the eligible shipowner is not dealing at arm's length and, at a later time, the individual is deemed to receive a benefit in a particular taxation year because of the application of any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of the security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire the security under the agreement, the following rules apply for the purpose of determining the amount that the individual may deduct under section 737.28 in computing the individual's taxable income for the particular year, in relation to the amount of that benefit:

(a) section 737.28 is to be read as if "for that taxation year" was replaced by "for the taxation year that includes the particular time to which the portion of section 737.27.1 before paragraph a refers"; and

(b) such a benefit is considered to be included in the amount of salaries or wages received by the individual in the particular year from the eligible shipowner.

2005, c. 38, s. 132; 2021, c. 14, s. 85.

CHAPTER II

DEDUCTION

1997, c. 14, s. 108.

737.28. An individual resident in Québec in a taxation year who encloses, with the fiscal return the individual is required to file under this Part for the year, a copy of the certificate issued by the Minister of Transport certifying that the individual was an eligible seaman for that taxation year may deduct, in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to 75% of the amount of salaries or wages received by the individual in the year, in relation to a period determined in the certificate, from an eligible shipowner whose name appears on the certificate.

737.28.1. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of an individual to whom section 737.28 applies, for a taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.2, the amount that is the benefit the individual is deemed to receive in the year under any of sections 49 and 50 to 52.1, either in respect of a security or of the transfer or any other disposition of the rights under the agreement referred to in section 48, or as a consequence of the individual's death and of the individual's having, immediately before death, owned a right to acquire a security under such an agreement, and that was included by the individual in computing the individual's income for the year, does not include the part of such an amount included in the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under section 737.28; and

(b) for the purpose of computing the deduction under section 725.3, the amount of the benefit that the individual is deemed to receive under section 49, by virtue of section 49.2, in respect of a share acquired by the individual after 22 May 1985 and that was included by the individual in computing the individual's income for the year, does not include the part of such an amount included in the amount determined in respect of the individual for the year under section 737.28.

2002, c. 40, s. 66; 2021, c. 14, s. 86.

TITLE VII.7

DEDUCTION IN RESPECT OF SPLIT INCOME

2001, c. 53, s. 109.

737.29. A specified individual in relation to a taxation year may deduct in computing the specified individual's taxable income for the year the specified individual's split income for the year.

2001, c. 53, s. 109.

TITLE VIII

DIVIDENDS

1972, c. 23.

738. A corporation may deduct from its income for a taxation year the amount of any taxable dividend it receives in the year from a taxable Canadian corporation or a corporation controlled by it, resident in Canada, other than a non-resident-owned investment corporation or a corporation exempt from tax under this Part.

1972, c. 23, s. 556; 1978, c. 26, s. 130; 1984, c. 15, s. 169; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

739. For the purposes of this Title:

(a) a dividend or a taxable dividend does not include a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by sections 1106 and 1116 or any dividend received by a taxpayer on which the taxpayer was required to pay any prescribed tax;

(b) a corporation is controlled by another if more than 50 per cent of its issued share capital having full voting rights under all circumstances belongs to the other corporation, to persons with whom the other corporation does not deal at arm's length, or to the other corporation and persons with whom the other corporation does not deal at arm's length;

(c) "mark-to-market property" and "financial institution" have the meanings assigned by section 851.22.1;

(d) a dividend on a share is a qualified dividend to the extent that i. it is not received under section 508 to the extent that that section refers to section 506, or

ii. it is received under section 508 to the extent that that section refers to section 506 and,

(1) if the share is held by an individual other than a trust, the dividend is received by the individual,

(2) if the share is held by a corporation, the dividend is received by the corporation while it is a private corporation, and is paid by another private corporation,

(3) if the share is held by a trust, the dividend is received by the trust or designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary and the beneficiary is a person described in the second paragraph, a partnership each of the members of which is, when the dividend is received, a person described in the second paragraph, or another trust or partnership if the trust establishes that the dividend is received by a person described in the second paragraph, or

(4) if the share is held by a partnership, the dividend is included in the income of a member of the partnership and the member is a person described in the second paragraph or the dividend is designated under section 666 by a member of the partnership that is a trust in respect of a beneficiary described in subparagraph 3.

A person to whom subparagraphs 3 and 4 of subparagraph ii of subparagraph d of the first paragraph refer, in relation to a dividend, is

(a) an individual other than a trust;

(b) a private corporation when the corporation receives the dividend, if the dividend is paid by another private corporation; or

(c) a trust that does not designate the dividend under section 666.

1972, c. 23, s. 557; 1996, c. 39, s. 197; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 87; 2012, c. 8, s. 99.

740. Where a corporation has in a taxation year received a taxable dividend from a corporation not resident in Canada that is not a foreign affiliate of the corporation and that carried on a business in Canada, through an establishment, throughout the period from 18 June 1971 to the time when the dividend was received, the receiving corporation may deduct in computing its income an amount equal to the part of the dividend determined in accordance with subsection 2 of section 112 of the Income Tax Act (R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Suppl.)).

740.1. Sections 738 and 740 do not apply in respect of a dividend received by a specified financial institution on a share acquired in the ordinary course of carrying on its business and that is, at the time the dividend is received, a term preferred share.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, where a restricted financial institution received a dividend on a share of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation or an investment corporation at any time after that mutual fund corporation or investment corporation has elected, pursuant to section 1106.1 or section 1118.1, not to be a restricted financial institution, the share is deemed to be a term preferred share acquired in the ordinary course of carrying on a business.

740.2. Subject to section 740.3, sections 738, 740 and 845 do not apply in respect of a dividend received by a particular corporation on a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was issued after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, 18 June 1987 where,

(a) at or immediately before the time the dividend was received, a person or partnership, other than the issuer of the share or an individual other than a trust, that is a specified financial institution or a specified person in relation to any such institution, that person or partnership referred to in section 740.3 as the "guarantor", was obligated, either absolutely or contingently and either immediately or in the future, to effect any guarantee agreement, including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the share and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the particular corporation or any specified person in relation to it

i. to ensure that any loss that the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to it may sustain by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property is limited, or

ii. to allow the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to it to derive earnings by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property; and

(b) the guarantee agreement was given as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance of the share.

1980, c. 13, s. 66; 1982, c. 5, s. 144; 1990, c. 59, s. 283; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2004, c. 8, s. 143; 2017, c. 29, s. 117.

740.3. Section 740.2 does not apply in respect of a dividend received by a particular corporation

(a) on a share that is at the time the dividend is received a share described in section 21.6.1;

(b) a taxable preferred share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a designated stock exchange, issued after 15 December 1987, where all the guarantee agreements described in section 740.2 are given by the corporation that issued the share, by one or more persons that are related to it, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, or by that corporation and such persons, unless at the time the dividend is paid to the particular corporation, dividends in respect of more than 10% of the issued and outstanding shares to which the guarantee agreements described in section 740.2 apply are paid to the particular corporation or the particular corporation and specified persons in relation to it;

(c) on a grandfathered share or a taxable preferred share issued before 16 December 1987;

(d) on a prescribed share; or

(e) on a share

i. that was not acquired by the particular corporation in the ordinary course of its business,

ii. in respect of which the guarantee agreement, referred to in section 740.2, was not given in the ordinary course of the guarantor's business, and

iii. the corporation issuer of which is, at the time the dividend is paid, related, otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph b of section 20, to both the particular corporation and the guarantor.

740.3.1. For the purposes of section 740.2, where the undertaking referred to therein in respect of a share was given at any particular time after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, 18 June 1987, otherwise than pursuant to a written arrangement to do so entered into before 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, 18 June 1987, the share is deemed to have been issued at the particular time and the undertaking is deemed to have been given as part of a series of transactions that included the issuance of the share.

For the purposes of sections 740.2 and 740.3, the expression "specified person" has the meaning assigned by paragraph f of section 21.11.16.

1990, c. 59, s. 285.

740.4. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 171; 1990, c. 59, s. 286.

740.4.1. No deduction may be made under section 738, 740 or 845 in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of a corporation where there is, in respect of the share, a dividend rental arrangement of the particular corporation, a partnership of which the particular corporation is directly or indirectly a member or a trust under which the particular corporation is a beneficiary.

740.4.2. Section 740.4.1 does not apply in respect of a dividend received on a share where there is, in respect of the share, a dividend rental arrangement of a person or partnership (in this section and section 740.4.3 referred to as the "taxpayer") throughout a particular period during which the synthetic equity arrangement referred to in paragraph c of the definition of "dividend rental arrangement" in section 1 is in effect if

(a) the dividend rental arrangement is such an arrangement because of that paragraph c; and

(b) the taxpayer establishes that, throughout the particular period, no tax-indifferent investor or group of tax-indifferent investors, each member of which is affiliated with every other member, has all or substantially all of the risk of loss or opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share.

2019, c. 14, s. 213; 2021, c. 18, s. 53.

740.4.3. A taxpayer is considered to have satisfied the condition of paragraph b of section 740.4.2 in respect of a share if

(a) the taxpayer or the connected person referred to in paragraph a of the definition of "synthetic equity arrangement" in section 1 (in this section referred to as the "synthetic equity arrangement party") obtains accurate representations in writing from its counterparty, or from each member of a group comprised of all its counterparties each of which is affiliated with each other (each member of this group of counterparties being in this section referred to as an "affiliated counterparty"), in relation to the synthetic equity arrangement, that

i. the counterparty or affiliated counterparty is not a tax-indifferent investor and it does not reasonably expect to become a tax-indifferent investor during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2, and

ii. all or substantially all of the counterparty's or affiliated counterparty's risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2 has not been eliminated and cannot reasonably be expected by it to be eliminated;

(b) the synthetic equity arrangement party obtains accurate representations in writing from its counterparty, or from each affiliated counterparty, in relation to the synthetic equity arrangement that the counterparty, or each affiliated counterparty,

i. is not a tax-indifferent investor and does not reasonably expect to become a tax-indifferent investor during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2,

ii. has entered into one or more specified synthetic equity arrangements that have the effect of eliminating all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit, in relation to the share, if

(1) in the case of a counterparty, that counterparty has entered into a specified synthetic equity arrangement with its own counterparty (a counterparty of a counterparty or of an affiliated counterparty being in this section referred to as a "specified counterparty"), or has entered into a specified synthetic equity arrangement with each member of a group of its own counterparties each member of which is affiliated with every other member (each member of this group of counterparties being in this section referred to as an "affiliated specified counterparty"), or

(2) in the case of an affiliated counterparty, each affiliated counterparty has entered into a specified synthetic equity arrangement with the same specified counterparty or with an affiliated specified counterparty that is part of the same group of affiliated specified counterparties, and

iii. has obtained accurate representations in writing from each of its own specified counterparties, or from each member of the group of affiliated specified counterparties referred to in subparagraphs 1 and 2 of subparagraph ii, that

(1) it is not a tax-indifferent investor and it does not reasonably expect to become a tax-indifferent investor during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2, and

(2) all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2 has not been eliminated and cannot reasonably be expected by it to be eliminated;

(c) the synthetic equity arrangement party obtains accurate representations in writing from its counterparty, or from each affiliated counterparty, in relation to the synthetic equity arrangement that the counterparty, or each affiliated counterparty,

i. is not a tax-indifferent investor and does not reasonably expect to become a tax-indifferent investor during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2,

ii. has entered into specified synthetic equity arrangements

(1) that have the effect of eliminating all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in relation to the share,

(2) where no single specified counterparty or group of affiliated specified counterparties has been provided with all or substantially all of the risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in relation to the share, and

(3) where each specified counterparty or affiliated specified counterparty deals at arm's length with each other (other than in the case of affiliated specified counterparties, within the same group, of affiliated specified counterparties), and

iii. has obtained accurate representations in writing from each of its specified counterparties, or from each of its affiliated specified counterparties, that

(1) it is a person resident in Canada and it does not reasonably expect to cease to be resident in Canada during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2, and

(2) all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share during the particular period referred to in section 740.4.2 has not been eliminated and cannot reasonably be expected by it to be eliminated; or

(d) where a person or partnership is a party to a synthetic equity arrangement chain in respect of the share, the person or partnership

i. has obtained all or substantially all of the risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share under the synthetic equity arrangement chain,

ii. has entered into one or more specified synthetic equity arrangements that have the effect of eliminating all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share, and

iii. obtains accurate representations in writing of the type described in any of paragraphs a to c, as if it were a synthetic equity arrangement party, from each of its counterparties where each such counterparty deals at arm's length with that person or partnership.

2019, c. 14, s. 213; 2021, c. 18, s. 54.

740.4.4. If, at a time during a particular period referred to in section 740.4.2, a counterparty, specified counterparty, affiliated counterparty or affiliated specified counterparty reasonably expects to become a tax-indifferent investor or, if it has provided a representation described in subparagraph ii of paragraph a of section 740.4.3 or subparagraph 2 of subparagraph iii of paragraph b or c of that section in respect of a share, that all or substantially all of its risk of loss and opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share will be eliminated, the particular period for which it has provided a representation in respect of the share is deemed to end at that time.

2019, c. 14, s. 213; 2021, c. 18, s. 55.

740.4.5. In section 740.4.3, "counterparty", "specified counterparty", "affiliated counterparty" and "affiliated specified counterparty" refer only to a person or partnership that obtains all or any portion of the risk of loss or opportunity for gain or profit in respect of the share referred to in that section.

2019, c. 14, s. 213.

740.5. No deduction may be made under section 738, 740 or 845 in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share, in this section referred to as the "subject share", other than an exempt share, of the capital stock of another corporation where

(a) any person or partnership was obligated, in any way whatever, to effect an undertaking, including any covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the subject share, under which an investor is entitled, either immediately or in the future, to receive or obtain any amount or benefit for the purpose of reducing the impact, in whole or in part, of any loss that an investor may sustain by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the subject share, and any property is used, in whole or in part, either directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, to secure the undertaking; or

(b) the undertaking or right referred to in subparagraph i or ii was acquired by the issuer as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance or acquisition of the subject share, or a share for which the subject share was substituted, and the consideration for which the subject share was issued or any other property received, either directly or indirectly, by the issuer from an investor, or any property substituted therefor, is or includes

i. an undertaking of an investor to make payments that are required to be included, in whole or in part, in computing the income of the issuer, other than an undertaking of a corporation that, immediately before the subject share was issued, would be related to the corporation that issued the subject share if this Act were read without reference to paragraph b of section 20; or

ii. any right to receive payments that are required to be included, in whole or in part, in computing the income of the issuer where that right is held on condition that it or property substituted therefor may revert or pass to an investor or a person or partnership to be determined by an investor.

740.6. Section 740.5 applies only in respect of a dividend on a share where, having regard to all the circumstances, it may reasonably be considered that the share was issued or acquired as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that enabled any corporation to earn investment income, or any income substituted therefor, and, as a result, the amount of its taxes payable under this Part for a taxation year is less than the amount that its taxes payable under this Part would be for the year if such investment income were the only income of the corporation for the year and all other taxation years.

1989, c. 77, s. 84; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

740.7. For the purposes of section 740.5 and this section, the expression,

(a) "exempt share" means

i. a prescribed share;

ii. a share of the capital stock of a corporation issued before 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, 27 November 1986, other than a share held at that time by the issuer, or by any person or partnership where the issuer may become entitled to receive any amount after that time by way of subscription proceeds or contribution of capital with respect to that share pursuant to an agreement made before that time;

iii. a share that was, at the time the dividend referred to in section 740.5 was received, a share described in section 21.6.1 during the applicable period referred to in that section;

(b) "issuer" means the other corporation referred to in section 740.5, a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length and any partnership or trust of which that corporation, or a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length, is a member or beneficiary, but does not include the particular corporation referred to in that section;

(c) "investor" means the particular corporation referred to in section 740.5, a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length and any partnership or trust of which that corporation, or a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length, is a member or beneficiary, but does not include the other corporation referred to in that section.

740.8. For the purposes of the definition of the expression "exempt share" in paragraph a of section 740.7, where, at any time after 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, 27 November 1986, the terms or conditions of a share of the capital stock of a corporation have been changed and any agreement in respect of the share has been changed or entered into by the corporation, the share is deemed to have been issued at that time.

740.9. For the purposes of paragraph a of section 740.5, any loss that an investor may sustain by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the subject share referred to in that paragraph is deemed to include any loss with respect to an obligation or share that was issued or acquired as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance or acquisition of the subject share, or a share for which the subject share was substituted.

1989, c. 77, s. 84.

740.10. For the purposes of subparagraph i of paragraph b of section 740.5, where it may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances, that a corporation has become related to any other corporation for the purpose of avoiding any limitation upon the deduction of a dividend under section 738, 740 or 845, the corporation is deemed not to be related to the other corporation.

1989, c. 77, s. 84; 1997, c. 3, s. 71.

741. Subject to sections 744.4 and 744.5, a taxpayer, other than a trust, shall subtract from the amount of any loss, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of a share that is capital property of the taxpayer, other than a share that is property of a partnership,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual, the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the taxpayer on the share in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

ii. the amount of the loss, determined without reference to this section, reduced by the aggregate of all taxable dividends received by the taxpayer on the share; and

(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts received by the taxpayer on the share each of which is

i. a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under sections 738 to 745 or section 845 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any taxation year,

ii. a dividend in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, or

iii. a life insurance capital dividend.

1972, c. 23, s. 559; 1972, c. 26, s. 57; 1975, c. 22, s. 203; 1978, c. 26, s. 131; 1984, c. 15, s. 172; 1996, c. 39, s. 198; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 89.

741.1. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 741 or paragraph b of that section where the taxpayer referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the taxpayer owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the taxpayer.

2001, c. 7, s. 90; 2012, c. 8, s. 100.

741.2. Subject to sections 744.4 and 744.5, a taxpayer, other than a partnership or a mutual fund trust, who is a member of a partnership shall subtract from the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of a share held by a particular partnership as capital property,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual, the lesser of

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the taxpayer on the share in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

ii. that share of the loss, determined without reference to this section, reduced by the aggregate of all taxable dividends received by the taxpayer on the share;

(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts received by the taxpayer on the share each of which is

i. a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under sections 738 to 745 or section 845 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any taxation year,

ii. a dividend in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, or

iii. a life insurance capital dividend; and

(c) where the taxpayer is a trust, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a taxable dividend or a life insurance capital dividend received on the share and designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust.

2001, c. 7, s. 90.

741.3. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under subparagraph i of paragraph a of section 741.2 or paragraph b or c of that section where the taxpayer referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the particular partnership referred to in section 741.2, the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not hold in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the particular partnership referred to in section 741.2 held throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the particular partnership.

2001, c. 7, s. 90; 2012, c. 8, s. 101.

741.4. A taxable dividend received on a share and designated under section 666 by a particular trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a partnership or trust shall not be included in the aggregate determined under paragraph c of section 741.2 where the particular trust establishes that the dividend was received by an individual, other than a trust.

2001, c. 7, s. 90.

742. Subject to sections 744.4 and 744.5, a trust, other than a mutual fund trust, shall subtract from the amount of any loss, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is capital property of the trust, the aggregate of

(a) the amount by which the lesser of the following amounts exceeds the amount determined under the second paragraph:

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the trust on the share in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

ii. the amount of the loss, determined without reference to this section, reduced by the aggregate determined in the third paragraph; and

(b) the aggregate of the following amounts each of which is received on the share and designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust:

i. a taxable dividend, and

ii. a life insurance capital dividend.

Where the trust referred to in the first paragraph is a succession that is the graduated rate estate of an individual, the share was acquired as a consequence of the individual's death and the disposition of the share occurs during the trust's first taxation year, the amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers is 1/2 of the lesser of

(a) the amount of the loss, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of the share; and

(b) the individual's capital gain from the disposition of the share immediately before the individual's death.

The aggregate to which subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers in respect of the trust referred to in that paragraph corresponds to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable dividend

(a) received by the trust on the share referred to in the first paragraph;

(b) received on the share referred to in the first paragraph and designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary who is an individual, other than a trust; or

(c) received on the share referred to in the first paragraph and designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, a partnership or another trust, provided the dividend is a qualified dividend and the trust establishes that

i. it owned the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the trust, and

ii. the dividend was received while the trust, the beneficiary and persons not dealing at arm's length with the beneficiary owned in total less than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received.

1972, c. 23, s. 560; 1975, c. 22, s. 204; 1984, c. 15, s. 172; 1996, c. 39, s. 199; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 91; 2003, c. 2, s. 209; 2012, c. 8, s. 102; 2017, c. 1, s. 186.

742.1. Notwithstanding section 742, where a trust has at any time acquired a share of the capital stock of a corporation because of section 653, the trust shall subtract from the amount of any loss, determined without reference to section 742 or this section, resulting from a disposition after that time, the aggregate of

(a) the amount by which the lesser of the following amounts exceeds the amount determined under the second paragraph:

i. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received after that time by the trust on the share in respect of which an election was made under section 502 where section 502.0.1 does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend,

ii. the amount of the loss determined without reference to section 742 or this section, reduced by the aggregate determined in the third paragraph; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a taxable dividend received on the share after that time and designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust.

The amount to which subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers in respect of a trust referred to in that paragraph is 1/2 of the lesser of

(a) the amount of the loss, determined without reference to section 742 or this section, resulting from the disposition of the share referred to in the first paragraph;

(b) the trust's capital gain from the disposition immediately before the time referred to in the first paragraph of the share referred to in that paragraph because of section 653.

The aggregate to which subparagraph ii of subparagraph a of the first paragraph refers in respect of the trust referred to in the said paragraph corresponds to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable dividend

(a) received by the trust on the share referred to in the first paragraph after the time of acquisition;

(b) received on the share referred to in the first paragraph after the time of acquisition and designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary who is an individual, other than a trust; or

(c) received on the share referred to in the first paragraph after the time of acquisition and designated under section 666 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, a partnership or another trust, provided the dividend is a qualified dividend and the trust establishes that

i. it owned the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share, and

ii. the dividend was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons not dealing at arm's length with the beneficiary owned in total less than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received.

2001, c. 7, s. 92; 2003, c. 2, s. 210; 2012, c. 8, s. 103.

742.2. A qualified dividend received by a trust is not to be included under subparagraph i of subparagraph a or subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 742 or subparagraph i of subparagraph a of the first paragraph of section 742.1 where the trust establishes that the dividend

(a) was received

i. in any case where the dividend was designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust, when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received, or

ii. in any other case, when the trust and persons with whom the trust was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

2001, c. 7, s. 92; 2012, c. 8, s. 104.

742.3. A qualified dividend that is a taxable dividend received on a share and designated under section 666 by a trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust is not to be included under subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 742 or 742.1 where the trust establishes that the dividend was received by an individual (other than a trust), or

(a) was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

2001, c. 7, s. 92; 2012, c. 8, s. 105.

743. Subject to sections 744.4 and 744.5, a taxpayer, other than a trust, shall subtract from the amount of any loss, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is property, other than capital property, of the taxpayer,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual and the corporation is resident in Canada, the aggregate of all dividends received by the individual on the share;

(b) where the taxpayer is a partnership, the aggregate of all dividends received by the partnership on the share; and

(c) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts received by the corporation on the share each of which is

i. a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this Title or section 845 in computing the corporation's taxable income for any taxation year, or

ii. a dividend, other than a taxable dividend.

1972, c. 23, s. 561; 1975, c. 22, s. 205; 1978, c. 26, s. 132; 1985, c. 25, s. 126; 1987, c. 67, s. 152; 1993, c. 16, s. 279; 1995, c. 49, s. 169; 1996, c. 39, s. 200; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 93.

743.1. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under any of paragraphs a to c of section 743 where the taxpayer referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the taxpayer owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the taxpayer.

2001, c. 7, s. 94; 2012, c. 8, s. 106.

744. For the purposes of sections 83 to 85.6, a shareholder who holds a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall, in computing the fair market value of the share at any time, add to that value

(a) where the shareholder is a corporation, the aggregate of all amounts received by the shareholder on the share before that time each of which is

i. a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this Title or section 845 in computing the shareholder's taxable income for any taxation year, or

ii. a dividend, other than a taxable dividend;

(b) where the shareholder is a partnership, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the shareholder on the share before that time; and

(c) where the shareholder is an individual and the corporation is resident in Canada, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the shareholder on the share before that time, or, where the shareholder is a trust, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend that would have been so received if this Part were read without reference to section 666.

1975, c. 22, s. 206; 1978, c. 26, s. 133; 1984, c. 15, s. 173; 1985, c. 25, s. 126; 1987, c. 67, s. 152; 1993, c. 16, s. 279; 1995, c. 49, s. 170; 1996, c. 39, s. 201; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 95.

744.0.1. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under any of paragraphs a to c of section 744 where the shareholder referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the shareholder and persons with whom the shareholder was not dealing at arm's length did not hold in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the shareholder held throughout the 365-day period that ended at the time referred to in section 744.

2001, c. 7, s. 96; 2012, c. 8, s. 107.

744.1. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 173; 1993, c. 16, s. 279; 1995, c. 49, s. 171; 1996, c. 39, s. 202; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 97.

744.2. Subject to sections 744.4 and 744.5, a trust shall subtract from the amount of any loss, determined without reference to this section, resulting from the disposition of a share that is property, other than capital property, of the trust, the aggregate of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the trust on the share, to the extent that the amount was not designated under section 667 in respect of a beneficiary of the trust; and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a dividend received on the share that was designated under section 666 or 667 by the trust in respect of a beneficiary of the trust.

1984, c. 15, s. 173; 1996, c. 39, s. 203; 2001, c. 7, s. 98.

744.2.1. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under paragraph a of section 744.2 where the trust referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the trust and persons with whom the trust was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the trust.

2001, c. 7, s. 99; 2012, c. 8, s. 108.

744.2.2. A qualified dividend is not to be included in the aggregate determined under paragraph b of section 744.2 where the trust referred to in that section establishes that

(a) it was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition of the share by the trust.

2001, c. 7, s. 99; 2012, c. 8, s. 109.

744.3. (Repealed).

1984, c. 15, s. 173; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 100.

744.4. The rules set out in sections 741 to 743 and 744.2 do not apply in respect of the disposition of a share by a taxpayer in a taxation year that begins after 31 October 1994 where the share is a mark-to-market property for the year and the taxpayer is a financial institution in the year or where section 744.6 applies in respect of the disposition.

1996, c. 39, s. 204; 2001, c. 7, s. 101.

744.5. In determining whether any of sections 741 to 743 and 744.2 apply to reduce a loss of a taxpayer from the disposition of a share, this Part shall be read without reference to paragraph b of sections 741.1, 741.3, 742.2, 742.3, 743.1, 744.2.1 and 744.2.2 and subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the third paragraph of sections 742 and 742.1 where

(a) the disposition occurs, because of section 851.22.15, in a taxation year that includes 31 October 1994 or, because of paragraph b of section 851.22.23, after 30 October 1994; or

(b) the share was a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for a taxation year that begins after 31 October 1994 in which the taxpayer was a financial institution.

1996, c. 39, s. 204; 2001, c. 7, s. 102.

744.6. A taxpayer who disposes of a share at a particular time in a taxation year is deemed to dispose of it for the proceeds of disposition determined in the second paragraph where

(a) the taxpayer is a financial institution in the year, the share is a mark-to-market property for the year, and the taxpayer received either a dividend on the share at a time when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length held in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation that paid the dividend, or a dividend on the share paid under section 506; or

(b) the disposition is an actual disposition, the taxpayer did not hold the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition, and the share was a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for a taxation year that begins after 31 October 1994 and in which the taxpayer was a financial institution.

Subject to section 744.7, the proceeds of disposition referred to in the first paragraph are deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - (C - D).$$

For the purposes of the formula in the second paragraph,

(a) A is the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the share determined without reference to this section;

(b) B is, where the taxpayer is deemed to have received a dividend under section 508, to the extent that that section refers to section 506, in respect of the share, the aggregate determined under subparagraph ii, or, in any other case, the lesser of

i. the loss from the disposition of the share that would be determined before the application of this section if the cost of the share to any taxpayer were determined without reference to

(1) sections 521 to 526 and 528, where the provisions of those sections apply because of subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 832.3, and

(2) sections 546 and 559, subparagraph a of the second paragraph of section 832.3, paragraph b of section 851.22.15 and paragraph d of section 851.22.23, and

ii. the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(1) where the taxpayer is a corporation, a taxable dividend received by the taxpayer on the share, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under any of sections 738 to 745 and 845 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any taxation year,

(2) where the taxpayer is a partnership, a taxable dividend received by the taxpayer on the share, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under any of sections 738 to 745, 845 and 1091 in computing the taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year of members of the partnership,

(3) where the taxpayer is a trust, an amount designated under section 666 in respect of a taxable dividend on the share, or

(4) a dividend, other than a taxable dividend, received by the taxpayer on the share;

(c) C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which

i. the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition on a deemed disposition of the share before the particular time were increased because of this section,

ii. where the taxpayer is a corporation or trust, a loss of the taxpayer on a deemed disposition of the share before the particular time was reduced because of section 741, 742, 743 or 744.2, or

iii. where the taxpayer is a partnership, a loss of a member of the partnership on a deemed disposition of the share before the particular time was reduced because of section 741.2 or 743; and

(d) D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition on a deemed disposition of the share before the particular time were decreased because of this section.

744.6.1. A dividend, other than a dividend received under section 508 to the extent that that section refers to section 506, is not to be included in the aggregate determined under subparagraph ii of subparagraph b of the third paragraph of section 744.6 in respect of a taxpayer referred to in that section unless

(a) the dividend was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length held in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received, or

(b) the share was not held by the taxpayer throughout the 365-day period that ended before the disposition of the share by the taxpayer.

2001, c. 7, s. 104; 2012, c. 8, s. 111.

744.7. For the purpose of determining the cost of a share to a taxpayer on a deemed reacquisition of the share after a deemed disposition of the share, the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the share shall be determined without reference to section 744.6.

1996, c. 39, s. 204.

744.8. Where a taxpayer disposes of a share at a particular time,

(a) for the purpose of determining whether section 744.6 applies to the disposition, the conditions in the first paragraph of that section shall be applied without reference to a deemed disposition and reacquisition of the share before that time; and

(b) any aggregate of amounts under the third paragraph of section 744.6 in respect of the disposition shall be determined from the time when the taxpayer actually acquired the share.

1996, c. 39, s. 204.

745. Subject to the second and third paragraphs, where a share, in this section referred to as the "new share", has been acquired in exchange for another share, in this section referred to as the "old share", in a transaction to which any of sections 301, 301.1 and 536 to 555.4 applies, for the purposes of any of sections 741 to 742.3 in respect of a disposition of the new share, the new share is deemed to be the same share as the old share.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, any dividend received on the old share is deemed for the purposes of sections 741 to 742.3 to have been received on the new share only to the extent of the proportion of the dividend that the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the new share immediately after the exchange is of the shareholder's adjusted cost base of all new shares, immediately after the exchange, acquired in exchange for the old share.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the amount by which a loss from the disposition of the new share is reduced because of the application of this section shall not exceed the proportion of the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the old share immediately before the exchange that the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the new share immediately after the exchange is of the shareholder's adjusted cost base of all new shares, immediately after the exchange, acquired in exchange for the old share.

1975, c. 22, s. 206; 1978, c. 26, s. 133; 1984, c. 15, s. 173; 1995, c. 49, s. 172; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2001, c. 7, s. 105.

745.1. For the purposes of paragraph b of sections 741.1 and 741.3, subparagraph i of subparagraph c of the third paragraph of sections 742 and 742.1, paragraph b of sections 742.2, 742.3, 743.1, 744.0.1, 744.2.1 and 744.2.2, subparagraph b of the first paragraph of section 744.6, paragraph b of section 744.6.1 and section 745.2, where a synthetic disposition arrangement is entered into in respect of a property owned by a taxpayer and the synthetic disposition period of the arrangement is at least 30 days, the taxpayer is deemed not to own the property during the synthetic disposition period.

2017, c. 1, s. 187.

745.2. Section 745.1 does not apply in respect of a property owned by a taxpayer in respect of a synthetic disposition arrangement if the taxpayer owned the property throughout the 365-day period (determined without reference to this section) that ended immediately before the synthetic disposition period of the arrangement.

2017, c. 1, s. 187.

745.2.1. For the purposes of paragraph b of section 744.6.1, section 745.1 does not apply in respect of a particular dividend received on a share on which a taxpayer is deemed to have received a dividend under section 508, to the extent that section 508 refers to section 506, where the particular dividend is received during a synthetic disposition period of a synthetic disposition arrangement in respect of that share.

2020, c. 16, s. 101.

745.3. For the purposes of sections 741, 741.2, 743, 744 and 744.6, if a synthetic equity arrangement applies in respect of a particular number of shares that are identical properties (in this section referred to as "identical shares") and the particular number is less than the total number of such identical shares owned by a person or partnership at that time and in respect of which there is no other synthetic equity arrangement, the synthetic equity arrangement is deemed to apply to those identical shares in the order in which the person or partnership acquired them.

2019, c. 14, s. 214.

745.4. For the purposes of the definition of "synthetic equity arrangement" in section 1, paragraphs c and d of the definition of "dividend rental arrangement" in that section and sections 740.4.2, 740.4.3 and 745.3, an arrangement that reflects the fair market value of more than one type of identical share, within the meaning of section 745.3, is considered to be a separate arrangement with respect to each type of identical share the value of which the arrangement reflects.

2019, c. 14, s. 214.

745.5. In computing the cost to a taxpayer, at any time, of an interest in a partnership that is property (other than capital property) of the taxpayer, there is to be deducted an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership from the disposition by the partnership, or another partnership of which the partnership is directly or indirectly a member, of a share of the capital stock of a corporation (in this section and section 745.6 referred to as the "partnership loss") in a fiscal period of the partnership that includes that time or a prior fiscal period, computed without reference to sections 741.2, 743 and 744.6, to the extent that the taxpayer's share of the partnership loss has not previously reduced the taxpayer's cost of the interest in the partnership because of the application of this section.

2021, c. 14, s. 87.

745.6. For the purposes of section 745.5, where a taxpayer disposes of an interest in a partnership at a particular time, the taxpayer's share of a partnership loss is to be computed as if

(a) the fiscal period of each partnership of which the taxpayer is directly or indirectly a member had ended immediately before the time that is immediately before the particular time;

(b) each share of the capital stock of a corporation that was the property of a partnership referred to in paragraph a at the particular time had been disposed of by the partnership immediately before the end of that fiscal period for proceeds of disposition equal to its fair market value at the particular time; and

(c) each member of a partnership referred to in paragraph a were allocated a share (determined by reference to the member's agreed proportion for the fiscal period referred to in paragraph a) of any loss (computed without reference to sections 741.2, 743 and 744.6) in respect of a disposition described in paragraph b.

2021, c. 14, s. 87.

745.7. For the purposes of section 745.5, where a taxpayer (in this section referred to as the "transferee") acquires an interest in a partnership at any time from another taxpayer (in this section referred to as the "transferor"), in computing the cost of the partnership interest to the transferee there is to be added an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted from the transferor's cost of the partnership interest because of section 745.5, other than an amount to which section 741.2 would apply.

2021, c. 14, s. 87.

746. A corporation resident in Canada which receives in a taxation year a dividend on a share that it owns of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate, may deduct from its income for the year in respect of that dividend:

(a) such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to be paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate;

*(a.1)* an amount equal to the total of

i. one-half of the portion of the dividend that is prescribed to have been paid out of the hybrid surplus of the affiliate, and

ii. the lesser of the amount determined under subparagraph i and the total of

(1) the product obtained when the foreign tax prescribed to be applicable to the portion of the dividend referred to in subparagraph i is multiplied by the amount by which the corporation's tax factor for the year exceeds one-half, and

(2) the product obtained when the non-business-income tax, within the meaning of section 772.2, paid by the corporation and applicable to the portion of the dividend referred to in subparagraph i is multiplied by the corporation's tax factor for the year;

(b) the product obtained when the amount by which the corporation's tax factor for the year exceeds one is multiplied by the foreign tax prescribed to be applicable to the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate, without exceeding that portion of the dividend;

(c) the lesser of the product obtained when the corporation's tax factor for the year is multiplied by the non-business-income tax, within the meaning of section 772.2, paid by the corporation and applicable to the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate, and the amount by which that portion of the dividend exceeds the amount deductible in respect of the dividend under subparagraph b;

(d) such part of the dividend as is prescribed to be paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate.

In addition, for the purposes of this section and sections 571 to 598, the corporation may make such elections as may be prescribed.

1972, c. 23, s. 562; 1972, c. 26, s. 58; 1975, c. 22, s. 207; 1984, c. 15, s. 174; 1995, c. 63, s. 55; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2015, c. 21, s. 266.

747. For the purposes of section 746, "exempt surplus", "hybrid surplus", "pre-acquisition surplus", "taxable surplus" and "tax factor" have the meaning assigned to those definitions by regulation.

1975, c. 22, s. 208; 2015, c. 21, s. 267.

748. In the case provided for in section 746, such portion of any dividend received between the taxation years 1971 and 1976 of the affiliate as exceeds the amount deductible under paragraph d of that section is deemed, for the purposes of paragraph a of that section, to be the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate.

1975, c. 22, s. 208; 1996, c. 39, s. 205.

749. Where, in the case referred to in section 746, the dividend is received by the corporation at a particular time in a taxation year ending after 31 December 1975 on a share it owned at the end of its taxation year 1975, it may deduct from its income for the year, in respect of the dividend, the lesser of the amount by which the dividend exceeds the deductions permitted in its respect for the year under sections 584 and 746 and the amount by which the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the share at the end of its taxation year 1975 exceeds the aggregate of

(a) (paragraph repealed);

(b) the amounts that the corporation may deduct under subparagraph d of the first paragraph of section 746 for a taxation year ending after 31 December 1975 in respect of the dividends received by it on the share after its taxation year 1975 but before that time;

(c) the amounts received by the corporation on the share after its 1975 taxation year but before that time

i. on a reduction, before 20 August 2011, of the paid-up capital of the foreign affiliate in respect of the share, or

ii. on a reduction, after 19 August 2011, of the paid-up capital of the foreign affiliate in respect of the share that is a qualifying return of capital, within the meaning of section 577.3, in respect of the share; and

(d) the amounts deducted under this section in respect of the dividends received by it on the share before that time.

1975, c. 22, s. 208; 1977, c. 26, s. 82; 1980, c. 13, s. 67; 1997, c. 3, s. 71; 2015, c. 21, s. 268.

COMPUTATION OF TAX

1972, c. 23.

TITLE I

TAX PAYABLE BY INDIVIDUALS

1972, c. 23.

CHAPTER I

GENERAL RULES

1972, c. 23.

749.1. In this Book, except for the purposes of sections 772.2 to 772.13.3, tax, whether referred to as tax payable under this Part or tax otherwise payable under this Part or referred to by any other similar expression, shall be computed as if this Part were read without reference to Book V.1.

1988, c. 4, s. 59; 1989, c. 5, s. 101; 1990, c. 59, s. 287; 1995, c. 1, s. 70; 1995, c. 63, s. 56; 1997, c. 85, s. 117; 2001, c. 53, s. 110; 2012, c. 8, s. 112.

750. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income for a taxation year is equal to the aggregate of

(a) 14% of the lesser of $49,275 and the individual's taxable income for that year;

(b) 19% of the amount by which the lesser of $98,540 and the individual's taxable income for that year exceeds $49,275;

(c) 24% of the amount by which the lesser of $119,910 and the individual's taxable income for that year exceeds $98,540; and

(d) 25.75% of the amount by which the individual's taxable income for that year exceeds $119,910.

1972, c. 23, s. 563; 1975, c. 22, s. 209; 1978, c. 26, s. 134; 1986, c. 15, s. 113; 1986, c. 72, s. 10; 1989, c. 5, s. 102; 1997, c. 85, s. 118; 2001, c. 51, s. 46; 2004, c. 21, s. 189; 2005, c. 1, s. 145; 2009, c. 5, s. 258; 2015, c. 21, s. 269; 2017, c. 29, s. 118; 2023, c. 19, s. 48.

750.1. The percentage to which sections 752.0.0.1, 752.0.0.4 to 752.0.0.6, 752.0.1, 752.0.7.4, 752.0.11, 752.0.13.1, 752.0.13.1.1, 752.0.14, 752.0.18.15, 776.41.14 and 1015.3 refer, as they read in their application to a taxation year preceding the year 2017, is

(a) 22%, where the taxation year is the year 2000;

(b) 20.75%, where the taxation year is the year 2001; and

(c) 20%, where the taxation year is subsequent to the year 2001 and precedes the year 2017.

The percentage to which sections 752.0.0.1, 752.0.1, 752.0.7.4, 752.0.14, 776.41.14 and 1015.3 refer is

(a) 15%, where the taxation year is subsequent to the year 2016 and precedes the year 2023; and

(b) 14%, where the taxation year is the year 2023 or a subsequent year.

2001, c. 51, s. 47; 2001, c. 53, s. 111; 2005, c. 1, s. 146; 2005, c. 23, s. 92; 2005, c. 38, s. 133; 2009, c. 5, s. 259; 2013, c. 10, s. 48; 2015, c. 21, s. 270; 2015, c. 24, s. 98; 2017, c. 29, s. 119; 2023, c. 19, s. 49.

750.1.1. The percentage to which sections 768 and 770 refer is

(a) 24%, where the taxation year ends after 19 March 2012 and before 1 January 2013; or

(b) 25.75%, where the taxation year is the year 2013 or a subsequent year.

2013, c. 10, s. 49; 2015, c. 21, s. 271.

750.2. Each of the amounts referred to in the fourth paragraph that must be used for a taxation year subsequent to the taxation year 2017 is to be adjusted annually in such a manner that the amount used for that taxation year is equal to the total of the amount used for the preceding taxation year and the product obtained by multiplying that amount so used by the factor determined by the formula

(A / B) - 1.

In the formula provided for in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the average all-items Consumer Price Index for Québec excluding alcoholic beverages, tobacco products and recreational cannabis for the 12-month period that ended on 30 September of the taxation year preceding that for which an amount is to be adjusted; and

(b) B is the average all-items Consumer Price Index for Québec excluding alcoholic beverages, tobacco products and recreational cannabis for the 12-month period that ended on 30 September of the taxation year immediately before the year preceding that for which the amount is to be adjusted.

If the factor determined by the formula in the first paragraph has more than four decimal places, only the first four decimal digits are retained and the fourth is increased by one unit if the fifth is greater than 4.

The amounts to which the first paragraph refers are

(a) the amounts of $49,275, $98,540 and $119,910, wherever they are mentioned in section 750;

(b) the amount of $14,890 mentioned in section 752.0.0.1;

(c) the amounts of $3,537 and $5,154 mentioned in section 752.0.1;

(d) the amount of $33,755 mentioned in section 752.0.7.1;

(e) the amounts of $1,707, $2,107, $2,782 and $3,132, wherever they are mentioned in section 752.0.7.4;

(e.1) the amount of $5,000 mentioned in section 752.0.10.0.5;

(e.2) the amount of $5,000 mentioned in section 752.0.10.0.7;

(f) the amount of $3,307 mentioned in section 752.0.14; and

(g) the amounts of $12,638 and $3,537, wherever they are mentioned in section 776.41.14.

2001, c. 51, s. 47; 2005, c. 1, s. 147; 2005, c. 38, s. 134; 2009, c. 5, s. 260; 2009, c. 15, s. 134; 2015, c. 21, s. 272; 2017, c. 29, s. 120; 2020, c. 5, s. 214; 2023, c. 19, s. 50; 2024, c. 11, s. 72.

750.2.1. (Repealed).

2004, c. 21, s. 190; 2005, c. 1, s. 148.

750.3. Where the amount that results from the adjustment provided for in section 750.2, in respect of an amount mentioned in subparagraph a or d of the fourth paragraph of that section, is not a multiple of $5, it must be rounded to the nearest multiple of $5 or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher multiple.

Where the amount that results from the adjustment provided for in section 750.2, in respect of an amount mentioned in any of subparagraphs b, c and e to g of the fourth paragraph of that section, is not a multiple of $1, it must be rounded to the nearest multiple of $1 or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher multiple.

2001, c. 51, s. 47; 2004, c. 21, s. 191; 2005, c. 1, s. 149; 2017, c. 29, s. 121.

CHAPTER I.0.1

PERSONAL TAX CREDITS

1989, c. 5, s. 104; 1999, c. 83, s. 84.

752.0.0.1. Subject to section 752.0.0.3, an individual may deduct from the individual's tax otherwise payable for a taxation year under this Part an amount equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the percentage specified in section 750.1 for the year by $14,890.

2005, c. 1, s. 150; 2005, c. 38, s. 135; 2009, c. 5, s. 261; 2017, c. 29, s. 122.

752.0.0.2. (Repealed).

2005, c. 1, s. 150; 2005, c. 38, s. 136; 2009, c. 5, s. 262.

752.0.0.3. If an individual is resident in Québec on the last day of a taxation year and is the beneficiary of a covered benefit attributable to that year, the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that would otherwise be taken into account in computing the amount deductible by the individual for the year under section 752.0.0.1, with reference to section 750.2, is to be reduced by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount determined for the year under any of sections 752.0.0.4 to 752.0.0.6.

In the first paragraph and sections 752.0.0.4 to 752.0.0.6, "covered benefit" attributable to a taxation year means an amount that is an income replacement indemnity, or a compensation for the loss of financial support, determined in that year under a public compensation plan and established on the basis of net income following an accident, employment injury, bodily injury or death or in order to prevent bodily injury, other than

(a) an amount that is attributable to a period preceding the year;

(b) an amount that is the net salary or wages paid by an employer, in accordance with the Act respecting industrial accidents and occupational diseases (chapter A-3.001), for each day or part of a day when a worker must be absent from work to receive care or undergo medical examinations in connection with the worker's injury, or to take part in a personal rehabilitation program; or

(c) an amount that replaces income described in paragraph e of section 725.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, if an individual dies or ceases to be resident in Canada in a taxation year, the last day of the individual's taxation year is the day on which the individual died or the last day on which the individual was resident in Canada.

This section does not apply in respect of an individual's separate fiscal return filed under the second paragraph of section 429 or section 681 or 1003.

2005, c. 38, s. 137; 2009, c. 5, s. 263; 2015, c. 21, s. 273.

752.0.0.4. If section 752.0.0.3 applies to an individual in respect of a covered benefit attributable to a taxation year and the amount of which is determined by the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail, by the Minister of Justice under Title III of the Act to assist persons who are victims of criminal offences and to facilitate their recovery (chapter P-9.2.1) or by the person or body with whom or which that Minister has entered into an agreement under section 103 of that Act or section 27.3 of the Act to promote good citizenship (chapter C-20), as the case may be, there shall be included in computing, for that year, the aggregate referred to in the first paragraph of section 752.0.0.3, an amount equal to the total of

(a) in respect of a covered benefit attributable to the year and paid by an employer for the first 14 full days following the beginning of the individual's disability, the lesser of

i. the total of the covered benefits attributable to the year and paid by the employer for the first 14 full days following the beginning of the individual's disability, and

ii. the amount determined by the formula

$0.90 \times A/B \times C$; and

(b) in respect of a covered benefit attributable to the year, other than the covered benefit referred to in subparagraph a, for each day of the year for which the covered benefit is determined, in this section referred to as the "particular day", the lesser of the amounts determined for the particular day by the following formulas:

i. $[(0.90 \times D/E) - (F/E)] \times (1 - G)$, and

ii. $[(0.90 \times H/E) - I] \times (1 - G)$.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is

i. where the year is the taxation year 2023, $17,183, or

ii. where the year is a taxation year subsequent to the year 2023, the amount determined under the third paragraph of section 1015.3 that is applicable for the subsequent taxation year;

(b) B is the number of days in the year, excluding Saturdays and Sundays;

(c) C is the number of days in the year, excluding Saturdays and Sundays, between the day on which the individual's disability begins and the day on which the individual returns to work, but without exceeding 14 days;

(d) D is the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with section 119 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan (chapter R-9), the amount that would be the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, if it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit;

(e) E is the number of days in the year;

(f) F is the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day;

(g) G is the percentage that applies for the purpose of reducing, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year;

(h) H is the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2, to the extent that the amount is used by the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail to establish the weighted net income for the purpose of computing, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year; and

(i) I is the lesser of

i. the amount obtained by dividing the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day, by the number of days in the year, and

ii. the amount obtained by dividing, by the number of days in the year, the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2, to the extent that the amount is used by the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail to establish the weighted net income from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day;

(j) (subparagraph repealed);

(k) (subparagraph repealed).

For the purposes of subparagraph f and subparagraph i of subparagraph i of the second paragraph, "annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held", for a particular day, means the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held that is taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, including the annual gross revenue from any benefit paid to the individual, because of a termination of employment, under an Act of Québec or of any other jurisdiction, other than the Act respecting industrial accidents and occupational diseases (chapter A-3.001), that is taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with section 119 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan, the amount that would be the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held that would be taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year if, from the year following that for which that gross revenue was last established, it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit.

2005, c. 38, s. 137; 2009, c. 5, s. 264; 2015, c. 15, s. 237; 2017, c. 29, s. 123; 2021, c. 13, s. 145; 2023, c. 19, s. 51.

752.0.0.5. If section 752.0.0.3 applies to an individual in respect of a covered benefit attributable to a taxation year and the amount of which is determined by the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec, there shall be included, in computing for that year the aggregate referred to in the first paragraph of section 752.0.0.3, an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for each day of the year for which the covered benefit is determined (in this section referred to as the "particular day"), equal to the product obtained by multiplying the lesser of the amounts determined for the particular day by the following formulas by the percentage determined for that day under the second paragraph:

(a) {[(0.90 × A/B) − (C × D/B)] × (1 − E)} − F/B; and

(b) {[(0.90 × G/B) − (C × H)] × (1 − E)} − F/B.

The percentage to which the first paragraph refers for a particular day is

(a) where, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year is determined in accordance with the Regulation respecting computation of the income replacement indemnity paid under the second and third paragraphs of section 40 of the Automobile Insurance Act (chapter A-25, r. 2.2), the percentage determined by the formula

40% × I/14,610; or

(b) in any other case, 100%.

In the formulas in the first and second paragraphs,

(a) A is the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with section 119 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan (chapter R-9), the amount that would be the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, if it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit;

(b) B is the number of days in the year;

(c) C is,

i. if only part of the net income from an employment held is used to reduce, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, the percentage attributed under the public compensation plan in respect of that net income, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(d) D is the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day;

(e) E is the percentage that applies for the purpose of reducing, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year;

(f) F is the amount that is payable for the year as an old age pension or as a disability benefit payable under a plan established by a jurisdiction, other than Québec, that is equivalent to the plan established under the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan, and that is, in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, used by the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec to reduce the amount of that covered benefit;

(g) G is the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2, to the extent that the amount is used by the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec to establish the weighted net income for the purpose of computing, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year;

(h) H is the lesser of

i. the amount obtained by dividing the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day, by the number of days in the year, and

ii. the amount obtained by dividing, by the number of days in the year, the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2, to the extent that the amount is used by the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec to establish the weighted net income from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day; and

(i) (subparagraph repealed);

(j) I is the number of days corresponding to the value, established after applying the third paragraph of section 1 of the Regulation respecting computation of the income replacement indemnity paid under the second and third paragraphs of section 40 of the Automobile Insurance Act, of B in the formula that is provided for in that section 1 and that is used for the determination, for the particular day, of the covered benefit attributable to the year.

For the purposes of subparagraph d and subparagraph i of subparagraph h of the third paragraph, "annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held", for a particular day, means the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held that is taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with section 119 of the Act respecting the Québec Pension Plan, the amount that would be the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held that would be taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year if, from the year for which that gross revenue was last established, it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit.

Where this section applies in respect of a covered benefit attributable to the taxation year 2022 and that covered benefit is, as a consequence of the application of section 107 of the Act to amend the Automobile Insurance Act, the Highway Safety Code and other provisions (2022, chapter 13), determined, for a particular day of that taxation year that precedes 1 July 2022, in accordance with the Regulation respecting computation of the income replacement paid under the second and third paragraphs of section 40 of the Automobile Insurance Act, the lesser of the amounts determined for that day by the formulas in the first paragraph is deemed to be equal to zero.

752.0.0.6. If section 752.0.0.3 applies to an individual in respect of a covered benefit attributable to a taxation year and the amount of which is determined by an entity, other than the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail and the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec, there must be included in computing, for that year, the aggregate referred to in the first paragraph of section 752.0.0.3, an amount equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, for each day of the year for which the covered benefit is determined (in this section referred to as the "particular day"), equal to the lesser of the amounts determined for the particular day by the following formulas:

(a) $\{[(A \times B/C) - (D \times E/C)] \times (1 - F)\} - G/C$; and

(b) $\{[(A \times H/C) - I] \times (1 - F)\} - G/C$.

In the formulas in the first paragraph,

(a) A is the percentage that applies to the income insured by the public compensation plan for the purpose of determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year;

(b) B is the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with the public compensation plan, the amount that would be the annual gross revenue used as a basis for determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, if it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit;

(c) C is the number of days in the year;

(d) D is,

i. if only a portion of the income, other than the recognized income on the date of the event giving rise to the covered benefit attributable to the year, is taken into consideration in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, the percentage attributed under the public compensation plan in respect of that income, and

ii. in any other case, 100%;

(e) E is the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day;

(f) F is the percentage that applies for the purpose of reducing, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year;

(g) G is the amount that is, in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, used to reduce the amount of that covered benefit;

(h) H is the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2; and

(i) I is the amount obtained by multiplying, by the percentage determined for the year under subparagraph d, the lesser of

i. the amount obtained by dividing the annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held, for the particular day, by the number of days in the year, and

ii. the amount obtained by dividing, by the number of days in the year, the amount in dollars referred to in section 752.0.0.1 that is applicable for the year, with reference to section 750.2;

(j) (subparagraph repealed).

For the purposes of subparagraph e and subparagraph i of subparagraph i of the second paragraph, “annual gross revenue from a suitable employment or employment held”, for a particular day, means the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held, including any other amount that replaces work income, that is taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year, or, if the covered benefit attributable to the year is adjusted in accordance with the public compensation plan, the amount that would be the annual gross revenue relating to a suitable employment or employment held that would be taken into account in determining, for the particular day, the covered benefit attributable to the year if, from the year for which that gross revenue was last established, it were adjusted according to the same rules as those applicable to the covered benefit.

2005, c. 38, s. 137; 2009, c. 5, s. 266; 2015, c. 15, s. 237; 2017, c. 29, s. 125.

752.0.1. An individual may deduct from the individual’s tax otherwise payable for a taxation year under this Part an amount equal to the amount obtained by multiplying the percentage specified in section 750.1 for the year by the aggregate of

(a) (paragraph repealed);

(b) (paragraph repealed);

(c) (paragraph repealed);

(d) for each person who is under 18 years of age throughout the year and who is a child of the individual if the person is a dependant of the individual in the year and if the person is not a person in respect of whom the individual's eligible spouse for the year, within the meaning of sections 776.41.1 to 776.41.4, deducts an amount under section 776.41.5 from the eligible spouse's tax otherwise payable for the year under this Part, $3,537 in respect of each completed term, without exceeding two, which began in the year and during which the person was in full-time attendance at an educational institution designated by the Minister of Education, Recreation and Sports or the Minister of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology for the purposes of the loans and bursaries program for full-time studies in vocational training at the secondary level and for full-time studies at the postsecondary level established under the Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses (chapter A-13.3), where the person was enrolled in an educational program referred to in section 752.0.2.1; and

(e) (paragraph repealed);

(f) $5,154 for each person, other than the individual's spouse, who

i. is related to the individual by blood, marriage or adoption,

ii. during the year, is 18 years of age or over,

iii. during the year, ordinarily lives with the individual,

iv. during the year, is dependent for support on the individual, and

v. is not a person in respect of whom

(1) the individual's eligible spouse for the year, within the meaning of sections 776.41.1 to 776.41.4, deducts an amount under section 776.41.5 from the eligible spouse's tax otherwise payable for the year under this Part, or

(2) an individual deducts an amount under section 776.41.14 from the individual's tax otherwise payable for the year under this Part;

(g) (paragraph repealed);

(h) (paragraph repealed);

(i) (paragraph repealed);

(j) (paragraph repealed).

752.0.1.1. If, for the purpose of establishing the amount that an individual may deduct from the individual's tax otherwise payable for a taxation year under section 752.0.1, the individual includes, in the aggregate referred to in that section, an amount under paragraph f of that section in respect of a person who reaches 18 years of age in the year, the amount that would otherwise be applicable for the year under that paragraph is to be replaced by the proportion of that amount that the number of months in the year that follow the month in which that person reaches 18 years of age is of 12.

2005, c. 1, s. 152; 2005, c. 38, s. 139; 2009, c. 5, s. 268.

752.0.1.2. (Repealed).

2005, c. 1, s. 152; 2006, c. 13, s. 57; 2009, c. 5, s. 269.

752.0.2. The amount to which an individual is entitled under section 752.0.1 in respect of one person for a taxation year must be reduced by the amount that is the person's income for the year under this Part or, if the person was not resident in Canada throughout the year, that would be the person's income for the year under this Part, computed as if the person had been resident in Québec and in Canada throughout the year or, if the person died in the year, throughout the period of the year preceding the time of death.

For the purposes of the first paragraph, the income of a person for a taxation year under this Part must be computed without reference to paragraph g of section 312 and Chapter VII.1 of Title VI of Book III.

752.0.2.1. An educational program to which paragraph d of section 752.0.1 refers means any of the following programs that provides that each student taking the program spend not less than 9 hours per week on courses or work in the program:

(a) where the educational institution is situated in Québec, an educational program recognized by the Minister of Education, Recreation and Sports or the Minister of Higher Education, Research, Science and Technology for the purposes of the loans and bursaries program for full-time studies in vocational training at the secondary level and for full-time studies at the postsecondary level established under the Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses (chapter A-13.3); and

(b) where the educational institution is situated outside Québec, an educational program at the college level or at the university level or the equivalent.

If the student is a person who is deemed to be pursuing studies on a full-time basis under section 752.0.2.2, the first paragraph is to be read as if "spend not less than nine hours per week on courses or work in the program" was replaced by "receive a minimum of 20 hours of instruction per month".

752.0.2.2. For the purposes of paragraph d of section 752.0.1, a person is deemed to be pursuing studies on a full-time basis during a taxation year if the person has a major functional deficiency within the meaning of the Regulation respecting financial assistance for education expenses (chapter A-13.3, r. 1), and the person, for this reason, pursues studies on a part-time basis during that taxation year.

2005, c. 38, s. 141.

752.0.3. A deduction may be granted under section 752.0.1, by virtue of paragraph d of that section, only if the enrolment at an educational institution in an educational program referred to in section 752.0.2.1 is proven by filing with the Minister a certificate in a prescribed form issued by the educational institution and containing the prescribed information.
